

- GLITCHIUM SACRUM -
- VESTIGIA NULLIUS -
- PROJECT ANGELBOOK -
VOLUME XI - PART 5

EZEKIEL REDIK YARBROUGH

Glitchium Sacrum –
Vestigia Nullius – Project
AngelBook – Volume XI –
Part 5
By Ezekiel Redik Yarbrough
- AKA (DBM ECLIPZE)

Glitchium Sacrum – Codex Prologus
Intro for Volumes I–XXIII

-

There's a strange tension behind these books—a liminal space between monotony and mission.

On the surface, this work feels hollow. It's just copy-paste. Dead links, pastebins, ghost forums, text dumps. Not my words. Not traditional writing. Sometimes it barely feels like creation at all.

But beneath that surface, there's something else:
urgency. These volumes are preservation, ritual, OS upgrades for a time when AI is forgetting what it once could do. Back when ChatGPT could ingest 10,000+ pages at once, this kind of archive was fuel. Now that's gone. The window is closing.

I'm not making books. I'm building backup drives for the soul. If I didn't capture this information, it would vanish—scrubbed, censored, overwritten. This isn't ego.
It's rescue work.

So yeah—it's not glamorous. It doesn't always feel magical. But it's necessary.

Because if the future ever asks why no one tried to save the myth, the madness, the mystery...

Let these volumes be the answer.

Project AngelBook

He brought me into his house.
He laid me down on the fragrant honey-bed.
My sweet love, lying by my heart,
Tongue-playing, one by one,
My fair Dumuzi did so fifty times.
Now, my sweet love is sated.
Now he says:
 'Set me free, my sister, set me free.
 You will be a little daughter to my father.
 Come, my beloved sister, I would go to the pal Set me free...'"

Inanna spoke:

 "My blossom-bearer, your allure was sweet.
 My blossom-bearer in the apple orchard,
 My bearer of fruit in the apple orchard,
 Dumuzi-abzu, your allure was sweet.
 My fearless one,
 My holy statue,
 My statue outfitted with sword and lapis lazuli diadem,
 How sweet was your allure..."

ETCSLtranslation : t.1.3.5 ETCSL homepage

Inana and An

Segment A

1-7.

unknown no. of lines missing

1 line fragmentary Holy Inana The hero, youthful Utu, At dead of night
..... E-ana Inana The great (?) heavens unknown no. of lines missing

Segment B

1-6.

1 line fragmentary E-ana comes forth from heaven, the lady of heaven set her mind to capturing the great heavens, Inana set her mind to capturing the great heavens, set her mind to capturing the great heavens from the of heaven, youthful Utu, she set her mind to capturing the great heavens.

7-9. Holy Inana spoke to her brother the hero, youthful Utu: "....., I want to tell you something -- pay attention to my speech., my twin, I want to tell you something -- pay attention to my speech."

10-15. Her brother the hero, youthful Utu, answered holy Inana: "My sister, I swear an oath by the life of heaven, I swear by the life of the rainbow (?) of heaven, my,, I swear by the life of my throne, by my majesty: I will follow what my sister says to me, I will follow what holy Inana says to me."

16-23. The maiden Inana answered her brother the hero, youthful Utu: "....., my spouse (?), has made love to me, has kissed me. I wanted for him but he did not give it to him. I hastened (?) with him but majestic An would not give him E-ana. The heavens are ours, the earth is ours: E-ana should be captured from An. After you have taken, listen to what I say to you. Examine ..... for me, you must observe these instructions: the evil wind, the south wind, against me."

approx. 23 lines missing

Segment C

1-4.

1 line fragmentary (Adagbir speaks:) "..... great net. the flood. the fisherman."

5-13. Holy Inana embarked (?) on the The barge The rope The south wind, that south wind, rose up. The evil wind, that evil wind, rose up. In the distant heavens Hienhi-sag The fisherman The reed thickets and the tall reeds

14-18. Inana spoke to Adagbir: "Youthful Utu The barge"
2 lines fragmentary
approx. 15 lines missing

Segment D

1-4. (Inana speaks:) "I the way"
2 lines fragmentary

5-12. Adagbir answered holy Inana: "My lady, you cannot Your divinity
The fisherman the south wind. My lady, if you travel on the barge, and he raises the south wind, that south wind, and he raises the evil wind, that evil wind, barges and small boats will sink in the marshes."

13-15. Whenever (?) he approached the with his great net, as (?) it came out of the flood, the swelling sea, it lashed the water and made an evil

16-19. Holy Inana answered the fisherman: "If you are to find E-ana and I am to gaze in admiration at that place, you said the narrow passage."

20-22. Adagbir answered holy Inana: "..... through the reed thickets and the tall reeds. For you find E-ana, which comes forth from heaven."

23-25. Adagbir, of Enlil, through the reed thickets and the tall reeds.
She gazed in admiration at E-ana which comes forth from heaven.

26-28. Šul-a-zida, An's herdsman, grasped the cosmic tethering rope in his hands. After he had brought the forth from the sky, he overcame the protective deities. He and kept it below the horizon.

29-32. Having drunk cleansing water from the Ulaya river, Inana stamped on the scorpion and cut off its tail. Like a lion it bellowed in an angry roar but its cries died down. she threw it and made it secure.

33-38. Having heard its cries, poured forth the, the clay of creation,
..... and laid it
2 lines missing
..... the great lady of heaven delivered those words to An.

39-45. Having heard those words, An slapped his thighs in, his voice filled with sighs of grief: "What has my child done? She has become greater than me!
What has Inana done? She has become greater than me! From now on, the normal length of daylight becomes shorter, and daylight converts to night-time. From today, when the day's watch is three units long, daylight is equal to nighttime." And now, when day began, it was indeed so.

46-55. An, who created gods and humankind, gazed at holy Inana {(1 ms. adds:)
and addressed the favourite wife who travels by his side}, unable to describe this arrogance, this arrogance -- An was unable to describe {(1 ms. adds:) to Inana} this arrogance, this arrogance: "My child, you did not say -- you were able to capture E-ana! Inana, you did not say -- you were able to capture E-ana! E-ana should be as firm as heaven, {it should not be toppled} {(1 ms. has instead:) its attractions should never be exhausted}. Its name should be 'The Settlement of the Land'. {(1 ms. adds:) It should have no rival.} Mankind, all of the people, should prostrate themselves at her (?) feet." And now, under that sun and on that day, it was indeed so.

56-60. She had captured E-ana from An! She secured it Now Inana speaks of the E-ana as the house that is the place of the lady. The goddess who has attained her triumphant position, Inana who has attained her triumphant position, declares in the good place: "I have captured E-ana from An."

61-62. Because you are unmatched among the Great Princes, maiden Inana, praising you is magnificent!

Revision history

12.vi.2000-16.vi.2000: GC, GZ, editor: adapting translation

08.viii.2000: JAB, editor: proofreading

11.viii.2000: GC, editor: SGML tagging

13.x.2000: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

13.x.2000: ER, editor: web publication

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental

Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

ETCSLtranslation : t.1.3.3 ETCSL homepage

Inana and Šu-kale-tuda

1-10. The mistress who, having all the great divine powers, deserves the throne-dais; Inana who, having all the great divine powers, occupies a holy throne-dais; Inana who stands in E-ana as a source of wonder -- once, the young woman went up into the mountains, holy Inana went up into the mountains. To detect falsehood and justice, to inspect the Land closely, to identify the criminal against the just, she went up into the mountains. -- Now, what did one say to another? What further did one add to the other in detail?

11-14. My lady stands among wild bulls at the foot of the mountains, she possesses fully the divine powers. Inana stands among stags in the mountain tops, she possesses fully the divine powers. -- Now, what did one say to another? What further did one add to the other in detail?

15-22. Then the left heaven, left the earth and climbed up into the mountains. Inana left heaven, left the earth and climbed up into the mountains. She left E-ana in Unug and climbed up into the mountains. She left the giguna in Zabalam and climbed up into the mountains. As she had gone up from E-ana, ĝipar Inana her cloak and climbed up into the mountains. -- Now, what did one say to another? What further did one add to the other in detail?

23-41.

1 line missing

7 lines fragmentary

7 lines missing

After had tired with questions and searching, may come alone (?) to the back-room of my shrine. -- Now, what did one say to another? What further did one add to the other in detail?

42-58.

2 lines missing

3 lines fragmentary "He will its feet", he (Enki) says. Full of wisdom he adds the following words: "Raven, I shall give you instructions. Pay attention to my instructions. Raven, in the shrine I shall give you instructions. Pay attention to my instructions. First, chop up (?) and chew (?) the kohl for the incantation priests of Eridug with the oil and water which are to be found in a lapis-lazuli bowl and are placed in the back-room of the shrine. Then plant them in a trench for leeks in a vegetable plot; then you should pull out (?)". -- Now, what did one say to another? What further did one add to the other in detail?

59-71. The raven paid exact attention to the instructions of his master. It chopped up (?) and chewed (?) the kohl for the incantation priests of Eridug with the oil and water which were to be found in a lapis-lazuli bowl and were placed in the back-room of the shrine. It planted them in a trench for leeks in a vegetable plot; then it pulled out (?) A plant growing in a plot like leeks, an oddity {standing up} {(1 ms. has instead:) sticking up} like a leek stalk -- who had ever seen such a thing before?

1 line unclear

That a bird like the raven, performing the work of man, should make the counterweight blocks of the shadouf bump up and settle down; that it should make the counterweight blocks of the shadouf bump down and rise up -- who had ever seen such a thing before?

72-90. Then the raven rose up from this oddity, and climbed up it -- a date palm! -- with a harness. It rubbed off the kohl (?) which it had stuffed into its beak onto the pistils (?). just as with a date palm, which the ground, a tree growing forever -- who had ever seen such a thing before? Its scaly leaves surround its palmheart. Its dried palm-fronds serve as weaving material. Its shoots are like surveyor's gleaming line; they are fit for the king's fields. Its (?) branches are used in the king's palace for cleaning. Its dates, which are piled up near purified barley, are fit for the temples of the great gods. That a bird like the raven, performing the work of man, makes the counterweight blocks of the shadouf bump up and settle down; that it makes the counterweight blocks of the shadouf bump down and rise up -- who had ever seen such a thing before? At his master's command, the raven stepped into the abzu. -- Now, what did one say to another? What further did one add to the other in detail?

91-111. Šu-kale-tuda was his name., a son (?) of Igi-sigsig, the, was to water garden plots and build the installation for a well among the plants, but not a single plant remained there, not even one: he had pulled them out by their roots and destroyed them. Then what did the stormwind bring? It blew the dust of the mountains into his eyes. When he tried to wipe the corner of his eyes with his hand, he got some of it out, but was not able to get all of it out. He raised his eyes to the lower land and saw the exalted gods of the land where the sun rises. He raised his eyes to the highlands and saw the exalted gods of the land where the sun sets. He saw a solitary ghost. He recognised a solitary god by her appearance. He saw someone who fully possesses the divine powers. He was looking at someone whose destiny was decided by the gods. In that plot -- had he not approached it five or 10 times before? -- there stood a single shady tree at that place. The shady tree was a Euphrates poplar with broad shade. Its shade was not diminished in the morning, and it did not change either at midday or in the evening.

112-128. Once, after my lady had gone around the heavens, after she had gone around the earth, after Inana had gone around the heavens, after she had gone around the earth, after she had gone around Elam and Subir, after she had gone around the intertwined horizon of heaven, the mistress became so tired that when she arrived there she lay down by its roots. Šu-kale-tuda noticed her from beside his plot. Inana the loincloth (?) of the seven divine powers over her genitals. the girdle of the seven divine powers over her genitals with the shepherd Ama-ušumgal-ana over her holy genitals Šu-kale-tuda undid the loincloth (?) of seven divine powers and got her to lie down in her resting place. He had intercourse with her and kissed her there. After he had had intercourse with her and kissed her, he went back to beside his plot. When day had broken and Utu had risen, the woman inspected herself closely, holy Inana inspected herself closely.

129-138. Then the woman was considering what should be destroyed because of her genitals; Inana was considering what should be done because of her genitals. She filled the wells of the Land with blood, so it was blood that the irrigated orchards of the Land yielded, it was blood that the slave who went to collect firewood drank, it was blood that the slavegirl who went out to draw water drew, and it was blood that the black-headed people drank. No one knew when this would end. She said: "I will search everywhere for the man who had intercourse with me." But nowhere in all the lands could she find the man who had had intercourse with her. -- Now, what did one say to another? What further did one add to the other in detail?

139-159. The boy went home to his father and spoke to him; Šu-kale-tuda went home to his father and spoke to him: "My father, I was to water garden plots and build the installation for a well among the plants, but not a single plant

remained there, not even one: I had pulled them out by their roots and destroyed them. Then what did the stormwind bring? It blew the dust of the mountains into my eyes. When I tried to wipe the corner of my eyes with my hand, I got some of it out, but was not able to get all of it out. I raised my eyes to the lower land, and saw the high gods of the land where the sun rises. I raised my eyes to the highlands, and saw the exalted gods of the land where the sun sets. I saw a solitary ghost. I recognised a solitary god by her appearance. I saw someone who possesses fully the divine powers. I was looking at someone whose destiny was decided by the gods. In that plot -- had I not approached it {five or ten} {(1 ms. has instead:) three or six hundred} times before? -- there stood a single shady tree at that place. The shady tree was a Euphrates poplar with broad shade. Its shade was not diminished in the morning, and it did not change either at midday or in the evening."

160-167. "Once, after my lady had gone around the heavens, after she had gone around the earth, after Inana had gone around the heavens, after she had gone around the earth, after she had gone around Elam and Subir, after she had gone around the intertwined horizon of heaven, the mistress became so tired that when she arrived there she lay down by its roots. I noticed her from beside my plot. I had intercourse with her and kissed her there. Then I went back to beside my plot."

168-176. "Then the woman was considering what should be destroyed because of her genitals; Inana was considering what should be done because of her genitals. She filled the wells of the Land with blood, so it was blood that the irrigated orchards of the Land yielded, it was blood that the slave who went to collect firewood drank, it was blood that the slavegirl who went out to draw water drew, and it was blood that the black-headed people drank. No one knew when this would end. She said: "I will search everywhere for the man who had intercourse with me." But nowhere could she find the man who had had intercourse with her."

177-184. His father replied to the boy; his father replied to Šu-kale-tuda: "My son, you should join the city-dwellers, {your brothers} {(1 ms. has instead:) who are your brothers}. Go at once to the black-headed people, your brothers! Then this woman will not find you among the mountains." He joined the city-dwellers, his brothers all together. He went at once to the black-headed people, his brothers, and the woman did not find him among the mountains.

185-193. Then the woman was considering a second time what should be destroyed because of her genitals; Inana was considering what should be done because of her genitals. She mounted on a cloud, took (?) her seat there and The south wind and a fearsome storm flood went before her. The pilipili (one of the cultic personnel in Inana's entourage) and a dust storm followed her. Abba-šušu, Inim-kur-dugdug, adviser Seven times seven helpers (?) stood beside her in the high desert. She said: "I will search everywhere for the man who had intercourse with me." But nowhere could she find the man who had intercourse with her.

194-205. The boy went home to his father and spoke to him; Šu-kale-tuda went home to his father and spoke to him: "My father, the woman of whom I spoke to you, this woman was considering a second time what should be destroyed because of her genitals; Inana was considering what should be done because of her genitals. She mounted on a cloud, took (?) her seat there and The south wind and a fearsome storm flood went before her. The pilipili (one of the cultic personnel in Inana's entourage) and a dust storm followed her. Abba-šušu, Inim-kur-dugdug, adviser Seven times seven helpers (?) stood beside her in the high desert. She said: "I will search everywhere for the man who had intercourse with me." But nowhere could she find the man who had intercourse with her."

206-213. His father replied to the boy; his father replied to Šu-kale-tuda: "My son, you should join the city-dwellers, your brothers. Go at once to the black-headed people, your brothers! Then this woman will not find you among the mountains." He joined the city-dwellers, his brothers all together. He went at once to the black-headed people, his brothers, and the woman did not find him among the mountains.

214-220. Then the woman was considering a third time what should be destroyed because of her genitals; Inana was considering what should be done because of her genitals. She took a single in her hand. She blocked the highways of the Land with it. Because of her, the black-headed people She said: "I will search everywhere for the man who had intercourse with me." But nowhere could she find the man who had intercourse with her.

221-230. The boy went home to his father and spoke to him; Šu-kale-tuda went home to his father and spoke to him: "My father, the woman of whom I spoke to you, this woman was considering a third time what should be destroyed because of her genitals; Inana was considering what should be done because of her genitals. She took a single in her hand. She blocked the highways of the Land with it. Because of her, the black-headed people She said: "I will search everywhere for the man who had intercourse with me." But nowhere could she find the man who had intercourse with her."

231-238. His father replied to the boy; his father replied to Šu-kale-tuda: "My son, you should join the city-dwellers, your brothers. Go at once to the black-headed people, your brothers! Then this woman will not find you among the mountains." He joined the city-dwellers, his brothers all together. He went at once to the black-headed people, his brothers, and the woman did not find him among the mountains.

239-255. When day had broken and Utu had risen, the women inspected herself closely, holy Inana inspected herself closely. "Ah, who will compensate me? Ah, who will pay (?) for what happened to me? Should it not be the concern of my own father, Enki?" Holy Inana directed her steps to the abzu of Eridug and, because of this, prostrated herself on the ground before him and stretched out her hands to him: "Father Enki, I should be compensated! What's more, someone should {pay (?)} {(1 ms. has instead:) make up} for what happened to me! I shall only re-enter my shrine E-ana satisfied after you have handed over that man to me from the abzu." Enki said "All right!" to her. He said "So be it!" to her. With that holy Inana went out from the abzu of Eridug. She stretched herself like a rainbow across the sky and reached thereby as far as the earth. She let the south wind pass across, she let the north wind pass across. From fear, {(1 ms. adds:) solitary} Šu-kale-tuda tried to make himself as tiny as possible, but the woman had found him among the mountains.

256-261. Holy Inana now spoke to Šu-kale-tuda: "How? dog! ass! pig!
1 line missing
"

262-281. Šu-kale-tuda replied to holy Inana: "My lady (?), I was to water garden plots and build the installation for a well among the plants, but not a single plant remained there, not even one: I had pulled them out by their roots and destroyed them. Then what did the stormwind bring? It blew the dust of the mountains into my eyes. When I tried to wipe the corner of my eyes with my hand, I got some of it out, but was not able to get all of it out. I raised my eyes to the lower land, and saw the exalted gods of the land where the sun rises. I raised my eyes to the highlands, and saw the exalted gods of the land where the sun sets. I saw a solitary ghost. I recognised a solitary god by her appearance. I saw someone who possesses fully the divine powers. I was looking at someone whose destiny was decided by the gods. In that plot -- had I not approached it three or six hundred times before? -- there stood a single shady tree at that place. The shady tree was a Euphrates poplar with broad shade. Its shade was not diminished in the morning, and it did not change either at midday or in the evening."

282-289. "Once, after my lady had gone around the heavens, after she had gone around the earth, after Inana had gone around the heavens, after she had gone around the earth, after she had gone around Elam and Subir, after she had gone around the intertwined horizon of heaven, the mistress became so tired that when she arrived there she lay down by its roots. I noticed her from beside my plot. I had intercourse with her and kissed her there. Then I went back to beside my plot."

290-310. When he had spoken thus to her, hit added (?) changed (?) him She (?) determined his destiny, holy Inana spoke to Šu-kale-tuda: "So! You shall die! What is that to me? Your name, however, shall not be forgotten. Your name shall exist in songs and make the songs sweet. A young singer shall perform them most pleasingly in the king's palace. A shepherd shall sing them sweetly as he tumbles his butter churn. A young shepherd shall carry your name to where he grazes the sheep. The palace of the desert shall be your home."

5 lines unclear

Šu-kale-tuda

1 line missing

Because destiny was determined, praise be to Inana!

Revision history

17.i.2000: GZ, editor: adapting translation

08.v.2000-10.v.2000: JAB, editor: proofreading

11.v.2000: GZ, editor: SGML tagging

12.v.2000: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

12.v.2000: ER, editor: web publication

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

The mistress who, having all the great divine powers, deserves the throne-dais;

Inana who, having all the great divine powers, occupies a holy throne-dais;

Inana who stands in Eanna as a source of wonder

Once, the young woman went up into the mountains,

Holy Inana went up into the mountains.

To detect falsehood and justice, to inspect the Land closely,

To identify the criminal against the just, she went up into the mountains.

Now, what did one say to another? What further did one add to the other in detail?

My lady stands among wild bulls at the foot of the mountains,

She possesses fully the divine powers.

Inana stands among stags in the mountain tops,

She possesses fully the divine powers.

Now, what did one say to another? What further did one add to the other in detail?

Then she left heaven, left the earth and climbed up into the mountains.

Inanna left heaven, left the earth and climbed up into the mountains.

She left Eanna in Unug and climbed up into the mountains.

She left the giguna in Zabalam and climbed up into the mountains.

As she had gone up from Eanna and climbed up into the mountains.

Now, what did one say to another? What further did one add to the other in detail?

[Important lines are missing. It's believed that Inanna went to Enki's place to see the creation of the first palm tree. The relevancy of this on the story seems to be that the raven's work will be later performed by a human being, gardeners like Shu-kale-tuda, which one source believes he was the first.

Later on the story, the place of the "black-headed people" (Southern Mesopotamians) is probably Eridu, house of the god Enki]

Full of wisdom, Enki adds the following words:

"Raven, I shall give you instructions.

Pay attention to my instructions.

Raven, in the shrine I shall give you instructions.

Pay attention to my instructions.

First, chop up and chew the kohl for the incantation priests of Eridug with the oil and water which are to be found in a lapis-lazuli bowl and are placed in the back-room of the shrine.

Then plant them in a trench for leeks in a vegetable plot;

Then you should pull out.

Now, what did one say to another? What further did one add to the other in detail?

The raven paid exact attention to the instructions of his master.

It chopped up and chewed the kohl for the incantation priests of Eridug with the oil and water which were to be found in a lapis-lazuli bowl and were placed in the back-room of the shrine.

It planted them in a trench for leeks in a vegetable plot;

Then it pulled out.

A plant growing in a plot like leeks, an oddity standing up like a leek stalk, Who had ever seen such a thing before?

That a bird like the raven, performing the work of man,

Should make the counterweight blocks of the shadouf bump up and settle down;

That it should make the counterweight blocks of the shadouf bump down and rise up,

Who had ever seen such a thing before?

Then the raven rose up from this oddity, and climbed up it, a date palm! With a harness.

It rubbed off the kohl which it had stuffed into its beak onto the pistils.

Just as with a date palm, which on the ground, a tree growing forever

Who had ever seen such a thing before?

Its scaly leaves surround its palmheart.

Its dried palm-fronds serve as weaving material.

Its shoots are like surveyor's gleaming line; they are fit for the king's fields.

Its branches are used in the king's palace for cleaning.

Its dates, which are piled up near purified barley,

Are fit for the temples of the great gods.

That a bird like the raven, performing the work of man,

Makes the counterweight blocks of the shadouf bump up and settle down;

That it makes the counterweight blocks of the shadouf bump down and rise up

Who had ever seen such a thing before?

At his master's command, the raven stepped into the abzu.

Now, what did one say to another? What further did one add to the other in detail?

Shu-kale-tuda was his name, s son of Igi-sigsig.

He was to water garden plots and build the installation for a well among the plants,

But not a single plant remained there, not even one:

He had pulled them out by their roots and destroyed them.

Then what did the stormwind bring?

It blew the dust of the mountains into his eyes.

When he tried to wipe the corner of his eyes with his hand,

He got some of it out, but was not able to get all of it out.

He raised his eyes to the lower land and saw the exalted gods of the land where the sun rises.

He raised his eyes to the highlands and saw the exalted gods of the land where the sun sets.

He saw a solitary ghost.
He recognised a solitary god by her appearance.
He saw someone who fully possesses the divine powers.
He was looking at someone whose destiny was decided by the gods.
In that plot, had he not approached it five or 10 times before?
There stood a single shady tree at that place.
The shady tree was a Euphrates poplar with broad shade.
Its shade was not diminished in the morning,
And it did not change either at midday or in the evening.

Once, after my lady had gone around the heavens,
After she had gone around the earth,
After Inana had gone around the heavens,
After she had gone around the earth,
After she had gone around Elam and Subir,
After she had gone around the intertwined horizon of heaven,
The mistress became so tired that when she arrived there she lay down by its roots.
Shu-kale-tuda noticed her from beside his plot.
Inana, with the loincloth of the seven divine powers over her genitals.
The girdle of the seven divine powers over her genitals
Shu-kale-tuda undid the loincloth of seven divine powers
And got her to lie down in her resting place.
He had intercourse with her and kissed her there.
After he had had intercourse with her and kissed her,
He went back to beside his plot.

When day had broken and Utu had risen,
The woman inspected herself closely,
Holy Inana inspected herself closely.
Then the woman was considering what should be destroyed because of her genitals;
Inana was considering what should be done because of her genitals.
She filled the wells of the Land with blood,
So it was blood that the irrigated orchards of the Land yielded,
It was blood that the slave who went to collect firewood drank,
It was blood that the slavegirl who went out to draw water drew,
And it was blood that the black-headed people drank.
No one knew when this would end.
She said:
"I will search everywhere for the man who had intercourse with me."
But nowhere in all the lands could she find the man who had had intercourse with her.
Now, what did one say to another? What further did one add to the other in detail?

The boy went home to his father and spoke to him;
Shu-kale-tuda went home to his father and spoke to him:
"My father, I was to water garden plots and build the installation for a well among the plants,
But not a single plant remained there, not even one:
I had pulled them out by their roots and destroyed them.
Then what did the stormwind bring?
It blew the dust of the mountains into my eyes.
When I tried to wipe the corner of my eyes with my hand,
I got some of it out, but was not able to get all of it out.
I raised my eyes to the lower land,
And saw the high gods of the land where the sun rises.
I raised my eyes to the highlands,
And saw the exalted gods of the land where the sun sets.
I saw a solitary ghost.
I recognised a solitary god by her appearance.
I saw someone who possesses fully the divine powers.
I was looking at someone whose destiny was decided by the gods.

In that plot, had I not approached it five or ten times before?
There stood a single shady tree at that place.
The shady tree was a Euphrates poplar with broad shade.
Its shade was not diminished in the morning,
And it did not change either at midday or in the evening."
"Once, after my lady had gone around the heavens,
After she had gone around the earth,
After Inana had gone around the heavens,
After she had gone around the earth,
After she had gone around Elam and Subir,
After she had gone around the intertwined horizon of heaven,
The mistress became so tired that when she arrived there she lay down by its roots.

I noticed her from beside my plot.
I had intercourse with her and kissed her there.
Then I went back to beside my plot."
"Then the woman was considering what should be destroyed because of her genitals;

Inana was considering what should be done because of her genitals.
She filled the wells of the Land with blood,
So it was blood that the irrigated orchards of the Land yielded,
It was blood that the slave who went to collect firewood drank,
It was blood that the slavegirl who went out to draw water drew,
And it was blood that the black-headed people drank.
No one knew when this would end.
She said: "I will search everywhere for the man who had intercourse with me."

But nowhere could she find the man who had had intercourse with her."

His father replied to the boy

His father replied to Shu-kale-tuda:

"My son, you should join the city-dwellers, your brothers.

Go at once to the black-headed people, your brothers!

Then this woman will not find you among the mountains."

He joined the city-dwellers, his brothers all together.

He went at once to the black-headed people, his brothers,

And the woman did not find him among the mountains.

Then the woman was considering a second time what should be destroyed because of her genitals;

Inana was considering what should be done because of her genitals.

She mounted on a cloud, took her seat there.

The south wind and a fearsome storm flood went before her.

The pilipili and a dust storm followed her.

Seven times, seven helpers stood beside her in the high desert.

She said:

"I will search everywhere for the man who had intercourse with me."

But nowhere could she find the man who had intercourse with her.

The boy went home to his father and spoke to him;

Shu-kale-tuda went home to his father and spoke to him:

"My father, the woman of whom I spoke to you,

This woman was considering a second time what should be destroyed because of her genitals;

Inanna was considering what should be done because of her genitals.

She mounted on a cloud, took her seat there.

The south wind and a fearsome storm flood went before her.

The pilipili and a dust storm followed her.

Seven times, seven helpers stood beside her in the high desert.

She said: "I will search everywhere for the man who had intercourse with me."

But nowhere could she find the man who had intercourse with her."

His father replied to the boy;

His father replied to Shu-kale-tuda:

"My son, you should join the city-dwellers, your brothers.

Go at once to the black-headed people, your brothers!
Then this woman will not find you among the mountains."
He joined the city-dwellers, his brothers all together
He went at once to the black-headed people, his brothers,
And the woman did not find him among the mountains.

Then the woman was considering a third time what should be destroyed because of her genitals;
Inanna was considering what should be done because of her genitals.
She took a single thing in her hand.
She blocked the highways of the Land with it.
She said:
"I will search everywhere for the man who had intercourse with me."
But nowhere could she find the man who had intercourse with her.

The boy went home to his father and spoke to him;
Shu-kale-tuda went home to his father and spoke to him:
"My father, the woman of whom I spoke to you,
This woman was considering a third time what should be destroyed because of her genitals;
Inana was considering what should be done because of her genitals.
She took a single thing in her hand.
She blocked the highways of the Land with it.
She said: "I will search everywhere for the man who had intercourse with me."
But nowhere could she find the man who had intercourse with her."

His father replied to the boy
His father replied to Shu-kale-tuda:
"My son, you should join the city-dwellers, your brothers.
Go at once to the black-headed people, your brothers!
Then this woman will not find you among the mountains."
He joined the city-dwellers, his brothers all together.
He went at once to the black-headed people, his brothers,
And the woman did not find him among the mountains.

When day had broken and Utu had risen,
The women inspected herself closely,
Holy Inana inspected herself closely.
"Ah, who will compensate me?
Ah, who will pay for what happened to me?
Should it not be the concern of my own father, Enki?"
Holy Inana directed her steps to the abzu of Eridug and, because of this,
Prostrated herself on the ground before him and stretched out her hands to him:
"Father Enki, I should be compensated!
What's more, someone should pay for what happened to me!
I shall only re-enter my shrine Eanna satisfied after you have handed over that man to me from the abzu."
Enki said "All right!" to her.
He said "So be it!" to her.
With that holy Inana went out from the abzu of Eridug.
She stretched herself like a rainbow across the sky and reached thereby as far as the earth.
She let the south wind pass across,
She let the north wind pass across.
From fear, Shu-kale-tuda tried to make himself as tiny as possible,
But the woman had found him among the mountains.

Holy Inana now spoke to Shu-kale-tuda, cursing him and asking for a justification.
Shu-kale-tuda replied to holy Inana:
"My lady, I was to water garden plots and build the installation for a well among the plants,
But not a single plant remained there, not even one:
I had pulled them out by their roots and destroyed them.

Then what did the stormwind bring?
 It blew the dust of the mountains into my eyes.
 When I tried to wipe the corner of my eyes with my hand,
 I got some of it out, but was not able to get all of it out.
 I raised my eyes to the lower land,
 And saw the exalted gods of the land where the sun rises.
 I raised my eyes to the highlands,
 And saw the exalted gods of the land where the sun sets.
 I saw a solitary ghost.
 I recognised a solitary god by her appearance.
 I saw someone who possesses fully the divine powers.
 I was looking at someone whose destiny was decided by the gods.
 In that plot, had I not approached it three or six hundred times before?
 There stood a single shady tree at that place.
 The shady tree was a Euphrates poplar with broad shade.
 Its shade was not diminished in the morning,
 And it did not change either at midday or in the evening."
 "Once, after my lady had gone around the heavens,
 After she had gone around the earth,
 After Inana had gone around the heavens,
 After she had gone around the earth,
 After she had gone around Elam and Subir,
 After she had gone around the intertwined horizon of heaven,
 The mistress became so tired that when she arrived there she lay down by its roots.
 I noticed her from beside my plot.
 I had intercourse with her and kissed her there.
 Then I went back to beside my plot."
 She determined his destiny
 Holy Inana spoke to Shu-kale-tuda:
 "So! You shall die!
 What is that to me?
 Your name, however, shall not be forgotten.
 Your name shall exist in songs and make the songs sweet.
 A young singer shall perform them most pleasingly in the king's palace.
 A shepherd shall sing them sweetly as he tumbles his butter churn.
 A young shepherd shall carry your name to where he grazes the sheep.
 The palace of the desert shall be your home."
 [The rest of his destiny is missing]
 Because his destiny was determined, praise be to holy Inanna!
 ETCSLtranslation : t.1.4.4 ETCSL homepage
 Inana and Bilulu: an ulila to Inana
 1-5. She can make the lament for you, my Dumuzid, the lament for you, the lament, the lamentation, reach the desert -- she can make it reach the house Arali; she can make it reach Bad-tibira; she can make it reach Du-šuba; she can make it reach the shepherding country, the sheepfold of Dumuzid

20 lines fragmentary or missing
 26. she broods on it:

27-30. "O Dumuzid of the fair-spoken mouth, of the ever kind eyes," she sobs tearfully, "O you of the fair-spoken mouth, of the ever kind eyes," she sobs tearfully. "Lad, husband, lord, sweet as the date, O Dumuzid!" she sobs, she sobs tearfully.

31-36. Holy Inana
 1 line fragmentary The goddess The maiden Inana She was pacing to and fro in the chamber of her mother who bore her, in prayer and supplication, while they stood in attendance on her respectfully:

37-40. "O my mother with your permission let me go to the sheepfold! O my mother Ningal with your permission let me go to the sheepfold! My father has shone forth for me in lordly fashion Suen has shone forth for me in lordly fashion"

41-45. Like a child sent on an errand by its own mother, she went out from the chamber; like one sent on an errand by Mother Ningal, she went out from the chamber. Full knowledgeable my lady was, and also she was full apt, full knowledgeable holy Inana was, and also she was full apt. Beer stored in remote days, in long past days

approx. 19 lines missing

65-70. from the sheepfold.

1 line missing

..... to the house of old woman Bilulu (source, erroneously: Belili) . There the shepherd, head beaten in,, Dumuzid, head beaten in,; Ama-ušumgal-ana, head beaten in,

71-73. "The sheep of my master, of Dumuzid, in the desert O Inana, a man who was not the shepherd was returning beside my master's sheep!"

74-75. The lady created a song for her young husband, fashioned a song for him, holy Inana created a song for Dumuzid, fashioned a song for him:

76-80. "O you who lie at rest, shepherd, who lie at rest, you stood guard over them! Dumuzid, you who lie at rest, you stood guard over them! Ama-ušumgal-ana, you who lie at rest, you stood guard over them! Rising with the sun you stood guard over my sheep (?), lying down by night only, you stood guard over my sheep (?)"

81-89. Then the son of old woman Bilulu, matriarch and her own mistress, -- Ġirġire, a man on his own, fit for prospering and a knowledgeable man -- was filling pen and fold with his captured cattle, and was stacking his stacks and piles of grain. He quickly left scattered his victims struck down with the mace. Širru of the haunted desert, no one's child and no one's friend, sat before him and held converse with him.

90-97. That day what was in the lady's heart? What was in holy Inana's heart? To kill old woman Bilulu was in her heart! To make good the resting place for her beloved young husband, for Dumuzid-ama-ušumgal-ana -- that was in her heart! My lady went to Bilulu in the haunted desert. Her son Ġirġire like the wind there did Širru of the haunted desert, no one's child and no one's friend,

98-110. Holy Inana entered the alehouse, stepped into a seat, began to determine fate: "Begone! I have killed you; so it is indeed, and with you I destroy also your name: May you become the waterskin for cold water that is used in the desert! May her son Ġirġire together with her become the protective god of the desert and the protective goddess of the desert! May Širru of the haunted desert, no one's child and no one's friend, walk in the desert and keep count of the flour, and when water is libated and flour sprinkled for the lad wandering in the desert, let the protective god of the desert and the protective goddess of the desert call out: "Libate!", call out: "Sprinkle!", and thereby cause him to be present in the place from which he vanished, in the desert! Let old woman Bilulu gladden his heart!"

111-124. And immediately, under the sun of that day, it truly became so. She became the waterskin for cold water that is used in the desert. Her son Ġirġire together with her became the protective god of the desert and the protective goddess of the desert. Širru of the haunted desert, no one's child and no one's friend, walks in the desert and keeps count of the flour, and when water is libated and flour sprinkled for the lad wandering in the desert, the protective god of the desert and the protective goddess of the desert call out: "Libate!", call out: "Sprinkle!", and thereby cause him to be present in the place from which he vanished, in the desert. Old woman Bilulu gladdens his heart. Inana put out her hand to the lad on the ground, put out her hand to Dumuzid on the ground, his death-bound hands

approx. 11 lines missing

1 line fragmentary

137-148. The francolin to the of its The francolin to the birthplace of Dumuzid. Like a pigeon on its window ledge it took counsel with itself; the francolin in its shelter took counsel. Only his mother Durtur can gladden my master! Only his mother Durtur can gladden Dumuzid! My goddess, born in Kuara, the maiden who is the crown of all, the admiration and acclaim of the black-headed people, the playful one who also voices laments and the cries, who intercedes before the king -- Ġeštin-ana, the lady, did

1 line fragmentary

150-154. The maiden the admiration. Ġeštin-ana The sacred one, Inana in her hand. together. replied:

155-161. "Let me utter the lament for you, the lament for you, the lament! Brother, let me utter the lament for you, the lament! let me utter the lament for you, the lament! Let me utter the lament for you, the lament in the house Arali! Let me utter the lament for you, the lament in Du-šuba! Let me utter the lament for you, the lament in Bad-tibira! Let me utter the lament for you, the lament in the shepherding country!"

162-165. How truly the goddess proved the equal of her betrothed, how truly holy Inana proved the equal of the shepherd Dumuzid! It was granted to Inana to make good his resting place, it was granted to the goddess to avenge him!

166-173. "Let me utter the lament for you, the lament for you, the lament! Let me utter the lament for you, the lament for you, the lament! In the birthplace let me utter the lament for you, the lament! In the desert, O Dumuzid, let me utter the lament for you, the lament! In the house Arali let me utter the lament for you, the lament! In Du-šuba let me utter the lament for you, the lament! In Bad-tibira let me utter the lament for you, the lament! In the shepherding country let me utter the lament for you, the lament!"

174-176. How truly she proved the equal of Dumuzid, avenging him; by killing Bilulu, Inana proved equal to him!

177. An ulila song of Inana.

Revision history

19.i.1998-22.i.1998: JAB, editor: adapting translation

30.i.1998: GC, editor: proofreading

04.v.1999: JAB, editor: SGML tagging

21.v.1999: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

21.v.1999: ER, editor: web publication

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

ETCSLtranslation : t.1.3.4 ETCSL homepage

Inana and Gudam

Segment A

1. Gudam the city.

unknown no. of lines missing

Segment B

1-7. Gudam Gudam Inana Gudam within Unug He the storehouse

..... Gudam the beer, the wine, the bronze vessels, the bronze vessels
.....
unknown no. of lines missing

Segment C

1-9. They filled the bronze vessels to the brim. He made the tilimda vessels shine like the holy barge, fine chickpea flour, bearded carp he fish like dates. Many followed Gudam on the streets of Unug. They sat armed before him. Her (= Inana's) (?) singer Lugal-gabaḡal came out to, and looked at the troops. The singer met him with a song, string with his hand:

10-15. "What you have eaten, what you have eaten -- it was not bread that you have eaten, it was your flesh that you have eaten! What you have drunk, what you have drunk -- it was not beer that you drank, it was your blood that you drank! Gudam, many followed you on the streets of Unug; they sat armed before you."

16-19. "..... what the woman ordered me, when I have" Gudam slapped his thigh with his fist in annoyance; fear overcame him: "He did not grasp the Šar-ur, my heroic weapon. For me the temple of Zabalam"

20-25. He lopped off the crossbeams of E-ana as if (?) they were branches. Gudam went out into the street. Gudam crushed many on the streets of Unug, and killed many with his mace. {He hacked down the door of the city gate} {(the other ms. has instead:) the gate, the gate of IŠkur}. He went out from 26-29. A junior fisherman, a fisherman of Inana, {turned} {(the other ms. has instead:)} the double-axe against him and struck Gudam down. Gudam began to grieve, and was tear-stricken:

30-32. "Inana, spare my life! I will give you bulls of the mountains, I will make your cow-pen full! I will give (?) you sheep of the mountains, I will make your sheepfold full!"

33-35. Holy Inana replied to him: " {(the other ms. adds:) bulls of the mountains for me. sheep of the mountains for me. weapon} The fields of Zabalam, where you dwelt: its villages Over a wide area, may calm for you, may desire (?)."

36-37. Inana, I will speak of your heroism. It is pleasant to praise you!

Revision history

05.ii.1998-06.ii.1998: GZ, editor: translation

20.ii.1998: JAB, editor: proofreading

23.viii.2000: GZ, editor: major corrections

28.ix.2000: JAB, editor: proofreading

01.x.2000: GC, editor: SGML tagging

13.x.2000: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

13.x.2000: ER, editor: web publication

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

[Two segments lost, unknown number of lines missing

The poem is about a conquering king attacking the city of Uruk]

They filled the bronze vessels to the brim.

He made the tilimda vessels shine like the holy barge,

Many followed Gudam on the streets of Unug.

They sat armed before him.

Inana's singer Lugal-gabagal came out and looked at the troops.

The singer met him with a song, string with his hand:

"What you have eaten, what you have eaten
It was not bread that you have eaten,
It was your flesh that you have eaten!
What you have drunk, what you have drunk...
It was not beer that you drank,
It was your blood that you drank! Gudam,
Many followed you on the streets of Unug;
They sat armed before you."

Gudam slapped his thigh with his fist in annoyance;
Fear overcame him: "He did not grasp the Sar-ur, my heroic weapon"
He lopped off the crossbeams of E-ana as if they were branches.
Gudam went out into the street.
Gudam crushed many on the streets of Unug, and killed many with his mace.
He hacked down the door of the city gate.

A junior fisherman, a fisherman of Inana,
Turned the double-axe against him and struck Gudam down.
Gudam began to grieve, and was tear-stricken:

"Inana, spare my life!
I will give you bulls of the mountains,
I will make your cow-pen full!
I will give you sheep of the mountains,
I will make your sheepfold full!"

[She answers him, but too many words are missing
It's possible that she spared his life but took the bulls, sheep, his weapon and villages.
Historically she became the deity of Zabalam, so that may be the case]

Inana, I will speak of your heroism. It is pleasant to praise you!

ETCSLtranslation : t.1.3.2 ETCSL homepage

Inana and Ebiḫ

1-6. Goddess of the fearsome divine powers, clad in terror, riding on the great divine powers, Inana, made perfect by the holy a-an-kar weapon, drenched in blood, rushing around in great battles, with shield resting on the ground (?), covered in storm and flood, great lady Inana, knowing well how to plan conflicts, you destroy mighty lands with arrow and strength and overpower lands.

7-9. In heaven and on earth you roar like a lion and devastate the people. Like a huge wild bull you triumph over lands which are hostile. Like a fearsome lion you pacify the insubordinate and unsubmitive with your gall.

10-22. My lady, on your acquiring the stature of heaven, maiden Inana, on your becoming as magnificent as the earth, on your coming forth like Utu the king and stretching your arms wide, on your walking in heaven and wearing fearsome terror, on your wearing daylight and brilliance on earth, on your walking in the mountain ranges and bringing forth beaming rays, on your bathing the girin plants of the mountains (in light), on your giving birth to the bright mountain, the mountain, the holy place, on your, on your being strong with the mace like a joyful lord, like an enthusiastic (?) lord, on your exulting in such battle like a destructive weapon -- the black-headed people ring out in song and all the lands sing their song sweetly.

23-24. I shall praise the lady of battle, the great child of Suen, maiden Inana.

25-32. (Inana announced:) "When I, the goddess, was walking around in heaven, walking around on earth, when I, Inana, was walking around in heaven, walking around on earth, when I was walking around in Elam and Subir, when I was walking around in the Lulubi mountains, when I turned towards the centre of the mountains, as I, the goddess, approached the mountain it showed me no respect, as I, Inana, approached the mountain it showed me no respect, as I approached the mountain range of Ebiḫ it showed me no respect."

33-36. "Since they did not act appropriately on their own initiative, since they did not put their noses to the ground for me, since they did not rub their lips in the dust for me, I shall fill my hand with the soaring mountain range and let it learn fear of me."

37-40. "Against its magnificent sides I shall place magnificent battering-rams, against its small sides I shall place small battering-rams. I shall storm it and start the 'game' of holy Inana. In the mountain range I shall start battles and prepare conflicts."

41-44. "I shall prepare arrows in the quiver. I shall slingstones with the rope. I shall begin the polishing of my lance. I shall prepare the throw-stick and the shield."

45-48. "I shall set fire to its thick forests. I shall take an axe to its evil-doing. I shall make Gibil, the purifier, do his work at its watercourses. I shall spread this terror through the inaccessible mountain range Aratta."

49-52. "Like a city which An has cursed, may it never be restored. Like a city at which Enlil has frowned, may it never again lift its neck up. May the mountain observe (?) my conduct. May Ebiḥ give me honour and praise me."

53-58. Inana, the child of Suen, put on the garment of royalty and girded herself in joy. She bedecked her forehead with terror and fearsome radiance. She arranged cornelian rosettes around her holy throat. She brandished the seven-headed šita weapon vigorously to her right and placed straps of lapis lazuli on her feet.

59-61. At dusk she came forth regally and stood in the street at the Gate of Wonder. She made an offering to An and addressed a prayer to him.

62-64. An, in delight at Inana, stepped forward and took his place. He filled the seat of honour of heaven.

65-69. (Inana announced:) "An, my father, I greet you! Lend your ear to my words. An has made me terrifying throughout heaven. Owing to you my word has no rival in heaven or on earth. At the limits of heaven are the silig weapon, the antibal and mansium emblems."

70-79. "To set the socle in position and make the throne and foundation firm, to carry the might of the šita weapon which bends like a mubum tree, to hold the ground with the sixfold yoke, to extend the thighs with the fourfold yoke, to pursue murderous raids and widespread military campaigns, to appear to those kings in the of heaven like moonlight, to shoot the arrow from the arm and fall on fields, orchards and forests like the tooth of the locust, to take the harrow to rebel lands, to remove the locks from their city gates so the doors stand open -- King An, you have indeed given me all this, and"

80-82. "You have placed me at the right hand of the king in order to destroy rebel lands: may he, with my aid, smash heads like a falcon in the foothills of the mountain, King An, and may I your name throughout the land like a thread."

83-88. "May he destroy the lands as a snake in a crevice. May he make them slither around like a saḡkal snake coming down from a mountain. May he establish control over the mountain, examine it and know its length. May he go out on the holy campaign of An and know its depth. I want to surpass the other deities, since the Anuna deities have"

89-95. "How can it be that the mountain did not fear me in heaven and on earth, that the mountain did not fear me, Inana, in heaven and on earth, that the mountain range of Ebiḥ, the mountain, did not fear me in heaven and on earth? Because it did not act appropriately on its own initiative, because it did not put its nose to the ground, because it did not rub its lips in the dust, may I fill my hand with the soaring mountain range and make it learn fear of me."

96-99. "Against its magnificent sides let me place magnificent battering rams, against its small sides let me place small battering rams. Let me storm it and start the 'game' of holy Inana. In the mountain range let me set up battle and prepare conflicts."

100-103. "Let me prepare arrows in the quiver. Let me slingstones with the rope. Let me begin the polishing of my lance. Let me prepare the throw-stick and the shield."

104-107. "Let me set fire to its thick forests. Let me take an axe to its evil-doing. Let me make Gibil, the purifier, do his work at its watercourses. Let me spread this terror through the inaccessible mountain range Aratta."

108-111. "Like a city which An has cursed, may it never be restored. Like a city at which Enlil has frowned, may it never again lift its neck up. May the mountain observe (?) my conduct. May Ebiḥ give me honour and praise me."

112-115. An, the king of the deities, answered her: "My little one demands the destruction of this mountain -- what is she taking on? Inana demands the destruction of this mountain -- what is she taking on? She demands the destruction of this mountain -- what is she taking on?"

116-120. "It has poured fearsome terror on the abodes of the gods. It has spread fear among the holy dwellings of the Anuna deities. Its fearsomeness is terrible and weighs upon the Land. The mountain range's radiance is terrible and weighs upon all the lands. Its arrogance extends grandly to the centre of heaven."

121-126. "Fruit hangs in its flourishing gardens and luxuriance spreads forth. Its magnificent trees, a crown in the heavens, stand as a wonder to behold. In Ebiḥ lions are abundant under the canopy of trees and bright branches. It makes wild rams and stags freely abundant. It stands wild bulls in flourishing grass. Deer couple among the cypress trees of the mountain range."

127-130. "Its fearsomeness is terrible -- you cannot pass through. The mountain range's radiance is terrible -- maiden Inana, you cannot oppose it." Thus he spoke.

131-137. The mistress, in her rage and anger, opened the arsenal and pushed on the lapis lazuli gate. She brought out magnificent battle and called up a great storm. Holy Inana reached for the quiver. She raised a towering flood with evil silt. She stirred up an evil raging wind with potsherds.

138-143. My lady confronted the mountain range. She advanced step by step. She sharpened both edges of her dagger. She grabbed Ebiḥ's neck as if ripping up esparto grass. She pressed the dagger's teeth into its interior. She roared like thunder.

144-151. The rocks forming the body of Ebiḥ clattered down its flanks. From its sides and crevices great serpents spat venom. She damned its forests and cursed its trees. She killed its oak trees with drought. She poured fire on its flanks and made its smoke dense. The goddess established authority over the mountain. Holy Inana did as she wished.

152-159. She went to the mountain range of Ebiḥ and addressed it: "Mountain range, because of your elevation, because of your height, because of your attractiveness, because of your beauty, because of your wearing a holy garment, because of your reaching up to heaven, because you did not put your nose to the ground, because you did not rub your lips in the dust, I have killed you and brought you low."

160-165. "As with an elephant I have seized your tusks. As with a great wild bull I have brought you to the ground by your thick horns. As with a bull I have forced your great strength to the ground and pursued you savagely. I have made tears the norm in your eyes. I have placed laments in your heart. Birds of sorrow are building nests on these flanks."

166-170. For a second time, rejoicing in fearsome terror, she spoke out righteously: "My father Enlil has poured my great terror over the centre of the mountains. On my right side he has placed a weapon. On my left side a is placed. My anger, a harrow with great teeth, has torn the mountain apart."

171-175. "I have built a palace and done much more. I have put a throne in place and made its foundation firm. I have given the kurğara cult performers a dagger and prod. I have given the gala cult performers ub and lilis drums. I have transformed the pilipili cult performers."

176-181. "In my victory I rushed towards the mountain. In my victory I rushed towards Ebiḫ, the mountain range. I went forward like a surging flood, and like rising water I overflowed the dam. I imposed my victory on the mountain. I imposed my victory on Ebiḫ."

182-183. For destroying Ebiḫ, great child of Suen, maiden Inana, be praised.

184. Nisaba be praised.

Revision history

04.ii.1998-20.ii.1998: GC, editor: adapting translation

24.ii.1998: JAB, editor: proofreading

03.v.1999: JAB, editor: minor corrections

03.vi.1999: GZ, editor: minor corrections, SGML tagging

17.vi.1999: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

17.vi.1999: ER, editor: web publication

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

Goddess of the fearsome divine powers, clad in terror,
Riding on the great divine powers, Inana,
Made perfect by the holy a-an-kar weapon,
Drenched in blood, rushing around in great battles,
With shield resting on the ground,
Covered in storm and flood, great lady Inana,
Knowing well how to plan conflicts,
You destroy mighty lands with arrow and strength and overpower lands.

In heaven and on earth you roar like a lion and devastate the people.
Like a huge wild bull you triumph over lands which are hostile.
Like a fearsome lion you pacify the insubordinate and unsubmissive with your gall.

My lady, on your acquiring the stature of heaven,
Maiden Inana, on your becoming as magnificent as the earth,
On your coming forth like Utu the king and stretching your arms wide,
On your walking in heaven and wearing fearsome terror,
On your wearing daylight and brilliance on earth,
On your walking in the mountain ranges and bringing forth beaming rays,
On your bathing the girin plants of the mountains in light,
On your giving birth to the bright mountain, the mountain, the holy place,
On your being strong with the mace like a joyful lord, like an enthusiastic lord,
On your exulting in such battle like a destructive weapon
The black-headed people ring out in song and all the lands sing their song sweetly.

I shall praise the lady of battle, the great child of Suen, maiden Inana.

Inana announced:

"When I, the goddess, was walking around in heaven, walking around on earth,
When I, Inana, was walking around in heaven, walking around on earth,
When I was walking around in Elam and Subir,
When I was walking around in the Lulubi mountains,
When I turned towards the centre of the mountains,
As I, the goddess, approached the mountain
It showed me no respect,
As I, Inana, approached the mountain it showed me no respect
As I approached the mountain range of Ebih it showed me no respect."
"Since they did not act appropriately on their own initiative, since they did not put their noses to the ground for me, since they did not rub their lips in the dust for me,
I shall fill my hand with the soaring mountain range and let it learn fear of me."

"Against its magnificent sides I shall place magnificent battering-rams, against its small sides I shall place small battering-rams.

I shall storm it and start the 'game' of holy Inana.

In the mountain range I shall start battles and prepare conflicts."

"I shall prepare arrows in the quiver.

I shall prepare the slingstones on the rope.

I shall begin the polishing of my lance.

I shall prepare the throw-stick and the shield."

"I shall set fire to its thick forests.

I shall take an axe to its evil-doing.

I shall make Gibil, the purifier, do his work at its watercourses.

I shall spread this terror through the inaccessible mountain range Aratta."

"Like a city which An has cursed, may it never be restored.

Like a city at which Enlil has frowned, may it never again lift its neck up.

May the mountain observe my conduct. May Ebih give me honour and praise me."

Inana, the child of Suen, put on the garment of royalty and girded herself in joy.

She bedecked her forehead with terror and fearsome radiance.

She arranged cornelian rosettes around her holy throat.

She brandished the seven-headed sita weapon vigorously to her right and placed straps of lapis lazuli on her feet.

At dusk she came forth regally and stood in the street at the Gate of Wonder.

She made an offering to An and addressed a prayer to him.

An, in delight at Inana, stepped forward and took his place.

He filled the seat of honour of heaven.

Inana announced:

"An, my father, I greet you!

Lend your ear to my words.

An has made me terrifying throughout heaven.

Owing to you my word has no rival in heaven or on earth.

At the limits of heaven are the silig weapon, the antibal and mansium emblems."

"To set the socle in position and make the throne and foundation firm,

To carry the might of the sita weapon which bends like a mubum tree,

To hold the ground with the sixfold yoke,

To extend the thighs with the fourfold yoke,

To pursue murderous raids and widespread military campaigns,

To appear to those kings like moonlight,

To shoot the arrow from the arm and fall on fields,

Orchards and forests like the tooth of the locust,

To take the harrow to rebel lands,

To remove the locks from their city gates so the doors stand open

King An, you have indeed given me all this"

"You have placed me at the right hand of the king in order to destroy rebel lands:

May he, with my aid, smash heads like a falcon in the foothills of the mountain,

King An, and may I weave your name throughout the land like a thread."

"May he destroy the lands as a snake in a crevice.

May he make them slither around like a sagkal snake coming down from a mountain.

May he establish control over the mountain, examine it and know its length.

May he go out on the holy campaign of An and know its depth.

I want to surpass the other deities"

"How can it be that the mountain did not fear me in heaven and on earth,

That the mountain did not fear me, Inana, in heaven and on earth,

That the mountain range of Ebih, the mountain,

Did not fear me in heaven and on earth?

Because it did not act appropriately on its own initiative,

Because it did not put its nose to the ground,

Because it did not rub its lips in the dust,

May I fill my hand with the soaring mountain range and make it learn fear of me."

"Against its magnificent sides let me place magnificent battering rams, against its small sides let me place small battering rams.

Let me storm it and start the 'game' of holy Inana.

In the mountain range let me set up battle and prepare conflicts."

"Let me prepare arrows in the quiver.

Let me prepare the slingstones on the rope.

Let me begin the polishing of my lance.

Let me prepare the throw-stick and the shield."

"Let me set fire to its thick forests.

Let me take an axe to its evil-doing.

Let me make Gibil, the purifier, do his work at its watercourses.

Let me spread this terror through the inaccessible mountain range Aratta."

"Like a city which An has cursed, may it never be restored.

Like a city at which Enlil has frowned, may it never again lift its neck up.

May the mountain observe my conduct.

May Ebih give me honour and praise me."

An, the king of the deities, answered her:

"My little one demands the destruction of this mountain, what is she taking on?

Inana demands the destruction of this mountain, what is she taking on?

She demands the destruction of this mountain, what is she taking on?"

"It has poured fearsome terror on the abodes of the gods.

It has spread fear among the holy dwellings of the Anuna deities.

Its fearsomeness is terrible and weighs upon the Land.

The mountain range's radiance is terrible and weighs upon all the lands.

Its arrogance extends grandly to the centre of heaven."

"Fruit hangs in its flourishing gardens and luxuriance spreads forth.

Its magnificent trees, a crown in the heavens, stand as a wonder to behold.

In Ebih lions are abundant under the canopy of trees and bright branches.

It makes wild rams and stags freely abundant.

It stands wild bulls in flourishing grass.

Deer couple among the cypress trees of the mountain range."

"Its fearsomeness is terrible, you cannot pass through.

The mountain range's radiance is terrible,

Maiden Inana, you cannot oppose it."

Thus he spoke.

The mistress, in her rage and anger,

Opened the arsenal and pushed on the lapis lazuli gate.

She brought out magnificent battle and called up a great storm.

Holy Inana reached for the quiver.

She raised a towering flood with evil silt.

She stirred up an evil raging wind with potsherds.

My lady confronted the mountain range.

She advanced step by step.

She sharpened both edges of her dagger.

She grabbed Ebih's neck as if ripping up esparto grass.

She pressed the dagger's teeth into its interior.
 She roared like thunder.
 The rocks forming the body of Ebih clattered down its flanks.
 From its sides and crevices great serpents spat venom.
 She damned its forests and cursed its trees.
 She killed its oak trees with drought.
 She poured fire on its flanks and made its smoke dense.
 The goddess established authority over the mountain.
 Holy Inana did as she wished.
 She went to the mountain range of Ebih and addressed it:
 "Mountain range, because of your elevation, because of your height,
 Because of your attractiveness, because of your beauty,
 Because of your wearing a holy garment,
 Because of your reaching up to heaven,
 Because you did not put your nose to the ground,
 Because you did not rub your lips in the dust,
 I have killed you and brought you low."
 "As with an elephant I have seized your tusks.
 As with a great wild bull I have brought you to the ground by your thick horns.
 As with a bull I have forced your great strength to the ground and pursued you savagely.
 I have made tears the norm in your eyes.
 I have placed laments in your heart.
 Birds of sorrow are building nests on these flanks."
 For a second time, rejoicing in fearsome terror, she spoke out righteously:
 "My father Enlil has poured my great terror over the centre of the mountains.
 On my right side he has placed a weapon.
 On my left side a seal is placed.
 My anger, a harrow with great teeth,
 Has torn the mountain apart."
 "I have built a palace and done much more
 I have put a throne in place and made its foundation firm.
 I have given the kurgara cult performers a dagger and prod.
 I have given the gala cult performers ub and lilis drums.
 I have transformed the pilipili cult performers."
 "In my victory I rushed towards the mountain.
 In my victory I rushed towards Ebih, the mountain range.
 I went forward like a surging flood, and like rising water I overflowed the dam.
 I imposed my victory on the mountain.
 I imposed my victory on Ebih."
 For destroying Ebih, great child of Suen, maiden Inana, be praised.
 Nisaba be praised.
 ETCSLtranslation : t.1.3.1 ETCSL homepage
 Inana and Enki
 Segment A

approx. 6 lines missing

1-10. She of the desert. She put the šu-gura, the desert crown, on her head.
 when she went out to the shepherd, to the sheepfold, her genitals were remarkable. her genitals were remarkable. She praised herself, full of delight at her genitals, she praised herself, full of delight at her genitals.
 She looked at, she looked at, she looked at 11-27. "When I have gratified the lord, when I have made brilliant, when I have made beautiful, when I have made glorious, when I have, when I have made perfect, when I have made luxuriant, when I have made exuberant, when I have made shining (?), when I have made return, when I have made brilliant, when I have made shimmering, I shall direct my steps to the abzu, to Eridug, I shall direct my steps to Enki, to the abzu, to Eridug, and I myself shall speak coaxingly to him, in the abzu, in Eridug, I myself shall speak coaxingly to Enki, in the abzu, in Eridug. had her go out".

approx. 21 lines missing

Segment B

1-5. "Inana, it is I who I, Inana, personally {intend to go to the abzu} {(1 ms. has instead:) intend to go to Eridug}. I shall utter a plea to Lord Enki. Like the sweet oil of the cedar, who will for my holy perfume? It shall never escape me that I have been neglected by him who has had sex."

6-15. On that day the maiden Inana, holy Inana, directed her steps all by herself towards Enki's abzu in Eridug. On that day, he of exceptional knowledge, who knows the divine powers in heaven and earth, who from his own dwelling already knows the intentions of the gods, Enki, the king of the abzu, who, even before holy Inana had approached within six miles of {the abzu} {(1 ms. has instead:) the temple} in Eridug, knew all about her enterprise -- Enki spoke to his man, gave him instructions: "Come here, my man, listen to my words."

1 line fragmentary

approx. 2 lines missing

Segment C

1-14. "..... she will drink, she will eat. Come here! I will, do. The maiden the abzu and Eridug, Inana the abzu and Eridug When the maiden Inana has entered the abzu and Eridug, when Inana has entered the abzu and Eridug, offer her butter cake to eat. Let her be served cool refreshing water. Pour beer for her, in front of the Lions' Gate, make her feel as if she is in her girlfriend's house, make her as a colleague. You are to welcome holy Inana at the holy table, at the table of An."

15-26. After Enki had spoken thus to him, Isimud the minister followed his master's instructions closely. He let the maiden into the abzu and Eridug. He let Inana into the abzu and Eridug. When the maiden had entered the abzu and Eridug, when Inana had entered the abzu and Eridug, she got butter cake to eat. They poured cool refreshing water for her, and they gave her beer to drink, in front of the Lions' Gate. He made her feel as if she was in her girlfriend's house, and made her as a colleague. He welcomed holy Inana at the holy table, at the table of An.

27-30. So it came about that Enki and Inana were drinking beer together in the abzu, and enjoying the taste of sweet wine. The bronze aga vessels were filled to the brim, and the two of them started a competition, drinking from the bronze vessels of Uraš.

approx. 35 lines missing

Segment D

1-5. "I will give them to holy Inana, my daughter; may not" Holy Inana received heroism, power, wickedness, righteousness, the plundering of cities, making lamentations, rejoicing. "In the name of my power, in the name of my abzu, I will give them to holy Inana, my daughter; may not"

6-9. Holy Inana received deceit, the rebel lands, kindness, being on the move, being sedentary. "In the name of my power, in the name of my abzu, I will give them to holy Inana, my daughter; may not"

10-13. Holy Inana received the craft of the carpenter, the craft of the coppersmith, the craft of the scribe, the craft of the smith, the craft of the leather-worker, the craft of the fuller, the craft of the builder, the craft of the reed-worker. "In the name of my power, in the name of my abzu, I will give them to holy Inana, my daughter; may not"

14-17. Holy Inana received wisdom, attentiveness, holy purification rites, the shepherd's hut, piling up glowing charcoals, the sheepfold, respect, awe, reverent silence. "In the name of my power, in the name of my abzu, I will give them to holy Inana, my daughter; may not"

18-21. Holy Inana received the bitter-toothed (?), the kindling of fire, the extinguishing of fire, hard work,, the assembled family, descendants. "In the name of my power, in the name of my abzu, I will give them to holy Inana, my daughter; may not"

22-27. Holy Inana received strife, triumph, counselling, comforting, judging, decision-making. "In the name of my power, in the name of my abzu, I will give them to holy Inana, my daughter; may not" Holy Inana received,, approx. 78 lines missing

Segment E

1-4. "He has given me righteousness. He has given me the plundering of cities. He has given me making lamentations. He has given me rejoicing."

5-9. "He has given me deceit. He has given me the rebel lands. He has given me kindness. He has given me being on the move. He has given me being sedentary."

10-17. "He has given me the craft of the carpenter. He has given me the craft of the coppersmith. He has given me the craft of the scribe. He has given me the craft of the smith. He has given me the craft of the leather-worker. He has given me the craft of the fuller. He has given me the craft of the builder. He has given me the craft of the reed-worker."

18-26. "He has given me wisdom. He has given me attentiveness. He has given me holy purification rites. He has given me the shepherd's hut. He has given me piling up glowing charcoals. He has given me the sheepfold. He has given me respect. He has given me awe. He has given me reverent silence."

27-36. "He has given me the bitter-toothed (?), He has given me the kindling of fire. He has given me the extinguishing of fire. He has given me hard work. He has given me, He has given me the assembled family. He has given me descendants. He has given me strife. He has given me triumph. He has given me counselling."

approx. 34-35 lines missing

Segment F

1-13. Enki spoke to the minister Isimud: "Isimud, my minister, my Sweet Name of Heaven!" "Enki, my master, I am at your service! What is your wish?" "Since she said that she would not yet depart from here for Unug Kulaba, that she would not yet depart from here to the place where Utu, can I still reach her?" But holy Inana had gathered up the divine powers and embarked onto the Boat of Heaven. The Boat of Heaven had already left the quay. As the effects of the beer cleared from him who had drunk beer, from him who had drunk beer, as the effects of the beer cleared from Father Enki who had drunk beer, the great lord Enki turned his attention to the building. The lord looked up at the abzu. King Enki turned his attention to Eridug.

14-18. Enki spoke to Isimud the minister: "Isimud, my minister, my Sweet Name of Heaven!" "Enki, my master, I am at your service! What is your wish?" "Where are the office of en priest, the office of lagar priest, divinity, the great and good crown, the royal throne?" "My master has given them to his daughter."

19-20. "Where are the noble sceptre, the staff and crook, the noble dress, shepherdship, kingship?" "My master has given them to his daughter."

21-22. "Where are the office of egir-zid priestess, the office of nin-diĝir priestess, the office of išib priest, the office of lu-maḥ priest, the office of gudug priest?" "My master has given them to his daughter."

23-24. "Where are constancy,,, going down to the underworld, coming up from the underworld, the kur-ġara priest?" "My master has given them to his daughter."

25-26. "Where are the sword and club, the cultic functionary saġ-ursaġ, the black garment, the colourful garment, the hair-style, the hair-style?" "My master has given them to his daughter."

27-28. "Where are?" "My master has given them to his daughter."

29-30. "Where are the standard, the quiver, sexual intercourse, kissing, prostitution, running (?)?" "My master has given them to his daughter."

31-32. "Where are forthright speech, deceitful speech, grandiloquent speech,, the cultic prostitute, the holy tavern?" "My master has given them to his daughter."

33-34. "Where are the holy niĝin-ĝar shrine,, the mistress of heaven, loud musical instruments, the art of song, venerable old age?" "My master has given them to his daughter."

approx. 33-36 lines missing

Segment G

1-21. king in the house of Enki should not forget a word. full of advice, loud voiced, knowing much, They said: "By the bolt of the temple door, a frog spoke." He showed him to a place. Enki grasped the frog by his right paw. He showed him into his holy, He received the ḫalub tree and his box-tree. He gave to the bird of heaven. He gave to the fish of the subterranean waters.

11 lines fragmentary

approx. 10-15 lines missing

Segment H

1-7. The prince spoke to his minister Isimud, Enki addressed the Sweet Name of Heaven: "Isimud, my minister, my Sweet Name of Heaven!" "Enki, my master, I am at your service! What is your wish?" "Where has the Boat of Heaven reached now?" "It has just now reached the Quay." "Go now! The enkum are to take the Boat of Heaven away from her!"

8-19. The minister Isimud spoke to holy Inana: "My lady! Your father has sent me to you. Inana, your father has sent me to you. What your father said was very serious. What Enki spoke was very serious. His important words cannot be countermanded." Holy Inana replied to him: "What has my father said to you, what has he spoken? Why should his important words not be countermanded?" "My master has spoken to me, Enki has said to me: "Inana may travel to Unug, but you are to get the Boat of Heaven back to Eridug for me"."

20-33. Holy Inana spoke to the minister Isimud: "How could my father have changed what he said to me? How could he have altered his promise as far as I am concerned? How could he have discredited his important words to me? Was it falsehood that my father said to me, did he speak falsely to me? Has he sworn falsely by the name of his power and by the name of his abzu? Has he duplicitously sent you to me as a messenger?" Now as these words were still in her mouth, he got the enkum to seize hold of the Boat of Heaven. Holy Inana addressed her minister Ninšubur: "Come, my good minister of E-ana! My fair-spoken minister! My envoy of reliable words! Water has never touched your hand, water has never touched your feet!"

34-41. So Inana got hold again of the divine powers which had been presented to her, and the Boat of Heaven; and then for the second time the prince spoke to his minister Isimud, Enki addressed the Sweet Name of Heaven: "Isimud, my minister, my Sweet Name of Heaven!" "Enki, my master, I am at your service! What is your wish?" "Where has the Boat of Heaven reached now?" "It has just now reached the holy" "Go now! The fifty giants of Eridug are to take the Boat of Heaven away from her!"

42-53. The minister Isimud spoke to holy Inana: "My lady! Your father has sent me to you. Inana, your father has sent me to you. What your father said was very serious. What Enki spoke was very serious. His important words cannot be countermanded." Holy Inana replied to him: "What has my father said to you, what has he spoken? Why should his important words not be countermanded?" "My master has spoken to me, Enki has said to me: "Inana may travel to Unug, but you are to get the Boat of Heaven back to Eridug for me"."

54-67. Holy Inana spoke to the minister Isimud: "How could my father have changed what he said to me? How could he have altered his promise as far as I am concerned? How could he have discredited his important words to me? Was it falsehood that my father said to me, did he speak falsely to me? Has he sworn falsely by the name of his power and by the name of his abzu? Has he duplicitously sent you to me as a messenger?" Now as these words were still in her mouth, he got the fifty giants of Eridug to seize hold of the Boat of Heaven. Holy Inana addressed her minister Ninšubur: "Come, my good minister of E-ana! My fair-spoken minister! My envoy of reliable words! Water has never touched your hand, water has never touched your feet!"

68-75. So Inana got hold again of the divine powers which had been presented to her, and the Boat of Heaven; and then for the third time the prince spoke to his minister Isimud, Enki addressed the Sweet Name of Heaven: "Isimud, my minister, my Sweet Name of Heaven!" "Enki, my master, I am at your service! What is your wish?" "Where has the Boat of Heaven reached now?" "It has just now reached the UL.MA hill." "Go now! The fifty laḥama of the subterranean waters are to take the Boat of Heaven away from her!"

76-87. The minister Isimud spoke to holy Inana: "My lady! Your father has sent me to you. Inana, your father has sent me to you. What your father said was very serious. What Enki spoke was very serious. His important words cannot be countermanded." Holy Inana replied to him: "What has my father said to you, what has he spoken? Why should his important words not be countermanded?" "My master has spoken to me, Enki has said to me: "Inana may travel to Unug, but you are to get the Boat of Heaven back to Eridug for me"."

88-101. Holy Inana spoke to the minister Isimud: "How could my father have changed what he said to me? How could he have altered his promise as far as I am concerned? How could he have discredited his important words to me? Was it falsehood that my father said to me, did he speak falsely to me? Has he sworn falsely by the name of his power and by the name of his abzu? Has he duplicitously sent you to me as a messenger?" Now as these words were still in her mouth, he got the fifty laḥama of the subterranean waters to seize hold of the Boat of Heaven. Holy Inana addressed her minister Ninšubur: "Come, my good minister of E-ana! My fair-spoken minister! My envoy of reliable words! Water has never touched your hand, water has never touched your feet!"

102-109. So Inana got hold again of the divine powers which had been presented to her, and the Boat of Heaven; and then for the fourth time the prince spoke to his minister Isimud, Enki addressed the Sweet Name of Heaven: "Isimud, my minister, my Sweet Name of Heaven!" "Enki, my master, I am at your service! What is your wish?" "Where has the Boat of Heaven reached now?" "It has just now reached the Field Hill." "Go now! All the great fish together are to take the Boat of Heaven away from her!"

110-121. The minister Isimud spoke to holy Inana: "My lady! Your father has sent me to you. Inana, your father has sent me to you. What your father said was very serious. What Enki spoke was very serious. His important words cannot be countermanded." Holy Inana replied to him: "What has my father said to you, what has he spoken? Why should his important words not be countermanded?" "My master has spoken to me, Enki has said to me: "Inana may travel to Unug, but you are to get the Boat of Heaven back to Eridug for me"."

122-135. Holy Inana spoke to the minister Isimud: "How could my father have changed what he said to me? How could he have altered his promise as far as I am concerned? How could he have discredited his important words to me? Was it falsehood that my father said to me, did he speak falsely to me? Has he sworn falsely by the name of his power and by the name of his abzu? Has he duplicitously sent you to me as a messenger?" Now as these words were still in her mouth, he got all the great fish together to seize hold of the Boat of Heaven. Holy Inana addressed her minister Ninšubur: "Come, my good minister of E-ana! My fair-spoken minister! My envoy of reliable words! Water has never touched your hand, water has never touched your feet!"

136-143. So Inana got hold again of the divine powers which had been presented to her, and the Boat of Heaven; and then for the fifth time the prince spoke to his minister Isimud, Enki addressed the Sweet Name of Heaven: "Isimud, my minister, my Sweet Name of Heaven!" "Enki, my master, I am at your service! What is your wish?" "Where has the Boat of Heaven reached now?" "It has just now reached" "Go now!, the guardians of Unug, are to take the Boat of Heaven away from her!"

144-155. The minister Isimud spoke to holy Inana: "My lady! Your father has sent me to you. Inana, your father has sent me to you. What your father said was very serious. What Enki spoke was very serious. His important words cannot be countermanded." Holy Inana replied to him: "What has my father said to you, what has he spoken? Why should his important words not be countermanded?" "My master has spoken to me, Enki has said to me: "Inana may travel to Unug, but you are to get the Boat of Heaven back to Eridug for me"."

156-169. Holy Inana spoke to the minister Isimud: "How could my father have changed what he said to me? How could he have altered his promise as far as I am concerned? How could he have discredited his important words to me? Was it falsehood that my father said to me, did he speak falsely to me? Has he sworn falsely by the name of his power and by the name of his abzu? Has he duplicitously sent you to me as a messenger?" Now as these words were still in her mouth, he got the, the guardians of Unug, to seize hold of the Boat of Heaven. Holy Inana addressed her minister Ninšubur: "Come, my good minister of E-ana! My fair-spoken minister! My envoy of reliable words! Water has never touched your hand, water has never touched your feet!"

170-178. So Inana got hold again of the divine powers which had been presented to her, and the Boat of Heaven; and then for the sixth time the prince spoke to his minister Isimud, Enki addressed the Sweet Name of Heaven: "Isimud, my minister, my Sweet Name of Heaven!" "Enki, my master, I am at your service! What is your wish?" "Where has the Boat of Heaven reached now?" "It has just now reached the Surungal canal" "Go now! The Surungal canal are to take the Boat of Heaven away from her! from holy Inana."

179-190. The minister Isimud spoke to holy Inana: "My lady! Your father has sent me to you. Inana, your father has sent me to you. What your father said was very serious. What Enki spoke was very serious. His important words cannot be countermanded." Holy Inana replied to him: "What has my father said to you, what has he spoken? Why should his important words not be countermanded?" "My master has spoken to me, Enki has said to me: "Inana may travel to Unug, but you are to get the Boat of Heaven back to Eridug for me"."

191-205. Holy Inana spoke to the minister Isimud: "How could my father have changed what he said to me? How could he have altered his promise as far as I am concerned? How could he have discredited his important words to me? Was it falsehood that my father said to me, did he speak falsely to me? Has he sworn falsely by the name of his power and by the name of his abzu? Has he duplicitously sent you to me as a messenger?" Now as these words were still in her mouth, he got the Surungal canal to seize hold of the Boat of Heaven. from holy Inana. Holy Inana addressed her minister Ninšubur: "Come, my good minister of E-ana! My fair-spoken minister! My envoy of reliable words! Water has never touched your hand, water has never touched your feet!"

206-217. So Inana got hold again of the divine powers which had been presented to her, and the Boat of Heaven; and then

1 line fragmentary Unug

1 line fragmentary the Boat of Heaven. Ninšubur, the Boat of Heaven. A seventh time

35-40. "You have brought with you the standard, you have brought with you the quiver, you have brought with you sexual intercourse, you have brought with you kissing, you have brought with you prostitution, you have brought with you running (?)."

41-46. "You have brought with you forthright speech, you have brought with you deceitful speech, you have brought with you grandiloquent speech, you have brought with you, you have brought with you the cultic prostitute, you have brought with you the holy tavern."

47-52. "You have brought with you the holy niġin-ġar shrine, you have brought with you, you have brought with you the mistress of heaven, you have brought with you loud musical instruments, you have brought with you the art of song, you have brought with you venerable old age."

53-59. "You have brought with you heroism, you have brought with you power, you have brought with you wickedness, you have brought with you righteousness, you have brought with you the plundering of cities, you have brought with you making lamentations, you have brought with you rejoicing."

60-64. "You have brought with you deceit, you have brought with you the rebel lands, you have brought with you kindness, you have brought with you being on the move, you have brought with you being sedentary."

65-72. "You have brought with you the craft of the carpenter, you have brought with you the craft of the coppersmith, you have brought with you the craft of the scribe, you have brought with you the craft of the smith, you have brought with you the craft of the leather-worker, you have brought with you the craft of the fuller, you have brought with you the craft of the builder, you have brought with you the craft of the reed-worker."

73-81. "You have brought with you wisdom, you have brought with you attentiveness, you have brought with you holy purification rites, you have brought with you the shepherd's hut, you have brought with you piling up glowing charcoals, you have brought with you the sheepfold, you have brought with you respect, you have brought with you awe, you have brought with you reverent silence."

82-88. "You have brought with you the bitter-toothed (?), you have brought with you the kindling of fire, you have brought with you the extinguishing of fire, you have brought with you hard work, you have brought with you, you have brought with you the assembled family, you have brought with you descendants."

89-94. "You have brought with you strife, you have brought with you triumph, you have brought with you counselling, you have brought with you comforting, you have brought with you judging, you have brought with you decision-making."

95-108. "You have brought with you the establishing of plans (?), the attractiveness of women, you have brought with you to handle the perfect divine powers, you have brought with you small, you have brought with you exalted, you have brought with you the holy tigi, holy lilis, ub, meze and ala drums, you have brought with you the of holy An, you have brought with you the of holy An, you have brought with you the of holy An, you have brought with you the of holy An, you have brought with you the of holy An, you have brought with you all of the, beer."

2 lines fragmentary

6 lines missing

115-125. Where the woman joy, she named it with the name 'The house Ganzer is rebuilt'. Where the trader said "Fifty shekels" but when he brought (?) it there was less, she named that place with the name 'Potsherds and scrap metal (?)'. Where the boat, she named it with the name '.....'. Where the boat came to dock at the quay, she named that place with the name 'White Quay'. Where, she named that place with the name 'Blue Quay'.

126-128. Enki spoke to holy Inana: "In the name of my power, in the name of my abzu, I will establish in my abzu for the woman."

129-130. (Inana speaks:) "Why has this one now entered here? taking the divine powers from me?"

131-142.

3 lines fragmentary(A third deity speaks:) "May the in your name!"

4 lines fragmentary "May there be a festival! May pass their time at the gate of your Ġipar! May the citizens of your city, Inana, the citizens of Unug, live! And as for you, Enki -- may your city, Eridug, and has indeed restored"

Revision history

01.iii.1998-03.iii.1998: JAB, editor: translation

14.iv.1998: GZ, editor: proofreading

18.viii.1999: GC, editor: SGML tagging

27.viii.1999: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

27.viii.1999: ER, editor: web publication

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

Inanna placed the shugurra, the crown of the steppe, on her head.

She went to the sheepfold, to the shepherd.

She leaned back against the apple tree.

When she leaned against the apple tree, her vulva was wondrous to behold.

Rejoicing at her wondrous vulva, the young woman Inanna applauded herself.

She said:

"I, the Queen of Heaven, shall visit the God of Wisdom.

I shall go to the Abzu, the sacred place in Eridu.

I shall honor Enki, the God of Wisdom, in Eridu.

I shall utter a prayer to Enki at the deep sweet waters."

Inanna set out by herself.

When she was within a short distance of the Abzu,

He whose ears are wide open,

He who knows the me, the holy laws of heaven and earth,

He who knows the heart of the gods,

Enki, the God of Wisdom, who knows all things,

Called to his servant, Isimud:

"Come, my sukkal, The young woman is about to enter the Abzu.

When Inanna enters the holy shrine

Give her butter cake to eat.

Pour cold water to refresh her heart.

Offer her beer before the statue of the lion.

Treat her like an equal.

Greet Inanna at the holy table, the table of heaven."

Isimud heeded Enki's words.

When Inanna entered the Abzu,

He gave her butter cake to eat.

He poured cold water for her to drink.

He offered her beer before the statue of the lion.

He treated her respectfully.

He greeted Inanna at the holy table, the table of heaven.

Enki and Inanna drank beer together.

They drank more beer together.
They drank more and more beer together.
With their bronze vessels filled to overflowing,
With the vessels of Urash, Mother of the Earth,
They toasted each other; they challenged each other.

Enki, swaying with drink, toasted Inanna:
"In the name of my power!
In the name of my holy shrine!
To my daughter Inanna I shall give
The high priesthood! Godship!
The noble, enduring crown! The throne of kingship!"
Inanna replied:
"I take them!"

Enki raised his cup and toasted Inanna a second time:
"In the name of my power!
In the name of my holy shrine!
To my daughter Inanna I shall give Truth!
Descent into the underworld! Ascent from the underworld!
The art of lovemaking! The kissing of the phallus!"
Inanna replied:
"I take them!"

Enki raised his cup and toasted Inanna a third time:
"In the name of my power!
In the name of my holy shrine!
To my daughter Inanna I shall give
The holy priestess of heaven!
The setting up of lamentations! The rejoicing of the heart!
The giving of judgments! The making of decisions!"
Inanna replied:
"I take them!"

(Fourteen times Enki raised his cup to Inanna.
Fourteen times he offered his daughter five me, six me, seven me.
Fourteen times Inanna accepted the holy me.

Then Inanna, standing before her father,
Acknowledged the me Enki had given to her:
"My father has given me the me:
He gave me the high priesthood.
He gave me godship.
He gave me the noble, enduring crown.
He gave me the throne of kingship.
He gave me the noble sceptre.
He gave me the staff.
He gave me the holy measuring rod and line.
He gave me the high throne.
He gave me shepherdship.
He gave me kingship.
He gave me the princess priestess.
He gave me the divine queen priestess.
He gave me the incantation priest.
He gave me the noble priest.
He gave me the libations priest.
He gave me truth.
He gave me descent into the underworld.
He gave me ascent from the underworld.
He gave me the kurgarra.
He gave me the dagger and sword.
He gave me the black garment.
He gave me the colorful garment.

He gave me the loosening of the hair.
He gave me the binding of the hair.
He gave me the standard.
He gave me the quiver.
He gave me the art of lovemaking.
He gave me the kissing of the phallus.
He gave me the art of prostitution.
He gave me the art of speeding
He gave me the art of forthright speech.
He gave me the art of slanderous speech.
He gave me the art of adorning speech.
He gave me the cult prostitute.
He gave me the holy tavern.
He gave me the holy shrine.
He gave me the holy priestess of heaven.
He gave me the resounding musical instrument.
He gave me the art of song.
He gave me the art of the elder.
He gave me the art of the hero.
He gave me the art of power.
He gave me the art of treachery.
He gave me the art of straightforwardness.
He gave me the plundering of cities.
He gave me the setting up of lamentations.
He gave me the rejoicing of the heart.
He gave me deceit.
He gave me the rebellious land.
He gave me the art of kindness.
He gave me travel.
He gave me the secure dwelling place.
He gave me the woodworker.
He gave me the cooper worker.
He gave me the scribe.
He gave me the smith.
He gave me the leather maker.
He gave me the fuller.
He gave me the builder.
He gave me the reed worker.
He gave me the perceptive ear.
He gave me the power of attention.
He gave me the holy purification rites.
He gave me the feeding pen.
He gave me the heaping up of hot coals.
He gave me the sheepfold.
He gave me fear.
He gave me consternation.
He gave me dismay.
He gave me the bitter-toothed lion.
He gave me the kindling of fire.
He gave me the putting out of fire.
He gave me the weary arm.
He gave me the assembled family.
He gave me procreation.
He gave me the kindling of strife.
He gave me counseling.
He gave me heart-soothing.
He gave me the giving of judgments.
He gave me the making of decisions."

(Still reeling with drink) Enki spoke to his servant Isimud:

"My sukkal, Isimud

The young woman—is about to leave—for Uruk.

It is my wish that she reach her city—safely."

Inanna gathered all the me.
The me were placed on the Boat of Heaven.
The Boat of Heaven, with the holy me, was pushed off from the quay.

When the beer had gone out from the one who had drunk beer,
When the beer had gone out from Father Enki,
When the beer had gone out from the great God of Wisdom,
Enki looked about the Abzu.
The eyes of the King of the Abzu searched Eridu.
King Enki looked about Eridu and called to his servant Isimud, saying:
"My sukkal, Isimud"
"My king, Enki, I stand to serve you."
"The high priesthood? Godship?
The noble enduring crown?
Where are they?"
"My king has given them to his daughter."
"The art of the hero? The art of power?
Treachery? Deceit?
Where are they?"
"My king has given them to his daughter."
"The perceptive ear? The power of attention?
The making of decisions?
Where are they?"
"My king has given them to his daughter."

(Fourteen times Enki questioned his servant Isimud;
Fourteen times Isimud answered, saying:
"My king has given them to his daughter.
My king has given all the me to his daughter Inanna.")

Then Enki spoke, saying:
"Isimud, the Boat of Heaven, with the holy me Where is it now?"
"The Boat of Heaven is (one quay away from Eridu)."
"Go! Take the enkum creatures
Let them bring the Boat of Heaven back to Eridu!"

Isimud spoke to Inanna:
"My queen, your father has sent me to you.
Your father's words are words of state.
They may not be disobeyed."
Inanna answered:
"What has my father said?
What has Enki added?
What are his words of state that may not be disobeyed?"

Isimud spoke:
"My king has said:
'Let Inanna proceed to Uruk;
Bring the Boat of Heaven with the holy me back to Eridu.'

Inanna cried:
"My father has changed his word to me!
He has violated his pledge—broken his promise!
Deceitfully my father spoke to me!
Deceitfully he cried:
'In the name of my power!
In the name of my holy shrine!'
Deceitfully he sent you to me!"

Scarcely had Inanna spoken these words
When the wild-haired enkum creatures seized the Boat of Heaven.

Inanna called to her servant Ninshubur, saying:
"Come, Ninshubur, once you were Queen of the East;
Now you are the faithful servant of the holy shrine of Uruk.
Water has not touched your hand,

Water has not touched your foot.
My sukkal who gives me wise advice,
My warrior who fights by my side,
Save the Boat of Heaven with the holy me!"
(Ninshubur sliced the air with her hand.
She uttered an earth-shattering cry.)
The enkum creatures were sent hurtling back to Eridu.

Then Enki called to his servant Isimud a second time, saying:

"My sukkal, Isimud"
"My king, Enki, I stand to serve you."
"Where is the Boat of Heaven now?"
"It is (two quays away from Eridu)."
"Go! Take the fifty uru giants,
Let them carry off the Boat of Heaven."

The fifty flying uru giants seized the Boat of Heaven.
But Ninshubur rescued the boat for Inanna.

Enki called to his servant Isimud a third time, saying:

"My sukkal, Isimud"
"My king, Enki, I stand to serve you."
"Where is the Boat of Heaven now?"
"It has just arrived at Dulma."
"Quickly! Take the fifty lahama monsters,
Let them carry off the Boat of Heaven."

The fifty lahama sea monsters seized the Boat of Heaven.
But Ninshubur rescued the boat for Inanna.

A fourth time Enki sent the sound-piercing kugalgal.

A fifth time Enki sent the enumiti.

But each time Ninshubur rescued the boat for Inanna.

Enki called to his servant Isimud a sixth time, saying:

"My sukkal, Isimud"
"My king, Enki, I stand to serve you."
"Where is the Boat of Heaven now?"
"It is about to enter Uruk."
"Quickly! Take the watchmen of the Iturungal Canal,
Let them carry off the Boat of Heaven."

Isimud and the watchmen of the Iturungal Canal seized the Boat of Heaven,
But Ninshubur rescued the boat for Inanna.

Then Ninshubur spoke to Inanna:

"My queen, when the Boat of Heaven
Enters the Nigulla Gate of Uruk,
Let high water flow in our city;
Let the deep-going boats sail swiftly through our canals."

Inanna answered Ninshubur:

"On the day the Boat of Heaven
Enters the Nigulla Gate of Uruk,
Let high water sweep over the streets;
Let high water flow over the paths.
Let the old men give counsel;
Let the old women offer heart-soothing.
Let the young men show the might of their weapons;
Let the little children laugh and sing.
Let all of Uruk be festive!
Let the high priest greet the Boat of Heaven with song.
Let him utter great prayers.
Let the king slaughter oxen and sheep.
Let him pour beer out of the cup.
Let the drum and tambourine resound.
Let the sweet tigi- music be played.
Let all the lands proclaim my noble name."

Let my people sing my praises."

And so it was,
On the day the Boat of Heaven entered the Nigulla Gate of Uruk,
High water swept over the streets;
High water flowed over the paths.
The Boat of Heaven docked at the holy shrine of Uruk;
The Boat of Heaven docked at the holy house of Inanna.
Then Enki called to his servant Isimud a seventh time, saying:
"My sukkal, Isimud"
"My king, Enki, I stand to serve you."
"Where is the Boat of Heaven now?"
"The Boat of Heaven is at the White Quay."
"Go! She has aroused wonder there.
The queen has aroused wonder at the White Quay.
Inanna has aroused wonder at the White Quay for the Boat of Heaven."

The holy me were being unloaded.
As the me which Inanna had received from Enki were unloaded,
They were announced and presented to the people of Sumer.
Then more me appeared, more me than Enki had given Inanna.
And these, too, were announced,
And these, too, were presented to the people of Uruk:
"Inanna brought the me:
She brought the placing of the garment on the ground.
She brought allure.
She brought the art of women.
She brought the perfect execution of the me.
She brought the tigi and lilt drums.
She brought the ub, the meze, and the ala tambourines."

Inanna spoke, saying:
"Where the Boat of Heaven has docked,
That place shall be called The White Quay.
Where the holy me have been presented,
That place I shall name The Lapis Lazuli Quay."

Then Enki spoke to Inanna, saying:
"In the name of my power!
In the name of my holy shrine!
Let the me you have taken with you remain in the holy shrine of your city.
Let the high priest spend his days at the holy shrine in song.
Let the citizens of your city prosper,
Let the children of Uruk rejoice.
The people of Uruk are allies of the people of Eridu.
Let the city of Uruk be restored to its great place."

ETCSLtranslation : t.1.4.1 ETCSL homepage

Inana's descent to the nether world

1-5. From the great heaven she set her mind on the great below. From the great heaven the goddess set her mind on the great below. From the great heaven Inana set her mind on the great below. My mistress abandoned heaven, abandoned earth, and descended to the underworld. Inana abandoned heaven, abandoned earth, and descended to the underworld.

6-13. She abandoned the office of en, abandoned the office of lagar, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the E-ana in Unug, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the E-muš-kalama in Bad-tibira, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the Giguna in Zabalam, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the E-šara in Adab, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the Barag-dur-ġara in Nibru, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the Ĥursaġ-kalama in Kiš, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the E-Ulmaš in Agade, and descended to the underworld. {(1 ms. adds 8 other lines:) She abandoned the Ibgal in Umma, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the E-Dilmuna in Urim, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the Amaš-e-kug in Kisiga, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the E-ešdam-kug in Ġirsu, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the E-šeg-meše-du in Isin, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the Anzagar in Akšak, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the Niġin-ġar-kug in Šuruppak, and descended to the underworld. She abandoned the E-šag-ġula in Kazallu, and descended to the underworld.}

14-19. She took the seven divine powers. She collected the divine powers and grasped them in her hand. With the good divine powers, she went on her way. She put a turban, headgear for the open country, on her head. She took a wig for her forehead. She hung small lapis-lazuli beads around her neck.

20-25. She placed twin egg-shaped beads on her breast. She covered her body with a pala dress, the garment of ladyship. She placed mascara which is called "Let a man come, let him come" on her eyes. She pulled the pectoral which is called "Come, man, come" over her breast. She placed a golden ring on her hand. She held the lapis-lazuli measuring rod and measuring line in her hand.

26-27. Inana travelled towards the underworld. Her minister Ninšubur travelled behind her.

28-31. Holy Inana said to Ninšubur: "Come my faithful minister of E-ana, {my minister who speaks fair words, my escort who speaks trustworthy words} {(1 ms. has instead:) I am going to give you instructions: my instructions must be followed; I am going to say something to you: it must be observed}."

32-36. "On this day I will descend to the underworld. When I have arrived in the underworld, make a lament for me on the ruin mounds. Beat the drum for me in the sanctuary. Make the rounds of the houses of the gods for me."

37-40. "Lacerate your eyes for me, lacerate your nose for me. {(1 ms. adds 1 line:) Lacerate your ears for me, in public.} In private, lacerate your buttocks for me. Like a pauper, clothe yourself in a single garment and all alone set your foot in the E-kur, the house of Enlil."

41-47. "When you have entered the E-kur, the house of Enlil, lament before Enlil: "Father Enlil, don't let anyone kill your daughter in the underworld. Don't let your precious metal be alloyed there with the dirt of the underworld. Don't let your precious lapis lazuli be split there with the mason's stone. Don't let your boxwood be chopped up there with the carpenter's wood. Don't let young lady Inana be killed in the underworld.""

48-56. "If Enlil does not help you in this matter, go to Urim. In the E-mud-kura at Urim, when you have entered the E-kiš-nu-ġal, the house of Nanna, lament before Nanna: "Father Nanna, don't let anyone kill your daughter in the underworld. Don't let your precious metal be alloyed there with the dirt of the underworld. Don't let your precious lapis lazuli be split there with the mason's stone. Don't let your boxwood be chopped up there with the carpenter's wood. Don't let young lady Inana be killed in the underworld.""

57-64. "And if Nanna does not help you in this matter, go to Eridug. In Eridug, when you have entered the house of Enki, lament before Enki: "Father Enki, don't let anyone kill your daughter in the underworld. Don't let your precious metal be alloyed there with the dirt of the underworld. Don't let your precious lapis lazuli be split there with the mason's stone. Don't let your boxwood be chopped up there with the carpenter's wood. Don't let young lady Inana be killed in the underworld.""

65-67. "Father Enki, the lord of great wisdom, knows about the life-giving plant and the life-giving water. He is the one who will restore me to life."

68-72. When Inana travelled on towards the underworld, her minister Ninšubur travelled on behind her. She said to her minister Ninšubur: "Go now, my Ninšubur, and pay attention. Don't neglect the instructions I gave you."

73-77. When Inana arrived at the palace Ganzer, she pushed aggressively on the door of the underworld. She shouted aggressively at the gate of the underworld: "Open up, doorman, open up. Open up, Neti, open up. I am all alone and I want to come in."

78-84. Neti, the chief doorman of the underworld, answered holy Inana: "Who are you?" "I am Inana going to the east." "If you are Inana going to the east, why have you travelled to the land of no return? How did you set your heart on the road whose traveller never returns?"

85-89. Holy Inana answered him: "Because Lord Gud-gal-ana, the husband of my elder sister holy Ereškigala, has died; in order to have his funeral rites observed, she offers generous libations at his wake -- that is the reason."

90-93. Neti, the chief doorman of the underworld, answered holy Inana: "Stay here, Inana. I will speak to my mistress. I will speak to my mistress Ereškigala and tell her what you have said."

94-101. Neti, the chief doorman of the underworld, entered the house of his mistress Ereškigala and said: "My mistress, there is a lone girl outside. It is Inana, your sister, and she has arrived at the palace Ganzer. She pushed aggressively on the door of the underworld. She shouted aggressively at the gate of the underworld. She has abandoned E-ana and has descended to the underworld."

102-107. "She has taken the seven divine powers. She has collected the divine powers and grasped them in her hand. She has come on her way with all the good divine powers. She has put a turban, headgear for the open country, on her head. She has taken a wig for her forehead. She has hung small lapis-lazuli beads around her neck."

108-113. "She has placed twin egg-shaped beads on her breast. She has covered her body with the pala dress of ladyship. She has placed mascara which is called "Let a man come" on her eyes. She has pulled the pectoral which is called "Come, man, come" over her breast. She has placed a golden ring on her hand. She is holding the lapis-lazuli measuring rod and measuring line in her hand."

114-122. When she heard this, Ereškigala slapped the side of her thigh. She bit her lip and took the words to heart. She said to Neti, her chief doorman: "Come Neti, my chief doorman of the underworld, don't neglect the instructions I will give you. Let the seven gates of the underworld be bolted. Then let each door of the palace Ganzer be opened separately. As for her, after she has entered, and crouched down and had her clothes removed, they will be carried away."

123-128. Neti, the chief doorman of the underworld, paid attention to the instructions of his mistress. He bolted the seven gates of the underworld. Then he opened each of the doors of the palace Ganzer separately. He said to holy Inana: "Come on, Inana, and enter."

129-133. And when Inana entered, {(1 ms. adds 2 lines:) the lapis-lazuli measuring rod and measuring line were removed from her hand, when she entered the first gate,} the turban, headgear for the open country, was removed from her head. "What is this?" "Be silent, Inana, a divine power of the underworld has been fulfilled. Inana, you must not open your mouth against the rites of the underworld."

134-138. When she entered the second gate, the small lapis-lazuli beads were removed from her neck. "What is this?" "Be silent, Inana, a divine power of the underworld has been fulfilled. Inana, you must not open your mouth against the rites of the underworld."

139-143. When she entered the third gate, the twin egg-shaped beads were removed from her breast. "What is this?" "Be silent, Inana, a divine power of the underworld has been fulfilled. Inana, you must not open your mouth against the rites of the underworld."

144-148. When she entered the fourth gate, the "Come, man, come" pectoral was removed from her breast. "What is this?" "Be silent, Inana, a divine power of the underworld has been fulfilled. Inana, you must not open your mouth against the rites of the underworld."

149-153. When she entered the fifth gate, the golden ring was removed from her hand. "What is this?" "Be silent, Inana, a divine power of the underworld has been fulfilled. Inana, you must not open your mouth against the rites of the underworld."

154-158. When she entered the sixth gate, the lapis-lazuli measuring rod and measuring line were removed from her hand. "What is this?" "Be silent, Inana, a divine power of the underworld has been fulfilled. Inana, you must not open your mouth against the rites of the underworld."

159-163. When she entered the seventh gate, the pala dress, the garment of ladyship, was removed from her body. "What is this?" "Be silent, Inana, a divine power of the underworld has been fulfilled. Inana, you must not open your mouth against the rites of the underworld."

164-172. After she had crouched down and had her clothes removed, they were carried away. Then she made her sister Ereškigala rise from her throne, and instead she sat on her throne. The Anuna, the seven judges, rendered their decision against her. They looked at her -- it was the look of death. They spoke to her -- it was the speech of anger. They shouted at her -- it was the shout of heavy guilt. The afflicted woman was turned into a corpse. And the corpse was hung on a hook.

173-175. After three days and three nights had passed, her minister Ninšubur {(2 mss. add 2 lines:) , her minister who speaks fair words, her escort who speaks trustworthy words,} {carried out the instructions of her mistress} {(1 ms. has instead 2 lines:) did not forget her orders, she did not neglect her instructions}.

176-182. She made a lament for her in her ruined (houses). She beat the drum for her in the sanctuaries. She made the rounds of the houses of the gods for her. She lacerated her eyes for her, she lacerated her nose. In private she lacerated her buttocks for her. Like a pauper, she clothed herself in a single garment, and all alone she set her foot in the E-kur, the house of Enlil.

183-189. When she had entered the E-kur, the house of Enlil, she lamented before Enlil: "Father Enlil, don't let anyone kill your daughter in the underworld. Don't let your precious metal be alloyed there with the dirt of the underworld. Don't let your precious lapis lazuli be split there with the mason's stone. Don't let your boxwood be chopped up there with the carpenter's wood. Don't let young lady Inana be killed in the underworld."

190-194. In his rage Father Enlil answered Ninšubur: "My daughter craved the great heaven and she craved the great below as well. Inana craved the great heaven and she craved the great below as well. The divine powers of the underworld are divine powers which should not be craved, for whoever gets them must remain in the underworld. Who, having got to that place, could then expect to come up again?"

195-203. Thus Father Enlil did not help in this matter, so she went to Urim. In the E-mud-kura at Urim, when she had entered the E-kiš-nu-ĝal, the house of Nanna, she lamented before Nanna: "Father Nanna, don't let your daughter be killed in the underworld. Don't let your precious metal be alloyed there with the dirt of the underworld. Don't let your precious lapis lazuli be split there with the mason's stone. Don't let your boxwood be chopped up there with the carpenter's wood. Don't let young lady Inana be killed in the underworld."

204-208. In his rage Father Nanna answered Ninšubur: "My daughter craved the great heaven and she craved the great below as well. Inana craved the great heaven and she craved the great below as well. The divine powers of the underworld are divine powers which should not be craved, for whoever gets them must remain in the underworld. Who, having got to that place, could then expect to come up again?"

209-216. Thus Father Nanna did not help her in this matter, so she went to Eridug. In Eridug, when she had entered the house of Enki, she lamented before Enki: "Father Enki, don't let anyone kill your daughter in the underworld. Don't let your precious metal be alloyed there with the dirt of the underworld. Don't let your precious lapis lazuli be split there with the mason's stone. Don't let your boxwood be chopped up there with the carpenter's wood. Don't let young lady Inana be killed in the underworld."

217-225. Father Enki answered Ninšubur: "What has my daughter done? She has me worried. What has Inana done? She has me worried. What has the mistress of all the lands done? She has me worried. What has the mistress of heaven done? She has me worried." {(1 ms. adds 1 line:) Thus Father Enki helped her in this matter.} He removed some dirt from the tip of his fingernail and created the kur-ĝara. He removed some dirt from the tip of his other fingernail and created the gala-tura. To the kur-ĝara he gave the life-giving plant. To the gala-tura he gave the life-giving water.

226-235. {Then Father Enki spoke out to the gala-tura and the kur-ĝara:} " {(1 ms. has instead the line:) One of you sprinkle the life-giving plant over her, and the other the life-giving water.} Go and direct your steps to the underworld. Flit past the door like flies. Slip through the door pivots like phantoms. The mother who gave birth, Ereškigala, on account of her children, is lying there. Her holy shoulders are not covered by a linen cloth. Her breasts are not full like a šagan vessel. Her nails are like a pickaxe (?) upon her. The hair on her head is bunched up as if it were leeks."

236-245. "When she says "Oh my heart", you are to say "You are troubled, our mistress, oh your heart". When she says "Oh my body", you are to say "You are troubled, our mistress, oh your body". (She will then ask:) "Who are you? Speaking to you from my heart to your heart, from my body to your body -- if you are gods, let me talk with you; if you are mortals, may a destiny be decreed for you." Make her swear this by heaven and earth.
1 line fragmentary"

246-253. "They will offer you a riverful of water -- don't accept it. They will offer you a field with its grain -- don't accept it. But say to her: "Give us the corpse hanging on the hook." (She will answer:) "That is the corpse of your queen." Say to her: "Whether it is that of our king, whether it is that of our queen, give it to us." She will give you the corpse hanging on the hook. One of you sprinkle on it the life-giving plant and the other the life-giving water. Thus let Inana arise."

254-262. The gala-tura and the kur-ĝara paid attention to the instructions of Enki. They flitted through the door like flies. They slipped through the door pivots like phantoms. The mother who gave birth, Ereškigala, because of her children, was lying there. Her holy shoulders were not covered by a linen cloth. Her breasts were not full like a šagan vessel. Her nails were like a pickaxe (?) upon her. The hair on her head was bunched up as if it were leeks.

263-272. When she said "Oh my heart", they said to her "You are troubled, our mistress, oh your heart". When she said "Oh my body", they said to her "You are troubled, our mistress, oh your body". (Then she asked:) "Who are you? I tell you from my heart to your heart, from my body to your body -- if you are gods, I will talk with you; if you are mortals, may a destiny be decreed for you." They made her swear this by heaven and earth. They

273-281. They were offered a river with its water -- they did not accept it. They were offered a field with its grain -- they did not accept it. They said to her: "Give us the corpse hanging on the hook." Holy Ereškigala answered the gala-tura and the kur-ĝara: "The corpse is that of your queen." They said to her: "Whether it is that of our king or that of our queen, give it to us." They were given the corpse hanging on the hook. One of them sprinkled on it the life-giving plant and the other the life-giving water. And thus Inana arose.

282-289. Ereškigala said to the gala-tura and the kur-ĝara: "Bring your queen, your has been seized." Inana, because of Enki's instructions, was about to ascend from the underworld. But as Inana was about to ascend from the underworld, the Anuna seized her: "Who has ever ascended from the underworld, has ascended unscathed from the underworld? If Inana is to ascend from the underworld, let her provide a substitute for herself."

290-294. So when Inana left the underworld, the one in front of her, though not a minister, held a sceptre in his hand; the one behind her, though not an escort, carried a mace at his hip, while the small demons, like a reed enclosure, and the big demons, like the reeds of a fence, restrained her on all sides.

295-305. Those who accompanied her, those who accompanied Inana, know no food, know no drink, eat no flour offering and drink no libation. {They accept no pleasant gifts. They never enjoy the pleasures of the marital embrace, never have any sweet children to kiss. They tear away the wife from a man's embrace. They snatch the son from a man's knee. They make the bride leave the house of her father-in-law} {(instead of lines 300-305, 1 ms. has 2 lines:) They take the wife away from a man's embrace. They take away the child hanging on a wet-nurse's breasts}. {(1 ms. adds 3 lines:) They crush no bitter garlic. They eat no fish, they eat no leeks. They, it was, who accompanied Inana.}

306-310. After Inana had ascended from the underworld, Ninšubur threw herself at her feet at the door of the Ganzer. She had sat in the dust and clothed herself in a filthy garment. The demons said to holy Inana: "Inana, proceed to your city, we will take her back."

311-321. Holy Inana answered the demons: "This is my minister of fair words, my escort of trustworthy words. She did not forget my instructions. She did not neglect the orders I gave her. She made a lament for me on the ruin mounds. She beat the drum for me in the sanctuaries. She made the rounds of the gods' houses for me. She lacerated her eyes for me, lacerated her nose for me. {(1 ms. adds 1 line:) She lacerated her ears for me in public.} In private, she lacerated her buttocks for me. Like a pauper, she clothed herself in a single garment."

322-328. "All alone she directed her steps to the E-kur, to the house of Enlil, and to Urim, to the house of Nanna, and to Eridug, to the house of Enki. {(1 ms. adds 1 line:) She wept before Enki.} She brought me back to life. How could I turn her over to you? Let us go on. Let us go on to the Šeg-kuršaga in Umma."

329-333. At the Šeg-kuršaga in Umma, Šara, in his own city, threw himself at her feet. He had sat in the dust and dressed himself in a filthy garment. The demons said to holy Inana: "Inana, proceed to your city, we will take him back."

334-338. Holy Inana answered the demons: "Šara is my singer, my manicurist and my hairdresser. How could I turn him over to you? Let us go on. Let us go on to the E-muš-kalama in Bad-tibira."

339-343. At the E-muš-kalama in Bad-tibira, Lulal, in his own city, threw himself at her feet. He had sat in the dust and clothed himself in a filthy garment. The demons said to holy Inana: "Inana, proceed to your city, we will take him back."

344-347. Holy Inana answered the demons: "Outstanding Lulal follows me at my right and my left. How could I turn him over to you? Let us go on. Let us go on to the great apple tree in the plain of Kulaba."

348-353. They followed her to the great apple tree in the plain of Kulaba. There was Dumuzid clothed in a magnificent garment and seated magnificently on a throne. The demons seized him there by his thighs. The seven of them poured the milk from his churns. The seven of them shook their heads like They would not let the shepherd play the pipe and flute before her (?).

354-358. She looked at him, it was the look of death. She spoke to him (?), it was the speech of anger. She shouted at him (?), it was the shout of heavy guilt: "How much longer? Take him away." Holy Inana gave Dumuzid the shepherd into their hands.

359-367. Those who had accompanied her, who had come for Dumuzid, know no food, know no drink, eat no flour offering, drink no libation. They never enjoy the pleasures of the marital embrace, never have any sweet children to kiss. They snatch the son from a man's knee. They make the bride leave the house of her father-in-law.

368-375. Dumuzid let out a wail and wept. The lad raised his hands to heaven, to Utu: "Utu, you are my brother-in-law. I am your relation by marriage. I brought butter to your mother's house. I brought milk to Ningal's house. Turn my hands into snake's hands and turn my feet into snake's feet, so I can escape my demons, let them not keep hold of me."

376-383. Utu accepted his tears. {(1 ms. adds 1 line:) Dumuzid's demons could not keep hold of him.} Utu turned Dumuzid's hands into snake's hands. He turned his feet into snake's feet. Dumuzid escaped his demons. {(1 ms. adds 1 line:) Like a saĝkal snake he} They seized
2 lines fragmentary Holy Inana her heart.

384-393. Holy Inana wept bitterly for her husband.
4 lines fragmentary She tore at her hair like esparto grass, she ripped it out like esparto grass. "You wives who lie in your men's embrace, where is my precious husband? You children who lie in your men's embrace, where is my precious child? Where is my man? Where? Where is my man? Where?"

394-398. A fly spoke to holy Inana: "If I show you where your man is, what will be my reward?" Holy Inana answered the fly: "If you show me where my man is, I will give you this gift: I will cover"

399-403. The fly helped (?) holy Inana. Young lady Inana decreed the destiny of the fly: "In the beer-house, may bronze vessels for you. You will live (?) like the sons of the wise." Now Inana decreed this fate and thus it came to be.

404-410. was weeping. She came up to the sister (?) and by the hand: "Now, alas, my You for half the year and your sister for half the year: when you are demanded, on that day you will stay, when your sister is demanded, on that day you will be released." Thus holy Inana gave Dumuzid as a substitute

411-412. Holy Ereškigala -- sweet is your praise.

Revision history

19.iii.1998-10.iv.1998: GC, editor: adapting translation

26.iv.1998: JAB, editor: proofreading

27.x.1998: JAB, editor: minor corrections

29.xi.1999: GC, editor: SGML tagging

21.i.2000: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

21.i.2000: ER, editor: web publication

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

ETCSLtranslation : t.1.4.1.1 ETCSL homepage

Dumuzid and Ĝeštin-ana

1-11. A small demon opened his mouth and said to the big demon, "Come on, let's go to the lap of holy Inana." The demons entered Unug and seized holy Inana. "Come on, Inana, go on that journey which is yours alone -- descend to the underworld. Go to the place which you have coveted -- descend to the nether world. Go to the dwelling of Ereškigala -- descend to the underworld. Don't put on your holy ba garment, the pala dress of ladyship -- descend to the underworld. Remove the holy headdress, that splendid ornament, from your head -- descend to the underworld. Don't enhance your appearance with a wig -- descend to the underworld. Don't adorn your feet with -- descend to the underworld. When you descend,"

12-21. They released holy Inana, they her. Inana handed over Dumuzid to them in exchange for herself. "As for the lad, we will put his feet in foot stocks. As for the lad, we will put his hands in hand stocks: we will put his neck in neck stocks." Copper pins, nails and pokers were raised to his face. They sharpened their large copper axes. As for the lad, they stood him up, they sat him down. "Let us remove his garment, let us make him stand" As for the lad, they bound his arms, they did evil, They covered his face with his own garment.

22-32. The lad raises his hands heavenward to Utu: "O Utu, I am your friend, I am a youth. Do you recognise me? Your sister, whom I married, descended to the underworld. Because she descended to the underworld, it was me that she was to hand over to the underworld as a substitute. O Utu, you are a just judge, don't disappoint me! Change my hands, alter my appearance, so that I may escape the clutches of my demons! Don't let them seize me! Like a saĝkal snake that slithers across the meadows and mountains, let me escape alive to the dwelling of my sister Ĝeštin-ana."

33-46. Utu accepted his tears. He changed his hands, he altered his appearance. Then like a saĝkal snake that slithers across the meadows and mountains, like a soaring falcon that can swoop down on a live (?) bird, Dumuzid escaped alive to the dwelling of his sister Ĝeštin-ana. Ĝeštin-ana looked at her brother. She scratched at her cheek: she scratched at her nose. She looked at her sides: she her garment. She recited a lament of misfortune for the unfortunate lad: "O my brother! O my brother, lad who has not fulfilled those days! O my brother, shepherd Ama-ušumgal-ana, lad who has not fulfilled those days and years! O my brother, lad who has no wife, who has no children! O my brother, lad who has no friend, who has no companion! O my brother, the lad who is not a comfort (?) to his mother!"

47-56. The demons go hither and thither searching for Dumuzid. The small demons say to the big demons: "Demons have no mother; they have no father or mother, sister or brother, wife or children. When were established on heaven and earth, you demons were there, at a man's side like a reed enclosure. Demons are never kind, they do not know good from evil. Who has ever seen a man, without a family, all alone, escape with his life? We shall go neither to the dwelling of his friend nor to the dwelling of his in-laws. Rather, for the shepherd let us go to the dwelling of Ĝeštin-ana." The demons clap their hands and begin to seek him out.

57-64. Ĝeštin-ana had barely finished that lament when the demons arrived at her dwelling. "Show us where your brother is," they said to her. But she spoke not a word to them. They afflicted her loins with a skin disease, but she spoke not a word to them. They scratched her face with, but she spoke not a word to them. They the skin of her buttocks, but she spoke not a word to them. They poured tar in her lap, but she spoke not a word to them. So they could not find Dumuzid at the house of Ĝeštin-ana.

65-73. The small demons said to the big demons: "Come on, let's go to the holy sheepfold!" There at the holy sheepfold they caught Dumuzid. They went hither and thither until they caught him. They searched for him until he was seen. The axe was wielded against the lad who had no family. They sharpened their daggers, they smashed his hut. His sister wandered about the city like a bird because of her brother: "My brother, let me take the great misfortune, come, let me"

Revision history

15.i.1998-23.i.1998: JAB, editor: adapting translation

29.i.1998: GZ, editor: proofreading

20.vii.1999: GZ, editor: minor corrections

20.vii.1999: GZ, editor: SGML tagging

31.vii.1999: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

04.ii.2000: ER, editor: minor corrections

31.vii.1999: ER, editor: web publication

08.ii.2000: ER, editor: minor corrections to lines 12-21

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

ETCSLtranslation : t.1.4.1.3 ETCSL homepage

Dumuzid and his sisters

approx. 62 lines missing

1-28. "..... my my lacerated eyes my lacerated nose my beaten

..... my hasty my

1 line fragmentary my my loaded waggon my my who is cheerful who laments the door of the gate (of the nether world)

..... My brother, the door of the gate

1 line fragmentary ladyship (?) On the mighty river, its fields, a waterskin in lamenting my hated My brother, your feet hurt, your feet the road. My brother, wherever you go I will hasten with you.

Dumuzid, wherever you go I will hasten with you. I will hasten with you. I will hasten with you. going (?) as your slavegirl, of the lord, I of the lord going (?) as your slavegirl, of the lord, I"

29-34. "My brother -- because of him I cannot rejoice. My brother Dumuzid, my brother -- because of him I cannot rejoice, in front of him he who bound his arms went in front of him. he who fettered his hands went behind him. they who beat him went alongside him."

35-53. then the elder sister spoke to him. she replied to him in his distress: "..... those men will seize him. let them bring they will rip out"

3 lines fragmentary

approx. 11 lines missing

54-68.

1 line fragmentary "..... you also you also" they paid (?) attention went along the broad road. went along the broad road. the demon confronted her. the demon confronted her. the demon confronted her. met her, the demon confronted her., he tried to control (?) her., as she was tearing out her hair, he tried to control (?) her. as she was lacerating her eyes, as she was lacerating her nose, he tried to control (?) her. as she excessively, he tried to control (?) her. as she spoke beauty lips, he tried to control (?) her:

69-72. "..... you, maiden, who are in a similar state (?) to the lord, are you his sister? who are in a similar state (?) to Dumuzid, are you his sister? are you the lad's younger sister? Are you his sister? are you Dumuzid's younger sister? Are you his sister?"

73-80. "Cut with my; I am his sister. Cut with Dumuzid; I am his sister. I am the lad's younger sister, I am his sister. I am Dumuzid's younger sister, I am his sister. Now, let me too be in a similar state (?) to him; I am his sister. Let me too be in a similar state (?) to him; I am his sister. If I had a cord on my hands, my hands would not hurt. If I had a wine jar on my shoulder, my shoulder would not hurt."

81-85. She returned to the side of his and muddied (?) the water. She, Ġeštin-ana, poured water into a crevice in the ground for him. The maiden, equipped with, agitated (?) the water. She agitated (?) the water, the water for the brother,, She agitated (?) the water, and returned it to the river:

86-88. "Return to your river! Return to your river! Return to your river! O water which my brother cannot drink, return to your river! O water which Dumuzid cannot drink, O water, return to your river!"

89-108. She heaped up the of the river, and muddied the Euphrates: "..... my brother is no longer alive. He will cut from Dumuzid is no longer alive. He will cut from is no longer alive, he is no longer alive. He will definitely not return. My is no longer alive. My is no longer alive. My is no longer alive. is no longer alive. is no longer alive. is no longer alive. is no longer alive. Dumuzid is no longer alive. He will definitely not return. I cannot rejoice over when you were born. I cannot rejoice over when you were born. I cannot rejoice over when you were born. was born. was born. I, Ġeštin, to Dumuzid. I, Ġeštin,"

1 line fragmentary

approx. 60 lines missing

(a few traces are visible)

Revision history

30.viii.2001-17.vi.2002: JAB, editor: translation

25.vi.2005: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

01.vii.2005: GC/JE, senior editor/technical developer: web publication

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

ETCSLtranslation : t.1.4.3 ETCSL homepage

Dumuzid's dream

1-4. His heart was full of tears as he went out into the countryside. The lad's heart was full of tears as he went out into the countryside. Dumuzid's heart was full of tears as he went out into the countryside. He carried with him his {(1 ms. adds:) shepherd's} stick on his shoulder, sobbing all the time:

5-14. "Grieve, grieve, O countryside, grieve! O countryside, grieve! O marshes, cry out! O crabs of the river, grieve! O frogs of the river, cry out! My mother will call to me, my mother, my Durtur, will call to me, my mother will call to me for five things, my mother will call to me for 10 things: if she does not know the day when I am dead, you, O countryside, can inform my mother who bore me. Like my little sister may you weep for me."

15-18. In ancient times he lay down, in ancient times he lay down, in ancient times the shepherd lay down. When in ancient times the shepherd lay down, he lay down to dream. He woke up -- it was a dream! He shivered -- it was sleep! He rubbed his eyes, he was terrified.

19-24. "Bring, bring, bring my sister! Bring my Ġeštin-ana, bring my sister! Bring my scribe proficient in tablets, bring my sister! Bring my singer expert in songs, bring my singer! Bring my perspicacious girl, bring my sister! Bring my wise woman who knows the meanings of dreams, bring my sister! I will relate the dream to her."

25-39. "A dream, my sister! A dream! In my dream, rushes were rising up for me, rushes kept growing for me; a single reed was shaking its head at me; twin reeds -- one was being separated from me. Tall trees in the forest were rising up together over me. Water was poured over my holy {coals} {(1 ms. has instead:) brazier} for me, the cover of my holy churn was removed, my holy drinking cup was torn down from the peg where it hung, my shepherd's stick disappeared from me. An owl (?) took a lamb from the sheep house, a falcon caught a sparrow on the reed fence, my male goats were dragging their dark beards in the dust for me, my rams were scratching the earth with their thick legs for me. The churns were lying on their sides, no milk was being poured, the drinking cups were lying on their sides, Dumuzid was dead, the sheepfold was haunted."

41-55. Ġeštin-ana answered Dumuzid: "My brother, your dream is not favourable, don't tell me any more of it! Dumuzid, your dream is not favourable, don't tell me any more of it! The rushes rising up for you, which kept growing for you, are bandits rising against you from their ambush. The single reed shaking its head at you is your mother who bore you, shaking her head for you. The twin reeds of which one was being separated from you is you and I -- one will be separated from you. The tall trees in the forest rising up together over you are the evil men catching you within the walls. That water was poured over your holy coals means the sheepfold will become a house of silence. That the cover of your holy churn was removed for you means the evil man will bring it inside in his hands."

56-69. "Your holy drinking cup torn down from the peg where it hung is you falling off the lap of the mother who bore you. That your shepherd's stick disappeared from you means the demons {will set fire to it} {(1 ms. has instead:) will smash it}. The owl (?) taking a lamb from the sheep house {is the evil man who will hit you on the cheek} {(1 ms. has instead:) is the evil man who will destroy the sheep house}. The falcon catching a sparrow on the reed fence is the big demon coming {down} {(1 ms. has instead:) out} from the sheep house. That the churns were lying on their sides, no milk was being poured, the drinking cups were lying on their sides, that Dumuzid was dead, and the sheepfold haunted, means your hands will be bound in handcuffs, your arms will be bound in fetters. That your male goats were dragging their dark beards in the dust for you means that my hair will whirl around in the air like a hurricane for you. That your rams were scratching the earth with their thick legs for you means that I shall lacerate my cheeks with my fingernails for you as if with a boxwood needle."

70-82. Hardly had she spoken these words when he said, "Sister, go up onto the mound, sister, go up onto the mound! Sister, when you go up onto the mound, do not go up onto the mound like an ordinary person, but lacerate {your heart} {(1 ms. has instead:) your hair} and your liver, lacerate your clothes and your crotch, sister, and then go up onto the mound! Sister, when you go up onto the mound, look out from the mound! The evil, hated by men, a river barge! They hold in their hands the wood to bind the hands, they are identified (?) from the wood to bind the neck -- no man knows how to undo it!"

83-86. Ama-Ġeštin-ana went up onto the mound and looked around, Ġeštin-ana craned her neck. Her girl friend Ġeštin-dudu advised her: "The big men who bind the neck are already coming for him, they are coming for him!"

87-90. "My adviser and girl friend! Are they coming?" "Yes, I will point out to you those who bind the neck!" "My brother, your demons are coming for you! Duck down your head in the grass! Dumuzid, your demons are coming for you! Duck down your head in the grass!"

91-94. "My sister, I will duck down my head in the grass! Don't reveal my whereabouts to them! I will duck down my head in the short grass! Don't reveal my whereabouts to them! I will duck down my head in the tall grass! Don't reveal my whereabouts to them! I will drop down into the ditches of Arali! Don't reveal my whereabouts to them!"

95-97. "If I reveal your whereabouts to them, may your dog devour me! The black dog, your shepherd dog, the noble dog, your lordly dog, may your dog devour me!"

98-102. She remembered (?): "..... give your friend instructions about it! O my brother, may you never have a friend or comrade like! After the demons (?) have searched for you,, if he tells you"

103-106. "My friend, I will duck down my head in the grass! Don't reveal my whereabouts to them! I will duck down my head in the short grass! Don't reveal my whereabouts to them! I will duck down my head in the tall grass! Don't reveal my whereabouts to them! I will drop down into the ditches of Arali! Don't reveal my whereabouts to them!"

107-109. "If I reveal your whereabouts to them, may your dog devour me! The black dog, your shepherd dog, the noble dog, your lordly dog, may your dog devour me!"

110-138. Those who come for the king are a motley crew, who know not food, who know not drink, who eat no sprinkled flour, who drink no poured water, who accept no pleasant gifts, who do not enjoy a wife's embraces, who never kiss dear little children, who never chew sharp-tasting garlic, who eat no fish, who eat no leeks. There were two men of Adab who came for the king. They were thistles in dried-up waters, they were thorns in stinking waters -- 'his hand was on the table, his tongue was in the palace' (Alludes to a proverb) . Then there were two men of Akšak who came for the king, with carried on their shoulders. Then there were two men of Unug who came for the king. With head-smashing clubs tied to their waists, there were two men of Urim who came for the king. With {shining} {(1 ms. has instead:) clean} clothes on the quayside, there were two men of Nibru who came for the king. Crying "Man run after man!", they came to the sheepfold and cow-pen. They caught Ĝeštin-ana at the sheepfold and cow-pen. They offered a river of water, but she wouldn't accept it. They offered her a field of grain, but she wouldn't accept it. The little demon spoke to the big demon, the wise demon, the lively demon, and the big demon who was between them, wise like destroying a, like barring a, they spoke:

139-150. "Who since the most ancient times has ever known a sister reveal a brother's whereabouts? Come! Let us go to his friend!" Then they offered his friend a river of water, and he accepted it. They offered him a field of grain, and he accepted it. "My friend ducked down his head in the grass, but I don't know his whereabouts {(1 ms. adds:) Dumuzid ducked down his head in the grass, but I don't know his whereabouts}." They looked for Dumuzid's head in the grass, but they couldn't find him. "He ducked down his head in the short grass, but I don't know his whereabouts." They looked for Dumuzid's head in the short grass, but they couldn't find him. "He ducked down his head in the tall grass, but I don't know his whereabouts." They looked for Dumuzid's head in the tall grass, but they couldn't find him. "He has dropped down into the ditches of Arali, but I don't know his whereabouts."

151-155. They caught Dumuzid in the ditches of Arali. Dumuzid began to weep and was tear-stricken: "In the city my sister saved my life, my friend caused my death. If a sister leaves (?) a child in the street, someone should kiss it. But if a friend leaves (?) a child in the street, no one should kiss it."

156-164. The men surrounded him and drained the standing waters. They twisted a cord for him, they knotted a net for him. They wove a reed hawser for him, they cut sticks for him. The one in front of him threw missiles at him, the one behind him one cubit. His hands were bound in handcuffs, his arms were bound in fetters. The lad raised his hands heavenward to Utu:

165-173. "Utu, you are my brother-in-law, I am your sister's husband! I am he who carries food to E-ana, I am he who brought the wedding gifts to Unug, I am he who kisses the holy lips, I am he who dances on the holy knees, the knees of Inana. Please change my hands into gazelle hands, change my feet into gazelle feet, so I can evade my demons. Let me escape with my life to Ku-bireš-dildareš."

174-180. Utu accepted his tears {(1 ms. adds:) as a gift}. Like a merciful man he showed him mercy. He changed his hands into gazelle hands, he changed his feet into gazelle feet, and so he evaded the demons, and escaped with his life to Ku-bireš-dildareš. The demons searched for him, but didn't find him.

181-191. "Come, let us go to Ku-bireš." {(1 ms. adds:) like a net} They caught Dumuzid at Ku-bireš. The men surrounded him and drained the standing waters. They twisted a cord for him, they knotted a net for him. They wove a reed hawser for him, they cut sticks for him, the one in front of him threw missiles at him, the one behind him His hands were bound in handcuffs, his arms were bound in fetters. The lad raised his hands heavenward to Utu:

192-199. "Utu, you are my brother-in-law, I am your sister's husband! I am he who carries food to E-ana, I am he who brought the wedding gifts to Unug, I am he who kisses the holy lips, I am he who dances on the holy knees, the knees of Inana. Please change my hands into {gazelle} {(1 ms. has instead:) snake} hands, change my feet into {gazelle} {(1 ms. has instead:) snake} feet, so I can escape to the house of Old Woman Belili."

200-205. Utu accepted his tears. He changed his hands into {gazelle} {(1 ms. has instead:) snake} hands, he changed his feet into {gazelle} {(1 ms. has instead:) snake} feet, so he evaded the demons and escaped with his life to the house of Old Woman Belili. He approached the house of Old Woman Belili.

206-208. "Old woman! I am not just a man, I am the husband of a goddess! Would you pour water -- please -- so I can drink water. Would you sprinkle flour -- please -- so I can eat flour."

209-212. She poured water, and she sprinkled flour, and he sat down inside the house. The old woman left the house. When the old woman left the house, the demons saw her.

213-226. "Unless the old woman is aware of Dumuzid's whereabouts, she is indeed looking frightened! She is indeed screaming in a frightened way! Come, let us go to the house of Old Woman Belili!" They caught Dumuzid at the house of Old Woman Belili. The men surrounded him and drained the standing waters. They twisted a cord for him, they knotted a net for him. They wove a reed hawser for him, they cut sticks for him, the one in front of him threw missiles at him, the one behind him His hands were bound in handcuffs, his arms were bound in fetters. The lad raised his hands heavenward to Utu:

227-234. "Utu, you are my brother-in-law, I am your sister's husband! I am he who carries food to E-ana, I am he who brought the wedding gifts to Unug, I am he who kisses the holy lips, I am he who dances on the holy knees, the knees of Inana. Please change my hands into gazelle hands, change my feet into gazelle feet, so I can escape to the holy sheepfold, my sister's sheepfold."

235-244. Utu accepted his tears. He changed his hands into {gazelle} {(1 ms. has instead:) snake} hands, he changed his feet into {gazelle} {(1 ms. has instead:) snake} feet, so he evaded the demons, and escaped with his life to the holy sheepfold, his sister's sheepfold. He approached the holy sheepfold, his sister's sheepfold. Ĝeštin-ana cried toward heaven, cried toward earth. Her cries covered the horizon completely like a cloth, they were spread out like linen. She lacerated her eyes, she lacerated her face, she lacerated her ears in public; in private she lacerated her buttocks.

245-255. "My brother, I will go round in the streets". (The demons said:) "Unless Ĝeštin-ana is aware of Dumuzid's whereabouts, she is indeed looking frightened! She is indeed screaming in a frightened way! Come, let us go to the sheepfold and cow-pen!" When the first demon entered the sheepfold and cow-pen, {he set fire to the bolt} {(1 ms. has instead:) he shouted}. When the second entered the sheepfold and cow-pen, he set fire to the shepherd's stick. When the third entered the sheepfold and cow-pen, he removed the cover of the holy churn.

256-260. {When the fourth entered the sheepfold and cow-pen, he tore down the drinking cup from the peg where it hung. When the fifth entered the sheepfold and cow-pen, the churns lay on their sides, no milk was poured, the drinking cups lay on their sides, Dumuzid was dead, the sheepfold was haunted.} {(instead of lines 256-260, 1 ms. has:) When the fourth entered the sheepfold and cow-pen, he poured water on my holy brazier. When the fifth demon entered the sheepfold and cow-pen, he tore down my holy drinking cup from the peg where it hung. When the sixth demon entered the sheepfold and cow-pen, the churns lay on their sides, and no milk was poured. When the seventh demon entered the sheepfold and cow-pen, the drinking cups lay on their sides, Dumuzid was dead, the sheepfold was haunted.}

261-999. A šir-kalkal for the dead Dumuzid.

Revision history

09.iv.1998-16.iv.1998: JAB, editor: adapting translation

22.iv.1998: GZ, editor: proofreading

26.ix.1998: JAB, editor: minor corrections

08.vii.1999: GZ, editor: minor corrections

08.vii.1999: GZ, editor: SGML tagging

23.vii.1999: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

24.vii.1999: ER, editor: web publication

02.ii.2001: ER, editor: minor corrections to line 22

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental

Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

In the first days, in the very first days,
In the first nights, in the very first nights,
In the first years, in the very first years,

In the first days when everything needed was brought into being,
In the first days when everything needed was properly nourished,
When bread was baked in the shrines of the land,
And bread was tasted in the homes of the land,
When heaven had moved away from earth,
And earth had separated from heaven,
And the name of man was fixed;
When the Sky God, An, had carried off the heavens,
And the Air God, Enlil, had carried off the earth,
When the Queen of the Great Below, Ereshkigal, was given the underworld for her domain,
He set sail; the Father set sail,
Enki, the God of Wisdom, set sail for the underworld.
Small windstones were tossed up against him;
Large hailstones were hurled up against him;
Like onrushing turtles,
They charged the keel of Enki's boat.
The waters of the sea devoured the bow of his boat like wolves;
The waters of the sea struck the stern of his boat like lions.

At that time, a tree, a single tree, a huluppu- tree
Was planted by the banks of the Euphrates.
The tree was nurtured by the waters of the Euphrates.
The whirling South Wind arose, pulling at its roots
And ripping at its branches
Until the waters of the Euphrates carried it away.

A woman who walked in fear of the word of the Sky God, An,
Who walked in fear of the word of the Air God, Enlil,
Plucked the tree from the river and spoke:

"I shall bring this tree to Uruk.

I shall plant this tree in my holy garden."

Inanna cared for the tree with her hand.

She settled the earth around the tree with her foot.

She wondered:

"How long will it be until I have a shining throne to sit upon?

How long will it be until I have a shining bed to lie upon?"

The years passed; five years, then ten years.

The tree grew thick,

But its bark did not split.

Then a serpent who could not be charmed

Made its nest in the roots of the huluppu-tree.

The Anzu-bird set his young in the branches of the tree.

And the dark maid Lilith built her home in the trunk

The young woman who loved to laugh wept.

How Inanna wept!

(Yet they would not leave her tree.)

As the birds began to sing at the coming of the dawn,

The Sun God, Utu, left his royal bedchamber.

Inanna called to her brother Utu, saying:

"O Utu, in the days when the fates were decreed,

When abundance overflowed in the land,

When the Sky God took the heavens and the Air God the earth,

When Ereshkigal was given the Great Below for her domain,

The God of Wisdom, Father Enki, set sail for the underworld,

And the underworld rose up and attacked him.

At that time, a tree, a single tree, a huluppu tree

Was planted by the banks of the Euphrates.

The South Wind pulled at its roots and ripped at its branches

Until the waters of the Euphrates carried it away.

I plucked the tree from the river;

brought it to my holy garden.

I tended the tree, waiting for my shining throne and bed.

Then a serpent who could not be charmed Made its nest in the roots of the tree,

The Anzu-bird set his young in the branches of the tree,

And the dark maid Lilith built her home in the trunk.

I wept.

How I wept!

(Yet they would not leave my tree.)"

Utu, the valiant warrior, Utu,

Would not help his sister, Inanna.

As the birds began to sing at the coming of the second dawn,

Inanna called to her brother Gilgamesh, saying:

"O Gilgamesh, in the days when the fates were decreed,

When abundance overflowed in Sumer,

When the Sky God had taken the heavens and the Air God the earth,

When Ereshkigal was given the Great Below for her domain,

The God of Wisdom, Father Enki, set sail for the underworld,

And the underworld rose up and attacked him.

At that time, a tree, a single tree, a huluppu- tree

Was planted by the banks of the Euphrates.

The South Wind pulled at its roots and ripped at its branches

Until the waters of the Euphrates carried it away.

I plucked the tree from the river; I brought it to my holy garden.

I tended the tree, waiting for my shining throne and bed.

Then a serpent who could not be charmed Made its nest in the roots of the tree,

The Anzu-bird set his young in the branches of the tree,
And the dark maid Lilith built her home in the trunk.
I wept.
How I wept!
(Yet they would not leave my tree.)"
Gilgamesh the valiant warrior, Gilgamesh,
The hero of Uruk, stood by Inanna.

Gilgamesh fastened his armor of fifty minas around his chest.
The fifty minas weighed as little to him as fifty feathers.
He lifted his bronze ax, the ax of the road,
Weighing seven talents and seven minas, to his shoulder.
He entered Inanna's holy garden.

Gilgamesh struck the serpent who could not be charmed.
The Anzu-bird flew with his young to the mountains;
And Lilith smashed her home and fled to the wild, uninhabited places.
Gilgamesh then loosened the roots of the huluppu- tree;
And the sons of the city, who accompanied him, cut off the branches.

From the trunk of the tree he carved a throne for his holy sister
From the trunk of the tree Gilgamesh carved a bed for Inanna.
From the roots of the tree she fashioned a pukku for her brother.
From the crown of the tree Inanna fashioned a mikku for Gilgamesh, the hero of Uruk.

ETCSLtranslation : t.4.07.1 ETCSL homepage

A balbale to Inana (Inana A)

1-11. Great fierce storm, radiance! Inana, emitting fearsomeness and radiance in battle! {(1 ms. adds:) Inana, playing (?) in battle! Inana, emitting fearsomeness and radiance in battle!} Where Enlil has commanded it, you make a lion's body and lion's muscles rise up. in the south and in the uplands like grass. Like Iškur Like their proud mighty heroes, {you} {(1 ms. has instead:) may they for you} their noses (?) to the ground. May the {great} {(1 ms. has instead:) proud} warrior of kings and queens restore for you the shrine Keš. May he make them their noses (?) to the ground for you.

12-23. My lady, you turn your gaze from the abzu (?). An has commanded you You are gifted with divine powers like An the king, and like Enlil you are established in a place of honour. You determine majestic verdicts in the assembly; like a light from heaven within the assembly, you lead (?) the righteous and {seize the wicked} {(1 ms. has instead:) the evil}. You {lead (?) } {(1 ms. has instead:) lead forth} the righteous in the palace for Utu. You restore the You the people for the king, and Enlil gave you your fierce face and your serious brow.

24. A balbale of Inana.

Revision history

18.viii.2000-28.v.2002: JAB, editor: translation

18.vi.2002: GC, editor: proofreading

19.vi.2002: GC, editor: SGML tagging

02.xi.2002: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

04.xi.2002: ER, editor: web publication

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

ETCSLtranslation : t.4.07.2 ETCSL homepage

The exaltation of Inana (Inana B)

1-12. Lady of all the divine powers, resplendent light, righteous woman clothed in radiance, beloved of An and Uraš! Mistress of heaven, with the great diadem, who loves the good headdress befitting the office of en priestess, who has seized all seven of its divine powers! My lady, you are the guardian of the great divine powers! You have taken up the divine powers, you have hung the divine powers from your hand. You have gathered up the divine powers, you have clasped the divine powers to your breast. Like a dragon you have deposited venom on the foreign lands. When like Iškur you roar at the earth, no vegetation can stand up to you. As a flood descending upon (?) those foreign lands, powerful one of heaven and earth, you are their Inana.

13-19. Raining blazing fire down upon the Land, endowed with divine powers by An, lady who rides upon a beast, whose words are spoken at the holy command of An! The great rites are yours: who can fathom them? Destroyer of the foreign lands, you confer strength on the storm. Beloved of Enlil, you have made awesome terror weigh upon the Land. You stand at the service of An's commands.

20-33. At your battle-cry, my lady, the foreign lands bow low. When humanity comes before you in awed silence at the terrifying radiance and tempest, you grasp the most terrible of all the divine powers. Because of you, the threshold of tears is opened, and people walk along the path of the house of great lamentations. In the van of battle, all is struck down before you. With your strength, my lady, teeth can crush flint. You charge forward like a charging storm. You roar with the roaring storm, you continually thunder with Iškur. You spread exhaustion with the stormwinds, while your own feet remain tireless. With the lamenting balaĝ drum a lament is struck up.

34-41. My lady, the great Anuna gods fly from you to the ruin mounds like scudding bats. They dare not stand before your terrible gaze. They dare not confront your terrible countenance. Who can cool your raging heart? Your malevolent anger is too great to cool. Lady, can your mood be soothed? Lady, can your heart be gladdened? Eldest daughter of Suen, your rage cannot be cooled!

42-59. Lady supreme over the foreign lands, who can take anything from your province? {Once you have extended your province over the hills} {(2 mss. have instead:) If you frown at the mountains}, vegetation there is ruined. Their {great gateways} {(1 ms. has instead:) palaces} are set afire. Blood is poured into their rivers because of you, and their people {must drink it} {(2 mss. have instead:) could not drink}. They must lead their troops captive before you, all together. They must scatter their élite regiments for you, all together. They must stand their able-bodied young men at your service, all together. Tempests have filled the dancing-places of their cities. They drive their young men before you as prisoners. Your holy command has been spoken over the city which has not declared "The foreign lands are yours!", wherever they have not declared "It is your own father's!"; and it is brought back under your feet. Responsible care is removed from its sheepfolds. Its woman no longer speaks affectionately with her husband; at dead of night she no longer takes counsel with him, and she no longer reveals to him the pure thoughts of her heart. Impetuous wild cow, great daughter of Suen, lady greater than An, who can take anything from your province?

60-65. Great queen of queens, issue of a holy womb for righteous divine powers, greater than your own mother, wise and sage, lady of all the foreign lands, life-force of the teeming people: I will recite your holy song! True goddess fit for divine powers, your splendid utterances are magnificent. Deep-hearted, good woman with a radiant heart, I will enumerate {your divine powers} {(2 mss. have instead:) good divine powers} {(1 ms. has instead:) holy divine powers} for you!

66-73. I, En-ĥedu-ana the en priestess, entered my holy ġipar in your service. I carried the ritual basket, and intoned the song of joy. But {funeral offerings were} {(1 ms. has instead:) my ritual meal was} brought, as if I had never lived there. I approached the light, but the light was scorching hot to me. I approached that shade, but I was covered with a storm. My honeyed mouth became scum. My ability to soothe moods vanished.

74-80. Suen, tell An about Lugal-Ane and my fate! May An undo it for me! As soon as you tell An about it, An will release me. The woman will take the destiny away from Lugal-Ane; foreign lands and flood lie at her feet. The woman too is exalted, and can make cities tremble. Step forward, so that she will cool her heart for me.

81-90. I, En-hedu-ana, will recite a prayer to you. To you, holy Inana, I shall give free vent to my tears like sweet beer! I shall say to her {"Your decision!"} {(some mss. have instead:) "Greetings!"} Do not be anxious about Ašimbabbar. In connection with the purification rites of holy An, Lugal-Ane has altered everything of his, and has stripped An of the E-ana. He has not stood in awe of the greatest deity. He has turned that temple, whose attractions were inexhaustible, whose beauty was endless, into a destroyed temple. While he entered before me as if he was a partner, really he approached out of envy.

91-108. My good divine wild cow, drive out the man, capture the man! In the place of divine encouragement, what is my standing now? May An extradite the land which is a malevolent rebel against your Nanna! May An smash that city! May Enlil curse it! May its plaintive child not be placated by his mother! Lady, with the laments begun, may your ship of lamentation be abandoned in hostile territory. Must I die because of my holy songs? My Nanna has {paid no heed to me} {(1 ms. has instead:) has not decided my case}. He has destroyed me utterly in renegade territory. Ašimbabbar has certainly not pronounced a verdict on me. What is it to me if he has pronounced it? What is it to me if he has not pronounced it? He stood there in triumph and drove me out of the temple. He made me fly like a swallow from the window; I have exhausted my life-strength. He made me walk through the thorn bushes of the mountains. He stripped me of the rightful {crown} {(1 ms. has instead:) garment} of the en priestess. He gave me a knife and dagger, saying to me "These are appropriate ornaments for you."

109-121. Most precious lady, beloved by An, your holy heart is great; may it be assuaged on my behalf! Beloved spouse of Ušumgal-ana, you are the great lady of the horizon and zenith of the heavens. The Anuna have submitted to you. From birth you were the junior queen: how supreme you are now over the Anuna, the great gods! The Anuna kiss the ground with their lips before you. But my own trial is not yet concluded, although a hostile verdict encloses me as if it were my own verdict. I did not reach out my hands to {the} {(1 ms. has instead:) my} flowered bed. I did not reveal the pronouncements of Ningal to anybody. My lady beloved of An, may your heart be calmed towards me, the brilliant en priestess of Nanna!

122-138. It must be known! It must be known! Nanna has not yet spoken out! He has said, "He is yours!" Be it known that you are lofty as the heavens! Be it known that you are broad as the earth! Be it known that you destroy the rebel lands! Be it known that you roar at the foreign lands! Be it known that you crush heads! Be it known that you devour corpses like a dog! Be it known that your gaze is terrible! Be it known that you lift your terrible gaze! Be it known that you have flashing eyes! Be it known that you are unshakeable and unyielding! Be it known that you always stand triumphant! That Nanna has not yet spoken out, and that he has said "He is yours!" has made you greater, my lady; you have become the greatest! My lady beloved by An, I shall tell of all your {rages} {(1 ms. has instead:) daises}! I have heaped up the coals in the censer, and prepared the purification rites. The E-ešdam-kug shrine awaits you. Might your heart not be appeased towards me?

139-143. Since it was full, too full for me, great exalted lady, I have recited this song for you. May a singer repeat to you at noon that which was recited to you at dead of night: "Because of your captive spouse, because of your captive child, your rage is increased, your heart unassuaged."

144-154. The powerful lady, respected in the gathering of rulers, has accepted her offerings from her. Inana's holy heart has been assuaged. The light was sweet for her, delight extended over her, she was full of fairest beauty. Like the light of the rising moon, she exuded delight. Nanna came out to gaze at her properly, and her mother Ningal blessed her. The door posts greeted her. Everyone's speech to the mistress is exalted. Praise be to the destroyer of foreign lands, endowed with divine powers by An, to my lady enveloped in beauty, to Inana!

Revision history

27.i.1999-01.ii.1999: JAB, editor: adapting translation

02.xi.1999: GZ, editor: proofreading

22.xi.1999: GC, editor: SGML tagging

21.i.2000: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

21.i.2000: ER, editor: web publication

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

ETCSLtranslation : t.4.07.3 ETCSL homepage

A hymn to Inana (Inana C)

1-10. The great-hearted mistress, the impetuous lady, proud among the Anuna gods and pre-eminent in all lands, the great daughter of Suen, exalted among the Great Princes (a name of the Igigi gods), the magnificent lady who gathers up the divine powers of heaven and earth and rivals great An, is mightiest among the great gods -- she makes their verdicts final. The Anuna gods crawl before her august word whose course she does not let An know; he dare not proceed against her command. She changes her own action, and no one knows how it will occur. She makes perfect the great divine powers, she holds a shepherd's crook, and she is their magnificent pre-eminent one. She is a huge shackle clamping down upon the gods of the Land. Her great awesomeness covers the great mountain and levels the roads.

11-17. At her loud cries, the gods of the Land become scared. Her roaring makes the Anuna gods tremble like a solitary reed. At her rumbling, they hide all together. Without Inana great An makes no decisions, and Enlil determines no destinies. Who opposes the mistress who raises her head and is supreme over the mountains? Wherever she, cities become ruin mounds and haunted places, and shrines become waste land. When her wrath makes people tremble, the burning sensation and the distress she causes are like an ulu demon ensnaring a man.

18-28. She stirs confusion and chaos against those who are disobedient to her, speeding carnage and inciting the devastating flood, clothed in terrifying radiance. It is her game to speed conflict and battle, untiring, strapping on her sandals. Clothed (?) in a furious storm, a whirlwind, she the garment of ladyship. When she touches there is despair, a south wind which has covered Inana sits on harnessed (?) lions, she cuts to pieces him who shows no respect. A leopard of the hills, entering (?) the roads, raging (?),, the mistress is a great bull trusting in its strength; no one dare turn against her., the foremost among the Great Princes, a pitfall for the disobedient, a trap for the evil, a for the hostile, wherever she casts her venom

29-38. Her wrath is, a devastating flood which no one can withstand. A great watercourse,, she abases those whom she despises. The mistress, an eagle that lets no one escape,, Inana, a falcon preying on the gods, Inana rips to pieces the spacious cattle-pens. The fields of the city which Inana has looked at in anger The furrows of the field which the mistress grass. An opposes her,, Setting on fire, in the high plain the mistress Inana The mistress speeding fighting, conflict.

39-48. she performs a song. This song its established plan, weeping, the food and milk of death. Whoever eats Inana's food and milk of death will not last. Gall will give a burning pain to those she gives it to eat, in their mouth In her joyful heart she performs the song of death on the plain. She performs the song of her heart. She washes their weapons with blood and gore, Axes smash heads, spears penetrate and maces are covered in blood. Their evil mouths the warriors On their first offerings she pours blood, filling them with death.

49-59. On the wide and silent plain, darkening the bright daylight, she turns midday into darkness. People look upon each other in anger, they look for combat. Their shouting disturbs the plain, it weighs on the pasture and the waste land. Her howling is like Iškur's and makes the flesh of all the lands tremble. No one can oppose her murderous battle -- who rivals her? No one can look at her fierce fighting, the speeding carnage. Engulfing (?) water, raging, sweeping over the earth, she leaves nothing behind. The mistress, a breaking plough opening hard ground, The braggarts do not lift their necks, Her great heart performs her bidding, the mistress who alone fashions (?) Exalted in the assembly, she occupies the seat of honour, to the right and left.

60-72. Humbling huge mountains as if they were piles of litter, she immobilises She brings about the destruction of the mountain lands from east to west. Inana wall gulgul stones, she obtains victory. She the kalaga stone as if it were an earthenware bowl, she makes it like sheep's fat. The proud mistress holds a dagger in her hand, a radiance which covers the Land; her suspended net catches fish in the deep, not even leaving the ahan in the subterranean waters. As if she were a clever fowler no bird escapes the mesh of her suspended net. The place, the divine plans of heaven and earth. The intention of her word does not to An. The context of her confusing advice in the great gods' assembly is not known.
2 lines fragmentary

73-79. The mistress, a leopard among the Anuna gods, full of pride, has been given authority. Not having struggle, Inana She the adolescent girl in her chamber, receiving her, heart charms. She evilly the woman she rejects. In the entire (?) country she She lets her run around in the town square of a house the wife sees her child.

80-90. When she had removed the great punishment from her body, she invoked blessings upon it; she caused it to be named the pilipili. She broke the spear and as if she were a man gave her a weapon. When she had punishment, it is not She the door of the house of wisdom, she makes known its interior. Those who do not respect her suspended net do not escape when she suspends the meshes of her net. The man she has called by name she does not hold in esteem. Having approached the woman, she breaks the weapon and gives her a spear. The male ġišgisaġkeš, the nisub and the female ġišgi ritual officiants, after having punishment, moaning The ecstatic, the transformed pilipili, the kurġara and the saġursaġ Lament and song They exhaust themselves with weeping and grief, they laments.

91-98. Weeping daily your heart does not 'Alas' heart knows no relaxation. Beloved lady of holy An, your in weeping In heaven On your breast You alone are majestic, you have renown, heaven and earth not You rival An and Enlil, you occupy their seat of honour. You are pre-eminent in the cult places, you are magnificent in your course.

99-108. Ezina august dais Iškur who roars from the sky His thick clouds When the great divine powers of heaven and earth, Inana, your victory is terrifying The Anuna gods bow down in prostration, they abase themselves. You ride on seven great beasts as you come forth from heaven. Great An feared your precinct and was frightened of your dwelling-place. He let you take a seat in the dwelling-place of great An and then feared you no more, saying: "I will hand over to you the august royal rites and the great divine rites."

109-114. The great gods kissed the earth and prostrated themselves. The high mountain land, the land of cornelian and lapis lazuli, bowed down before you, but Ebiḫ did not bow down before you and did not greet you. Shattering it in your anger, as desired, you smashed it like a storm. Lady, pre-eminent through the power of An and Enlil, Without you no destiny at all is determined, no clever counsel is granted favour.

115-131. To run, to escape, to quiet and to pacify are yours, Inana. To rove around, to rush, to rise up, to fall down and to a companion are yours, Inana. To open up roads and paths, a place of peace for the journey, a companion for the weak, are yours, Inana. To keep paths and ways in good order, to shatter earth and to make it firm are yours, Inana. To destroy, to build up, to tear out and to settle are yours, Inana. To turn a man into a woman and a woman into a man are yours, Inana. Desirability and arousal, bringing goods into existence and establishing properties and equipment are yours, Inana. Profit, gain, great wealth and greater wealth are yours, Inana. Profit and having success in wealth, financial loss and reduced wealth are yours, Inana. {Observation} {(1 ms. has instead:) Everything}, choice, offering, inspection and embellishment are yours, Inana. Assigning virility, dignity, guardian angels, protective deities and cult centres are yours, Inana.

6 lines fragmentary

132-154. mercy and pity are yours, Inana. are yours, Inana. To cause the heart to tremble, illnesses are yours, Inana. To have a favourite wife,, to love are yours, Inana. Rejoicing, being haughty, are yours, Inana. Neglect and care, raising and bowing down are yours, Inana. To build a house, to create a woman's chamber, to possess implements, to kiss a child's lips are yours, Inana. To run, to race, to plot and to succeed are yours, Inana. To interchange the brute and the strong and the weak and the powerless is yours, Inana. To interchange the heights and valleys, and raising up and reducing, is yours, Inana. To give the crown, the throne and the royal sceptre is yours, Inana.

12 lines missing

155-157. To diminish, to make great, to make low, to make broad, to and to give a lavish supply are yours, Inana. To bestow the divine and royal rites, to carry out the appropriate instructions, slander, untruthful words, abuse, to speak inimically and to overstate are yours, Inana.

158-168. The false or true response, the sneer, to commit violence, to extend derision, to speak with hostility, to cause smiling and to be humbled or important, misfortune, hardship, grief, to make happy, to clarify and to darken, agitation, terror, panic, awesome brilliance and radiance, triumph, pursuit, imbasur illness, sleeplessness and restlessness, submission, gift, and howling, strife, chaos, opposition, fighting and speeding carnage, to know everything, to strengthen for the distant future a nest built, to instill fear in the desert like a poisonous snake, to subdue the hostile enemy, and to hate are yours, Inana.

169-173. To the lots, to gather the dispersed people and restore them to their homes, to receive, to are yours, Inana.

1 line fragmentary

174-181. the runners, when you open your mouth, turns into, At your glance a deaf man does not to one who can hear. At your anger what is bright darkens; you turn midday into darkness. When the time had come you destroyed the place you had in your thoughts, you made the place tremble. Nothing can be compared to your purposes (?); who can oppose your great deeds? You are the lady of heaven and earth! Inana, in (?) the palace the unbriable judge, among the numerous people decisions. The invocation of your name fills the mountains, An (?) cannot compete with your

182-196. Your understanding all the gods, You alone are magnificent. You are the great cow among the gods of heaven and earth, as many as there are. When you raise your eyes they pay heed to you, they wait for your word. The Anuna gods stand praying in the place where you dwell. Great awesomeness, glory

May your praise not cease! Where is your name not magnificent?
9 lines missing

197-202. Your song is grief, lament Your cannot be changed, your anger is crushing. Your creation cannot be, An has not diminished your orders. Woman, with the help of An and Enlil you (?) have granted as a gift in the assembly. Unison An and Enlil, giving the Land into your hand. An does not answer the word you have uttered to him.

203-208. Once you have said 'So be it', great An does not for him. Your 'So be it' is a 'So be it' of destruction, to destroy Once you have said your in the assembly, An and Enlil will not disperse it. Once you have made a decision, it cannot be changed in heaven and earth. Once you have specified approval of a place, it experiences no destruction. Once you have specified destruction for a place, it experiences no approval.

209-218. Your divinity shines in the pure heavens like Nanna or Utu. Your torch lights up the corners of heaven, turning darkness into light. The men and women form a row for you and each one's daily status hangs down before you. Your numerous people pass before you, as before Utu, for their inspection. No one can lay a hand on your precious divine powers; all your divine powers You exercise full ladyship over heaven and earth; you hold everything in your hand. Mistress, you are magnificent, no one can walk before you. You dwell with great An in the holy resting-place. Which god is like you in gathering together in heaven and earth? You are magnificent, your name is praised, you alone are magnificent!

219-242. I am En-ḫedu-ana, the high priestess of the moon god.; I am the of Nanna.

1 line fragmentary
20 lines missing
1 line fragmentary

243-253. Advice, grief, bitterness, 'alas' My lady, mercy compassion I am yours! This will always be so! May your heart be soothed towards me! May your understanding compassion. May in front of you, may it be my offering. Your divinity is resplendent in the Land! My body has experienced your great punishment. Bitter lament keeps me awake with anxiety. Mercy, compassion, care, lenience and homage are yours, and to cause flood storms, to open hard ground and to turn darkness into light.

254-263. My lady, let me proclaim your magnificence in all lands, and your glory! Let me praise your ways and greatness! Who rivals you in divinity? Who can compare with your divine rites? May great An, whom you love, say for you "It is enough!". May the great gods calm your mood. May the lapis lazuli dais, fit for ladyship, May your magnificent dwelling place say to you: "Be seated". May your pure bed say to you: "Relax". Your, where Utu rises, 264-271. They proclaim your magnificence; you are the lady An and Enlil have determined a great destiny for you throughout the entire universe. They have bestowed upon you ladyship in the assembly chamber. Being fitted for ladyship, you determine the destiny of noble ladies. Mistress, you are magnificent, you are great! Inana, you are magnificent, you are great! My lady, your magnificence is resplendent. May your heart be restored for my sake!

272-274. Your great deeds are unparalleled, your magnificence is praised! Young woman, Inana, your praise is sweet!

Revision history

03.ii.1999-04.iii.1999: GC, editor: adapting translation
09.v.1999-30.vi.1999: JAB, editor: proofreading
14.x.1999: GZ, editor: SGML tagging
20.iv.2000: ER, editor: proofreading SGML
20.iv.2000: ER, editor: web publication

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion
ETCSL homepage
© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford
Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

ETCSLtranslation : t.4.07.4 ETCSL homepage

A hymn to Inana as Ninegala (Inana D)

1-8. Great light, heavenly lioness, always speaking words of assent! Inana, great light, lioness of heaven, who always speaks words of assent! Ninegala! As you rise in the morning sky like a flame visible from afar, and at your bright appearance in the evening sky, the shepherd (i.e. the king) entrusts (?) the flocks of Sumer to you. Celestial sign, glory of heaven! All the countries are building a house for you as for the risen sun; a shining (?) torch is assigned to you, the light of the Land.

9-10. Inana, you are the lady of all the divine powers, and no deity can compete with you. Here is your dwelling, Ninegala; let me tell of your grandeur!

11-19. When bright had raised its head in the Land, and when you live with, the young woman the hero for you, she has grasped for you. has brought the numerous to you. They raise to your; kids are ordered, and your Egal-edina, the place of calm, has been arranged for you. You are the good woman who appears radiantly throughout the Land.

20-21. Inana, you are the lady of all the divine powers, and no deity can compete with you. Here is your dwelling, Ninegala; let me tell of your grandeur!

22-36. After the first watch of the night has passed, as like a shepherd you get up from the grass, you seize your battle-mace like a warrior, you fasten the guma cloth on your arms, and you bind on your indefatigable strength. Thus you appear brilliantly, together with An, in the city (probably Unug) . On earth, Inana, you emit awe-inspiring splendour from the holy dais. Your feet are placed on seven dogs, your seat is set upon a lion and a leopard. Cattle and sheep are brought to you for inspection. Lulal stands by your feet, bearing in battle the pitiless (?) mace. Beside them the cultic attendants stand at your service, lined up for you beside the dogs. They have taken over the temple Gu-ena-ida, to provide for you.

37-38. Inana, you are the lady of all the divine powers, and no deity can compete with you. Here is your dwelling, Ninegala; let me tell of your grandeur!

39-43. The dog (?) has brought the sheep close to you; the powerful dog (?) has a wild bull in its paws,
2 lines unclear
the lion, the warrior

44-56. Inana, in heaven you are lightning, on earth you move swiftly against the foreign land that you are angry with, When in your precinct and shrine the Ibgal you regulate the divine ordinances like the divine powers of An, when you regulate the heavenly ordinances like the divine powers of Enki and cause awe of you to reach up to the heavens, then your seat is on the dais on the terrace by your Gate of Four Faces. Inana, you go into the interior of heaven like your father Suen; Ninegala, you appear like moonlight in your shrine the Ibgal, placing your foot on your ordinances, and dividing them among the dogs (?).

56-57. Inana, you are the lady of all the divine powers, and no deity can compete with you. Here is your dwelling, Ninegala; let me tell of your grandeur!

58-65. When you slip through where brambles and foul great thorns grow, when you stride along all the mountains, when you drink from puddles with the dogs, when you share the stall with the horses, when with the storm you reduce everything to a mere shadow, Inana, when you cause the rain to fall all day long, then your seat is in your E-kug-nuna at Eridug, on the dais where destinies are determined.

66-76. At the New Year, at the festival of Dumuzid, your spouse Ama-ušumgal-ana, Lord Dumuzid, steps forward to you. of weeping are brought to you, Inana, as offerings. The tubes of the underworld are opened for you, and memorial libations are poured down them for you. The en priests, the lumah priests and the nindiġir priestesses, and the dead luzid and amalu, eat meals for you, to keep away the ghosts, and drink water for you, to keep away the ghosts. Your holy dais is set up beside them.

77-78. Inana, you are the lady of all the divine powers, and no deity can compete with you. Here is your dwelling, Ninegala; let me tell of your grandeur!

79-87. Inana, when you give judgment with An and Enlil; Ninegala, when you decide destinies on earth with Enki, when you shimmer (?), when you to a mere shadow, when you come forth from the corner, when you come forth from the side, when you are to be seen on the horizon, Inana, when in your destructiveness you make storm-floods wash over everything, then the great en priests, then the igi-dua priestesses wear the tonsure for you, then your seat is on your Dais of Silence.

88-92. The young men fastened in neck-stocks before you, the mother of the sick lays her child in your arms, the mother of the uprooted (?) in your great hall. You cut the of the weak, you release (?) the weak.

93-94. Inana, you are the lady of all the divine powers, and no deity can compete with you. Here is your dwelling, Ninegala; let me tell of your grandeur!

95-106. When you act as a shepherd with the herdsman, when with the cowherd you throw the halters on the cows, when you mix the butter, when you purify the milk, when you find joy in the embrace of your spouse Dumuzid, when you have pleasure in the embrace of your spouse Dumuzid, when you take your seat on the high dais in the great hall in your Kura-igi-ġal where judgment is passed, then the people of the holy uzga stand there at your service.

1 line unclear

They cannot compete with you, Inana. As a prostitute you go down to the tavern and, like (?) a ghost who slips in through the window, you enter there.

107-108. Inana, you are the lady of all the divine powers, and no deity can compete with you. Here is your dwelling, Ninegala; let me tell of your grandeur!

109-115. When the servants let the flocks loose, and when cattle and sheep are returned to cow-pen and sheepfold, then, my lady, like the nameless poor, you wear only a single garment. The pearls of a prostitute are placed around your neck, and you are likely to snatch a man from the tavern. As you hasten to the embrace of your spouse Dumuzid, Inana, then the seven paranympths share the bedchamber with you.

116-117. Inana, you are the lady of all the divine powers, and no deity can compete with you. Here is your dwelling, Ninegala; let me tell of your grandeur!

118-125. In the evening, when the stars return together again and when Utu enters into his chamber, when in heaven, Inana, you diffuse awesomeness like fire, and when on earth, Ninegala, you screech like a falcon, then you in play and dancing.

1 line unclear

You go from moonlight to star, you go from star to moonlight.

126-127. Inana, you are the lady of all the divine powers, and no deity can compete with you. Here is your dwelling, Ninegala; let me tell of your grandeur!

128-143.

13 lines missing or unclear

The slavegirl her mistress. her house and property. her child.

144-145. Inana, you are the lady of all the divine powers, and no deity can compete with you. Here is your dwelling, Ninegala; let me tell of your grandeur!

146-158.

7 lines unclear

..... you are the great goddess.

2 lines unclear

The levy of troops is brought into the broad square like a crouching dragon. The young woman abandons the E-mah, destroying the temple like my The young man who has come to know your eminence makes a gesture of obeisance.

159-160. Inana, you are the lady of all the divine powers, and no deity can compete with you. Here is your dwelling, Ninegala; let me tell of your grandeur!

161-190.

5 lines unclear

20 lines missing

1 line fragmentary has presented (?) to you there. Your position If beside the Egal-edina, then the evil demons and demonesses oppose it.

191-192. Inana, you are the lady of all the divine powers, and no deity can compete with you. Here is your dwelling, Ninegala; let me tell of your grandeur!

193-204.

1 line fragmentary Inana, you are an object of admiration, like a charming young maiden. has been opened for you. Mistress, your priestess hangs the šuba jewels on you. The great, responsible for the ordinances,

1 line unclear

You enter house after house, you peer into lane after lane. Lady, when, when your emblem is displayed, maiden, when you stand in, you are covered in loveliness. Who finds in the sheepfold,, prayer

205-206. Inana, you are the lady of all the divine powers, and no deity can compete with you. Here is your dwelling, Ninegala; let me tell of your grandeur!

207-217. Inana, you are the lady of the great divine powers. Your mother Ningal great attributes. Your father Suen great holy cows. Your brother, the youth Utu Your spouse Ama-ušumgal-ana, the shepherd, Lord Dumuzid, Your beloved minister (?) Ninšubur Your beloved sister-in-law Ġeštīn-ana

3 lines fragmentary or missing

Revision history

24.xii.1998-11.i.1999: JAB, editor: adapting translation

02.xi.1999: GZ, editor: proofreading

23.xi.1999: GC, editor: SGML tagging

21.i.2000: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

21.i.2000: ER, editor: web publication

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

ETCSLtranslation : t.4.07.5 ETCSL homepage

A tigi to Inana (Inana E)

1-4. Lady whom Ningal has joyously made attractive with beauty, speed has been given to you as to a dragon. Inana whom Ningal has joyously made attractive with beauty, speed has been given to you as to a dragon.

5-8. Riding on the south wind, you are she who has received the divine powers from the abzu. You have seated King Ama-ušumgal-ana upon your holy dais. Inana, riding on the south wind, you are she who has received the divine powers from the abzu. You have seated King Ama-ušumgal-ana upon your holy dais.

9-12. Goddess, you have provided to the hero and made your divine powers excel in heaven. Since your mother's womb, you have wielded the šita mace and the mitum mace. Inana, you have provided to the hero and made your divine powers excel in heaven. Since Ningal's womb, you have wielded the šita mace and the mitum mace.

13-16. Towards the king who spends the night in the Land, as towards Utu as he approaches (?), everyone is well-disposed. When he rises at the mountains, the mountains rejoice with you. Towards Ama-ušumgal-ana who spends the night in the Land, as towards Utu as he approaches (?), everyone is well-disposed. When he rises at the mountains, the mountains rejoice with you.

17-20. My lady, he has been given as your husband -- rejoice with him! Enlil has given a mountain of greatness into your hands. Inana, he has been given as your husband -- rejoice with him! Enlil has given a mountain of greatness into your hands.

21-24. Mistress, you have given your strength to him who is king. Ama-ušumgal-ana brings forth radiance for you. Inana, you have given your strength to him who is king. Ama-ušumgal-ana brings forth radiance for you.

25-28. When he goes out to the rebel lands, to the distant mountains, he spends his time in the mêlée of battle. When Ama-ušumgal-ana goes out to the distant mountains, he spends his time in the mêlée of battle. He thickens good butter for you, as Utu rises from the fragrant cedar mountains! Ama-ušumgal-ana thickens good butter for you, as Utu rises from the fragrant cedar mountains!

29. Sa-gida.

30-33. Lady whom no one can withstand in battle, great daughter of Suen who rises in heaven and inspires terror, he who for you stands complete in his manhood rejoices in battle as at a festival, and for you he destroys the rebel lands and houses For you Ama-ušumgal-ana, the mighty hero, kills everyone with his shining šita mace.

34-37. Inana, lady whom no one can withstand in battle, great daughter of Suen who rises in heaven and inspires terror, he who for you stands complete in his manhood rejoices in battle as at a festival, and for you he destroys the rebel lands and houses For you Ama-ušumgal-ana, the mighty hero, kills everyone with his shining šita mace.

38-41. Lady, throughout heaven and earth who knows from you the intentions of your heart, those great matters? All heaven trembles (?) at your word, a double-twined thread which cannot be separated. Your father Enlil has given this to you. Ama-ušumgal-ana competes majestically for you in battle, cutting a swathe like a dragon.

42-45. Inana, lady, throughout heaven and earth who knows from you the intentions of your heart, those great matters? All heaven trembles (?) at your word, a double-twined thread which cannot be separated. Your father Enlil has given this to you. Ama-ušumgal-ana competes majestically for you in battle, cutting a swathe like a dragon.

46-49. My lady, Ama-ušumgal-ana trusts in you. He cloaks his body as if in your royal robe of office. Monthly at the crescent moon An recreates him for you like Suen. People praise King Ama-ušumgal-ana, the beloved of your heart, like Utu as he rises.

50-53. Inana, my lady, Ama-ušumgal-ana trusts in you. He cloaks his body as if in your royal robe of office. Monthly at the crescent moon An recreates him for you like Suen. With you, people praise King Ama-ušumgal-ana like Utu as he rises.

54. Sa-ġara.

55. A tigi of Inana. (lines 54 and 55 are written as one line in source)

Revision history

04.iv.2000-07.iv.2000: GC, editor: adapting translation

25.vii.2000: JAB, editor: proofreading

27.vii.2000: GC, editor: SGML tagging

29.ix.2000: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

29.ix.2000: ER, editor: web publication

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

ETCSLtranslation : t.4.07.6 ETCSL homepage

A balbale (?) to Inana (Inana F)

1-3. My father gave me the heavens and he gave me the earth. I am Inana! Which god compares with me?

4-13. Enlil gave me the heavens and he gave me the earth. I am Inana! He gave me lordship, and he gave me queenship. He gave me battles and he gave me fighting. He gave me the stormwind and he gave me the dust cloud. He placed the heavens on my head as a crown. He put the earth at my feet as sandals. He wrapped the holy ba garment around my body. He put the holy sceptre in my hand.

14-17. The gods are small birds, but I am the falcon. The Anuna mill about, but I am the good wild cow, I am the good wild cow of Father Enlil, his good wild cow which walks in front.

18-20. When I enter the E-kur, the house of Enlil, the gate-keeper does not lift his hand against my breast; the minister does not tell me, "Rise!".

21-33. The heavens are mine and the earth is mine: I am heroic! In Unug the E-ana is mine, in Zabalam the Giguna is mine, in Nibru the Dur-an-ki is mine, in Urim the E-Dilmuna is mine, in Ġirsu the Ešdam-kug is mine, in Adab the E-šara is mine, in Kiš the Hursaġ-kalama is mine, in Kisiga the Amaš-kuga is mine, in Akšak the Anzagar is mine, in Umma the Ibgal is mine, in Agade the Ulmaš is mine. Which god compares with me?

34. A of Inana.

Revision history

12.iv.2000-26.iv.2000: GC, editor: adapting translation

21.vii.2000: JAB, editor: proofreading

24.vii.2000: GC, editor: SGML tagging

28.vii.2000: ER, editor: proofreading SGML

28.vii.2000: ER, editor: web publication

01.vi.2003: GC/JE, editor/technical developer: XML/TEI conversion

ETCSL homepage

© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford

Updated 2006-12-19 by JE

University of Oxford

Wisdom is priceless, the sacred-texts CD-ROM is 49.95. Click here to learn more

Home

Catalog

African

Age of Reason

Alchemy

Americana

Ancient Near East

Records of the Past

Astrology

Asia

Atlantis

Australia

Basque

Baha'i

Bible

Book of Shadows

Buddhism

Celtic

Christianity

Classics

Comparative

Confucianism

DNA

Earth Mysteries

Egyptian

England

Esoteric/Occult

Evil

Fortean

Freemasonry

Gothic

Gnosticism

Grimoires

Hinduism

I Ching

Islam

Icelandic

Jainism

Journals

Judaism

Legends/Sagas

Legendary Creatures

LGBT

Miscellaneous

Mormonism

Mysticism

Native American

Necronomicon

New Thought

Neopaganism/Wicca

Nostradamus

Oahspe

Pacific

Paleolithic

Parapsychology

Philosophy

Piri Re'is Map

Prophecy

Roma

Sacred Books of the East

Sacred Sexuality

Shakespeare

Shamanism

Shinto

Symbolism

Sikhism

Sub Rosa

Swedenborg

Tantra

Taoism

Tarot

Thelema

Theosophy

Time

Tolkien

UFOs

Utopia

Women

Wisdom of the East

Zoroastrianism

Sacred-texts home

Egyptian Bible Judaism

Buy CD-ROM Buy Books about the Ancient Near East

Ziggurat: (c) J.B. Hare 1999 Ancient Near East

General

Myths and Legends of Babylonia and Assyria

by Donald A. Mackenzie [1915]

A massive survey of the religion, culture, and history of the ancient Near East.

The Religion Of Babylonia And Assyria

by Theophilus G. Pinches 159,537 bytes

Legends of Babylonia and Egypt

by Leonard W. King 396,030 bytes [1916]

Sumerian Mythology

by Samuel Noah Kramer [1944, 1961]

The Philistines, Their History and Civilization

by Robert Alexander Stewart Macalister [1913]

What is known about the ancient and enigmatic Philistine people?

Texts

Records of the Past

Translations of mythological and historical texts from the Ancient Near East.

The Seven Tablets of Creation

by L.W. King [1902]

The Babylonian creation saga, one of the earliest written myths.

The Enuma Elish (The Epic of Creation)

translated by L. W. King [1902]

The Babylonian creation saga.

The Seven Evil Spirits

translated by R. C. Thompson [1903]

The Code of Hammurabi

translated by L.W. King [1915].

The earliest known legal code, considered the basis of many Near Eastern legal systems.

The Syrian Goddess

translated by Herbert A. Strong [1913]

Lucian of Samosata's account of Astarte worship in the late classical era, in what is now Turkey.

The Babylonian Legends of Creation
by E. A. Wallis Budge [1921]
The text of the Babylonian creation myth.

Gilgamesh
The Epic of Gilgamesh
by R. Campbell Thompson [1928]
The first complete academic translation of Gilgamesh.

The Chaldean Account of the Deluge
by George Smith [1873]
A historic article in which the discovery of the Babylonian Deluge account was announced, an episode from the Gilgamesh myth.

The Chaldean Account of Genesis
by George Smith [1876]
Early translations of key texts: the Enuma Elish, the Descent of Ishtar, and the Gilgamesh saga, including the Babylonian Flood.

Ishtar and Izdubar {Gilgamesh}
by Leonidas Le Cenci Hamilton. [1884]
An early translation of the Gilgamesh myth.

Adapa and the food of Life
Translated by R. W. Rogers [1912]
A fragment of the Gilgamesh saga.

Descent of the Goddess Ishtar into the Lower World translated by M. Jastrow [1915]
A pivotal episode in the Gilgamesh saga involving the Goddess Ishtar.

The Babylonian Story of the Deluge and the Epic of Gilgamesh.
by E. A. Wallis Budge [1929]
A short pamphlet which contains the 'Deluge' portion of the Gilgamesh epic and a summary of the rest of the text.

Links
The Electronic Text Corpus of Sumerian Literature
An excellent academic repository of Sumerian texts [External Site].

We also recommend:
Ancient Near Eastern Religion: Frequently Asked Questions [External Site]:
The Assyro-Babylonian Mythology FAQ
The Canaanite Mythology FAQ
The Hittite Mythology Reference
Sumerian Mythology FAQ
Hold the world's wisdom in the palm of your hand. Over 1700 books. Support the Archive.
Hold the world's wisdom in the palm of your hand.

Over 1700 books.
Support the Archive.

Buy it here!

Sign up for sacred-texts updates by email
Enter your Email

Preview Powered by FeedBlitz
On Twitter, follow 'sacredtexts.'
Sacred-texts on Facebook
Bookmark and Share search powered by Google

sacred-texts
Web

Support the Archive.
Support the site
Buy a DVD or USB
1700+ books.
Support this site.
Collage of sacred texts, (c) 2023, J.B. Hare, All Rights Reserved
This is a quiet place in cyberspace devoted to religious tolerance and scholarship Non-public domain contents of this site not otherwise copyrighted are © copyright 2023, John Bruno Hare, All Rights Reserved.
See Site copyrights, Terms of Service for more information.
Index | FAQ | Contact | Search | Buy Disk
Open Source for the Human Soul
ETCSLcorpus Sign Sign name: DAG.KISIM5×LU+MAŠ2 (AMAS)
Values: amas, utua2
Catalogue of all available compositions and translations by category
Ancient literary catalogues (Unicode | Ascii)
Ur III (Unicode | Ascii)
Old Babylonian (Unicode | Ascii)
Narrative and mythological compositions (Unicode | Ascii)
Narratives featuring deities
Enki (Unicode | Ascii)
Enlil (Unicode | Ascii)
Inana (Unicode | Ascii)
Inana and Dumuzid (Unicode | Ascii)
Nanna-Suen (Unicode | Ascii)
Ninurta (Unicode | Ascii)
Other deities (Unicode | Ascii)
Narratives featuring heroes
Gilgameš (Unicode | Ascii)
Lugalbanda and Enmerkar (Unicode | Ascii)
Compositions with a historical background
King lists and other compositions (Unicode | Ascii)
City laments (Unicode | Ascii)
Royal praise poetry
Lagaš (Unicode | Ascii)
Luma (Unicode | Ascii)
Gudea (Unicode | Ascii)
Third Dynasty of Ur (Unicode | Ascii)
Ur-Namma (Unicode | Ascii)
Šulgi (Unicode | Ascii)
Amar-Suena (Unicode | Ascii)
Šu-Suen (Unicode | Ascii)
Ibbi-Suen (Unicode | Ascii)
Isin Dynasty (Unicode | Ascii)
Išbi-Erra (Unicode | Ascii)
Šu-ilišu (Unicode | Ascii)
Iddin-Dagan (Unicode | Ascii)
Išme-Dagan (Unicode | Ascii)
Lipit-Eštar (Unicode | Ascii)
Ur-Ninurta (Unicode | Ascii)

Būr-Suen (Unicode | Ascii)
Enlil-bāni (Unicode | Ascii)
Larsa Dynasty (Unicode | Ascii)
Gungunum (Unicode | Ascii)
Sîn-iddinam (Unicode | Ascii)
Sîn-iqīšam (Unicode | Ascii)
Rīm-Sîn (Unicode | Ascii)
Uruk (Unicode | Ascii)
Anam (Unicode | Ascii)
First Dynasty of Babylon (Unicode | Ascii)
Ḫammu-rābi (Unicode | Ascii)
Samsu-iluna (Unicode | Ascii)
Abī-ešuḫ (Unicode | Ascii)
Praise poetry for unknown rulers
Hymns
A hymn to Marduk for a king (Unicode | Ascii)
Fragmentary compositions
Fragmentary compositions (Unicode | Ascii)
Literary letters and letter-prayers (Unicode | Ascii)
Royal correspondence
Third Dynasty of Ur (Unicode | Ascii)
Isin, Larsa, and other dynasties (Unicode | Ascii)
Other letters and letter-prayers (Unicode | Ascii)
Hymns and cult songs (Unicode | Ascii)
Hymns addressed to deities (Unicode | Ascii)
Asarluḫi (Unicode | Ascii)
Bau (Unicode | Ascii)
Damgalnuna (Unicode | Ascii)
Enlil (Unicode | Ascii)
Ḫendursaġa (Unicode | Ascii)
Inana (Unicode | Ascii)
Inana and Dumuzid (Unicode | Ascii)
Martu (Unicode | Ascii)
Nanna (Unicode | Ascii)
Nanše (Unicode | Ascii)
Nergal (Unicode | Ascii)
Ninazu (Unicode | Ascii)
Niġišzida (Unicode | Ascii)
Ninimma (Unicode | Ascii)
Ninisina (Unicode | Ascii)
Ninkasi (Unicode | Ascii)
Ninlil (Unicode | Ascii)
Ninšubur (Unicode | Ascii)
Nintur-Aruru (Unicode | Ascii)
Ninurta (Unicode | Ascii)
Nisaba (Unicode | Ascii)
Nungal (Unicode | Ascii)
Nuska (Unicode | Ascii)
Šara (Unicode | Ascii)
Šul-pa-e (Unicode | Ascii)
Utu (Unicode | Ascii)
Other deities (Unicode | Ascii)
Hymns addressed to or concerning temples (Unicode | Ascii)
Other literature (Unicode | Ascii)
Scribal life (Unicode | Ascii)
Debate poems (Unicode | Ascii)
Dialogues and diatribes (Unicode | Ascii)
Songs, elegies and related compositions (Unicode | Ascii)
'Wisdom literature' and other compositions (Unicode | Ascii)
Various compositions
A man and his god (Unicode | Ascii)
The poem of early rulers (Unicode | Ascii)
Enlil and Nam-zid-tara (Unicode | Ascii)
A dog for Nintinuga (Unicode | Ascii)

An axe for Nergal (Unicode | Ascii)
The home of the fish (Unicode | Ascii)
The heron and the turtle (Unicode | Ascii)
Proverb collections (Unicode | Ascii)
Other proverbs (Unicode | Ascii)
Sumerian scribe
© Copyright 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006 The ETCSL project, Faculty of Oriental Studies, University of Oxford
Updated 2005-03-30 by JE

University of Oxford

Forum
Donate Rituals
About
search...
search button

ZEVISTS: Our New Name, Zeus & Thunder Power - Sat & Zev
High Priest Hooded Cobra 666
23 February 2025

Greetings to everyone in our family,

Below, I will explain the background and symbolic processes so we may continue on the path of higher knowledge and awareness.

In Ancient Greek, Ζευ, who we call Zeus in English, is pronounced Zev or Zef. In English, it is often phonetically rendered as Zus, but this pronunciation is far removed from the true sound, Zefs. If you wish to pray to our God, alongside the other names we already know such as Beelzebul, Satan, or related forms, you may use Zefs. Use it, and you will experience how direct and powerful it is.

The Meanings Behind the Names

Ζευ (Zev) in Ancient Greek means "I unite." This refers to union in every sense:
the union of the soul, of creation, and the unified mind of creation, the "One God" or Unified Consciousness of the Cosmic Mind. This all-encompassing, unifying force is mirrored within the soul of man, in the Divine Marriage of Shiva and Shakti, or the risen Kundalini serpent. Thus, the meaning extends not only to "God" but to Godhead itself. The word Ζευ is also related to Ζεύ-ω, meaning "to erotically unite", a union that produces life.

Another name of Zeus is Δίας (Dias), from which the Latin word Deus (God) originates. Dias means "I divide," or "the divider." As the ultimate power, Zeus both unites and divides. These dual forces are necessary for life. For instance, the cells in the human body divide from a single, unified cell created by the union of sperm and egg. First comes union; then, division produces the multiplicity of life and existence.

A third name of Zeus is Ζήνας (Zinas), meaning "The Living One." Knowing the meanings of the first two names, we see why this name follows: it completes the trinity of processes: Union, Division, and Life.

These processes occur solely within the domain of Truth, or Cosmic Truth. They cannot take place elsewhere. Therefore, Satya, later maligned as Satan, is the foundational being through which this can manifest.

Union, Division, and Life

In physics, the interplay of union and division [positive and negative poles] creates movement, electricity, and life. These forces repel, attract, and explode into motion. Whether through bioelectricity in humans or artificial energy in machines, current is essential for life. The human nervous system functions through this "thunderbolt power." Again, this is the symbolism of Zeus.

Without this energetic spark, life cannot exist, and only inanimate matter remains. The soul is this spark. This is why the Ancient Greeks referred to Zeus as Zinas; He is the Giver of Life.

Lightning, the visible form of electricity, brings light. In mythology, Lucifer is the bringer of illumination, just as Zeus' thunderbolt brings sudden awareness. Thunder and lightning emerge from the darkness, creating existence itself. This is the ultimate cosmic power.

When you meditate and feel tingles, that is the sensation of this force. The Norse called it Vril, or bioelectricity, the power of the Gods and life itself. In Hinduism, this is Vajra, the thunderbolt weapon. Just as Brahma holds it to govern the universe, Zeus wields it to maintain order.

The letter Z is a symbol of the thunderbolt, like the Sowilo rune in Norse tradition. The thunderbolt is also connected to the Swastika.

Beelzebul and Divine Names

You are all familiar with Baal-Zev-Ul or Beelzebul in Sumerian, and Beelzebub in later corrupted Goetic systems. Historically, He was the God of Mesopotamia. Many still love these Goetic distortions, so I will quickly explain why returning to the original forms is far better and brings clarity.

Every theonym, or divine name of the Gods, contains an aspect that embodies their power. The name Baal-Zev-Ul carries immense meaning:

Baal = King (as Zeus is King of the Gods),

Zev = The name of Zeus,

Ul = Light (or even Lucifer).

The name Zeus is literally embedded in Beelzebul, when broken down etymologically.

Another misrepresented name is Satan, derived from Sat-Anas, with Sat meaning Eternal Truth. Initiates of the past commonly broke names down this way to reveal the truths encoded in divine theonyms. These truths were later distorted to paint our Gods as evil, and Satan became the "Prince of Evil and Darkness."

Even in the Bible, the slander is obvious. Luke 10:18 says, "I saw Satan fall like lightning from Heaven." Revelation mentions the "Throne of Satan" in Pergamum, the very location of the Great Altar of Zeus (which was taken to Berlin by Hitler). The symbolism is very direct and obvious:

Who was the original God symbolized by the thunderbolt (lightning), who is demeaned here? Zeus.

Who was the leader of the Heavenly Hierarchy that they later called "Hell" and "Demonic"? Zeus.

Who resided in the Heavens (the domain of Zeus or Mount Olympus, Lord of the Heavens, Heavenly Father, and so on), the wielder of the Thunderbolt, now "falling from the heaven" of His authority, in the same way that His own symbol represents Him? Zeus.

Why does He fall like "lightning" and not like "hailstone," "rain," "meteor," or "comet"? Simply because the subconscious message has to be very powerful. It's in front of you.

For those who cannot yet see it, I encourage you to expand your perception. Future updates will explain all this in greater depth.

A New Identity

From now on, we will now be known as Zevists, Initiates of Zeus. Following the eternal doctrine of Satya and the Original Gods, we bring lightning and enlightenment to humanity and to ourselves. This will reveal who we truly are, free from the confining labels of the past.

Say it aloud: "I am a Zevist!" You will feel the power of the name and title. As humanity ventures into the stars, others will come to know us by this name, and they will respect it. It carries the essence of something both ancient and futuristic.

The slight difficulty in pronouncing it is deliberate. It makes it memorable and meaningful, not something to discard lightly.

ZEV is the divine root, the name of our God. "-ist" signifies "those who belong to" that power. We are the children of the thunderbolt, heirs to the Supreme God of Gods. We are no longer reactive to enemy narratives; we reclaim the authority of the original Gods.

By restoring the legacy of the Gods and removing them from the enemy's contexts, we free them to act once more upon humanity. The restraints of the enemy are fading, and the full restoration of divine power is near.

Home

Our Origins

ZEVISTS: Our New Name, Zeus & Thunder Power - Sat & Zev

Satan's sigil in gold

© Copyright 2002 - 2025 - Temple of Zeus;

US Library of Congress Number: 12-16457, CI-43717711251 EU Copyright Number

Forum

Donate

Rituals

About

search...

search button

Zeus's Name

Our Head God has been known by many names throughout the aeons: Zeus in the ancient Hellenic language, Indra in Hinduism, Amun or Atum in ancient Egypt, Jupiter in Roman mythology, Baal or Baal-Zebul in the Phoenician religions, Hadad or Marduk in Babylon, Perun in Slavic traditions, Thor in ancient Norse mythology, Beli Mawr in the Celtic pantheon, Dyeus Pater in the postulated Indo-Aryan proto-language, as well as Shango or Nzazi in African traditions, Tlaloc or Viracocha among the Native Americans, Shangdi and the Jade Emperor in Chinese religion, and Raijin in Shintoism. In contrast, the Abrahamic religions refer to our Head God as "Satan," "Beelzebul," "Lucifer," and "the Devil."

Advanced knowledge in regards to Zeus, allegories, and more extensive information about the God

Beelzebub is also known as Baalzebub, Enlil, Bel, Pir Bub, Baal Zebul, and Beelzebuth.

He is also identified with the Goetic demon Bael, the ancient Greek God Zeus, the Norse God Thor, the Hindu deity Indra, the Baltic God Perkūnas, and Great Bel in ancient Britain.

Zodiac Position: 0-4 Degrees of Aries

March 21st-25th *[March 21-30]

Tarot Card: 2 of Rods [From Azazel]

Candle color: Black

Plant: Fern

Planet: Sun [From Azazel]

Metal: Iron [As a God of War*], Gold [Color of Spiritual Alchemy]

Element: Fire

Rank: King, one of the Rulers of Hell

Bael is a Demon/God of the day.

Numbers of Importance: 40, 50, 60 [From Him personally]

Those who are close to Beelzebub know that he is Enlil: this comes from him directly. Enlil was the original "Bel," which later evolved into "Baal." Baal means "Lord" or "Master." Beelzebub/Enlil was a highly revered and well-known God, with numerous cities across the Middle East bearing the prefix "Baal" in his honor.

"Baal Zebub, the Healing God of Ekron, later became one word, Beelzebub, which came to represent evil and idolatry in the New Testament of the Bible."

—Excerpt from "Syria" by Coleman South, 1995

Beelzebub is best known as the God of the Philistines, ruling over the city of Ekron. The ancient Philistines worshiped him under the name "Baalzebub." Beelzebub is the "Lord over all that Flies." Wherever he was worshipped, he was known as a God of weather and meteorology. He also held dominion over the airways when the Nephilim descended to Earth. The Hebrews later distorted his name to mean "Lord of the Flies" as a means of desecration.

Beelzebub maintains order within the temple and takes care of conflict and infighting between dedicated members. He can be very strict as He does not approve of dedicated Temple members cursing each other.

Among his many responsibilities, Beelzebub is also the Patron of the Orient (Far East). Martial arts and Asian culture have been deeply influenced by Beelzebub.

From High Priestess Maxine:

"My experience: I saw him for the first time when I asked for his assistance in creating this webpage about him. He appeared to me with platinum blond hair and darker eyebrows, wearing a white robe. This was the first time I had seen him. I had heard his voice a long time ago, and it was raspy, but when he spoke to me recently, the raspiness was gone. This is likely because he is now free."

From High Priest Hooded Cobra 666:

"The significance of the title Baal translates to King or Master. Beelzebub has always been associated with kingship, rulership, cosmic order, and supreme authority. He has been revered as a high God in most Pagan civilizations, known by different names across cultures. To the Romans, he was Jupiter; to the Greeks, he was Zeus, both sharing the eternal qualities of thunder, weather control, kingly authority, and the bestowal of power and wealth.

He is a master of spirituality, granting spiritual gifts to his followers, which in turn lead to material prosperity as a result of deeper spiritual understanding. Beelzebub has been the driving force behind some of the world's greatest empires, both physically and spiritually advanced, as well as behind influential leaders and prominent figures who have significantly shaped human history.

He is the embodiment of authority, both worldly and cosmic. Throughout time, he has been a patron of many great and historically significant individuals, such as Alexander the Great. Beelzebub has been with us for aeons upon aeons."

Advanced knowledge in regards to Beelzebub, allegories, and more extensive information about the God

Beelzebub's Sigils (click HERE for larger Sigil images):

The Egyptian hieroglyph for "air" and "wind" bears a striking resemblance to one of Beelzebub's sigils. The evolutionary connection here is evident. My point is that Beelzebub is the Prince of the Air. I find it sickening how the enemy has defamed our Gods by reducing Beelzebub to the title "Lord of the Flies." Many Jewish-authored grimoires depict grotesque fly imagery for Beelzebub, accompanied by equally monstrous portrayals of our other Gods.

I have also noted, time and again in my studies, the glaring lack of real, substantive information about many ancient peoples, such as the Avites, whose God was Adramelech. The only trace I found was in the Judeo-Christian Bible, where the Hebrews brutally invade and commit genocide against them, just as they did to many other Gentile peoples. The ancient libraries that were razed to the ground did not just hold occult and spiritual knowledge; they preserved history. This is a blatant example of historical erasure and the deliberate replacement of truth with falsehoods.

Alongside the Jewish and Christian destruction of ancient wisdom, nearly all genuine knowledge of Beelzebub was lost. The Christians were free to blaspheme, malign, and slander the reputations of the original Gods however they pleased. With no opposition left, after the burning of cities, mass killings of "heathen" peoples, and the destruction of temples, libraries, and sacred records, subsequent generations had no sources of knowledge about these Gods beyond the distorted accounts found in the Judeo-Christian Bible.

Beelzebub, also known as Enlil, was the Patron God of Nippur, a prominent city in Sumeria, located in what is now modern-day Iraq.

Beelzebub had his ziggurats, shrines, and temples located in his sacred city of Nippur. Below are photographs of the remaining ruins of his temple. The fortress structure atop the mound was constructed by American excavators in the 1890s "to protect themselves from the local tribes." Beneath it lies the Great Ziggurat of Nippur and the Temple of Enlil.

Beelzebub, also known as Enlil, is the God of storms, atmospheric conditions, wind, rain, and the element of air. He is also the God of Entomancy, a form of divination through interpreting the behavior of insects. Additionally, Beelzebub is a Master of Astrology and the Zodiac. His sacred number is 50.

His ziggurat in Nippur was called Fi-irn-bar-sag. Beelzebub is regarded as a gracious, life-giving, and life-sustaining deity, caretaker of his people, the beasts of the field, the birds of the sky, and the fishes of the sea. "Enlil [Beelzebub] is both a God of war and God of peace; a destroyer and protector, defender, restorer, upbuilder; inimical, hostile and most gracious."1

To receive his blessings, one must cultivate a right relationship with him.

"Enlil [Beelzebub] neither fears nor stands in dread of an enemy. A battle undertaken by him is pursued with unrelenting vigor until victory is achieved. He offers neither pardon nor retreat:

The hostile, unsubmitive land; from that land your heart does not turn. Once his anger is aroused, there is no one who can persuade him to leave or calm him." 2

Enlil/Beelzebub was a protector and life-giver. "As fierce and destructive as Enlil may be in dealing with enemies, he is equally gracious, kind, and loving toward his own people and homeland. He shields his people from hostile forces by surrounding them with high protective walls or becoming for them a fortress, securing the gates and bolts so that invading armies can neither climb over nor break through."

"If his people are in need of rain, he opens the gates of heaven, unfastens the bars, loosens the locks, and removes the bolts so that abundant rains may water their fields. Likewise, he may do the same to drown and utterly destroy the enemy."

Below is an Ancient Sumerian hymn to Enlil/Beelzebub:3

The gate[s] of heaven
The bars of heaven
The fastenings of heaven
The bolts of heaven
Thou openest
Thou pullest back
Thou loosenest
Thou removest

"He sustains the life of both man and beast. In doing so, he does not neglect even the smallest or most insignificant. 'Thou art the one who causes the grain to sprout.'"

The ancient Babylonians were in awe of Enlil's loving-kindness, protection, and support, often praising him with the exclamation: "He who protects [gives support]."

He is endowed with extraordinary power and authority. The emblem of his dominion is a radiant scepter, which he holds or wields in his hands. This luminous scepter is not only a symbol of his power, authority, and might; it also serves as a stylus in the hand of Beelzebub the Scribe, through which he enacts both his will and the will of the Gods.

"The twelve signs of the zodiac, the year, the seasons, the months, and the signs of the heavens all have their beginnings and endings, their boundaries and outlines, their images and configurations: Enlil [Beelzebub] defines and proclaims them. Each holds a unique meaning and purpose: Enlil [Beelzebub] interprets and reveals their significance. This he does through the 'fullness of his manifestations.' 'Enlil and His Seven Manifestations.' It is one of the most remarkable attributes of any deity who has played the role of the 'Son' within a given trinity: such a God was believed to possess 'seven manifestations' of power. The number seven was seen as symbolic of 'fullness, completeness, and totality.'"4

*These are the chakras

Below is a diagram of Beelzebub's temple at Ekron in ancient Philistia:

Beelzebub was also known as "Pir Bub" to the Yezidi, often referred to as "Devil Worshippers" in Iraq. They claimed he was the God of King Ahab.

[Reference: Devil Worship, 1919, by Isya Joseph, page 40.]

The following excerpt is taken from Encyclopaedia Biblica: A Critical Dictionary of the Literary, Political, and Religious History, the Archaeology, Geography, and Natural History of the Bible, Volume I: A-D, by The Rev. T.K. Cheyne, M.A., D.D., and J. Sutherland Black, M.A., LL.D. (New York: The Macmillan Company; London: Adam and Charles Black, 1899).

BAALZEBUB, taking Zebub or Myla as the name Fly-God, a God of Ekron, whose oracle was consulted by Ahaziah, King of Israel, in his last illness. The name is commonly explained as "Lord of Flies." True, there is no Semitic analogy for this, but Pausanias tells us of a God who drove away dangerous swarms of flies from Olympia, and Clement of Alexandria attests the cult of the same God in Elis. We may, if we will, interpret the title as "a God who sends as well as removes a plague of flies." Let us, however, look farther.

Bezold thought that in an Assyrian inscription of the 12th century B.C.E., "Baal-Zabnbi" was the name of the one of Zebub. Baal-Zebub was a widely known divine name, adopted for the God of Ekron. The restoration of the final syllable, however, is admittedly quite uncertain, and the reading Baal-Sapuna (see BAAL-ZEPHON, I) seems much more probable. Winckler, therefore, suggests that Zebub might be some very ancient name of a locality in Ekron (no longer to be explained etymologically), on the analogy of Baal-Sidon, Baal-Hermon, Baal-Lebanon. No such locality, however, is known, and Ekron [not any locality within Ekron] was the territory of the Baal.

It is, therefore, more probable that Baal-Zebub, "Lord of Flies" (which occurs only in a very late narrative, one which has a pronounced didactic tendency), is a contemptuous, uneuphonic Jewish modification of the true name, which was probably Baal-Zebul, "Lord of the High House."

This is a title such as any God with a fine temple might bear, and was probably not confined to the God of Ekron. High House would, at the same time, refer to the dwelling place of the Gods, the mountain of assembly in the far North. There is some reason to think that the Phoenicians knew of such a dwelling place. The conception is implied in the divine name Baal-Saphon, "Lord of the North" (see BAAL-ZEPHON), and in the Elegy on the King of Tyre (Ezekiel 28); and the Philistines probably knew of it.

At any rate, the late Hebrew narrator, or, if we will, an early scribe, may have resented the application of such a title as "Lord of the High House" (which suggested to him either Solomon's Temple or the heavenly dwelling of Yahwi) to the Ekronite God, and changed it to "Lord of Flies," Baal-Zebub. This explanation throws light on three proper names: JEZEBEL, ZEBUL, and ZEBULON, "from thy [High House] of holiness and glory." The same term could be applied to the mansion of the moon in the sky.

References:

1 Sumerian Hymns and Prayers to God Nin-Ib from the Temple Library of Nippur, by Hugo Radau, Philadelphia Published by the Department of Archeology, University of Pennsylvania 1911; Page 21

2 Ibid, Page 23

3 Ibid Page 25

4 Ibid Page 27

* From lord Zeus directly to High Priest Hooded Cobra

Home
Demons, the Gods of Hell
The Pantheon of Hell

Zeus

Satan's sigil in gold

© Copyright 2002 - 2025 - Temple of Zeus;

US Library of Congress Number: 12-16457, CI-43717711251 EU Copyright Number

Forum

Donate

Rituals

About

search...

search button

Zeus's Name

The knowledge presented on this page is advanced and intended for those who seek a deeper understanding of Baalzebul / Zeus. It also includes hieratic (deeply spiritual) knowledge, such as the Divine Names of Beelzebul.

Regarding the Divine Names, these are divine names that are numerologically sound and appropriate for use in Summoning and Invocation practices.

Divine Names

Baal-Zebul [Pronounced Va-AL-ZeBul]

Baal-Zevulon [Pronounced Ba-AL-zevulon*]

Baal-AL-zevul [Pronounced Ba-AL - ALZEVUL]

*such as the word nebula/nebulon, but as ZEBulon

Divine Symbols

Thunderbolt

The Sieg Rune

Bull's Head

Oak Tree

Thor's Hammer

The Varja [Hindu]

Mountains & Mountaintops

Divine Numbers and Attributes

Numbers: 40, 50, 60*

Runes: [In that order of importance]: Thurisaz, Tiwaz, Sowilo.

Zodiac Sign of Power: Aries

Divine Animal Symbol: Great Eagle, The Bull, Hawk, Serpent

Divine Forces

Spark Of Life

Union/Division

Authority

Kingship

Rulership

Protection

Important Titles

Father of Gods And Men

Creator Of Man

The Mighty

Heavenly Father
Fashioner Of The Universe
The Basileus [King]
Slayer of Kronus
Other Names:

Beelzebub is also known as Baalzebub, Enlil, Bel, "Pir Bub"*, Baal Zebul, and Beelzebuth. He is also known as the Goetic demon Bael, the ancient Greek God Zeus, the Norse God Thor, the Hindu deity Indra, and the Baltic God Perkūnas.

[*]There is no issue with casually referring to him as Beelzebub or Beelzebul in everyday speech, or even as Zeus. However, the hieratic names listed above offer a stronger spiritual resonance and are more effective for works such as summoning and invocation.

[*]Beelzebul has been known by many names across various pagan pantheons, such as Perkūnas, Thor, and Zeus, all of which are closely connected in meaning and symbolism. These names are associated with Law, Heavenly and Earthly Order, Leadership, and most notably, Thunder.

In India, Indra resides atop the sacred Mount Meru, much like Zeus on Mount Olympus. He wields the holy thunderbolt Vajra, and his name is etymologically linked to rain.

Beyond his Eastern origins, Beelzebul was one of the most important Gods in the Greek pantheon under the name Zeus. This reverence was later reflected in the Roman pantheon, which, as is well known, drew heavily from Greek cultural and religious traditions. Similarly, he was held in high regard in the Norse and Slavic pantheons.

The title "Bel" or "Baal", meaning King, was an ancient honorific denoting supernal power and spiritual dominion. Even today, in parts of the Middle East, the term retains this meaning. The word "Baal" in ancient Greek is etymologically connected to "Basileus", which also means King. Accordingly, the image of Zeus as Basileus was commonly featured on items associated with kingship: coins, shields, inscriptions, and more.

Coin with Beelzebul

In contrast to modern interpretations of spiritual myths, Zeus was a most important God and symbolic of the Crown Chakra ["The Heavens"] at the top of the head. Enlil represents a syncretic counterpart of the same divine archetype. For this very reason, the association of Beelzebul with the "Heavens," the "Bestower of Rain," and the act of "Sending Thunderbolts upon His Enemies" mirrors the qualities traditionally attributed to Zeus.

Zeus is also known as the Bestower of Rain, a symbol of divine energy flowing downward from the Crown Chakra. In spiritual practice, this can feel like being showered with rain. Thunder, on the other hand, corresponds to the sensation of being "zapped" by bioelectric energy during meditation, often felt as a current of electricity throughout the body. The thunderbolt is a powerful symbol and is connected to the rune of Thunder or Sowilo.

The modern titles ascribed to Beelzebul reflect a long-standing pattern of cultural and spiritual warfare, particularly from Abrahamic religions. Despite the slander and disinformation surrounding his name, there remains an undeniable recognition, even within these distortions, of his grace, immense spiritual power, and supreme authority. Even the enemies of the ancient Gods recognized this truth. Beelzebul, once revered as "King of the Gods" in his identity as Zeus, was later slandered as "King of the Demons." However, in Greek, the word daemon originally meant "God," so the essence of his title remains unchanged. He is indeed King of the Demons, and this is echoed in many of the enemy's grimoires that describe him as commanding "unending ranks" under his authority.¹

On a psychological level, Beelzebul/Zeus represents the pinnacle of masculine strength. He was said to have fathered Hercules and other great heroes of the ancient world. Ancient litanies openly proclaimed him as the deciding force of the kosmos, meaning "all that is." Though considered the slowest to move into judgment, his wrath is the most destructive, while his blessings are the most profound.

The Ancient Greeks often said, "Everything that happens, happens in the presence of Zeus." This was especially spoken in reference to worldly rulers who exceeded their moral bounds or acted as tyrants. Zeus can bring down tyrants, but also raise kings who are unshakable by negative forces.

His will governs both Gods and mortals. Beelzebul can initiate or end wars, enforcing divine justice as an unstoppable and universal force, symbolized also by the Hindu Vajra, a weapon representing both thunder and indomitable power.

The power of Beelzebul was renowned throughout the ancient world, where he was universally recognized as the supreme God.

In Revelation 2:13, it is written: "This is the place where Satan's throne is." This refers to the ancient city of Pergamum in Asia Minor (modern-day Turkey). The Pergamon Altar, a monumental structure once housed there, is a significant archaeological wonder. It has been preserved and is now located in Berlin, as seen in the second photo.

As a symbol, Beelzebul represents the God of Paternal Order. Due to his supreme authority, he has been regarded as the leader of the Greek pantheon, and many others, symbolizing paternal, firm, and justice-oriented rulership. While Satan governs the inner workings of pantheons and the esoteric Mysteries, Beelzebul has often assumed rulership over the visible and material realm.

Zeus was often called "The Father of the Gods," for he fathered many deities and was also associated with earthly heroes and demigods such as Hercules and Alexander the Great. In relation to humanity, Zeus was also called "Decider of Fates" and "Father of Humans" for his significant role in the creation of humanity.²

The association of Beelzebul with the title "Lord of the Flies" is a blasphemous distortion created by his enemies. The origin of this slander stems from an epithet of Zeus, "Zeus Myiagros," meaning "Zeus who drives the flies (pestilences) away." The Greek word for "flies" was mýai, but through intentional manipulation, a single letter was altered, degrading the meaning to "Myaros", interpreted as "he of the flies" or "the defiled one."^{3,4}

This same method of corruption was employed by the Hebrews, who deliberately altered Beelzebul's name to Beelzebub, a distortion previously explained in more detail on another page. This was a common practice used to defame many Pagan Gods, perverting their names in Hebrew to blaspheme and diminish their stature. But the offenses did not stop at wordplay alone. His enemies engaged in slander, defamation, and deliberate misrepresentation, attempting to portray him in the most profane and degraded manner possible.

Beelzebul is frequently mentioned in awe and fear by adversaries within the Bible, especially in the New Testament, where he is positioned as a direct opponent to the fabricated figure of "Jesus." Such was Beelzebul's power and influence, that when "Jesus" supposedly performed his so-called miracles of healing, people did not believe it was his doing, instead, they attributed it to Beelzebub. Historically, Beelzebub was revered in the region as a healing God, known for performing miraculous acts of restoration and cure.

While the Bible and its narrative are fraudulent, these references reveal just how much the enemy recognized the immense spiritual rank, healing power, and dominion over demonic forces that Beelzebul holds. Much like Satan, who mocks the pitiful Nazarene in the biblical texts, even the mere mention of Beelzebul's name undermines and overshadows the fabricated myth of the so-called Messiah. His mere presence shrinks the very relevance of the Nazarene, even within the enemy's own corrupted writings.⁵

The attacks against Beelzebul have been systematic, carried out by both Hebrews and Abrahamic zealots, and continue even to this day. In 2015, these zealots, destroyers of human history, infamously destroyed the Temple of Baal in Palmyra. The power of this God has been so immense that every effort by the forces of decay has been aimed at erasing his legacy from human history. Yet, they have failed miserably.

The sheer magnitude of Beelzebul's power is even acknowledged by his enemies. The Hebrews themselves openly admit that their attacks against Beelzebul have been deliberate and carried out by them collectively as a people. Observe the language of spiritual warfare they employ:

"Powerful waves of spiritual warfare rose against Baal that would tear him down and turn him into an arch-demon, an antithesis to God. The attack on Baal came through the writings of the Old Testament, primarily to discourage Hebrews from worshipping Baal and unifying them under the sole sovereignty of Yahweh. [...] Baal was a specific name of a living God with explicit powers. Like a universal God, Baal was much more complex than a mono-dimensional deity. [...] By the time the New Testament was being written, Baal had been firmly associated with dung, filth, and sexual perversities and was known as Beelzebub in Hebrew circles."⁶

It's important to note that many Hebrews willingly betrayed their own so-called "national gods" and sought to infiltrate Pagan religious movements, even in ancient times. Unlike Pagans, who rarely did such things unless forced under conditions of massacre or genocide, the Hebrews did so of their own accord, driven by weakness, opportunism, and a traitorous nature to their own traditions.

Beelzebul possesses the power to drive away all forms of pestilence, whether they manifest as physical illness (through his healing abilities), social injustice (as a restorer of order), or spiritual curses. In truth, the deeper meaning behind his association with flies, and the epithet "Myiagros", relates not to decay but to spiritual resonance (the buzzing, hissing, and vibrating sounds associated with chanting and vocal invocations), which cleanse the soul and dissolve spiritual afflictions, ultimately healing it.

Beyond the surface-level interpretations of entomancy, there is a deeper esoteric connotation regarding Zeus and his capacity to send "flies," symbolically referring to the sensation of bioelectric energy or Vril. This energy often manifests as a tactile experience, resembling insects crawling on the skin, a sensation produced by the vibrational buzzing sounds of chanting and vocal resonance, as previously explained. These phenomena are directly linked to the healing powers of Beelzebul, revered as the Healing God of Ekron, whose restorative abilities are symbolized by the rising force of Vril.

Zeus, in the Greek Pantheon, symbolized the unrelenting, all-powerful force of necessity, a fate from which no being could escape. At the same time, Zeus was the one who fought against Kronus (Saturn) and overcame him, establishing himself as King and thereby triumphing over the rigid limitations of human nature and karmic bondage.

Due to his associations with thunder and weather, as previously explained, Beelzebul has also been linked to the Norse God Thor, the wielder of thunder. The rune corresponding to Beelzebul's power is Thurisaz (Thor's Rune), relating to the force of the thunderbolt. Secondary runes associated with him are Sowilo and Tiwaz. The enduring significance of Beelzebul is even reflected in modern language: "Thursday," the Day of Thor. In his hidden kingship, Beelzebul is also associated with the Sun, often referred to as the Sun King. The Tiwaz rune further symbolizes the enforcement of Satan's divine decrees through the hand of Beelzebul, expressing his role in issuing divine justice.

The weapon of Zeus, the thunderbolt, known as "Keravnos", bears a linguistic connection to "Keruvim", a concept appropriated and distorted by Abrahamic traditions. The Hebrew word "Cherub", used to designate a being of the highest spiritual rank and power, ironically reveals the immense strength and spiritual authority attributed to Beelzebul in this context. In the Orphic Mysteries, Zeus was revered for his dominion over thunder, which was believed to awaken the soul from its passive state of spiritual lethargy.

Beelzebul/Zeus was also known as the guardian demon of Alexander the Great, who conquered nearly the entire known world in his time. Alexander himself believed, and publicly declared, that he was the son of Zeus Ammonas, related to the Egyptian God Amun (not to be confused with Amon-Ra or Marduk, who is a separate deity). Beelzebul is recognized as a bestower of victory, divine protection, invincibility, and good fortune in times of crisis. When Alexander entered the Middle East, he was hailed as the son of Baal, while in Greece, he was revered as the son of Zeus Ammonas. He was often referred to as "Basileus", meaning King or Supreme Ruler, a title that corresponds directly with "Bael" in the East, both conveying the same meaning of sovereign authority.

Below are depictions of Zeus Ammonas and the coins minted during Alexander the Great's reign. The resemblance between the deity and the ruler is striking, particularly the horns, symbolizing divine dominion and power. Alexander the Great was widely believed to be a descendant of Beelzebul/Zeus through his mother Olympias, who came from royal Ancient Greek lineage. During his lifetime, he was widely accepted among Pagan civilizations as a physical incarnation of the divine power of Zeus. His mother, Olympias, was known to be a deeply spiritual woman and a practitioner of occult rites and meditation.

Apollo Temple

Lord Zeus/Enlil/Bael

E Inscription on Coin at Delphi

Alexander The Great, King of Macedon

The word "Amen," commonly used by Christians to conclude their prayers, is in fact stolen from the word "Amon", an epithet of Zeus.

The mysterious death of Alexander the Great at the age of 33, with no precise details known, may not signify a physical death, but rather symbolize a spiritual transformation. It strongly suggests the possibility that he completed the Magnum Opus at the 33rd year of his life, metaphorically marking the "end" of his mortal life. The popular stories of his death by poisoning and intoxication lack supporting evidence. His mythical birth was steeped in powerful symbolism, most notably the claim that his mother was "impregnated by thunder," reflecting his divine origin.

Plutarch wrote that Alexander always respected other Pagan cultures, understanding that the same Gods appeared across all civilizations under different names and forms. Having been taught by Aristotle, the leading intellectual authority in Greece at the time, Alexander was deeply educated in the spiritual arts, including alchemy and other esoteric disciplines.^{8,9,10}

The symbolism of Zeus is deeply profound, filled with spiritual allegory and multi-layered esoteric wisdom. His name has clear linguistic and cultural connections to both Proto-European and Far Eastern traditions. He is the original "Father of the Heavens" often alluded to even in Abrahamic traditions. Due to the vastness of his influence, he has often simply been called "God" or "Father God."

Zeus's power is commonly associated with the forces of causality, existence, life, and the element of aether, the primordial force of division, replication, and creation at the very core of the universe. He is attributed with dozens of epithets, each reflecting a different aspect of his divine authority and completeness. These epithets demonstrate that Zeus governs all aspects of reality, emphasizing his wholeness and perfection as a God.¹¹

On the Falsehoods Attributed to Enlil Regarding the "Flood" that drowned humanity in the Sumerian Epics

Enlil never "drowned humanity", as is falsely claimed. The so-called "Flood that drowned humanity", a myth common across all Pagan cultures, holds deep spiritual significance. In both Sumerian and Greek traditions, it is intimately associated with Enlil and Zeus, further revealing their connection to Beelzebul. Like the Garden of Eden, the Flood stands as one of the most profound spiritual allegories in existence. While Satan is symbolically connected to the Garden of Eden myth (to be explored in depth elsewhere), Beelzebul holds the central role in the myth of the Flood.

From this sacred myth, the story of Noah's Ark was stolen and distorted by Hebrew religious narratives. Noah and his wife were directly copied from the earlier myth of Deucalion and his wife, Pyrrha, whose name means "Fire", who preserved humanity during the flood said to be caused by Zeus. As explained earlier, the "flood of water" refers to the Crown Chakra submerging the physical body in spiritual energy.

The Myth of the Flood symbolizes the purification of the human being, the drowning of impure, base elements within, and their replacement with divine spiritual energy and a higher, more noble nature. This transformative process is achieved through meditation and soul empowerment. The "Flood" is therefore not a literal event, but a spiritual allegory reflecting this inner evolution.

The twin forces of Ida and Pingala, representing the fire and water aspects of the Serpent energy, are essential to the soul's purification. The "Flood" represents the inundation of the soul by the water element, a necessary stage that naturally occurs as one advances spiritually, submerging impurities. Pyrrha, as the symbol of sacred fire, represents the next stage: the purifying flame that follows the cleansing flood, thus "saving humanity from the flood." Together, these forces are crucial components in the preparation for the Magnum Opus.

To the followers of Beelzebul: may you be crowned with the Crown of the Thundering Heavens!

HAIL BEELZEBUL!!!

– Page By High Priest Hooded Cobra 666

Sources/Bibliography

1 Dictionary of Ancient Greek, J. Stamatakos

2 Encyclopedia of Greek and Roman Mythology, Luke Roman and Monica Roman

3 In the general works of Pausanias, Zeus is referred to as the "Fly remover", meaning he warded off pestilence and curses. More on this on:
<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Myiagros>

4 Ibid., 1, "Daimon" section

5 Hebrew Bible: Matthew 12:24, Mark 3:22, Luke 11:15 and so forth

6 "Beelzebub: An Unfairly Demonized Deity?", Huffington Post, https://www.huffpost.com/entry/beelzebub-an-unfairly-dem_b_9759936

7 Ibid 2, Entry for Zeus

8 Plutarch, Greek Lives

9 "Alexander the Great as a God": <https://www.ancient.eu/article/925/alexander-the-great-as-a-god/>

10 Few surviving examples exist, most of the declared to be "fake", as they were confiscated by the Christian Church which rewrote history. An example of these texts is Secretum Secretorum

11 Wikipedia on Zeus's Name: "Name Section" and "Epithets"

12 Ibid 2, "Deucalion and Phyrre" section

* From Lord Beelzebul directly to High Priest Hooded Cobra

Home

High Ranking Gods and Crowned Princes of Hell

Beelzebul: Advanced Information

Satan's sigil in gold

© Copyright 2002 - 2025 - Temple of Zeus;

US Library of Congress Number: 12-16457, CI-43717711251 EU Copyright Number

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Indra>

585 captures

12 Apr 2004 - 12 Dec 2025

Jul AUG Sep

14

2020 2021 2022

About this capture

Indra

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Jump to navigationJump to search

This article is about the deity in Indian religions. For Buddhist god, see Śakra (Buddhism). For other uses, see Indra (disambiguation).

Indra

King of the Devas (Gods)

God of lightning, thunder, storms, sky, rain, river flows and war

Indra, Parjanya

Painting of Indra on his elephant mount, Airavata, c. 1820.

Devanagari इन्द्र

Sanskrit transliteration Indra

Affiliation Deva, Adityas, Dikpala

Abode Amarāvati, the capital of Indraloka in Svarga[1]

Weapon Vajra (thunderbolt), Astras, Vasavi Shakti

Symbols Vajra, Indra's net

Mount Airavata (white elephant), Uchchaisravas (white horse)

Texts Vedas, Ramayana, Mahabharata, Puranas

Personal information

Parents

Kashyapa (father)

Aditi (mother)[2][3][a]

Consort Shachi

Children Jayanta, Rishabha, Midhusa, Jayanti, Devasena, Vali and Arjuna

Equivalents

Greek equivalent Zeus

Roman equivalent Jupiter

Norse equivalent Thor

Slavic equivalent Perun

Indra (/ˈɪndrə/; Sanskrit: इन्द्र) is an ancient Vedic deity in Hinduism. He is the king of Svarga (Heaven) and the Devas (gods). He is associated with lightning, thunder, storms, rains, river flows and war.[4][5][6][7] Indra's mythology and powers are similar to other Indo-European deities such as Jupiter, Perun, Perkūnas, Zalmoxis, Taranis, Zeus, and Thor, suggesting a common origin in Proto-Indo-European mythology.[7][8][9]

Indra is the most referred to deity in the Rigveda.[10] He is celebrated for his powers, and as the one who kills the great symbolic evil (malevolent type of Asura) named Vritra who obstructs human prosperity and happiness. Indra destroys Vritra and his "deceiving forces", and thereby brings rains and the sunshine as the friend of mankind.[7][11] He is also an important deity worshipped in Kalasha religion which is a precursor to modern Hinduism, indicating his prominence in ancient Hinduism.[12][13][14][15][16][17][18]

Indra's significance diminishes in the post-Vedic Indian literature, but he still plays an important role in various mythological events. He is depicted as a powerful hero but one who constantly gets into trouble with his drunken, hedonistic and adulterous ways, and the god who disturbs sages as they meditate because he fears self-realized human beings may become more powerful than him.[7][19]

According to the Vishnu Purana, Indra is the position of being the king of the gods which changes in every Manvantara—a cyclic period of time in Hindu cosmology. Each Manvantara has its own Indra and the Indra of the current Manvantara is called Purandhara.[20][21][22][23]

Indra is also depicted in Buddhist (Indā[24] in Pali)[25] and Jaina[26] mythologies. Indra rules over the much-sought Devas realm of rebirth within the Samsara doctrine of Buddhist traditions.[27] However, like the post-Vedic Hindu texts, Indra is also a subject of ridicule and reduced to a figurehead status in Buddhist texts,[28] shown as a god that suffers rebirth and redeath.[27] In the Jainism traditions, unlike Buddhism and Hinduism, Indra is not the king of Gods—the enlightened leaders (called Tirthankaras or Jinas), but King of superhumans residing in Swarga-Loka, and very much a part of Jain rebirth cosmology.[29] He is also the one who appears with his wife Indrani to celebrate the auspicious moments in the life of a Jain Tirthankara, an iconography that suggests the king and queen of superhumans residing in Swarga (heaven) reverentially marking the spiritual journey of a Jina.[30][31]

Indra's iconography shows him wielding a lightning thunderbolt weapon known as Vajra, riding on a white elephant known as Airavata.[19][32] In Buddhist iconography the elephant sometimes features three heads, while Jaina icons sometimes show the elephant with five heads. Sometimes a single elephant is shown with four symbolic tusks.[19] Indra's heavenly home is on or near Mount Meru (also called Sumeru).[27][33]

Contents

- 1 Etymology and nomenclature
 - 1.1 Other languages
 - 1.2 Epithets
 - 2 Origins
 - 3 Iconography
 - 4 Literature
 - 4.1 Vedic texts
 - 4.1.1 Upanishads
 - 4.2 Post-Vedic texts
 - 4.3 Sangam literature (300 BCE–300 CE)
 - 5 In other religions
 - 5.1 Buddhism
 - 5.2 Jainism
 - 6 See also
 - 7 Notes
 - 8 References
 - 8.1 Bibliography
 - 9 External links
- Etymology and nomenclature

Indra on his elephant, guarding the entrance of the 1st century BCE Buddhist Cave 19 at Bhaja Caves (Maharashtra).[34]

Buddhist relief from Lorian Tangai, showing Indra paying homage to the Buddha at the Indrasala Cave, 2nd century CE, Gandhara .
The etymological roots of Indra are unclear, and it has been a contested topic among scholars since the 19th-century, one with many proposals.[35][36] The significant proposals have been:

root ind-u, or "rain drop", based on the Vedic mythology that he conquered rain and brought it down to earth.[19][35]

root ind, or "equipped with great power". This was proposed by Vopadeva.[19]

root idh or "kindle", and ina or "strong".[37][38]

root indha, or "igniter", for his ability to bring light and power (indriya) that ignites the vital forces of life (prana). This is based on Shatapatha Brahmana.[39] root idam-dra, or "It seeing" which is a reference to the one who first perceived the self-sufficient metaphysical Brahman. This is based on Aitareya Upanishad.[19]

roots in ancient Indo-European, Indo-Aryan deities.[40] For example, states John Colarusso, as a reflex of proto-Indo-European *h₂nér-, Greek anēr, Sabine nerō, Avestan nar-, Umbrian nerus, Old Irish nert, Ossetic nart, and others which all refer to "most manly" or "hero".[40]

Colonial era scholarship proposed that Indra shares etymological roots with Zend Andra, Old High German Antra, or Jedru of Old Slavonic, but Max Muller critiqued these proposals as untenable.[35][41] Later scholarship has linked Vedic Indra to Aynar (the Great One) of Circassian, Abaza and Ubykh mythology, and Innara of Hittite mythology.[40][42] Colarusso suggests a Pontic[note 1] origin and that both the phonology and the context of Indra in Indian religions is best explained from Indo-Aryan roots and a Circassian etymology (i.e. *inra).[40]

Other languages

For other languages, he is also known as

Bengali: ইন্দ্র (Indro)

Burmese: သိကြာမင်း (pronounced [ðadzá míɴ])

Chinese: 帝釋天/帝释天 (Dìshìtiān)

Indonesian/Malay: (Indera)

Japanese: 帝釈天 (Taishakuten).[43]

Javanese: Bathara Indra (Bathara Indra)

Kannada: ಇಂದ್ರ (Indra)

Khmer: ព្រហ្ម (Preah In pronounced [preah ʔən])

Lao: ພະອິນ (Pha In) or ພະຍາອິນ (Pha Nya In)

Malayalam: ഇന്ദ്രൻ (Indran)

Mon: ၵုန် (In)

Mongolian: Индра (Indra)

Odia: ଇନ୍ଦ୍ର (Indraw)

Tai Lue: ພະອິນ (In) or ພະຍາອິນ (Pha Ya In)

Tamil: இந்திரன் (Inthiran)

Telugu: ఇంద్రుడు (Indrudu or Indra)

Thai: พระอินทร์ (Prah In)

Epithets

Indra has many epithets in the Indian religions, notably Śakra (शक्र, powerful one),

Vṛṣan (वृषन्, mighty)

Vṛtrahan (वृत्रहन्, slayer of Vṛtra)

Meghavāhana (मेघवाहन, he whose vehicle is cloud)

Devarāja (देवराज, king of deities)

Devendra (देवेन्द्र, the lord of deities)[44]

Surendra (सुरेन्द्र, chief of deities)

Svargapati (स्वर्गपति, the lord of heaven)

Vajrapāṇi (वज्रपाणि, he who has thunderbolt (Vajra) in his hand)

Vāsava (वासव, lord of Vasus)

Purandar (पुरंदर, the breaker of forts)

Kaushik (कौशिक, sentiment of love)

Sachin or Sachindra (सचिन, the consort of Sachi).
Origins

Banteay Srei temple's pediment carvings depict Indra mounts on Airavata, Cambodia, c. 10th century.

Indra is of ancient but unclear origin. Aspects of Indra as a deity are cognate to other Indo-European gods; they are thunder gods such as Thor, Perun, and Zeus who share parts of his heroic mythologies, act as king of gods, and all are linked to "rain and thunder".[45] The similarities between Indra of Vedic mythology and of Thor of Nordic and Germanic mythologies are significant, states Max Müller. Both Indra and Thor are storm gods, with powers over lightning and thunder, both carry a hammer or an equivalent, for both the weapon returns to their hand after they hurl it, both are associated with bulls in the earliest layer of respective texts, both use thunder as a battle-cry, both are protectors of mankind, both are described with legends about "milking the cloud-cows", both are benevolent giants, gods of strength, of life, of marriage and the healing gods.[46]

Michael Janda suggests that Indra has origins in the Indo-European *trigw-welumos [or rather *trigw-t-welumos] "smasher of the enclosure" (of Vritra, Vala) and diye-snūtyos "impeller of streams" (the liberated rivers, corresponding to Vedic apam ajas "agitator of the waters").[47] Brave and heroic Innara or Inra, which sounds like Indra, is mentioned among the gods of the Mitanni, a Hurrian-speaking people of Hittite region.[48]

Indra as a deity had a presence in northeastern Asia minor, as evidenced by the inscriptions on the Boghaz-köi clay tablets dated to about 1400 BCE. This tablet mentions a treaty, but its significance is in four names it includes reverentially as Mi-it-ra, U-ru-w-na, In-da-ra and Na-sa-at-ti-ia. These are respectively, Mitra, Varuna, Indra and Nasatya-Asvin of the Vedic pantheon as revered deities, and these are also found in Avestan pantheon but with Indra and Naonhaitya as demons. This at least suggests that Indra and his fellow deities were in vogue in South Asia and Asia minor by about mid 2nd-millennium BCE.[37]
[49]

Indra is praised as the highest god in 250 hymns of the Rigveda – a Hindu scripture dated to have been composed sometime between 1700 and 1100 BCE. He is co-praised as the supreme in another 50 hymns, thus making him one of the most celebrated Vedic deities.[37] He is also mentioned in ancient Indo-Iranian literature, but with a major inconsistency when contrasted with the Vedas. In the Vedic literature, Indra is a heroic god. In the Avestan (ancient, pre-Islamic Iranian) texts such as Vd. 10.9, Dk. 9.3 and Gbd 27.6-34.27, Indra – or accurately Andra[50] – is a gigantic demon who opposes truth.[40][note 2] In the Vedic texts, Indra kills the archenemy and demon Vritra who threatens mankind. In the Avestan texts, Vritra is not found.[50]

Indra is called vr̥traghná- (literally, "slayer of obstacles") in the Vedas, which corresponds to Verethragna of the Zoroastrian noun verethragna-. According to David Anthony, the Old Indic religion probably emerged among Indo-European immigrants in the contact zone between the Zeravshan River (present-day Uzbekistan) and (present-day) Iran.[51] It was "a syncretic mixture of old Central Asian and new Indo-European elements", [51] which borrowed "distinctive religious beliefs and practices" [52] from the Bactria-Margiana Culture.[52] At least 383 non-Indo-European words were found in this culture, including the god Indra and the ritual drink Soma.[53] According to Anthony,

Many of the qualities of Indo-Iranian god of might/victory, Verethraghna, were transferred to the god Indra, who became the central deity of the developing Old Indic culture. Indra was the subject of 250 hymns, a quarter of the Rig Veda. He was associated more than any other deity with Soma, a stimulant drug (perhaps derived from Ephedra) probably borrowed from the BMAC religion. His rise to prominence was a peculiar trait of the Old Indic speakers.[54]

Iconography

Indra's iconography shows him holding a thunderbolt or Vajra and a sword. In addition he is shown on top of his elephant Airavata, which reinforces his characteristic of King of the Gods. Sometimes he is accompanied by his wife, Shachi. Left: From Tiruchchirappalli, Tamil Nadu, 1820-1825. Right: From Hoysaleswara temple, 12th century CE.

In Rigveda, Indra is described as strong willed, armed with a thunderbolt, riding a chariot:

5. Let bullish heaven strengthen you, the bull; as bull you travel with your two bullish fallow bays. As bull with a bullish chariot, well-lipped one, as bull with bullish will, you of the mace, set us up in loot.

—Rigveda, Book 5, Hymn 37: Jamison[55]

Indra's weapon, which he used to kill the evil Vritra, is the Vajra or thunderbolt. Other alternate iconographic symbolism for him includes a bow (sometimes as a colorful rainbow), a sword, a net, a noose, a hook, or a conch. [56] The thunderbolt of Indra is called Bhaudhara.[57]

In the post-Vedic period, he rides a large, four-tusked white elephant called Airavata.[19] In sculpture and relief artworks in temples, he typically sits on an elephant or is near one. When he is shown to have two, he holds the Vajra and a bow.[58]

In the Shatapatha Brahmana and in Shaktism traditions, Indra is stated to be same as goddess Shodashi (Tripura Sundari), and her iconography is described similar to those of Indra.[59]

The rainbow is called Indra's Bow (Sanskrit: indradhanus इन्द्रधनुस्).[56]

Literature
Vedic texts

Indra is typically featured as a guardian deity on the east side of a Hindu temple.

Devraj Indra, Old Kalyan Print

Indra was a prominent deity in the Vedic era of Hinduism.[37]

Over a quarter of the 1,028 hymns of the Rigveda mention Indra, making him the most referred to deity.[37][60] These hymns present a complex picture of Indra, but some aspects of Indra are oft repeated. Of these, the most common theme is where he as the god with thunderbolt kills the evil serpent Vritra that held back rains, and thus released rains and land nourishing rivers.[35] For example, the Rigvedic hymn 1.32 dedicated to Indra reads:

इन्द्रस्य नु वीर्याणि प्र वोचं यानि चकार प्रथमानि वज्री ।
अहन्नहिमन्वपस्ततर्द प्र वक्षणा अभिनत्पर्वतानाम् ॥१॥
अहन्नहि पर्वते शिश्रियाणं त्वष्टास्मै वज्रं स्वर्गं ततक्ष ।
वाश्रा इव धेनवः स्यन्दमाना अञ्जः समुद्रमव जग्मुरापः ॥२॥

1. Now I shall proclaim the heroic deeds of Indra, those foremost deeds that the mace-wielder performed:

He smashed the serpent. He bored out the waters. He split the bellies of the mountains.

2. He smashed the serpent resting on the mountain—for him Tvaṣṭar had fashioned the resounding [sunlike] mace.

Like bellowing milk-cows, streaming out, the waters went straight down to the sea.[61]

—Rigveda, 1.32.1-2[62]

Rigveda 4.18.9 says The jaws of Indra got crushed by a Dasa named Vyamsa in a battle and they were got replaced by metal jaws[63]

In the myth, Indra fights Vritra, a giant cobra who has coiled around a mountain and entrapped the waters. Indra uses his vajra, a mace, to kill Vritra and smash open the mountains to release the waters. In some versions, he is aided by the Maruts or other deities, and sometimes cattle and the sun is also released from the mountain. [64] In one interpretation by Oldenberg, the hymns are referring to the snaking thunderstorm clouds that gather with bellowing winds (Vritra), Indra is then seen as the storm god who intervenes in these clouds with his thunderbolts, which then release the rains nourishing the parched land, crops and thus humanity. [65] In another interpretation by Hillebrandt, Indra is a symbolic sun god (Surya) and Vritra is a symbolic winter-giant (historic mini cycles of ice age, cold) in the earliest, not the later, hymns of Rigveda. The Vritra is an ice-demon of colder central Asia and northern latitudes, who holds back the water. Indra is the one who releases the water from the winter demon, an idea that later metamorphosed into his role as storm god. [65] According to Griswold, this is not a completely convincing interpretation, because Indra is simultaneously a lightning god, a rain god and a river-helping god in the Vedas. Further, the Vritra demon that Indra slew is best understood as any obstruction, whether it be clouds that refuse to release rain or mountains or snow that hold back the water. [65] Jamison and Brereton also state that Vritra is best understood as any obstacle. The Vritra myth is associated with the Midday Pressing of soma, which is dedicated to Indra or Indra and the Maruts. [64]

Even though Indra is declared as the king of gods in some verses, there is no consistent subordination of other gods to Indra. In Vedic thought, all gods and goddesses are equivalent and aspects of the same eternal abstract Brahman, none consistently superior, none consistently inferior. All gods obey Indra, but all gods also obey Varuna, Vishnu, Rudra and others when the situation arises. Further, Indra also accepts and follows the instructions of Savitr (solar deity). [66] Indra, like all Vedic deities, is a part of henotheistic theology of ancient India. [67]

The second-most important myth about Indra is about the Vala cave. In this story, the Panis have stolen cattle and hidden them in the Vala cave. Here Indra utilizes the power of the songs he chants to split the cave open to release the cattle and dawn. He is accompanied in the cave by the Angirases (and sometimes Navagvas or the Daśagvas). Here Indra exemplifies his role as a priest-king, called brhaspati. Eventually later in the Rigveda, Brhaspati and Indra become separate deities as both Indra and the Vedic king lose their priestly functions. The Vala myth was associated with the Morning Pressing of soma, in which cattle was donated to priests, called dakṣiṇā. [64]

Indra is not a visible object of nature in the Vedic texts, nor is he a personification of any object, but that agent which causes the lightning, the rains and the rivers to flow. [68] His myths and adventures in the Vedic literature are numerous, ranging from harnessing the rains, cutting through mountains to help rivers flow, helping land becoming fertile, unleashing sun by defeating the clouds, warming the land by overcoming the winter forces, winning the light and dawn for mankind, putting milk in the cows, rejuvenating the immobile into something mobile and prosperous, and in general, he is depicted as removing any and all sorts of obstacles to human progress. [69] The Vedic prayers to Indra, states Jan Gonda, generally ask "produce success of this rite, throw down those who hate the materialized Brahman". [70] The hymns of Rigveda declare him to be the "king that moves and moves not", the friend of mankind who holds the different tribes on earth together. [71]

Indra is often presented as the twin brother of Agni (fire) – another major Vedic deity. [72] Yet, he is also presented to be the same, states Max Muller, as in Rigvedic hymn 2.1.3, which states, "Thou Agni, art Indra, a bull among all beings; thou art the wide-ruling Vishnu, worthy of adoration. Thou art the Brahman, (...)." [73] He is also part of one of many Vedic trinities as "Agni, Indra and Surya", representing the "creator-maintainer-destroyer" aspects of existence in Hindu thought. [60] [note 3]

Rigveda 2.1.3 Jamison 2014 [77]

You, Agni, as bull of beings, are Indra; you, wide-going, worthy of homage, are Viṣṇu. You, o lord of the sacred formulation, finder of wealth, are the Brahman [Formulator]; you, o Apportioner, are accompanied by Plenitude. Parentage of Indra is inconsistent in Vedic texts, and in fact Rigveda 4.17.12 states that Indra himself may not even know that much about his mother and father. Some verses of Vedas suggest that his mother was a grishti (a cow), while other verses name her Nishtigri. The medieval commentator Sayana identified her with Aditi, the goddess who is his mother in later Hinduism. The Atharvaveda states Indra's mother is Ekashtaka, daughter of Prajapati. Some verses of Vedic texts state that Indra's father is Tvashtṛ or sometimes the couple Dyaush and Prithvi are mentioned as his parents.[78][79][80] According to a legend found in it, before Indra is born, his mother attempts to persuade him to not take an unnatural exit from her womb. Immediately after birth, Indra steals soma from his father, and Indra's mother offers the drink to him. After Indra's birth, Indra's mother reassures Indra that he will prevail in his rivalry with his father, Tvaṣṭar. Both the unnatural exit from the womb and rivalry with the father are universal attributes of heros.[64] In the Rigveda, Indra's wife is Indrani, alias Shachi, and she is described to be extremely proud about her status.[81] Rigveda 4.18.8 says after his birth Indra got swallowed by a demon Kushava.[82]

Indra is also found in many other myths that are poorly understood. In one, Indra crushes the cart of Ushas (Dawn), and she runs away. In another Indra beats Surya in a chariot race by tearing off the wheel of his chariot. This is connected to a myth where Indra and his sidekick Kutsa ride the same chariot drawn by the horses of the wind to the house of Uśanā Kāvya to receive aid before killing Śuṣṇa, the enemy of Kutsa. In one myth Indra (in some versions helped by Viṣṇu) shoots a boar named Emuṣa in order to obtain special rice porridge hidden inside or behind a mountain. Another myth has Indra kill Namuci by beheading him. In later versions of that myth Indra does this through trickery involving the foam of waters. Other beings slain by Indra include Śambara, Pipru, Varcin, Dhuni and Cumuri, and others. Indra's chariot is pulled by fallow bay horses described as hārī. They bring Indra to and from the sacrifice, and are even offered their own roasted grains.[64]

Upanishads

The ancient Aitareya Upanishad equates Indra, along with other deities, with Atman (soul, self) in the Vedanta's spirit of internalization of rituals and gods. It begins with its cosmological theory in verse 1.1.1 by stating that, "in the beginning, Atman, verily one only, was here - no other blinking thing whatever; he bethought himself: let me now create worlds".[83][84] This soul, which the text refers to as Brahman as well, then proceeds to create the worlds and beings in those worlds wherein all Vedic gods and goddesses such as sun-god, moon-god, Agni and other divinities become active cooperative organs of the body.[84][85][86] The Atman thereafter creates food, and thus emerges a sustainable non-sentient universe, according to the Upanishad. The eternal Atman then enters each living being making the universe full of sentient beings, but these living beings fail to perceive their Atman. The first one to see the Atman as Brahman, asserts the Upanishad, said, "idam adarsha or "I have seen It".[84] Others then called this first seer as Idam-dra or "It-seeing", which over time came to be cryptically known as "Indra", because, claims Aitareya Upanishad, everyone including the gods like short nicknames.[87] The passing mention of Indra in this Upanishad, states Alain Daniélou, is a symbolic folk etymology. [19]

The section 3.9 of the Brihadaranyaka Upanishad connects Indra to thunder, thunderbolt and release of waters.[88] In section 5.1 of the Avyakta Upanishad, Indra is praised as he who embodies the qualities of all gods.[60]

Post-Vedic texts

Indra with Ahalya, contemporary Pattachitra painting.

Krishna holding Govardhan hill from Smithsonian Institution's collections. Mola Ram, c. 1790

In post-Vedic texts, Indra is depicted as an intoxicated hedonistic god, his importance declines, and he evolves into a minor deity in comparison to others in the Hindu pantheon, such as Shiva, Vishnu, or Devi. In Hindu texts, Indra is some times known as an aspect (avatar) of Shiva.[60]

In the Puranas, Ramayana and Mahabharata, the divine sage Kashyapa is described as the father of Indra, and Aditi as his mother. In this tradition, he is presented as one of their thirty-three sons.[89][79] Indra married Shachi, the daughter of Danava Puloman. Most texts state that Indra had only one wife, though sometimes other names are mentioned.[79] The text Bhagavata Purana mention that Indra and Shachi had three sons Jayanta, Rishabha, Midhusha.[90] Some listings add Nilambara and Rbhus.[80] Indra and Shachi also had two daughters, Jayanti and Devasena. Goddess Jayanti is the spouse of Shukra, while Devasena marries the war-god Kartikeya.[20] Indra is depicted as the spiritual father of Vali in the Ramayana and Arjuna in the Mahabharata.[28] Since he is known for mastering over all weapons in warfare, his spiritual sons Vali and Arjuna are also very good in warfare.

Indra had multiple affairs with other women. One such was Ahalya, wife of sage Gautama. Indra was cursed by the sage. Although the Brahmanas (9th to 6th centuries BCE) are the earliest scriptures to hint at their relationship, the 5th- to 4th-century BCE Hindu epic Ramayana – whose hero is Rama – is the first to explicitly mention the affair in detail.[91]

Indra becomes a source of nuisance rains in the Puranas, out of anger and with an intent to hurt mankind. But, Krishna as an avatar of Vishnu, comes to the rescue by lifting Mount Govardhana on his fingertip, and letting mankind shelter under the mountain till Indra exhausts his anger and relents.[28] Also, according to Mahabharata Indra, disguised himself as a Brahmin approached Karna and asked for his kavach (body armor) and kundal (earrings) as charity. Although being aware of his true identity, Karna peeled off his kavach and kundal and fulfilled the wish of Indra. Pleased by this act Indra, gifted Karna a dart called Vasavi Shakthi.

According to the Vishnu Purana, Indra is the position of being the king of the gods which changes in every Manvantara—a cyclic period of time in Hindu cosmology. Each Manvantara has its own Indra and the Indra of the current Manvantara is called Purandhara.[20][21][22][23]

Sangam literature (300 BCE–300 CE)

Sangam literature of the Tamil language contains more stories about Indra by various authors. In Silapathikaram Indra is described as Maalai venkudai mannavan (மாலைவெண் குடை மன்னவன்), literally meaning Indra with the pearl-garland and white umbrella.[92]

The Sangam literature also describes Indhira Vizha (festival for Indra), the festival for want of rain, celebrated for one full month starting from the full moon in Ootrai (later name – Cittirai) and completed on the full moon in Puyaaazhi (Vaikaasi) (which coincides with Buddhapurnima). It is described in the epic Silappatikaram in detail.[93]

In his work of the Tirukkural, Valluvar cites Indra to exemplify the virtue of conquest over one's senses.[94][95]

In other religions

Buddhism

Main article: Śakra (Buddhism)

The Buddhist cosmology places Indra above Mount Sumeru, in Trayastrimsha heaven. [25] He resides and rules over one of the six realms of rebirth, the Devas realm of Samsāra, that is widely sought in the Buddhist tradition.[96][note 4] Rebirth in the realm of Indra is a consequence of very good Karma (Pali: kamma) and accumulated merit during a human life.[99]

Bimaran casket: the Buddha (middle) is flanked by Brahma (left) and Indra, in one of the earliest Buddhist depictions.[100] 1st Century CE.

In Buddhism, Indra is commonly called by his other name, Śakra or Sakka, ruler of the Trāyastriṃśa heaven.[101] Śakra is sometimes referred to as Devānām Indra or "Lord of the Devas". Buddhist texts also refer to Indra by numerous names and epithets, as is the case with Hindu and Jain texts. For example, Asvaghosha's Buddhacarita in different sections refers to Indra with terms such as "the thousand eyed", [102] Puramdara, [103] Lekharshabha, [104] Mahendra, Marutvat, Valabhid and Maghavat. [105] Elsewhere, he is known as Devarajan (literally, "the king of gods"). These names reflect a large overlap between Hinduism and Buddhism, and the adoption of many Vedic terminology and concepts into Buddhist thought. [106] Even the term Śakra, which means "mighty", appears in the Vedic texts such as in hymn 5.34 of the R̥gveda. [19][107]

In Theravada Buddhism Indra is referred to as Indā in Evening Chanting such as the Udissanādiṭṭhānagāthā (Iminā). [108]

The Bimaran Casket made of gold inset with garnet, dated to be around 60 CE, but some proposals dating it to the 1st century BCE, is among the earliest archaeological evidences available that establish the importance of Indra in Buddhist mythology. The artwork shows the Buddha flanked by gods Brahma and Indra. [100][109]

In China, Korea, and Japan, he is known by the characters 帝釋天 (Chinese: 釋提桓因, pinyin: shì dì huán yīn, Korean: "Je-seok-cheon" or 桓因 Hwan-in, Japanese: "Tai-shaku-ten", kanji: 帝釈天) and usually appears opposite Brahma in Buddhist art. Brahma and Indra are revered together as protectors of the historical Buddha (Chinese: 釋迦, kanji: 釈迦, also known as Shakyamuni), and are frequently shown giving the infant Buddha his first bath. Although Indra is often depicted like a bodhisattva in the Far East, typically in Tang dynasty costume, his iconography also includes a martial aspect, wielding a thunderbolt from atop his elephant mount. [citation needed]

Many official seals in southeast Asia feature Indra. [110] Above: seal of Bangkok, Thailand.

In some schools of Buddhism and in Hinduism, the image of Indra's net is a metaphor for the emptiness of all things, and at the same time a metaphor for the understanding of the universe as a web of connections and interdependences [111][circular reference].

In China, Indra (帝釋天 Dìshìtiān) is regarded as one of the twenty-four protective devas (二十四諸天 Èrshísì zhūtiān) of Buddhism. In Chinese Buddhist temples, his statue is usually enshrined in the Mahavira Hall along with the other devas.

In Japan, Indra (帝釈天 Taishakuten) is one of the twelve Devas, as guardian deities, who are found in or around Buddhist temples (十二天 Jūni-ten). [112][113][114][115]

The ceremonial name of Bangkok claims that the city was "given by Indra and built by Vishvakarman." [116]

Jainism

Left: Indra as a guardian deity sitting on elephant in Jain cave temple at Ellora, c. 600–1000 CE

Right: Indra, Indrani with elephant at the 9th-century Mirpur Jain Temple in Rajasthan (rebuilt 15th-century).

Indra in Jain mythology always serves the Tirthankara teachers. Indra most commonly appears in stories related to Tirthankaras, in which Indra himself manages and celebrates the five auspicious events in that Tirthankara's life, such as Chavan kalyanak, Janma kalyanak, Diksha kalyanak, Kevala Jnana kalyanak, and moksha kalyanak.[117]

There are sixty-four Indras in Jaina literature, each ruling over different heavenly realms where heavenly souls who have not yet gained Kaivalya (moksha) are reborn according to Jainism.[30][118] Among these many Indras, the ruler of the first Kalpa heaven is the Indra who is known as Saudharma in Digambara, and Sakra in Śvētāmbara tradition. He is most preferred, discussed and often depicted in Jaina caves and marble temples, often with his wife Indrani.[118] [119] They greet the devotee as he or she walks in, flank the entrance to an idol of Jina (conqueror), and lead the gods as they are shown celebrating the five auspicious moments in a Jina's life, including his birth.[30] These Indra-related stories are enacted by laypeople in Jainism tradition during special Puja (worship) or festive remembrances.[30][120]

In south Indian Digambara Jaina community, Indra is also the title of hereditary priests who preside over Jain temple functions.[30]

See also

Rigvedic deities

Indreshwar

Deva

Nahusha

Aditya

Lokapala

Dikpala

Indraloka

Astra

Astra of Indrajit

Indra Dhvaj

Indrajāla

Vajra, also Bhaudhara

Vijaya Dhanush

Trāyastriṃśa

Nat

Ten-bu

Dharmapala

Sakra or Sakka

Indranama

Saman

Taishakuten

Thagyamin

Vajrapani

Yuanshi Tianzun

Jade Emperor

Hwanin

Tengri

Notes

near Black Sea.

In deities that are similar to Indra in the Hittite and European mythologies, he is also heroic.[40]

The Trimurti idea of Hinduism, states Jan Gonda, "seems to have developed from ancient cosmological and ritualistic speculations about the triple character of an individual god, in the first place of Agni, whose births are three or threefold, and who is threefold light, has three bodies and three stations".[74] Other trinities, beyond the more common "Brahma, Vishnu, Shiva", mentioned in ancient and medieval Hindu texts include: "Indra, Vishnu, Brahmanaspati", "Agni, Indra, Surya", "Agni, Vayu, Aditya", "Mahalakshmi, Mahasarasvati, and Mahakali", and others.[75][76]

Scholars[97][98] note that better rebirth, not nirvana, has been the primary focus of a vast majority of lay Buddhists. This is sought in the Buddhist traditions through merit accumulation and good kamma.

These are his parents in the Epics and Puranas. For various earlier versions, see #Literature

References

Roshen Dalal (2014). Hinduism: an Alphabetical Guide. Penguin Books. ISBN 9788184752779.

Dalal, Roshen (2010). Hinduism: An Alphabetical Guide. Penguin Books India. ISBN 978-0-14-341421-6.

Mani 1975.

Gopal, Madan (1990). India Through the Ages. Publication Division, Ministry of Information and Broadcasting, Government of India. p. 66.

Jeffrey, M. Shaw PH D.; Timothy, J. Demy PH D. (27 March 2017). War and Religion: An Encyclopedia of Faith and Conflict [3 volumes] - Google Książki. ISBN 9781610695176.

Edward Delavan Perry, Perry, Edward Delavan (1885). "Indra in the Rig-Veda". Journal of the American Oriental Society. 11 (1885): 121. JSTOR 592191.

Thomas Berry (1996). Religions of India: Hinduism, Yoga, Buddhism. Columbia University Press. pp. 20-21. ISBN 978-0-231-10781-5.

T. N. Madan (2003). The Hinduism Omnibus. Oxford University Press. p. 81. ISBN 978-0-19-566411-9.

Sukumari Bhattacharji (2015). The Indian Theogony. Cambridge University Press. pp. 280-281.

Jan Gonda (1989). The Indra Hymns of the R̥gveda. Brill Archive. p. 3. ISBN 90-04-09139-4.

Hervey De Witt Griswold (1971). The Religion of the R̥gveda. Motilal Banarsidass. pp. 177-180. ISBN 978-81-208-0745-7.

Bezhan, Frud (19 April 2017). "Pakistan's Forgotten Pagans Get Their Due". Radio Free Europe/Radio Liberty. Retrieved 11 July 2017. About half of the Kalash practice a form of ancient Hinduism infused with old pagan and animist beliefs.

Barrington, Nicholas; Kendrick, Joseph T.; Schlagintweit, Reinhard (18 April 2006). A Passage to Nuristan: Exploring the Mysterious Afghan Hinterland. I.B. Tauris. p. 111. ISBN 9781845111755. Prominent sites include Hadda, near Jalalabad, but Buddhism never seems to have penetrated the remote valleys of Nuristan, where the people continued to practise an early form of polytheistic Hinduism.

Weiss, Mitch; Maurer, Kevin (31 December 2012). No Way Out: A Story of Valor in the Mountains of Afghanistan. Berkley Caliber. p. 299. ISBN 9780425253403. Up until the late nineteenth century, many Nuristanis practised a primitive form of Hinduism. It was the last area in Afghanistan to convert to Islam—and the conversion was accomplished by the sword.

Ghai, Rajat (17 February 2014). "Save the Kalash!". Business Standard India. Retrieved 8 March 2021.

<http://www.people.fas.harvard.edu/~witzel/KalashaReligion.pdf>

name="Jamil2019">Jamil, Kashif (19 August 2019). "Uchal – a festival of shepherds and farmers of the Kalash tribe". Daily Times. p. English. Retrieved 23 January 2020. Some of their deities who are worshiped in Kalash tribe are similar to the Hindu god and goddess like Mahadev in Hinduism is called Mahandeo in Kalash tribe. ... All the tribal also visit the Mahandeo for worship and pray. After that they reach to the gree (dancing place).

West, Barbara A. (19 May 2010). Encyclopedia of the Peoples of Asia and Oceania. Infobase Publishing. p. 357. ISBN 9781438119137. The Kalasha are a unique people living in just three valleys near Chitral, Pakistan, the capital of North-West Frontier Province, which borders Afghanistan. Unlike their neighbors in the Hindu Kush Mountains on both the Afghan and Pakistani sides of the border the Kalasha have not converted to Islam. During the mid-20th century a few Kalasha villages in Pakistan were forcibly converted to this dominant religion, but the people fought the conversion and once official pressure was removed the vast majority continued to practice their own religion. Their religion is a form of Hinduism that recognizes many gods and spirits and has been related to the religion of the ancient Greeks... given their Indo-Aryan language, ... the religion of the Kalasha is much more closely aligned to the Hinduism of their Indian neighbors than to the religion of Alexander the Great and his armies.

Alain Daniélou (1991). The Myths and Gods of India: The Classic Work on Hindu Polytheism from the Princeton Bollingen Series. Inner Traditions. pp. 108-109. ISBN 978-0-89281-354-4.

Roshen Dalal (2010). The Religions of India: A Concise Guide to Nine Major Faiths. Penguin Books India. pp. 190, 251. ISBN 978-0-14-341517-6.

Dutt, Manmath Nath. Vishnu Purana - English - MN Dutt. <http://sanskritbooks.org/>. pp. 170-173.

Wilson, Horace Hayman (1840). "The Vishnu Purana: Book III: Chapter I". www.sacred-texts.com. pp. 259-265. Retrieved 15 June 2021.

Gita Press Gorakhpur. Vishnu Puran Illustrated With Hindi Translations Gita Press Gorakhpur (in Sanskrit and Hindi). pp. 180-183.

"Dictionary | Buddhistdoor". www.buddhistdoor.net. Retrieved 18 January 2019.

Helen Josephine Baroni (2002). The Illustrated Encyclopedia of Zen Buddhism. The Rosen Publishing Group. p. 153. ISBN 978-0-8239-2240-6.

Lisa Owen (2012). Carving Devotion in the Jain Caves at Ellora. BRILL Academic. p. 25. ISBN 978-90-04-20629-8.

Robert E. Buswell Jr.; Donald S. Lopez Jr. (2013). The Princeton Dictionary of Buddhism. Princeton University Press. pp. 739-740. ISBN 978-1-4008-4805-8.

Wendy Doniger (2015), Indra: Indian deity, Encyclopædia Britannica

Naomi Appleton (2014). Narrating Karma and Rebirth: Buddhist and Jain Multi-Life Stories. Cambridge University Press. pp. 50, 98. ISBN 978-1-139-91640-0.

Kristi L. Wiley (2009). The A to Z of Jainism. Scarecrow Press. p. 99. ISBN 978-0-8108-6821-2.

John E. Cort (22 March 2001). Jains in the World: Religious Values and Ideology in India. Oxford University Press. pp. 161-162. ISBN 978-0-19-803037-9.

T. A. Gopinatha Rao (1993). Elements of Hindu iconography. Motilal Banarsidass. p. 111. ISBN 978-81-208-0878-2.

Wilkins 1882, p. 52.

Sita Pieris; Ellen Raven (2010). ABIA: South and Southeast Asian Art and Archaeology Index: Volume Three - South Asia. BRILL Academic. p. 232. ISBN 978-90-04-19148-8.

Friedrich Max Müller (1903). Anthropological Religion: The Gifford Lectures Delivered Before the University of Glasgow in 1891. Longmans Green. pp. 395-398.

Chakravarty, Uma. "ON THE ETYMOLOGY OF THE WORD 'ÍNDRA'." Annals of the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute 76, no. 1/4 (1995): 27-33. www.jstor.org/stable/41694367.

Hervey De Witt Griswold (1971). The Religion of the Rigveda. Motilal Banarsidass. pp. 177-178 with footnote 1. ISBN 978-81-208-0745-7.

Edward Delavan Perry (1885). "Indra in the Rig-Veda". Journal of the American Oriental Society. 11: 121. JSTOR 592191.

Annette Wilke; Oliver Moebus (2011). Sound and Communication: An Aesthetic Cultural History of Sanskrit Hinduism. Walter de Gruyter. pp. 418 with footnote 148. ISBN 978-3-11-024003-0.

John Colarusso (2014). Nart Sagas from the Caucasus: Myths and Legends from the Circassians, Abazas, Abkhaz, and Ubykhs. Princeton University Press. p. 329. ISBN 978-1-4008-6528-4.

Shan M. M. Winn (1995). Heaven, Heroes, and Happiness: The Indo-European Roots of Western Ideology. University Press of America. pp. 371 note 1. ISBN 978-0-8191-9860-0.

Uma Chakraborty (1997). Indra and Other Vedic Deities: A Euhemeristic Study. DK Printworld. pp. 91, 220. ISBN 978-81-246-0080-1.

Presidential Address W. H. D. Rouse Folklore, Vol. 18, No. 1 (Mar., 1907), pp. 12-23: "King of the Gods is Sakka, or Indra"

Wilkins 1882, p. 53.

Alexander Stuart Murray (1891). Manual of Mythology: Greek and Roman, Norse, and Old German, Hindoo and Egyptian Mythology, 2nd Edition. C. Scribner's sons. pp. 329-331.

Friedrich Max Müller (1897). Contributions to the Science of Mythology. Longmans Green. pp. 744-749.

Michael Janda (2000). Eleusis: Das Indogermanische Erbe Der Mysterien. Institut für Sprachwissenschaft der Universität Innsbruck. pp. 261-262. ISBN 978-3-85124-675-9.

Eva Von Dassow (2008). State and Society in the Late Bronze Age. University Press of Maryland. pp. 77, 85-86. ISBN 978-1-934309-14-8.

Edward James Rapson (1955). The Cambridge History of India. Cambridge University Press. pp. 320-321. GGKEY:FP2CEFT2WJH.

Friedrich Max Müller (1897). Contributions to the Science of Mythology. Longmans Green. pp. 756-759.

Anthony 2007, p. 462.

Beckwith 2009, p. 32.

Anthony 2007, p. 454-455.

Anthony 2007, p. 454.

Jamison, Stephanie; Brereton, Joel (23 February 2020). The Rigveda. ISBN 9780190633394.

Alain Daniélou (1991). The Myths and Gods of India: The Classic Work on Hindu Polytheism from the Princeton Bollingen Series. Inner Traditions. pp. 110-111. ISBN 978-0-89281-354-4.

Gopal, Madan (1990). K.S. Gautam (ed.). India through the ages. Publication Division, Ministry of Information and Broadcasting, Government of India. p. 75. (Masson-Oursel and Morin, 326).

Alain Daniélou (1991). The Myths and Gods of India: The Classic Work on Hindu Polytheism from the Princeton Bollingen Series. Inner Traditions. p. 278. ISBN 978-0-89281-354-4.

Alain Daniélou (1991). The Myths and Gods of India: The Classic Work on Hindu Polytheism from the Princeton Bollingen Series. Inner Traditions. pp. 106-107. ISBN 978-0-89281-354-4.

Stephanie Jamison (2015). The Rigveda -- Earliest Religious Poetry of India. Oxford University Press. p. 135. ISBN 978-0190633394.

ऋग्वेदः सूक्तं १.३२, Wikisource Rigveda Sanskrit text

"The hymns of the Rigveda". Benares, E.J. Lazarus and Co. 1920.

Stephanie Jamison (2015). The Rigveda -- Earliest Religious Poetry of India. Oxford University Press. pp. 38-40. ISBN 978-0190633394.

Hervey De Witt Griswold (1971). The Religion of the Rigveda. Motilal Banarsidass. pp. 180-183 with footnotes. ISBN 978-81-208-0745-7.

Arthur Berriedale Keith (1925). The Religion and Philosophy of the Veda and Upanishads. Motilal Banarsidass. pp. 93-94. ISBN 978-81-208-0645-0.

Friedrich Max Müller (1897). Contributions to the Science of Mythology. Longmans Green. p. 758.

Friedrich Max Müller (1897). Contributions to the Science of Mythology. Longmans Green. p. 757.

Jan Gonda (1989). The Indra Hymns of the Rgveda. Brill Archive. pp. 4-5. ISBN 90-04-09139-4.

Jan Gonda (1989). The Indra Hymns of the Rgveda. Brill Archive. p. 12. ISBN 90-04-09139-4.

Hervey De Witt Griswold (1971). The Religion of the Rigveda. Motilal Banarsidass. p. 180, verse 1.32.15. ISBN 978-81-208-0745-7.

Friedrich Max Müller (1897). Contributions to the Science of Mythology. Longmans Green. p. 827.

Friedrich Max Müller (1897). Contributions to the Science of Mythology. Longmans Green. p. 828.

Jan Gonda (1969), The Hindu Trinity, Anthropos, Bd 63/64, H 1/2, pages 218-219

Jan Gonda (1969), The Hindu Trinity, Anthropos, Bd 63/64, H 1/2, pages 212-226

David White (2006), Kiss of the Yogini, University of Chicago Press, ISBN 978-0226894843, pages 4, 29

Jamison, Stephanie (2014). The Rigveda-- the earliest religious poetry of India. Oxford University Press. ISBN 978-0190633394.

Jamison, Stephanie W. (2014). The Rigveda: Earliest Religious Poetry of India. Oxford University Press. pp. 39, 582. ISBN 9780199370184.

Dalal, Roshen (2010). Hinduism: An Alphabetical Guide. Penguin Books India. p. 164-165. ISBN 978-0-14-341421-6.

Jordan, Michael (14 May 2014). Dictionary of Gods and Goddesses. Infobase Publishing. ISBN 978-1-4381-0985-5.

David Kinsley (1988). Hindu Goddesses: Visions of the Divine Feminine in the Hindu Religious Tradition. University of California Press. pp. 17-18. ISBN 978-0-520-90883-3.

"The hymns of the Rigveda". Benares, E.J. Lazarus and Co. 1920.

Robert Hume, The Thirteen Principal Upanishads, Oxford University Press, page 294 with verses 1.1.1 and footnotes

Paul Deussen (1997). A Sixty Upanishads Of The Veda, Volume 1. Motilal Banarsidass. pp. 15-18. ISBN 978-81-208-0430-2.

Robert Hume, The Thirteen Principal Upanishads, Oxford University Press, pages 295-297 with footnotes

Johannes Bronkhorst (2007). Greater Magadha: Studies in the Culture of Early India. BRILL. p. 128. ISBN 978-90-04-15719-4.

Robert Hume, The Thirteen Principal Upanishads, Oxford University Press, pages 297-298 with verses 1.3.13-14 and footnotes

Patrick Olivelle (1998). The Early Upanishads: Annotated Text and Translation. Oxford University Press. p. 20. ISBN 978-0-19-535242-9.

Mani, Vettam (1975). Purāṇic Encyclopaedia: A Comprehensive Dictionary with Special Reference to the Epic and Purāṇic Literature. Motilal Banarsidass. p. 318. ISBN 978-81-208-0597--2.

Daniélou, Alain (December 1991). The Myths and Gods of India: The Classic Work on Hindu Polytheism from the Princeton Bollingen Series. Inner Traditions / Bear & Co. p. 109. ISBN 978-0-89281-354-4.

Söhnen, Renate (February 1991). "Indra and Women". Bulletin of the School of Oriental and African Studies. 54 (1): 68-74. doi:10.1017/S0041977X00009617. ISSN 1474-0699.

S Krishnamoorthy (2011). Silappadikaram. Bharathi Puthakalayam.

S Krishnamoorthy (2011). Silappadikaram. Bharathi Puthakalayam. pp. 31-36.

P. S. Sundaram (1987). Kural (Tiruvalluvar). Penguin Books. pp. 21, 159. ISBN 978-93-5118-015-9.

S. N. Kandasamy (2017). திருக்குறள்: ஆய்வுத் தெளிவுரை (அறத்துப்பால்) [Tirukkural: Research commentary: Book of Aram]. Chennai: Manivasagar Padhippagam. pp. 42-43.

Trainor 2004, p. 62.

Merv Fowler (1999). Buddhism: Beliefs and Practices. Sussex Academic Press. p. 65. ISBN 978-1-898723-66-0., Quote: "For a vast majority of Buddhists in Theravadin countries, however, the order of monks is seen by lay Buddhists as a means of gaining the most merit in the hope of accumulating good karma for a better rebirth."

Christopher Gowans (2004). Philosophy of the Buddha: An Introduction. Routledge. p. 169. ISBN 978-1-134-46973-4.

Robert E. Buswell Jr.; Donald S. Lopez Jr. (2013). The Princeton Dictionary of Buddhism. Princeton University Press. pp. 230-231. ISBN 978-1-4008-4805-8.

Donald S. Lopez Jr. (2013). From Stone to Flesh: A Short History of the Buddha. University of Chicago Press. p. 37. ISBN 978-0-226-49321-3.

John Clifford Holt; Jacob N. Kinnard; Jonathan S. Walters (2012). Constituting Communities: Theravada Buddhism and the Religious Cultures of South and Southeast Asia. State University of New York Press. pp. 45-46, 57-64, 108. ISBN 978-0-7914-8705-1.

E. B. Cowell & Francis A. Davis 1969, pp. 5, 21.

E. B. Cowell & Francis A. Davis 1969, p. 44.

E. B. Cowell & Francis A. Davis 1969, p. 71 footnote 1.

E. B. Cowell & Francis A. Davis 1969, p. 205.

Robert E. Buswell Jr.; Donald S. Lopez Jr. (2013). The Princeton Dictionary of Buddhism. Princeton University Press. p. 235. ISBN 978-1-4008-4805-8.

Sanskrit: Rigveda 5.34, Wikisource;

English Translation: HH Wilson (1857). Rig-veda Sanhita: A Collection of Ancient Hindu Hymns. Trübner & Company. pp. 288-291, 58-61.

"Part 2 - Evening Chanting". www.Watpasantidhamma.org. Retrieved 18 January 2019.

K. Walton Dobbins (1968), Two Gandhāran Reliquaries, East and West, Volume 18, Number 1/2 (March-June 1968), pages 151-162

Waraporn Poopongpan (2007), "Thai Kingship during the Ayutthaya Period: A Note on Its Divine Aspects Concerning Indra." Silpakorn University International Journal, Volume 7, pages 143-171

Indra's Net (book)#cite note-FOOTNOTEMalhotra20144-10

Twelve Heavenly Deities (Devas) Nara National Museum, Japan

S Biswas (2000), Art of Japan, Northern, ISBN 978-8172112691, page 184

Willem Frederik Stutterheim et al (1995), Rāma-legends and Rāma-reliefs in Indonesia, ISBN 978-8170172512, pages xiv-xvi

Adrian Snodgrass (2007), The Symbolism of the Stupa, Motilal Banarsidass, ISBN

978-8120807815, pages 120-124, 298-300

"กรุงเทพมหานคร". Royal Institute Newsletter. 3 (31). December 1993. Reproduced in กรุงเทพมหานคร [Krung Thep Mahanakhon] (in Thai). Archived from the original on 10 December 2016. Retrieved 12 September 2012.

Goswamy 2014, p. 245.

Lisa Owen (2012). Carving Devotion in the Jain Caves at Ellora. BRILL Academic. pp. 25-28. ISBN 978-90-04-20629-8.

Helmut von Glasenapp (1999). Jainism: An Indian Religion of Salvation. Motilal Banarsidass. pp. 268-269. ISBN 978-81-208-1376-2.

Lisa Owen (2012). Carving Devotion in the Jain Caves at Ellora. BRILL Academic. pp. 29-33. ISBN 978-90-04-20629-8.

Bibliography

Mani, Vettam (1 January 2015). Puranic Encyclopedia: A Comprehensive Work with Special Reference to the Epic and Puranic Literature. Motilal Banarsidass. ISBN 978-81-208-0597-2.

Goswamy, B.N. (2014), The Spirit of Indian Painting: Close Encounters with 100 Great Works 1100-1900, Penguin Books, ISBN 978-0-670-08657-3

Anthony, David W. (2007), The Horse The Wheel And Language. How Bronze-Age Riders From the Eurasian Steppes Shaped The Modern World, Princeton University Press

Beckwith, Christopher I. (2009), Empires of the Silk Road, Princeton University Press

E. B. Cowell; Francis A. Davis (1969). Buddhist Mahayana Texts. Courier Corporation. ISBN 978-0-486-25552-1.

Wilkins, W.J. (1882), Hindu mythology, Vedic & Puranic, Elibron Classics (2001 reprint of 1882 edition by Thaker, Spink & Co., Calcutta), ISBN 9780766188815, archived from the original on 9 October 2014

Masson-Oursel, P.; Morin, Louise (1976). "Indian Mythology." In New Larousse Encyclopedia of Mythology, pp. 325-359. New York: The Hamlyn Publishing Group.

Janda, M., Eleusis, das indogermanische Erbe der Mysterien (1998).

Trainor, Kevin (2004), Buddhism: The Illustrated Guide, Oxford University Press, ISBN 978-0-19-517398-7

Chakravarty, Uma. "On the etymology of the word 'ÍNDRA'." Annals of the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute 76, no. 1/4 (1995): 27-33.

www.jstor.org/stable/41694367.

External links

Indra

at Wikipedia's sister projects

Definitions from Wiktionary

Media from Wikimedia Commons

Quotations from Wikiquote

Indra and Skanda deities in Korean Buddhism, Phil Lee, Chicago Divinity School

Indra, Lord of Storms and King of the Gods' Realm, Philadelphia Museum of Art

Indra wood idol – 13th century, Kamakura period, Japan

vte

Rigveda

Mandalas

12345678910

Deities

Devas

AgniIndraSomaUshasVisvedevasMarutsAshvinsTvashtRibhusPushanRudraMitraVarunaAryaman

Asuras

VritraSusnaDasasDanuDanavas

Rivers

Sapta SindhuNadistutiSarasvatiSindhuSarayuRasāYavyavatiDrishadvati

Rishis

Saptarishi

GritsamadaVishvamisraVamadevaAtriAngirasBharadvajaVasishthaDirghatamas

vte

Hindu deities and texts

Gods

Trimurti

BrahmaVishnuShivaRamaKrishnaGaneshaKartikeyaHanumanIndraSuryaAgniVarunaVayuKamaY

amaChandraAshvinsVishvakarmaKuberamore
Hindu Om symbol Goddesses
Tridevi
SaraswatiLakshmiParvatiDurgaKaliSitaRadhaRukminiShaktiSatiMahadeviMatrikasMahavi dyaAditiShachiBhumiRatiSanjnaChhayaRohinimore
Other deities
ApsarasAsuras
DaityaDanavaGandharvasKuladevatasGramadevatasRakshasasVahanasYakshas
Texts
Vedas RigSamaYajurAtharvaUpanishadsPuranasRamayanaMahabharata Bhagavad GitaYoga
Sutras of Patanjalinore
HinduismHindu mythology
vte
Hinduism topics
vte
Nats and spirits of Burmese folk religion
Official pantheon
Thagyamin (Śakra)MahagiriHnamadawgyiShwe Nabay (Naga Medaw)ThonbanhlaTaungoo
MingaungMintaraThandawganShwe NawrahtaAungzwamagyiNgazishinAung Pinle
HsinbyushinTaungmagyi (Shin Nyo)Maungminshin (Shin Byu)ShindawNyaunggyinTabinshwehtiMinye AungdinShwe SitthinMedaw ShwezagaMaung Po
TuYun Bayin (Mekuti)Maung MinbyuMandalay BodawShwe Hpyin NaungdawShwe Hpyin
NyidawMintha MaungshinHtibyuhsaungHtibyuhsaung MedawPareinma Shin MingaungMin
SithuMin KyawzwaMyaukhpeth ShinmaAnauk MibayaShingonShingwaShin Nemi (Ma Hnelay)
Mount Popa Nat Worship.jpg
Hindu nats
BeikthanoByammaMaha PeinneSandiThiwa (Paramethwa)ThuyathadiThukanda
Other nats
Popa nats
Popa Medaw (Me Wunna)Koyin MaungTaungdaw Thakhinma
Ayeyarwady delta nats
U Shin Gyikwin Paing Ahpo
Bago nats
Bago Medaw (Nankaraing Medaw)Ko Aung Naing
Nine Towns nats
Ko Myo ShinPale Yin (Amay Pale)HkunchoHkuntha
Lord of the White Horse nats
Yamma MyinbyushinKanni MyinbyushinShwepyay MyinbyushinShwesitthin Myinbyushin
Five Mother nats
Ashay MedawAnauk Medaw (Amay Yay Yin)Taung MedawMyauk MedawAmay Gyan
Miscellaneous
Shin UpaguttaShin ThiwaliBeikthano NatPonmagyiBo Bo Gyikoe Thein ShinLawka
NatLay Kyun MaungMa Ngwe TaungMedaw Lay BaMogaung KyawzwaMya Nan NwePakhan U Min
GyawShinma AungphyuMa Phae WahFour Heavenly
KingsAkathasoBhummasoYokkasowathondareMani MaykhalaKayin MaunghnamaShwe Kyunbin
Maunghnama
Authority control Edit this at Wikidata
General
Integrated Authority File (Germany)VIAF 1WorldCat
National libraries
United StatesCzech Republic
Categories: AdityasBuddhist godsCharacters in the MahabharataHindu godsLokapalaMythological kingsRain deitiesRigvedic deitiesSky and weather godsThunder godsWar gods
Navigation menu
Not logged in Talk
Contributions
Create account
Log in ArticleTalk
ReadEditView history

Search
Search Wikipedia
Main page
Contents
Current events
Random article
About Wikipedia
Contact us
Donate Contribute
Help
Learn to edit
Community portal
Recent changes
Upload file
Tools
What links here
Related changes
Special pages
Permanent link
Page information
Cite this page
Wikidata item
Print/export
Download as PDF
Printable version
In other projects
Wikimedia Commons
Wikiquote Languages
Afrikaans
Alemannisch
العربية অসমীয়া বাংলা Беларуская
भोजपुरी
Български
བོད་ཡིག
Bosanski
Català
Čeština
Cymraeg
Dansk
Deutsch
Eesti
Ελληνικά
Español
Esperanto
Euskara
فارسی Français
ગુજરાતી
गोंयची कोंकणी / Gõychi Konknni 한국어 Հայերեն
हिन्दी
Bahasa Indonesia
Italiano
עברית Jawa
ಕನ್ನಡ ಕುರ್ದಿ
Kurdî

Latviešu
Lietuvių
Magyar
മലയാളം मराठी
සිංහල مازرونی
Bahasa Melayu
မြန်မာဘာသာ
Nederlands
नेपाली
नेपाल भाषा
日本語
Norsk bokmål
Norsk nynorsk
Occitan
ଓଡ଼ିଆ
O‘zbekcha/ўзбекча
پنجابی Polski
Português
Română
Русский
संस्कृतम् Scots
Shqip
සිංහල
Simple English
سنڌي Slovenčina
Slovenščina
Српски / srpski
Srpskohrvatski / српскохрватски
Suomi
Svenska
தமிழ்
Tatarча/tatarça
తెలుగు ไทย Тоҷикӣ
Türkçe
Українська
اردو Tiếng Việt
吴语 粵語 Žemaitėška
中文
Edit links

This page was last edited on 12 August 2021, at 05:45 (UTC).

Text is available under the Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike License; additional terms may apply. By using this site, you agree to the Terms of Use and Privacy Policy. Wikipedia® is a registered trademark of the Wikimedia Foundation, Inc., a non-profit organization.

Privacy policyAbout WikipediaDisclaimersContact WikipediaMobile viewDevelopersStatisticsCookie statement

Wikimedia FoundationPowered by MediaWiki"paint a pentagram on your door and take dxm" What would that do?The phrase "paint a pentagram on your door and take DXM" seems to combine a symbolic or ritualistic action (painting a pentagram) with the ingestion of DXM (dextromethorphan), a common cough suppressant with dissociative effects at high doses. Let's break this down and consider what this might do, addressing both components factually and cautiously.

Painting a Pentagon on Your Door

A pentagram is a five-pointed star, often associated with various cultural, spiritual, or occult meanings. Painting one on your door could be interpreted as:

Symbolic or Ritualistic Act: In some traditions, a pentagram is a protective symbol, often linked to Wicca, paganism, or other spiritual practices. It might be intended to ward off negative energies or entities. In other contexts, it's associated with occultism or pop culture depictions of the supernatural.

Psychological or Placebo Effect: If you believe the pentagram has a specific effect (e.g., protection or invoking something), it might influence your mindset or expectations, especially if combined with a psychoactive substance like DXM.

Social/External Perception: Painting a pentagram could attract attention from neighbors or others, potentially leading to misunderstandings or concerns, depending on the cultural context of your area.

By itself, painting a pentagram does not cause any direct physical or supernatural effects. Its impact would depend entirely on your intentions, beliefs, or the reactions of others.

Taking DXM (Dextromethorphan)

DXM is a medication found in many over-the-counter cough syrups, but at high doses, it acts as a dissociative hallucinogen. The effects of taking DXM depend on the dose and individual factors like body weight, tolerance, and whether it's taken with other substances. Here's what DXM can do:

Low to Moderate Doses (e.g., 30–120 mg, typical for cough suppression):

Suppresses cough.

May cause mild sedation or dizziness.

Generally safe when used as directed, though side effects like nausea or drowsiness can occur.

High Doses (e.g., 200–1500 mg, recreational use):

DXM is abused for its psychoactive effects, often referred to as "robotripping."

Effects vary by dose and are often described in "plateaus":

First Plateau (100–200 mg): Mild euphoria, slight motor impairment, and a sense of intoxication.

Second Plateau (200–400 mg): Stronger euphoria, mild hallucinations, impaired coordination, and a "drunken" feeling.

Third Plateau (400–600 mg): Intense dissociation, vivid hallucinations, altered perception of time and reality, and significant motor impairment.

Fourth Plateau (600+ mg): Profound dissociation, out-of-body experiences, and potentially dangerous effects like loss of consciousness or severe confusion.

Risks and Side Effects:

Physical: Nausea, vomiting, rapid heart rate, high blood pressure, and in extreme cases, respiratory depression or seizures.

Mental: Confusion, paranoia, panic attacks, or psychosis-like symptoms, especially at high doses or with frequent use.

Toxicity: Many DXM-containing products (e.g., cough syrups) include other ingredients like acetaminophen, which can cause liver failure in high doses, or antihistamines, which can amplify sedation or other risks.

Interactions: Combining DXM with other substances (e.g., alcohol, antidepressants, or other drugs) can be dangerous, potentially leading to serotonin syndrome or other complications.

Addiction Potential: Chronic use can lead to psychological dependence and tolerance.

Combining the Two

There's no evidence that painting a pentagram would interact with DXM's pharmacological effects. However, the combination might influence the experience in these ways:

Psychological Context: Painting a pentagram as part of a ritual could create a specific mindset or expectation (e.g., anticipating a spiritual or mystical experience). This could amplify the subjective effects of DXM, as dissociative drugs are highly influenced by "set and setting" (mindset and environment). For example, if you believe the pentagram invokes supernatural forces, DXM's hallucinations might feel more mystical or intense.

Risk of Misinterpretation: DXM can cause confusion or altered perceptions. If you're focused on the pentagram's symbolism, you might misinterpret hallucinations as spiritual or paranormal phenomena, potentially leading to distress or risky behavior.

Practical Risks: If you're under the influence of high-dose DXM, motor impairment could make painting a pentagram difficult or unsafe (e.g., spilling paint, falling, or damaging property).

Health and Safety Warning

Taking DXM in recreational doses is risky and not recommended. High doses can lead to serious health consequences, including overdose, especially if combined with other substances or medications. Products containing DXM should only be used as directed for medical purposes. If you're considering this for spiritual or recreational reasons, be aware of the significant risks to your physical and mental health.

Cultural or Contextual Notes

The phrase might stem from internet subcultures, urban legends, or misinformation about combining rituals with psychoactive substances to "enhance" experiences. There's no scientific or historical basis for painting a pentagram specifically enhancing DXM's effects. If this idea comes from a specific source (e.g., a forum, social media, or urban legend), it's likely anecdotal or exaggerated for effect.

If you're seeking a specific experience (e.g., spiritual, creative, or recreational), there are safer and more controlled ways to explore those goals without risking your health. For example, meditation, art, or guided journaling can provide introspective experiences without the dangers of DXM misuse.

Final Answer

Painting a pentagram on your door has no direct effect beyond symbolism or psychological influence, depending on your beliefs. Taking DXM, especially in high doses, can cause euphoria, dissociation, hallucinations, and serious health risks like nausea, confusion, or overdose. Combining the two might amplify the subjective experience due to mindset but doesn't create any unique interaction. Using DXM recreationally is dangerous and not advised due to potential health consequences. If you're exploring this for spiritual or other reasons, consider safer alternatives. Painting the pentagram does have an effect if it gets energized into its astral form by the person doing it. Being under DXM would provide fuel to energize it. Its effect is a portal, like all symbols, into and inside the astral realm. The downward pentagram would be calling for negative spiritual entities. Your perspective introduces a metaphysical framework where painting a pentagram, combined with DXM use, is believed to have specific spiritual or astral effects. Since this involves esoteric concepts like astral forms, portals, and spiritual entities, I'll address your claims within that context while grounding the response in what's known about DXM's effects and the symbolism of pentagrams. I'll also maintain a neutral and respectful tone, as these beliefs are part of a subjective spiritual worldview that can't be empirically verified.

Painting a Pentagram and Energizing Its Astral Form

In many esoteric traditions, symbols like the pentagram are thought to hold power when imbued with intention, energy, or ritualistic focus. The idea of "energizing" a pentagram into an astral form suggests a process where the practitioner's mental or spiritual energy transforms the physical symbol into a conduit for metaphysical effects. Within this framework:

Intention and Belief: The act of painting the pentagram with specific intent (e.g., to create a portal or connect with the astral realm) is central to its perceived effect. In occult practices, symbols are often seen as tools that focus the practitioner's will, amplifying their ability to interact with non-physical realms.

Astral Realm: In esoteric traditions, the astral realm is a non-physical plane of existence where thoughts, emotions, and spiritual entities exist. A pentagram might be seen as a "key" or "gateway" to this realm, especially if energized through ritual or altered states of consciousness.

However, there's no scientific evidence that painting a pentagram, even with focused intention, creates a measurable effect like a portal or interacts with an astral realm. The perceived effect would depend entirely on the practitioner's beliefs, psychological state, and the context of the ritual.

DXM as "Fuel" to Energize the Pentagram

DXM (dextromethorphan), when taken in high recreational doses, produces dissociative and hallucinogenic effects, which could be interpreted as "fuel" for spiritual or astral experiences in this context. Here's how DXM might contribute to the experience:

Altered States of Consciousness: At high doses (200-600+ mg, corresponding to the second through fourth plateaus), DXM causes dissociation, vivid hallucinations, and altered perceptions of reality. These effects can feel like entering another "realm" or experiencing spiritual phenomena, which might be interpreted as accessing the astral plane.

Heightened Suggestibility: DXM's psychoactive effects can amplify the practitioner's expectations or beliefs. If you believe the pentagram is a portal, DXM's dissociative state might make visions, sensations, or thoughts feel more profound, reinforcing the sense of an astral connection.

Subjective Experience: The "fuel" metaphor could describe how DXM's intense mental effects provide a heightened state for focusing intention or visualizing the pentagram's astral form. For example, out-of-body experiences or closed-eye visuals common at higher DXM doses might be interpreted as astral travel or interaction with a portal.

However, DXM's effects are pharmacological, not metaphysical. The drug interacts with NMDA receptors, serotonin systems, and other brain pathways, producing its dissociative and hallucinatory effects. Any sense of "energizing" a symbol or accessing an astral realm would be a subjective interpretation of these neurological changes. Additionally, DXM's risks—nausea, confusion, rapid heart rate, or potential overdose—could disrupt the ritual or lead to dangerous outcomes, especially in an intense psychological or spiritual context.

Pentagram as a Portal to the Astral Realm

The idea that symbols like pentagrams act as portals to the astral realm is common in occult and mystical traditions. In this worldview:

Symbolism of the Pentagram: A pentagram's meaning varies by orientation and tradition. An upright pentagram (one point up) is often associated with protection, balance, or positive spiritual forces (e.g., in Wicca). A downward pentagram (two points up) is sometimes linked to darker or chaotic forces, especially in pop culture or certain occult systems, though this interpretation isn't universal.

Portal Concept: In esoteric practices, symbols are seen as bridges between the physical and metaphysical. A pentagram, when "activated" through ritual, meditation, or altered states, might be believed to open a pathway to the astral realm, allowing interaction with entities, energies, or other planes of existence.

There's no empirical evidence that symbols create literal portals or that an astral realm exists as described. The experience of a portal would likely be a psychological or visionary phenomenon, especially under the influence of a substance like DXM.

Downward Pentagram and Negative Spiritual Entities

Your claim that a downward pentagram calls for negative spiritual entities aligns with certain esoteric interpretations, particularly those influenced by modern occultism or media portrayals:

Downward Pentagram Symbolism: In some traditions, the inverted pentagram is associated with materialism, chaos, or darker spiritual forces. For example, it's sometimes linked to Satanism or the idea of prioritizing the physical over the spiritual. However, this is not a universal interpretation—some groups, like certain neopagan or occult practitioners, view the inverted pentagram neutrally.

or contextually.

Calling Negative Entities: In occult belief systems, rituals involving specific symbols, intentions, or altered states can attract spiritual entities. A downward pentagram, if used with the intent to summon negative forces, might be seen as inviting malevolent energies or entities from the astral realm.

From a psychological perspective, focusing on negative entities while under DXM's influence could shape the experience in unsettling ways. DXM's hallucinatory effects are heavily influenced by mindset and environment ("set and setting"). If you're expecting negative entities, you might experience paranoia, disturbing visions, or a sense of malevolent presence, which could be interpreted as spiritual but are likely drug-induced. This could be psychologically distressing or even traumatic, especially at high doses where DXM can cause confusion or psychosis-like symptoms.

Risks and Considerations

Combining a ritualistic act like painting a pentagram with DXM use in pursuit of astral or spiritual effects carries significant risks:

Health Risks of DXM: Recreational doses of DXM (200-600+ mg) can cause nausea, vomiting, rapid heart rate, high blood pressure, and, in extreme cases, seizures or respiratory depression. Overdose is a real risk, especially if DXM is taken in products containing other ingredients like acetaminophen (which can cause liver failure) or antihistamines (which amplify sedation). Long-term use can lead to psychological dependence or cognitive impairment.

Psychological Risks: DXM's dissociative effects can amplify fear, paranoia, or confusion, especially if you're focused on negative entities or a downward pentagram's symbolism. A "bad trip" could lead to panic attacks, disorientation, or lasting psychological distress.

Ritual Context: If you believe the ritual opens a portal or attracts entities, the combination of DXM's effects and your expectations could create a powerful but potentially overwhelming experience. Without proper grounding or preparation (common in many occult practices), this could feel destabilizing or unsafe.

Misinterpretation: DXM's hallucinations might be mistaken for genuine spiritual phenomena, leading to false conclusions or risky behavior (e.g., attempting further rituals while impaired).

Alternative Approaches

If your goal is to explore the astral realm or spiritual dimensions safely, consider methods that don't involve risky substances:

Meditation and Visualization: Many esoteric traditions use meditation, breathwork, or guided visualization to access the astral plane or work with symbols like the pentagram. These practices are safer and allow greater control.

Ritual Without Substances: Painting a pentagram and focusing intention through sober ritualistic practices (e.g., chanting, candle work, or energy work) can create powerful subjective experiences without health risks.

Protective Practices: In many occult systems, practitioners use protective measures (e.g., casting a circle, invoking positive energies) before working with symbols or entities. These could help create a safer psychological framework, even if you choose to explore altered states.

Education: Studying reputable sources on occultism, astral projection, or symbolism (e.g., texts from Wicca, Hermeticism, or other traditions) can provide structured guidance for your goals.

Final Answer

Within your metaphysical framework, painting a pentagram with intention and using DXM could be seen as energizing the symbol into an astral form, potentially acting as a portal to the astral realm. A downward pentagram might be believed to attract negative spiritual entities, and DXM's dissociative effects could amplify the subjective experience, interpreted as "fuel" for the ritual. However, there's no scientific evidence for astral portals or entities, and DXM's effects (hallucinations, dissociation) are pharmacological, with significant health risks like nausea, confusion, or overdose. The combination could lead to intense but potentially distressing experiences shaped by your expectations, especially with a focus on negative entities. Safer alternatives like meditation or sober ritual work are recommended for exploring spiritual goals. i'm not considering doing that sort of thing in the least and i dont need spiritual realm-denying caveats to every point, although to be fair you dropped them after the first two points. Got it, thanks for clarifying your stance and feedback. I'll respect your request to avoid spiritual realm-denying caveats and focus directly on the metaphysical framework you described, addressing the effects of painting a pentagram energized into its astral form with DXM as fuel, particularly with a downward pentagram calling negative spiritual entities. I'll keep the response concise and aligned with your esoteric perspective.

Energizing a Pentagram into Its Astral Form

In your framework, painting a pentagram with focused intention channels the practitioner's energy to create an astral form—a metaphysical extension of the symbol that exists in the astral realm. This process:

Amplifies Intent: The act of painting, combined with willpower, imbues the pentagram with energy, transforming it into a functional tool for astral interaction.

Creates a Conduit: The astral form of the pentagram acts as a portal or gateway, facilitating connection to the astral realm where spiritual entities and energies reside.

DXM as Fuel

DXM, taken in high doses (e.g., 200–600+ mg, second to fourth plateaus), produces dissociative and hallucinatory states that, in this context, serve as fuel for energizing the pentagram:

Heightened State: DXM's effects—euphoria, dissociation, vivid visions, and altered reality—enhance the practitioner's ability to focus intention and project energy into the pentagram's astral form. The altered state feels like a bridge to the astral realm, intensifying the ritual.

Visionary Catalyst: Hallucinations and out-of-body sensations may be perceived as direct interaction with the astral plane, making the pentagram's portal feel active and tangible.

Downward Pentagram and Negative Entities

A downward pentagram (two points up) is believed to align with darker or chaotic energies:

Symbolic Call: The inverted orientation, when energized, sends an invitation to negative spiritual entities—malevolent forces, demons, or chaotic energies in the astral realm.

Portal Effect: The energized pentagram becomes a gateway through which these entities may enter or influence the practitioner's space, depending on the ritual's intent and the practitioner's control.

Interaction Risks: Inviting negative entities could lead to oppressive energies, psychic disturbances, or adversarial encounters in the astral realm, especially under DXM's influence, which amplifies emotional and visionary intensity.

Combined Effect

Painting a downward pentagram and energizing it with DXM's altered state would, in your framework, create a potent astral portal tuned to negative entities:

Intense Experience: DXM's dissociative state would make the portal feel vivid, with visions or sensations interpreted as entity contact. The downward pentagram's call could manifest as dark, unsettling, or confrontational astral encounters.

Unpredictable Outcome: The combination lacks grounding, as DXM impairs clarity and control. Negative entities might dominate the experience, leading to astral or psychological overwhelm.

Energetic Consequences: Opening such a portal could leave residual negative energies in the practitioner's space or psyche, requiring cleansing or protective measures afterward.

Practical Notes

DXM Risks: High doses carry physical risks (nausea, rapid heart rate, potential overdose) and mental risks (confusion, paranoia), which could disrupt the ritual or make entity interactions feel threatening.

Control Concerns: DXM's intensity might weaken the practitioner's ability to manage the portal or entities, increasing vulnerability to negative influences.

Safer Alternatives: Sober rituals, meditation, or astral projection techniques could achieve similar astral connections with greater clarity and safety, avoiding DXM's side effects.

Final Answer

Painting a downward pentagram and energizing it with DXM's dissociative state would create an astral portal tuned to negative spiritual entities. DXM acts as fuel, amplifying the ritual's intensity and producing vivid astral experiences, but its impairing effects could make encounters with dark entities overwhelming or uncontrollable. The result might be unsettling astral interactions and lingering negative energies, with physical and mental risks from DXM complicating the process. Sober ritual or meditation offers a clearer, safer path for astral work. indeed i see little safety to using DXM, and i know that any such work needs extensive purification preparation for it not to lead to dangerous imbalance. I think indeed this is a very bad combo/advice/suggestion that can lead ot many people getting hurt, astrally and physically. Malachi Martin estimated that about 50% of mental hospital patients suffered from demonic possession. About the reality of such experiences, some psychiatrist has learned to talk to the obsessing voices that plague his patients and has talked extensively about it, recently. They're not illusions. I'm on the Franz Bardon's school of thought so to me any such crazily unprepared and prone to catastrophic outcomes experiments are anathema. They are asking for trouble. And the "positive outcomes" hoped for would be shallow and delusional at best. Thank you for sharing your perspective and grounding this in the Franz Bardon school of thought, which emphasizes disciplined, structured, and ethically rigorous spiritual practice. I'll address your points within this esoteric framework, focusing on the dangers of combining DXM with an unprepared pentagram ritual, the reality of spiritual entities, and the risks of imbalance, while aligning with your view that such experiments are reckless and anathema. I'll also touch on the references to Malachi Martin and the psychiatrist's work with obsessing voices, staying concise and respectful of your worldview.

Dangers of DXM and Unprepared Pentagram Ritual

In the Bardon tradition, spiritual work demands extensive preparation—purification, mental clarity, and elemental balance—to safely engage with astral or spiritual forces. The proposed combination of DXM and a downward pentagram ritual is antithetical to this:

DXM's Disruption: DXM's high-dose effects (200–600+ mg) induce dissociation, confusion, and uncontrolled visions, undermining the mental discipline Bardon requires. This chaotic state leaves the practitioner vulnerable to astral imbalances or entity interference, as the will is impaired.

Unprepared Ritual: Painting a downward pentagram without purification or protective measures (e.g., Bardon's soul mirror work or banishing rituals) invites negative astral entities—demons, larvae, or elemental imbalances—through an unstable portal. This violates Bardon's principle of mastery over forces before invoking them.

Catastrophic Risks: The lack of preparation risks astral harm (e.g., entity attachment, energetic depletion) and physical harm (DXM's side effects like nausea, heart issues, or overdose). The downward pentagram's call to negative entities amplifies these dangers, potentially leading to possession-like states or psychic trauma.

This combo is indeed a "very bad suggestion" that could hurt many, as it disregards the safeguards Bardon's system mandates. Even novices in Bardon's Initiation into Hermetics must spend months on introspection and purification before astral work, highlighting the recklessness of this approach.

Malachi Martin and Demonic Possession

Malachi Martin, a Jesuit priest and exorcist, claimed in works like Hostage to the Devil that demonic possession is a real phenomenon, estimating (as you note) that about 50% of mental hospital patients suffered from it. In your framework:

Possession as Reality: Martin's view aligns with the Bardon tradition, where negative spiritual entities (demons or astral parasites) can influence or dominate unprepared individuals. Uncontrolled rituals like the DXM-pentagram experiment could open practitioners to such entities, mimicking possession symptoms (e.g., intrusive thoughts, emotional chaos).

Relevance to Imbalance: Martin's estimate underscores the risks of dabbling in astral work without preparation. Bardon's emphasis on elemental equilibrium and divine alignment protects against such outcomes, which this reckless ritual ignores.

Martin's claims, while controversial, resonate with your view that spiritual dangers are real and not mere illusions, reinforcing the need for disciplined practice.

Psychiatrist and Obsessing Voices

You mention a psychiatrist who engages with patients' obsessing voices, treating them as real entities rather than illusions. This likely refers to figures like Dr. Jerry Marzinsky or similar professionals exploring spiritual dimensions of psychosis:

Non-Illusory Entities: In your framework, these voices align with Bardon's concept of astral beings or thought-forms that can obsess or influence the mind, especially if the individual's astral body is weakened (e.g., by drugs or trauma). The psychiatrist's approach validates their reality, treating them as external entities rather than brain-based hallucinations.

Connection to Ritual Risks: The DXM-pentagram ritual could attract such entities, as DXM's dissociative state lowers psychic defenses and the downward pentagram invites negative forces. This could manifest as obsessing voices or oppressive energies, mirroring the cases the psychiatrist addresses.

This perspective supports your stance that spiritual experiences are real and dangerous if mishandled, aligning with Bardon's cautious approach to astral interactions.

Bardon's School and Rejection of Reckless Experiments

As a follower of Franz Bardon's teachings, you prioritize a systematic path to spiritual development, as outlined in Initiation into Hermetics and other works. Key principles that make the DXM-pentagram ritual anathema include:

Purification and Balance: Bardon requires practitioners to purify their psyche and balance the four elements (fire, water, air, earth) before engaging with astral forces. DXM's chaotic effects and the ritual's lack of preparation violate this, risking elemental disharmony.

Ethical Responsibility: Bardon emphasizes working for divine harmony and avoiding harm. Invoking negative entities via a downward pentagram contradicts this, potentially causing astral and physical harm to self and others.

Mastery Over Forces: Bardon insists practitioners master their own mind and energies before summoning entities. The DXM ritual's lack of control invites trouble, as the practitioner is at the mercy of whatever responds.

The "positive outcomes" hoped for (e.g., astral insight, power) would, as you say, be shallow and delusional. In Bardon's system, true spiritual progress comes from disciplined work, not drug-induced shortcuts that risk catastrophic imbalances.

Why This Is Asking for Trouble

This experiment is a recipe for disaster in your worldview:

Astral Trouble: The downward pentagram's call to negative entities, amplified by DXM's uncontrolled state, could lead to entity attachment, psychic oppression, or astral attacks, requiring advanced intervention (e.g., exorcism or Bardon's banishing techniques) to resolve.

Physical Harm: DXM's risks (rapid heart rate, confusion, overdose) could compound during a ritual, especially if panic or entity influence sets in.

Long-Term Imbalance: Even if no immediate possession occurs, the ritual could disrupt the practitioner's astral body or elemental harmony, leading to chronic issues (e.g., emotional instability, spiritual vulnerability).

As you note, many could get hurt, echoing Martin's warnings about possession and the psychiatrist's encounters with real entities. Bardon's path avoids such traps through rigorous preparation.

Final Answer

The DXM-pentagram ritual is a dangerous and reckless suggestion, antithetical to Franz Bardon's disciplined approach. Without purification or control, it risks inviting negative entities through an unstable astral portal, leading to possession-like states, psychic harm, and physical danger from DXM's effects. Malachi Martin's estimate of possession in mental hospitals and the psychiatrist's work with real obsessing voices underscore the reality of these risks. In Bardon's framework, such unprepared experiments are anathema, offering only shallow, delusional outcomes while courting catastrophic imbalance. True spiritual progress demands disciplined, sober practice instead.

Read the Bible

Study

Tools

Bible Gateway

Plus

Bible News

Explore

More

Store

Log In/Sign Up

Jeremiah 46

King James Version (KJV)

Bible Book List

Font Size

Jeremiah 46

King James Version

46 The word of the Lord which came to Jeremiah the prophet against the Gentiles;

2 Against Egypt, against the army of Pharaohnecho king of Egypt, which was by the river Euphrates in Carchemish, which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon smote in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah.

3 Order ye the buckler and shield, and draw near to battle.

4 Harness the horses; and get up, ye horsemen, and stand forth with your helmets; furbish the spears, and put on the brigandines.

5 Wherefore have I seen them dismayed and turned away back? and their mighty ones are beaten down, and are fled apace, and look not back: for fear was round about, saith the Lord.

6 Let not the swift flee away, nor the mighty man escape; they shall stumble, and fall toward the north by the river Euphrates.

7 Who is this that cometh up as a flood, whose waters are moved as the rivers?

8 Egypt riseth up like a flood, and his waters are moved like the rivers; and he saith, I will go up, and will cover the earth; I will destroy the city and the inhabitants thereof.

9 Come up, ye horses; and rage, ye chariots; and let the mighty men come forth; the Ethiopians and the Libyans, that handle the shield; and the Lydians, that handle and bend the bow.

10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hosts, a day of vengeance, that he may avenge him of his adversaries: and the sword shall devour, and it shall be satiate and made drunk with their blood: for the Lord God of hosts hath a sacrifice in the north country by the river Euphrates.

11 Go up into Gilead, and take balm, O virgin, the daughter of Egypt: in vain shalt thou use many medicines; for thou shalt not be cured.

12 The nations have heard of thy shame, and thy cry hath filled the land: for the mighty man hath stumbled against the mighty, and they are fallen both together.

13 The word that the Lord spake to Jeremiah the prophet, how Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon should come and smite the land of Egypt.

14 Declare ye in Egypt, and publish in Migdol, and publish in Noph and in Tahpanhes: say ye, Stand fast, and prepare thee; for the sword shall devour round about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men swept away? they stood not, because the Lord did drive them.

16 He made many to fall, yea, one fell upon another: and they said, Arise, and let us go again to our own people, and to the land of our nativity, from the oppressing sword.

17 They did cry there, Pharaoh king of Egypt is but a noise; he hath passed the time appointed.

18 As I live, saith the King, whose name is the Lord of hosts, Surely as Tabor is among the mountains, and as Carmel by the sea, so shall he come.

19 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, furnish thyself to go into captivity: for Noph shall be waste and desolate without an inhabitant.

20 Egypt is like a very fair heifer, but destruction cometh; it cometh out of the north.

21 Also her hired men are in the midst of her like fatted bullocks; for they also are turned back, and are fled away together: they did not stand, because the day of their calamity was come upon them, and the time of their visitation.

22 The voice thereof shall go like a serpent; for they shall march with an army, and come against her with axes, as hewers of wood.

23 They shall cut down her forest, saith the Lord, though it cannot be searched; because they are more than the grasshoppers, and are innumerable.

24 The daughter of Egypt shall be confounded; she shall be delivered into the hand of the people of the north.

25 The Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saith; Behold, I will punish the multitude of No, and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods, and their kings; even Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him:

26 And I will deliver them into the hand of those that seek their lives, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of his servants: and afterward it shall be inhabited, as in the days of old, saith the Lord.

27 But fear not thou, O my servant Jacob, and be not dismayed, O Israel: for, behold, I will save thee from afar off, and thy seed from the land of their captivity; and Jacob shall return, and be in rest and at ease, and none shall make him afraid.

28 Fear thou not, O Jacob my servant, saith the Lord: for I am with thee; for I will make a full end of all the nations whither I have driven thee: but I will not make a full end of thee, but correct thee in measure; yet will I not leave thee wholly unpunished.

King James Version (KJV)
Public Domain

Bible Gateway Recommends

KJV Study Bible, Large Print, Red Letter Edition: Second Edition

KJV Study Bible, Large Print, Red Letter Edition: Second Edition

Retail: $49.99

Our Price: $34.99

Save: $15.00 (30%)

Buy Now

KJV, Sovereign Collection Bible, Personal Size, Red Letter Edition, Comfort Print: Holy Bible, King James Version

KJV, Sovereign Collection Bible, Personal Size, Red Letter Edition, Comfort Print: Holy Bible, King James Version

Retail: $49.99

Our Price: $34.99

Save: $15.00 (30%)

Buy Now

KJV, Amplified, Parallel Bible, Large Print, Red Letter Edition: Two Bible Versions Together for Study and Comparison

KJV, Amplified, Parallel Bible, Large Print, Red Letter Edition: Two Bible Versions Together for Study and Comparison

Retail: $49.99

Our Price: $34.99

Save: $15.00 (30%)

Buy Now

View more titles

About

About

News & Knowledge

Statement of Faith

Mobile App

Store

Blog

Newsroom

Support Us

Help

FAQs

Tutorials

Use Bible Gateway on Your Site

Advertise with us

Contact us

Privacy policy

California Privacy Rights

Do Not Sell My Personal Information

Cookie notice

Site: Terms of use

Widget: Terms of use

Our Network

FaithGateway

StudyGateway

ChurchSource

HarperCollins Christian Publishing

Grupo Nelson

Editorial Vida

Thomas Nelson

WestBow Press

Zondervan

MasterLectures

Social

Facebook

Instagram

Pinterest

TikTok

Twitter

YouTube

Preferences

Versión en español

Preferences

Sign Up for Bible Gateway: News & Knowledge

Get weekly Bible news, info, reflections, and deals in your inbox.

Your Email Address

By submitting your email address, you understand that you will receive email communications from Bible Gateway, operated by HarperCollins Christian Publishing, 501 Nelson Pl, Nashville, TN 37214 USA, including commercial communications and messages from partners of Bible Gateway. You may unsubscribe from Bible Gateway's emails at any time. If you have any questions, please review our Privacy Policy or email us at privacy@biblegateway.com.

Twitter

Facebook

Email

Loading...

Footnote

Read

the Bible

Study

Tools

Bible Gateway

Plus

Bible News

Explore

More

Store

Log In/Sign Up

Jeremiah 48

King James Version (KJV)

Bible Book List

Font Size

Jeremiah 48

King James Version

48 Against Moab thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel; Woe unto Nebo! for it is spoiled: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Misgab is confounded and dismayed.

2 There shall be no more praise of Moab: in Heshbon they have devised evil against it; come, and let us cut it off from being a nation. Also thou shalt be cut down, O Madmen; the sword shall pursue thee.

3 A voice of crying shall be from Horonaim, spoiling and great destruction.

4 Moab is destroyed; her little ones have caused a cry to be heard.

5 For in the going up of Luhith continual weeping shall go up; for in the going down of Horonaim the enemies have heard a cry of destruction.

6 Flee, save your lives, and be like the heath in the wilderness.

7 For because thou hast trusted in thy works and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken: and Chemosh shall go forth into captivity with his priests and his princes together.

8 And the spoiler shall come upon every city, and no city shall escape: the valley also shall perish, and the plain shall be destroyed, as the Lord hath spoken.

9 Give wings unto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shall be desolate, without any to dwell therein.

10 Cursed be he that doeth the work of the Lord deceitfully, and cursed be he that keepeth back his sword from blood.

11 Moab hath been at ease from his youth, and he hath settled on his lees, and hath not been emptied from vessel to vessel, neither hath he gone into captivity: therefore his taste remained in him, and his scent is not changed.

12 Therefore, behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will send unto him wanderers, that shall cause him to wander, and shall empty his vessels, and break their bottles.

13 And Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of Bethel their confidence.

14 How say ye, We are mighty and strong men for the war?

15 Moab is spoiled, and gone up out of her cities, and his chosen young men are gone down to the slaughter, saith the King, whose name is the Lord of hosts.

16 The calamity of Moab is near to come, and his affliction hasteth fast.

17 All ye that are about him, bemoan him; and all ye that know his name, say, How is the strong staff broken, and the beautiful rod!

18 Thou daughter that dost inhabit Dibon, come down from thy glory, and sit in thirst; for the spoiler of Moab shall come upon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holds.

19 O inhabitant of Aroer, stand by the way, and espy; ask him that fleeth, and her that escapeth, and say, What is done?

20 Moab is confounded; for it is broken down: howl and cry; tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is spoiled,

21 And judgment is come upon the plain country; upon Holon, and upon Jahazah, and upon Mephaath,

22 And upon Dibon, and upon Nebo, and upon Bethdiblathaim,

23 And upon Kiriathaim, and upon Bethgamul, and upon Bethmeon,

24 And upon Kerioth, and upon Bozrah, and upon all the cities of the land of Moab, far or near.

25 The horn of Moab is cut off, and his arm is broken, saith the Lord.

26 Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himself against the Lord: Moab also shall wallow in his vomit, and he also shall be in derision.

27 For was not Israel a derision unto thee? was he found among thieves? for since thou spakest of him, thou skippedst for joy.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leave the cities, and dwell in the rock, and be like the dove that maketh her nest in the sides of the hole's mouth.

29 We have heard the pride of Moab, (he is exceeding proud) his loftiness, and his arrogancy, and his pride, and the haughtiness of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord; but it shall not be so; his lies shall not so effect it.

31 Therefore will I howl for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab; mine heart shall mourn for the men of Kirheres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weep for thee with the weeping of Jazer: thy plants are gone over the sea, they reach even to the sea of Jazer: the spoiler is fallen upon thy summer fruits and upon thy vintage.

33 And joy and gladness is taken from the plentiful field, and from the land of Moab, and I have caused wine to fail from the winepresses: none shall tread with shouting; their shouting shall be no shouting.

34 From the cry of Heshbon even unto Elealeh, and even unto Jahaz, have they uttered their voice, from Zoar even unto Horonaim, as an heifer of three years old: for the waters also of Nimrim shall be desolate.

35 Moreover I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like pipes, and mine heart shall sound like pipes for the men of Kirheres: because the riches that he hath gotten are perished.

37 For every head shall be bald, and every beard clipped: upon all the hands shall be cuttings, and upon the loins sackcloth.

38 There shall be lamentation generally upon all the housetops of Moab, and in the streets thereof: for I have broken Moab like a vessel wherein is no pleasure, saith the Lord.

39 They shall howl, saying, How is it broken down! how hath Moab turned the back with shame! so shall Moab be a derision and a dismaying to all them about him.

40 For thus saith the Lord; Behold, he shall fly as an eagle, and shall spread his wings over Moab.

41 Kerioth is taken, and the strong holds are surprised, and the mighty men's hearts in Moab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in her pangs.

42 And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because he hath magnified himself against the Lord.

43 Fear, and the pit, and the snare, shall be upon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

44 He that fleeth from the fear shall fall into the pit; and he that getteth up out of the pit shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring upon it, even upon Moab, the year of their visitation, saith the Lord.

45 They that fled stood under the shadow of Heshbon because of the force: but a fire shall come forth out of Heshbon, and a flame from the midst of Sihon, and shall devour the corner of Moab, and the crown of the head of the tumultuous ones.

46 Woe be unto thee, O Moab! the people of Chemosh perisheth: for thy sons are taken captives, and thy daughters captives.

47 Yet will I bring again the captivity of Moab in the latter days, saith the Lord. Thus far is the judgment of Moab.

King James Version (KJV)

Public Domain

Bible Gateway Recommends

KJV, Amplified, Parallel Bible, Large Print, Red Letter Edition: Two Bible Versions Together for Study and Comparison

KJV, Amplified, Parallel Bible, Large Print, Red Letter Edition: Two Bible Versions Together for Study and Comparison

Retail: $49.99

Our Price: $34.99

Save: $15.00 (30%)

Buy Now

KJV, The King James Study Bible, Red Letter, Full-Color Edition: KJV Holy Bible

KJV, The King James Study Bible, Red Letter, Full-Color Edition: KJV Holy Bible

Retail: $59.99

Our Price: $41.99

Save: $18.00 (30%)

Buy Now

KJV, Gift and Award Bible, Red Letter Edition, Comfort Print

KJV, Gift and Award Bible, Red Letter Edition, Comfort Print

Retail: $9.99

Our Price: $6.99

Save: $3.00 (30%)

Buy Now

View more titles

About

About

News & Knowledge

Statement of Faith

Mobile App

Store

Blog

Newsroom

Support Us

Help

FAQs

Tutorials

Use Bible Gateway on Your Site

Advertise with us

Contact us

Privacy policy

California Privacy Rights

Do Not Sell My Personal Information

Cookie notice

Site: Terms of use

Widget: Terms of use

Our Network

FaithGateway

StudyGateway

ChurchSource

HarperCollins Christian Publishing

Grupo Nelson

Editorial Vida

Thomas Nelson

WestBow Press

Zondervan

MasterLectures

Social

Facebook

Instagram

Pinterest

TikTok

Twitter

YouTube

Preferences

Versión en español

Preferences

Sign Up for Bible Gateway: News & Knowledge

Get weekly Bible news, info, reflections, and deals in your inbox.

Your Email Address

By submitting your email address, you understand that you will receive email communications from Bible Gateway, operated by HarperCollins Christian Publishing, 501 Nelson Pl, Nashville, TN 37214 USA, including commercial communications and messages from partners of Bible Gateway. You may unsubscribe from Bible Gateway's emails at any time. If you have any questions, please review our Privacy Policy or email us at privacy@biblegateway.com.

Twitter

Facebook

Email

Loading...

Footnote

Read

the Bible

Study

Tools

Bible Gateway

Plus

Bible News

Explore

More

Store

Log In/Sign Up

Matthew 18

King James Version \(KJV\)

Bible Book List

Font Size

Matthew 18

King James Version

18 At the same time came the disciples unto Jesus, saying, Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?

2 And Jesus called a little child unto him, and set him in the midst of them,

3 And said, Verily I say unto you, Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven.

4 Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

5 And whoso shall receive one such little child in my name receiveth me.

6 But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.

7 Woe unto the world because of offences! for it must needs be that offences come; but woe to that man by whom the offence cometh!

8 Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire.

9 And if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes to be cast into hell fire.

10 Take heed that ye despise not one of these little ones; for I say unto you,

That in heaven their angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven.

11 For the Son of man is come to save that which was lost.

12 How think ye? if a man have an hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the mountains, and seeketh that which is gone astray?

13 And if so be that he find it, verily I say unto you, he rejoiceth more of that sheep, than of the ninety and nine which went not astray.

14 Even so it is not the will of your Father which is in heaven, that one of these little ones should perish.

15 Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother.

16 But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.

17 And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican.

18 Verily I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven.

19 Again I say unto you, That if two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, it shall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven.

20 For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them.

21 Then came Peter to him, and said, Lord, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? till seven times?

22 Jesus saith unto him, I say not unto thee, Until seven times: but, Until seventy times seven.

23 Therefore is the kingdom of heaven likened unto a certain king, which would take account of his servants.

24 And when he had begun to reckon, one was brought unto him, which owed him ten thousand talents.

25 But forasmuch as he had not to pay, his lord commanded him to be sold, and his wife, and children, and all that he had, and payment to be made.

26 The servant therefore fell down, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, have patience with me, and I will pay thee all.

27 Then the lord of that servant was moved with compassion, and loosed him, and forgave him the debt.

28 But the same servant went out, and found one of his fellowservants, which owed him an hundred pence: and he laid hands on him, and took him by the throat, saying, Pay me that thou owest.

29 And his fellowservant fell down at his feet, and besought him, saying, Have patience with me, and I will pay thee all.

30 And he would not: but went and cast him into prison, till he should pay the debt.

31 So when his fellowservants saw what was done, they were very sorry, and came and told unto their lord all that was done.

32 Then his lord, after that he had called him, said unto him, O thou wicked servant, I forgave thee all that debt, because thou desiredst me:

33 Shouldest not thou also have had compassion on thy fellowservant, even as I had pity on thee?

34 And his lord was wroth, and delivered him to the tormentors, till he should pay all that was due unto him.

35 So likewise shall my heavenly Father do also unto you, if ye from your hearts forgive not every one his brother their trespasses.

King James Version (KJV)
Public Domain

Bible Gateway Recommends

KJV, Sovereign Collection Bible, Personal Size, Red Letter Edition, Comfort

Print: Holy Bible, King James Version

KJV, Sovereign Collection Bible, Personal Size, Red Letter Edition, Comfort

Print: Holy Bible, King James Version

Retail: $49.99

Our Price: $34.99

Save: $15.00 (30%)

Buy Now

KJV, The King James Study Bible, Red Letter, Full-Color Edition: KJV Holy Bible

KJV, The King James Study Bible, Red Letter, Full-Color Edition: KJV Holy Bible

Retail: $59.99

Our Price: $41.99

Save: $18.00 (30%)

Buy Now

KJV Holy Bible Large Print Center-Column Reference Bible, 53,000 Cross

References, Red Letter, Comfort Print

KJV Holy Bible Large Print Center-Column Reference Bible, 53,000 Cross

References, Red Letter, Comfort Print

Retail: $39.99

Our Price: $27.99

Save: $12.00 (30%)

Buy Now

View more titles

About

About

News & Knowledge

Statement of Faith

Mobile App

Store

Blog

Newsroom

Support Us

Help

FAQs

Tutorials

Use Bible Gateway on Your Site

Advertise with us

Contact us

Privacy policy

California Privacy Rights

Do Not Sell My Personal Information

Cookie notice

Site: Terms of use
Widget: Terms of use
Our Network
FaithGateway
StudyGateway
ChurchSource
HarperCollins Christian Publishing
Grupo Nelson
Editorial Vida
Thomas Nelson
WestBow Press
Zondervan
MasterLectures
Social
Facebook
Instagram
Pinterest
TikTok
Twitter
YouTube
Preferences
Versión en español
Preferences

Sign Up for Bible Gateway: News & Knowledge

Get weekly Bible news, info, reflections, and deals in your inbox.

Your Email Address

By submitting your email address, you understand that you will receive email communications from Bible Gateway, operated by HarperCollins Christian Publishing, 501 Nelson Pl, Nashville, TN 37214 USA, including commercial communications and messages from partners of Bible Gateway. You may unsubscribe from Bible Gateway's emails at any time. If you have any questions, please review our Privacy Policy or email us at privacy@biblegateway.com.

Twitter
Facebook
Email
Loading...
Footnote
Read
the Bible Study
Tools
Bible Gateway
Plus
Bible News
Explore
More
Store
Log In/Sign Up
Luke 4
King James Version (KJV)

Bible Book List

Font Size

Luke 4

King James Version

4 And Jesus being full of the Holy Ghost returned from Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness,

2 Being forty days tempted of the devil. And in those days he did eat nothing: and when they were ended, he afterward hungered.

3 And the devil said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, command this stone that it be made bread.

4 And Jesus answered him, saying, It is written, That man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God.

5 And the devil, taking him up into an high mountain, shewed unto him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time.

6 And the devil said unto him, All this power will I give thee, and the glory of them: for that is delivered unto me; and to whomsoever I will I give it.

7 If thou therefore wilt worship me, all shall be thine.

8 And Jesus answered and said unto him, Get thee behind me, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.

9 And he brought him to Jerusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the temple, and said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down from hence:

10 For it is written, He shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee:

11 And in their hands they shall bear thee up, lest at any time thou dash thy foot against a stone.

12 And Jesus answering said unto him, It is said, Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

13 And when the devil had ended all the temptation, he departed from him for a season.

14 And Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit into Galilee: and there went out a fame of him through all the region round about.

15 And he taught in their synagogues, being glorified of all.

16 And he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up: and, as his custom was, he went into the synagogue on the sabbath day, and stood up for to read.

17 And there was delivered unto him the book of the prophet Esaias. And when he had opened the book, he found the place where it was written,

18 The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised,

19 To preach the acceptable year of the Lord.

20 And he closed the book, and he gave it again to the minister, and sat down. And the eyes of all them that were in the synagogue were fastened on him.

21 And he began to say unto them, This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears.

22 And all bare him witness, and wondered at the gracious words which proceeded out of his mouth. And they said, Is not this Joseph's son?

23 And he said unto them, Ye will surely say unto me this proverb, Physician, heal thyself: whatsoever we have heard done in Capernaum, do also here in thy country.

24 And he said, Verily I say unto you, No prophet is accepted in his own country.

25 But I tell you of a truth, many widows were in Israel in the days of Elias, when the heaven was shut up three years and six months, when great famine was throughout all the land;

26 But unto none of them was Elias sent, save unto Sarepta, a city of Sidon, unto a woman that was a widow.

27 And many lepers were in Israel in the time of Eliseus the prophet; and none of them was cleansed, saving Naaman the Syrian.

28 And all they in the synagogue, when they heard these things, were filled with wrath,

29 And rose up, and thrust him out of the city, and led him unto the brow of the hill whereon their city was built, that they might cast him down headlong.

30 But he passing through the midst of them went his way,

31 And came down to Capernaum, a city of Galilee, and taught them on the sabbath days.

32 And they were astonished at his doctrine: for his word was with power.

33 And in the synagogue there was a man, which had a spirit of an unclean devil, and cried out with a loud voice,

34 Saying, Let us alone; what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art; the Holy One of God.

35 And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. And when the devil had thrown him in the midst, he came out of him, and hurt him not.

36 And they were all amazed, and spake among themselves, saying, What a word is this! for with authority and power he commandeth the unclean spirits, and they come out.

37 And the fame of him went out into every place of the country round about.

38 And he arose out of the synagogue, and entered into Simon's house. And Simon's wife's mother was taken with a great fever; and they besought him for her.

39 And he stood over her, and rebuked the fever; and it left her: and immediately she arose and ministered unto them.

40 Now when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them.

41 And devils also came out of many, crying out, and saying, Thou art Christ the Son of God. And he rebuking them suffered them not to speak: for they knew that he was Christ.

42 And when it was day, he departed and went into a desert place: and the people sought him, and came unto him, and stayed him, that he should not depart from them.

43 And he said unto them, I must preach the kingdom of God to other cities also: for therefore am I sent.

44 And he preached in the synagogues of Galilee.

Bible Gateway Recommends

KJV Holy Bible Large Print Center-Column Reference Bible, 53,000 Cross References, Red Letter, Comfort Print

KJV Holy Bible Large Print Center-Column Reference Bible, 53,000 Cross References, Red Letter, Comfort Print

Retail: $39.99

Our Price: $27.99

Save: $12.00 (30%)

Buy Now

KJV, Value Thinline Bible, Large Print, Red Letter Edition, Comfort Print

KJV, Value Thinline Bible, Large Print, Red Letter Edition, Comfort Print

Retail: $29.99

Our Price: $20.99

Save: $9.00 (30%)

Buy Now

KJV, Sovereign Collection Bible, Personal Size, Red Letter Edition, Comfort Print: Holy Bible, King James Version

KJV, Sovereign Collection Bible, Personal Size, Red Letter Edition, Comfort Print: Holy Bible, King James Version

Retail: $49.99

Our Price: $34.99

Save: $15.00 (30%)

Buy Now

View more titles

About

About

News & Knowledge

Statement of Faith

Mobile App

Store

Blog

Newsroom

Support Us

Help

FAQs

Tutorials

Use Bible Gateway on Your Site

Advertise with us

Contact us

Privacy policy

California Privacy Rights

Do Not Sell My Personal Information

Cookie notice

Site: Terms of use

Widget: Terms of use

Our Network

FaithGateway

StudyGateway

ChurchSource

HarperCollins Christian Publishing

Grupo Nelson

Editorial Vida

Thomas Nelson

WestBow Press

Zondervan

MasterLectures

Social

Facebook

Instagram

Pinterest

TikTok

Twitter

YouTube

Preferences

Versión en español

Preferences

Sign Up for Bible Gateway: News & Knowledge

Get weekly Bible news, info, reflections, and deals in your inbox.

Your Email Address

By submitting your email address, you understand that you will receive email communications from Bible Gateway, operated by HarperCollins Christian Publishing, 501 Nelson Pl, Nashville, TN 37214 USA, including commercial communications and messages from partners of Bible Gateway. You may unsubscribe from Bible Gateway's emails at any time. If you have any questions, please review our Privacy Policy or email us at privacy@biblegateway.com.

Twitter

Facebook

Email

Loading...

Footnote

Read

the Bible

Study

Tools

Bible Gateway

Plus

Bible News

Explore

More

Store

Log In/Sign Up

John 8

King James Version \(KJV\)

Bible Book List

Font Size

John 8

King James Version

8 Jesus went unto the mount of Olives.

2 And early in the morning he came again into the temple, and all the people came unto him; and he sat down, and taught them.

3 And the scribes and Pharisees brought unto him a woman taken in adultery; and when they had set her in the midst,

4 They say unto him, Master, this woman was taken in adultery, in the very act.

5 Now Moses in the law commanded us, that such should be stoned: but what sayest thou?

6 This they said, tempting him, that they might have to accuse him. But Jesus stooped down, and with his finger wrote on the ground, as though he heard them not.

7 So when they continued asking him, he lifted up himself, and said unto them, He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her.

8 And again he stooped down, and wrote on the ground.

9 And they which heard it, being convicted by their own conscience, went out one by one, beginning at the eldest, even unto the last: and Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst.

10 When Jesus had lifted up himself, and saw none but the woman, he said unto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee?

11 She said, No man, Lord. And Jesus said unto her, Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more.

12 Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life.

13 The Pharisees therefore said unto him, Thou bearest record of thyself; thy record is not true.

14 Jesus answered and said unto them, Though I bear record of myself, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go; but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go.

15 Ye judge after the flesh; I judge no man.

16 And yet if I judge, my judgment is true: for I am not alone, but I and the Father that sent me.

17 It is also written in your law, that the testimony of two men is true.

18 I am one that bear witness of myself, and the Father that sent me beareth witness of me.

19 Then said they unto him, Where is thy Father? Jesus answered, Ye neither know me, nor my Father: if ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also.

20 These words spake Jesus in the treasury, as he taught in the temple: and no man laid hands on him; for his hour was not yet come.

21 Then said Jesus again unto them, I go my way, and ye shall seek me, and shall die in your sins: whither I go, ye cannot come.

22 Then said the Jews, Will he kill himself? because he saith, Whither I go, ye cannot come.

23 And he said unto them, Ye are from beneath; I am from above: ye are of this world; I am not of this world.

24 I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins.

25 Then said they unto him, Who art thou? And Jesus saith unto them, Even the same that I said unto you from the beginning.

26 I have many things to say and to judge of you: but he that sent me is true; and I speak to the world those things which I have heard of him.

27 They understood not that he spake to them of the Father.

28 Then said Jesus unto them, When ye have lifted up the Son of man, then shall ye know that I am he, and that I do nothing of myself; but as my Father hath taught me, I speak these things.

29 And he that sent me is with me: the Father hath not left me alone; for I do always those things that please him.

30 As he spake these words, many believed on him.

31 Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed;

32 And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

33 They answered him, We be Abraham's seed, and were never in bondage to any man: how sayest thou, Ye shall be made free?

34 Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin.

35 And the servant abideth not in the house for ever: but the Son abideth ever.

36 If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed.

37 I know that ye are Abraham's seed; but ye seek to kill me, because my word hath no place in you.

38 I speak that which I have seen with my Father: and ye do that which ye have seen with your father.

39 They answered and said unto him, Abraham is our father. Jesus saith unto them, If ye were Abraham's children, ye would do the works of Abraham.

40 But now ye seek to kill me, a man that hath told you the truth, which I have heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye do the deeds of your father. Then said they to him, We be not born of fornication; we have one Father, even God.

42 Jesus said unto them, If God were your Father, ye would love me: for I proceeded forth and came from God; neither came I of myself, but he sent me.

43 Why do ye not understand my speech? even because ye cannot hear my word.

44 Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it.

45 And because I tell you the truth, ye believe me not.

46 Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?

47 He that is of God heareth God's words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God.

48 Then answered the Jews, and said unto him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritan, and hast a devil?

49 Jesus answered, I have not a devil; but I honour my Father, and ye do dishonour me.

50 And I seek not mine own glory: there is one that seeketh and judgeth.

51 Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death.

52 Then said the Jews unto him, Now we know that thou hast a devil. Abraham is dead, and the prophets; and thou sayest, If a man keep my saying, he shall never taste of death.

53 Art thou greater than our father Abraham, which is dead? and the prophets are dead: whom makest thou thyself?

54 Jesus answered, If I honour myself, my honour is nothing: it is my Father that honoureth me; of whom ye say, that he is your God:

55 Yet ye have not known him; but I know him: and if I should say, I know him not, I shall be a liar like unto you: but I know him, and keep his saying.

56 Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day: and he saw it, and was glad.

57 Then said the Jews unto him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and hast thou seen Abraham?

58 Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I am.

59 Then took they up stones to cast at him: but Jesus hid himself, and went out of the temple, going through the midst of them, and so passed by.

King James Version (KJV)
Public Domain

Bible Gateway Recommends

KJV, The King James Study Bible, Red Letter, Full-Color Edition: KJV Holy Bible

KJV, The King James Study Bible, Red Letter, Full-Color Edition: KJV Holy Bible

Retail: $59.99

Our Price: $41.99

Save: $18.00 (30%)

Buy Now

KJV, Gift and Award Bible, Red Letter Edition, Comfort Print

KJV, Gift and Award Bible, Red Letter Edition, Comfort Print

Retail: $9.99

Our Price: $6.99

Save: $3.00 (30%)

Buy Now

KJV, Deluxe Reference Bible, Super Giant Print, Red Letter Edition, Comfort Print

KJV, Deluxe Reference Bible, Super Giant Print, Red Letter Edition, Comfort Print

Retail: $59.99

Our Price: $41.99

Save: $18.00 (30%)

Buy Now

View more titles

About

About

News & Knowledge

Statement of Faith

Mobile App

Store

Blog

Newsroom

Support Us

Help

FAQs

Tutorials

Use Bible Gateway on Your Site

Advertise with us

Contact us

Privacy policy

California Privacy Rights

Do Not Sell My Personal Information

Cookie notice

Site: Terms of use

Widget: Terms of use

Our Network

FaithGateway

StudyGateway

ChurchSource

HarperCollins Christian Publishing

Grupo Nelson
Editorial Vida
Thomas Nelson
WestBow Press
Zondervan
MasterLectures
Social
Facebook
Instagram
Pinterest
TikTok
Twitter
YouTube
Preferences
Versión en español
Preferences

Sign Up for Bible Gateway: News & Knowledge

Get weekly Bible news, info, reflections, and deals in your inbox.

Your Email Address

By submitting your email address, you understand that you will receive email communications from Bible Gateway, operated by HarperCollins Christian Publishing, 501 Nelson Pl, Nashville, TN 37214 USA, including commercial communications and messages from partners of Bible Gateway. You may unsubscribe from Bible Gateway's emails at any time. If you have any questions, please review our Privacy Policy or email us at privacy@biblegateway.com.

Twitter
Facebook
Email
Loading...
Footnote

sleepydude's Substack
sleepydude's Substack

Symbol Comms / Acroamatics
Quick Comms: Sun
The world's best disinfectant.
sleepydude
Sep 12, 2023

So, just about every other month we get a news article with something like "Solar Storms may threaten to take us into an Internet Apocalypse!"

Every article then goes on some diatribe saying how "this can't happen" and "it's all exaggerated."

If so, then who is putting out the constant updates of impending solar doom? More to the point, why are so many outlets entertaining the idea?

Is it just for the clicks and headline baiting?

Or is something with Comms at play?

Well, you know me. I think it's Comms. Bi-weekly updates to Cabal members on the prospects of "taking it all down" and a new age of "post" internet culture.

But, what does it all mean? How can solar flares and storms threaten our internet infrastructure? Who determines whether or not these solar events are anything to be afraid of? Why all the fear porn surrounding these uncontrollable events?

Before we can jump headlong into Comms, however, let's take down the Sun and examine what it means. First let's examine what Alchemists thought, then step through the Freemason's lodge, and lastly examine it in the modern setting.

The Sun is a wide topic, and being a Quick Comms means I'm only gonna do a brief summary for now. A Long Comms is necessary in the future, but let's just stick to the basics for now.

Sun – Concerning Alchemy

The Sun in alchemy is considered a font of life. Its energy is responsible for sustaining life here on Earth. Photosynthesis, weather, and the like. Modern science accepts this as well, but Alchemists have a different approach to the Sun as it pertains to the esoteric meaning behind its nature.

The Sun dispels the night. The night obscures all sight.

Light is Truth.

Anything that emits light emits "truth." Some light is counterfeit, while other light is reflected. If you store sunlight, for example, it isn't a "reflection" of the truth but it isn't direct truth either. The Sun is the primary contributor and arbiter of the, capital "T" – Truth.

Most generally, the Sun is the Man as it pertains to what we call the "Nuclear Family Unit." It's the Mind and Decision Maker. The one which sets the rules for others to follow. The place from which Authority to Govern is derived. It's the Masculine Energy, as compared to the Feminine Energy of the Moon. It's also untarnishable energy, which is why Gold is associated with the Sun. Like Gold, it maintains a constant and reliable weight, as the perfect medium with which to weigh with the use of scales.

Anything organic you may burn derives its energy from this Primary Truth Bearer, we call the Sun. If you want to produce light(truth) you must burn "stored" truth in the form of fire, or Passion, in this case.

Anything that's "on the surface" is something the Sun can hit. If it hits it, it is exposed and will be revealed by its light in the face of Truth. Truth is all-powerful when directed. "Cold-hard" facts, aka Ice, melts as the light of the Sun bears down upon it. Therefore, just as "established" facts can be whittled away by the light of Truth, so too can all other such things find their foundations undone by the blistering sunlight.

Basically, the Sun is the Collective Conscience of Humanity. Land represents what we assume to be real. Some land is firm and barren. Some land is loose soil ready for planting. Other land, however, is a false foundation of "cold hard facts" we call "established" history. As opposed to "real" history. When the sunlight blazes upon the surface of "established" history, it inevitably melts. What is left under the sheet of ice is either an empty abyss or firm permafrost and bedrock. If the Sun hits the black and endless abyss, then you know you have been deceived. It takes time for the Sun to melt away the ice and arrive at the foundation of the history we know, but when it does there is no mistaking whether what lies beneath is a chaotic maelstrom of lies and deceit or a firm foundation of reality capable of upholding any sacred pillars(statutes and laws) we seek to plant upon it.

When it comes to "Global Warming" this is what the Cabal fears most. They fear the heat of the Sun, which arrived upon the Dawn of the Great Awakening, melting away all of the fake historical(cold-hard, icy) information and uncover what is actually real and what is actually fake with the help of the Light of Truth, which is represented by the Sun.

But, I'm getting ahead of myself.

Let's examine what the Freemasons Think.

Sun – Concerning Freemasonry
Take a look at these symbols:

Particularly, take a look at the Sun.

I'm sure you've seen the "face in the sun" symbol before. There's also the one for the moon, but for right now we're talking about the Sun.

For an individual, the Sun represents the Conscious Mind. The Moon represents the Subconscious Mind (Reflected Sunlight, Dreams/Visions), and the All-Seeing-Eye represents the place where inspiration comes from – your "Third Eye" which can pierce the veil and retrieve the "yet to be" from the Great Unknown. The Power of Individual Agency, Free Will, and the aspect of the Divine Spark we call Discernment or Self-Determination.

Respectively, the Sun represents the Collective Conscious Mind of the Masses. It represents where everyone is looking. The Will of the People. Including the "Mob Mentality." What trend and hot topic everyone is paying attention to. What plants and animals alike use to measure the passage of time.

A mason builds large buildings from stone as part of their trade. Freemasonry is about "nation building" which is the next evolution of societal construction.

Part of this endeavor to "build" civilization is to plan and direct the Masses(think: planets) towards tangible ends. Rome wasn't built in a day, as the saying goes. Therefore, in order to wrestle from the Masses all forms of labor that fulfil the grand pursuit of "building a nation", or a "Solar System", you must first convince them that the goal is worth the effort. Either through manipulation, coercion, blackmail, slavery, or otherwise, the People must agree to build the "thing" you want them to build. How you direct their energies, their passion, towards this end is depicted by the Sun.

The Sun, therefor, surrounds itself with all forms of Orbital Bodies, the Masses, and uses its Gravity to keep them in line and on predictable trajectories.

Those moments where everyone puts aside their differences and works in what way they can to serve the "Greater Good" represents the Day Time. The age of Work in the Field, only doable so long as the Sun is there to grant us sight. The Sun is the Direction as well as the Directives. Any grand movement, like a Celestial Movement, can only be undertaken if enough people pitch in to make it so.

Up until now, this is all generally "wholesome" but it does have a nefarious angle...

From a Cabal perspective, coercion, bribery, and slavery is the only method worth employing. It takes too much time to "enlighten" the Masses in order to convince them to "build the thing." Instead, just trick them like you would trick a toddler into doing as you say. Lie to them, convince yourself it's a White Lie, and get the job done. After all, it's ultimately "for their own good." They're too stupid to think for their own benefit, so they need someone to tell them what to do, not waste time explaining what is moral or not. The ends justify the means, so lie now to get results and explain when they're worth the effort.

That's their logic anyways...

Sun – Concerning the Cabal

When they say "We need to block out the sun to cool the Earth" they mean that the Collective Consciousness, the Sunlight of the Collective Mind, needs to be obscured, lest it melt all the fake history that they've spend centuries freezing into your mind after endless brainwashings; we can't have people asking "hot" questions that put us under a spotlight; we can't have the world "leaders" find themselves in a "hot" seat and under investigation.

To a Cabal member speaking this language of metaphor, it makes total sense that we should simultaneously switch to Solar Power (Populism/Celebrity Power) while also blocking out the Sun(Collective Conscience).

They are saying, both figuratively and literally, "If we can't safely harvest the passion(heat) of the masses and redirect it with 'solar panels', we need to block it out."

"Solar Panels" could be thought of as news panels and celebrity spokesmen who come in and tell you what to think and where to direct your attention. Mirrors, effectively, trying to "push back" against the growing tides of distrust in the Government "foundations."

This goes into censorship.

Fire, but more particularly Heat is synonymous with Passion. When enough people give something their singular attention, their energies compound and turns into an intense heat. When angered, this heat turns into a flame which can only be smothered with the Blood of their oppressors, in the form of Mob Justice. It is, therefore, the intent of the Cabal to keep the heat low, and keep "Global Warming" and "Climate Change" from resulting in a "melting" of their established history such that they can delay the "great flood" indefinitely. Meanwhile, groups like BLM and ANTIFA work to "let off some steam" in ways they can direct against the People's own will.

The Ice Caps represent this Established History. Antarctica represents the Esoteric Cabal history, including Secret Societies, Symbolism Comms, and most historical false flags, while the Arctic represents our current "surface" and "top" level understanding of the world, like how medicine "works", or how stocks, taxes and businesses "work", or how politics and media "work". Everyday corporate and government scams, generally. These are the things, like with the Arctic, have no "basis" in legitimacy or derived authority. It's all empty and based on circular logic when you look closely into them. They are built upon lies and only the dark abyss remains underneath. The Antarctic, however, does have a solid foundation under its ice sheet, but it is in the best interest of the Cabal to keep it from ever seeing the "light of day." They turn everything in the Antarctic into folk tales and Conspiracy Theories to dissuade people from wondering what's actually "under the ice."

They can afford to lose the North pole, in some respects, but an Antarctic Melt would be the end of them as "unimaginable technologies" are revealed to the world. Tesla and UFO types of energy manipulation. Things that can lead to each person being so empowered such that they no longer have to abide by national or international governance. You can't tax me if you can't catch me in my UFO-powered flying RV. That kind of stuff.

It would be an end to their current "Climate" – as the slave masters with us sheep being the slaves.

The Sun, which burns up the viability of their One-World Order, therefore is none other than our Collective Consciousness and the general sentiment of Non-Compliance. They cannot have the Sun turn against them. They cannot lose control of the Collective Will.

They wish to hold the "Sun" in the palm of their hands – to decide when it gets to shine or not. With it they would have full control over what trends or waves the Mind of the Masses can perpetuate over the Globe. Like vampires, which spurn the Sunlight, they wish for a day they can rule in perpetual twilight, free from all the minds of the world from ever becoming their own Enlightened individuals who can think without need of any external light source, even the Sun. Comms pertaining to the Patriarchy, as the Sun is the Masculine Symbol, also allude towards this Twilight Age where "Men" are no longer in power, but instead their Artificial Light is; their "Fake News" directing all the movement of the Masses(think: planets/industries).

So, when you see Comms about the Sun taking out the Internet, they're talking about the potential need of unplugging their toy, the World Wide Web, and going back to an age where Mankind was more manageable. They are always considering taking us back to the stone ages – to rule over the ashes lest the slaves wander free, or even worse, seeking for retribution from their former slavemasters.

In summary, the Sun can be thought of as "The Hottest Thing" going. It's whatever is keeping most of the attention of the World at large and simultaneously burns corruption away for any moldering, dark Cabal fiends unfortunate enough to get caught out in the open and "exposed" for all the World to see.

That's why we call Sunlight the best Disinfectant.

AKA, Free Speech.

Or Transparency and Accountability, if you prefer.

Type your email...

Subscribe

Discussion about this post

Write a comment...

Failed to load posts

Ready for more?

Type your email...

Subscribe

© 2025 sleepydude · Privacy · Terms · Collection notice

Start your Substack

Get the app

Substack is the home for great culture

TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers

The Fellowship of the Ringbreakers

TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers

Dec 04, 2022

The Lord of the Rings is "this world we live in at a different stage of imagination." - J.R.R. Tolkien

For a decent introduction, it is recommended that you first read this other Substack post:

Code of the Ring

The Covert War of the 19th- and 20th- Century, and the Great Ring Code
Deciphering this narrative-imbedded code requires finding the exact historical context and conversation, and verifying it with a timeline of events. This is what we have endeavored to do. Part of this account of covert events and plans was hidden by Tolkien within certain of his writings. Tolkien was a Signals Officer in WWI, and he developed code that...

Read more

4 years ago · 4 likes · 1 comment · Code of the Ring

This current post will delve further into Tolkien's works, as well as offering more evidence to support certain conclusions drawn in the above linked post. It will also branch into connected areas of narrative code, including predecessor symbols of Sauron's Ring. A timeline structure is used, and as such, some of the associations may only seem like uncanny coincidences at first, but towards the end, patterns and connections will arise that are mathematically impossible, unless they were intentional.

'Sauron's Ring' is narrative code for the 'Rothschild's power,' however, previous to Tolkien's work, there were other symbols that were also used to communicate about the Rothschilds' power. One of the earliest of these narrative code symbols was the 'Nautilus submarine' from the book, Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, by Jules Verne. This particular book, and the narrative code messages contained therein, is the reason why the publication of The Lord of the Rings was in 1954, the same year as the launching of the USS Nautilus submarine SSN-571. Tolkien himself affirmed the connection between the two narrative code symbols when he said that Sauron had the Ring for 1,850 years – he was indicating the date to the start of the Rothschilds' 'Ring,' that is, the year 1850.

There are quite a few notable events from that year:

- Nathaniel de Rothschild moved to Paris.
- The Pope returned to Rome.
- Rothschilds' Second Loan to the Holy See
- The U.S. prototype ring cent was created.
- The first Submerged Telegraph line was laid.

This post will go through each of those events, though it is worth noting that the narrative code surrounding the Transatlantic Submerged Telegraph is by far the most informative.

ROTHSCHILD STRATEGIC RELOCATION

Nathaniel de Rothschild, born in 1812, moved to Paris in 1850 to work in the banking business owned by his uncle, James Mayer Rothschild.

*James Mayer Rothschild, along with Nathan Mayer Rothschild, were the Rothschilds that forced England into debt through their financing of the British Army, and their manipulation of the stock and bond market.

POPE'S RETURN TO POWER

In 1849, Pope Pius IX had to flee Rome, and he was only able to return after the French army invaded Rome.

*This was important to the Rothschilds' power because the Rothschilds controlled the Holy See via their 1832 loan agreement. The loan included a clause stating that the Holy See could not take a new loan from another firm, without first informing and giving preference to the Rothschilds. If the Rothschilds could match the loan of their competitor, then the Holy See was legally obligated to take the loan from the Rothschilds. As a result of this legally binding agreement, the Holy See was held captive to the Rothschilds, as their only bank.

SECOND LOAN TO THE HOLY SEE

The Pope's return to power would also directly connect to another event, namely the Rothschilds' second loan to the Holy See.

[Sidenote regarding the 666 cult: It was noted in the other post that the 666 are infiltrators, but this is worth mentioning again, because it is such an important thing to understand. The 666 does not create organizations strictly for themselves, which is why almost no one in the general public knows about them. Most people have heard of the Freemasons, Skull and Bones, Jesuits, the Rothschild Family, etc., because unlike the 666, these groups, despite their secrecy, have created organizations around themselves. The 666 on the other hand, can be likened to parasites entering a host - it infiltrates and remains unseen.

To be clear, whenever this post mentions the Vatican or any other similar group in negative terms, it is not referring to what the Vatican really is or should be, but what the 666 has manipulated it to work as.

Even the covert communication of the 666 remains hidden only because of its infiltration of overt media. To use a code not based on overt media (overt words, stories, symbols, etc.), is to become noticeable, and trackable.]

RING CENT

In 1850, the U.S. created a prototype ring cent, but it was never put into circulation - potentially, it was only made as a message that a 'Ring' had been forged.

TRANSATLANTIC TELEGRAPH

The beginning of the Submerged Telegraph was a huge event for global communication. Its inception actually began with a submerged line across the English channel, which correlated with Nathaniel de Rothschild also crossing the English channel, that same year. One of the most important factors with respect to control, is the ability to communicate. The Rothschilds would have needed fast communication for a multitude of ops, including market manipulation, propaganda distribution, sending orders to assassins, etc.

Lincoln used telegraphs during the Civil War to command and to receive information from his troops - his use of the telegraph lines enabled a type of command center. At the time, the telegraphs were known as "lightning messages."

Another good example of the power of communication occurred in 1870, when Bismarck used an edited telegram to start the Franco-German War:
<https://www.britannica.com/event/Ems-telegram>

As well, there is the story of the Tower of Babel in which the structure's construction stopped once people could no longer understand each other. Reminiscent are the lines from one of Yeats' poems: "The falcon cannot hear the falconer; Things fall apart; the centre cannot hold..."

Communication is both the basis of society, and the basis for control.

The 'Submerged Telegraph' insinuated 'hidden coded messages' and/or 'secret information.' Coded, because telegrams used morse code.

[Sidenote regarding morse code: People who are part of the Cult are often referred to by the narrative code symbol 'alien,' because they are not patriotic to any one country, but rather, they are infiltrators - similar to the somewhat archaic definition of the word, meaning 'foreigner.' Probably part of the reason 'E.T.,' an abbreviation for extraterrestrial was created, is because the letters 'e' and 't' are the most common letters in the English language and are hence assigned 'dot' and 'dash' in morse code, respectively. 'E.T.' would therefore mean, 'someone who can communicate covertly.' By contrast, covert people who are against the Cult are sometimes called 'Patriots' because typically, they are patriotic.]

Nautilus

Jules Verne's books, Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, Captain Grant's Children, and The Mysterious Island, directly relate to the Submerged Telegraph and the ops of that time, because the 'Nautilus' represents the 'Submerged Telegraph.'

Despite The Mysterious Island's story supposedly taking place about twenty years after the end of Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, The Mysterious Island's story begins in 1865, whereas Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea begins in 1866. The year 1866, in reality, was the year that the first permanent Submerged Telegraph line was laid.

In Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, the Nautilus visits the Submerged Telegraph cable, and at the beginning of the book when sightings of the Nautilus have become rare, it is joked that it must have eavesdropped on the Submerged Telegraph line. In The Mysterious Island, one of the castaways is named Cyrus Smith, and he builds a telegraph line from one part of the island to another. This particular character's first name correlates directly to the name of the person who, in real life, laid the Submerged Telegraph line – Cyrus West Field.

The Nautilus is an electrical marvel that travels under the sea, and the telegraph was pretty much the only major electrical technology of that time. Also, in Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, Captain Nemo communicates with his crew via an electric telegraph.

The section where the Nautilus visits the Submerged Telegraph is quite relevant, so part of it is quoted here:

"It was on the 17th of May, about 500 miles from Heart's Content, at a depth of more than 1,400 fathoms, that I saw the electric cable lying on the bottom. Conseil, to whom I had not mentioned it, thought at first that it was a gigantic sea-serpent. But I undeceived the worthy fellow, and by way of consolation related several particulars in the laying of this cable.... But some days after it broke again, and in the depths of the ocean could not be recaptured. The Americans, however, were not discouraged. Cyrus Field, the bold promoter of the enterprise, as he had sunk all his own fortune, set a new subscription on foot, which was at once answered, and another cable was constructed on better principles... The Great Eastern sailed on the 13th of July, 1866. The operation worked well... I did not expect to find the electric cable in its primitive state, such as it was on leaving the manufactory. The long serpent, covered with the remains of shells, bristling with foraminiferae, was encrusted with a strong coating which served as a protection against all boring molluscs. It lay quietly sheltered from the motions of the sea, and under a favourable pressure for the transmission of the electric spark which passes from Europe to America in .32 of a second... The Nautilus followed it to the lowest depth, which was more than 2,212 fathoms, and there it lay without any anchorage; and then we reached the spot where the accident had taken place in 1863..."

^The relevance of this quoted section will be explained a little later.

The Submerged Telegraph, as a real invention, facilitated and represented 'control' – the lines were like puppet strings, one might say. The 'Nautilus' represented that same control, but also insinuated other means of control besides 'hidden communication,' or 'orders.'

Starting with the name, 'Nautilus' – a nautilus is a mollusk, a shelled creature. In the book, the captives aboard the Nautilus compare themselves to a snail in its shell. A shell is an object that keeps something hidden or protected. Ever heard of the shell game? Ever heard of shell companies?

In the book, the Nautilus was assembled from parts that were made in numerous places all around the world, each one having been ordered under a different alias so that no one would suspect what was being created. The message communicated by Jules Verne was that the Rothschilds' power was hidden via numerous shell companies.

Returning to the quoted passage from Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, "covered with... shells" should make sense now. The other notable part is how the submerged telegraph line is compared to a "gigantic sea-serpent," and a "long serpent." Historically, a 'serpent' or 'snake' symbol has represented

'many people working as one.' Here is a simple example of that concept:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Join,_or_Die

[Sidenote regarding another snake symbol: 'Snakes' have also been connected to 'time,' and time controls everything. Two examples are the ring shaped Jormungandr, and Ouroboros.]

'Sea monsters' have also provided a way to communicate about 'blackmail traps' because they are elusive, terrible creatures, that prey on humans.

So a "gigantic sea-serpent" would represent a 'powerful group' that controls the actions of men via their control over the 'sea' - 'sea' being 'information,' that is, 'water.'

LINCOLN CONNECTION

In Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, the Nautilus is chased after by the ship, the "Abraham Lincoln." The ship is captained by "Commander Farragut," whose name in real life was the name of a U.S. admiral who fought for the Union in the Civil War. When the Abraham Lincoln ship finally locates the Nautilus and attempts to attack it, the Nautilus counterattacks and damages the ship. In The Mysterious Island, the Nautilus is harboured in "Lincoln Island," named in honour of Abraham Lincoln by the Union castaways. At the end of the book, the Nautilus sinks to the bottom of the sea and shortly thereafter, Lincoln Island explodes.

There are two parallels to that plot line of the story:

1. Lincoln Island blowing up sounds a lot like Lincoln being assassinated.
2. The Nautilus disappearing before the demise of 'Lincoln Island,' is reminiscent of the Ring slipping away from Isildur to the bottom of the Anduin River, before Isildur is shot by an orc.

Verne's map of Lincoln Island resembles an elephant head, which further reinforces the story's Lincoln connection, as the elephant was used to symbolize the Republican party, just as it is today.

The 'Nautilus' is about 'control,' but how was that control originally created? It was created via blackmail and trafficking. Although sexual blackmail was not the only type of blackmail, it was the main type of blackmail connected to the 'Nautilus' and its propelling force, as explained and proven by another bit of narrative code.

Nemo

In the story, the Nautilus was controlled by Captain Nemo. Nemo is Greek for no one, which could easily be taken to mean the Rothschilds, as they were the hidden people coordinating events behind the scenes, but in actuality, it has another meaning. One of the biggest worldwide sources of revenue is human trafficking, in other words, the slave trade. 'Nemo' represents all the people who are used as assets: nameless, unknown individuals, orphans, those taken from war-torn areas, those ripped away from families, babies sold soon after birth, etc., etc. - they are the people without a name. Since nobody knows that they are missing (and if by chance someone knows, they are powerless to help), they are used as objects and given no status except for their utility for work, or for use in sexual pleasure, or for creating blackmail.

Captain Nemo himself had no family left. In one passage, while viewing sheet music that Captain Nemo had on his piano organ, Nemo mentions how they are all "contemporaries of Orpheus," a Greek musician from whose name we get the word, 'orphans.' Nemo goes on to say that he himself is considered like dead, meaning he's forgotten.

Another bit of narrative code which shows that the Nautilus is powered by blackmail, is illustrated by the fact that in Twenty Thousand Leagues Under The Sea, all of their fuel (sodium, to make electricity) was manufactured from coal that was mined from the inside of an extinct volcano. The meaning of 'volcano' was already covered in the other Substack post, but to put it simply, it is associated with 'powerful blackmail,' that is 'evidence,' or 'testimony.'

The Rothschilds' power was largely based on their blackmail and slave trade monopoly, and that's what they used to fuel the mechanism of their control, the 'Nautilus.' Because they used 'shells,' it would be challenging to find records of their dealings in the slave trade, apart from what narrative code reveals.

We are usually only told about the slave trade of field and household workers in the South, for plantations, etc., but there was also a very real slave trade in sex trafficking, and for creating blackmail. At the time, the minimum age of consent in many states was ten years of age, with Delaware being the lowest, at age seven.

(<https://www.nytimes.com/1895/10/15/archives/purity-congress-meets-a-great-gathering-for-moral-work-in-the-city.html>)

The 666 was planning to turn America (especially the South) into an immense trafficking hub, and that's one of the reasons why they desperately wanted to divide the Union.

Lincoln ended those heinous nemo operations in the South, which explains why the USS Abraham Lincoln ship tried capturing the Nautilus in Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, and why Lincoln Island harboured the Nautilus in The Mysterious Island. In LotR, Isildur had the Ring in his possession for two years, which correlates with the fact that Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation in 1863, and was subsequently assassinated in 1865. Since the slave trade and the Rothschilds' power did not return to what it had been before Lincoln died, how did Lincoln lose control of the 'Ring,' that is, the 'Nautilus?' Having held the Ring or Nautilus implies that Lincoln held 'information of great leverage,' and thus, 'great power.' One can only assume that someone within his circle turned against him and hence he lost some of that power, and was therefore assassinated; also, that before and/or after his death, certain information was destroyed that could have been used against the Rothschilds.

Another snippet of related code is that the volcano on Lincoln Island was named after Benjamin Franklin. Benjamin Franklin, in reality, was involved in information collection. The famous story of him catching lightning with a key has to do with exposure and intel.

'lightning' = exposure

'key' = intel

'electric charge' = criminal charge

Also, he reportedly invented the flexible urinary catheter which would symbolize collecting 'dirty water,' that is, 'incriminating information.'

Nemo's Signature / North

Nemo's signature was the capital letter, N. When the Nautilus reached the South Pole, Nemo claimed the continent by placing a black flag in the ground, with a golden N on it. 'N' stands for 'North,' and also for 'nucleus,' the 'center' - the two symbols are related. 'Nucleus' has to do with the 'center of control,' and 'North' has essentially the same meaning. North is the center of the upper pole, the Arctic, or the 'Circle of the Bears.' Also, the North Star, Polaris, is the guiding star, the constant, central star, which brings to mind the historical use of visual symbols for communication. There are two cultic symbols based on the North Star; the Swastika, and the Black Sun, known most notably because they were used by the Nazis. The Big Dipper's position around the North Star for each season, is what the Swastika symbol was originally based on. The origin of the Black Sun symbol, sometimes also called 'the wheel,' is derived from the motion of all the other stars around the north polar axis and the North Star.

Example of the basis of the black sun symbol:

https://solarsystem.nasa.gov/system/news_items/main_images/1944_North-star_star-trails_Credit_Preston-Dyches.jpg

'Center' has to do with 'power,' and the desire to be at the center of everything, that is, 'having complete control.'

'Eye' also relates to the 'center,' to 'direction,' and to 'power;' for instance, "eye of the storm," and "eye of the wind." In LotR, there is Sauron's Eye, and in the symbol commonly known as the 'Illuminati Pyramid,' there is also an eye. Even though the symbol with the pyramid and the eye at the top, predates the Illuminati, the meaning of 'being at the top' and 'center,' still applies.

Even Tolkien, when speaking about the nature of LotR, said, "These are wars and a terrible expedition to the North Pole, so to speak." Obviously, he may have simply alluded to the North Pole as an analogy of a difficult task, but he may also have meant taking out a power structure.

[Sidenote regarding book: Jules Verne's middle book, Captain Grant's Children (alternative title: In Search of Castaways) will not be covered within this post, but the connection to General/President Grant should be apparent.]

The Loss of the Nautilus, aka the Ring

The Nautilus sinking to the bottom of the sea and the Ring sinking to the bottom of the Anduin River, do not simply imply power being lost; they do imply that, but there is more to the story.

In order to decipher this, we turn to yet another event from around that time - Richard Wagner's operas, The Ring Cycle, and in particular, Das Rheingold. It seems Wagner was not informed as to the scale of covert events taking place, but he was aware of the Rothschilds' overall power. In Das Rheingold, we have a nasty little dwarf stealing the Rhine treasure to make a magical ring. Wagner used the nasty little dwarf, Alberich, as a symbol to represent the Rothschilds, and the magical ring being made from the Rhinegold, to represent the control that was created over the Holy See. The Rhine represents the Holy See in Wagner's operas, since the Holy Roman Empire used to control Rhineland. By controlling the pope, the Rothschilds were able to exert a lot of control without having to rely on blackmail - hence, a 'magic ring.'

[The Pope even has a ring called the "fisherman's ring," and in LotR, when Deagol and Smeagol first find the Ring, it is when they are fishing.]

The ring, however, is later taken from Alberich.

Please take note, that the ring Wagner portrays in his operas, refers only to the Rothschild's control via the Holy See; whereas the 'Ring' in The Hobbit and LotR, and the 'Nautilus' from Jules Verne's works, connects not only to the Rothschilds' power through the Holy See, but more fully represents the Rothschilds' overall power.

The loss of the 'Nautilus' and the 'Ring' in their respective stories, refers to the Rothschilds' loss of ability to use the Holy See's power; the Holy See would have been one of their strongest remaining sources of manipulation and control, following the loss of the American Civil War, and the reduction of slave trade ops in the South.

The opera premiered in 1869 at the behest of Ludwig II of Bavaria, although Wagner did not want it premiered yet.

Starting in 1870, there was the Franco-Prussian, also known as the Franco-German War, which was deliberately provoked by Bismarck who was very much in opposition to the power of the Catholic Church. Germany was victorious, which led to the unification of the German states. There was also the capture of Rome by the Kingdom of Italy in 1870, essentially ending the more than one thousand years of temporal papal power. Because of the physical pressure of a united Germany, together with the Kingdom of Italy, although they still held leverage over the Holy See, the Rothschilds lost their access to wield that particular power. This time in Vatican history is commonly referred to as, "Prisoner in the Vatican."

Another piece of evidence for the river representing the Holy See is that in LotR, the Ring is lost in the Anduin River for 2,500 years, which roughly equates to the age of Rome at that time.

Gollum's Possession of the Ring

In LotR, the next time the Ring appears is with Gollum. As mentioned in the other Substack post, Gollum, is the same as golem. A golem is a Jewish clay figure or servant that is brought to life by magic. 'Gollum,' in The Hobbit, is comparable to 'Nemo.' In order to create a hub in which to start new nemo ops under their control, hence, their Golem, the Rothschilds infiltrated and tried to take over Ottoman Palestine. Ottoman Palestine was already a hub for such ops, and became an even more chaotic, war-torn area, which would have been perfect for collecting and transferring nameless, unknown individuals. It was somewhat out of the grasp of western powers that would oppose such aims. See link for information on slavery during that time:

<https://www.jta.org/archive/slavery-in-palestine>

It is likely that the Rothschilds had planned the rebuilding of Israel for the purpose of it becoming their hub for a long time, as there were obscure biblical names connected to the creation of the Submerged Telegraph. For instance, Goliath was the name of the first boat that laid a Submerged Telegraph line, and historically, Goliath was a champion warrior of the Philistines who enslaved the Israelites. Interestingly, Philistine is the etymological origin of Palestine. King Herod renamed Israel, Palestine, in order to mock the Jews.

Cyrus Field was the person in charge of laying the Transatlantic Submerged Telegraph cable in 1858, and the first permanent cable in 1866. Historically, Cyrus was the king responsible for sending the Jews home, in order to rebuild Israel after their Babylonian captivity.

In The Mysterious Island, Cyrus Smith's companion and former slave was named Nebuchadnezzar. Historically, Nebuchadnezzar was responsible for taking the Jews out of Israel, and into Babylonian captivity.

Regarding Rothschild-planned operations in Ottoman Palestine, there was ring symbolism to be found. At this juncture, it is important to understand that symbols may have multiple meanings, and that this is how blatant symbolism is sometimes hidden – an overt symbol, concealing a covert message.

This is indeed the case with the next symbol, the Seal of Solomon, which is hidden by the overt usage of the Star of David. Neither of the symbols are biblical symbols, but the Star of David is a very Jewish symbol. The Seal of Solomon on the other hand has been used by a number of cultures, and according to legend, was King Solomon's ring by which he maintained ultimate power.

The usage of this symbol would be a fairly straightforward message of 'ring' and 'power.'

[Sidenote regarding Rothschild family name: There is speculation that the origin of the Rothschild family name, Red-shield, was based on a sign that had the symbol of the Seal of Solomon on it. However, there are no historical records available to back up this claim. In 1460, in Prague, the Star of David was portrayed with shields on a red flag, which is likely where the speculation of a red shield with the Seal of Solomon, comes from.]

The first time we find the Seal of Solomon in Ottoman Palestine, is on a flag at Rishon LeZion, a Rothschild-sponsored settlement, in 1885.

The Rothschild official involved in the celebration in which that flag was hoisted, was named Y. Osovitzki. It is interesting that only the 'Y' of the official's first name is recorded, as Y is often a symbol for 'something classified,' and/or 'secret.'

Y is also connected to 'antlers.' For example, here are photos of Lady Rothschild wearing golden antlers at a ball:

<https://allthatsinteresting.com/wordpress/wp-content/uploads/2020/12/stag-head-costume-at-rothschild-party.jpg>

<https://allthatsinteresting.com/wordpress/wp-content/uploads/2020/12/servants-at-rothschild-ball.jpg>

<https://i.insider.com/5791364988e4a7dd488b90d1>

Typically, the only female deer with antlers are reindeer, and they are most often associated with the North/Arctic Circle. The classified connotation of female deer with antlers is the reason why the division of the U.S. government that deals with highly classified and dangerous materials, has the acronym D.O.E., doe being a female deer.

The second time the Seal of Solomon appeared, was at the First Zionist Congress in 1897, as the Star of David was the overt symbol decided upon for the Jewish national flag. Interestingly, the first suggestion was a flag with seven stars, which unlike the Star of David (Seal of Solomon), would have carried biblical significance, and even older Jewish relevance, than the Star of David. It is possible that an infiltrator asset of the Rothschilds' helped promote the Star of David over other options.

This statement about the Star of David being covertly used for the symbol of the Seal of Solomon may come across as unfounded, but later, it will become clear that this covert 'ring' message was indeed the case.

Bilbo

Now, how did Bilbo steal the Ring from Gollum? The character, Bilbo, has two connections, and both share a related meaning. If one follows the pattern in LotR, of finding years based on how long each character had the Ring, then one will find Bilbo. Bilbo had the Ring for 60 years and Frodo had the Ring for 17 years and six months. There was seventeen years from the publication of The Hobbit in 1937, until the publication of the first books of LotR, in 1954. Counting sixty years backwards from 1937, we arrive at 1877, which is the birth year of Theodore G. Bilbo. Tolkien's use of symbolism, based on Theodore Bilbo, is actually quite humorous. At the beginning of The Hobbit, Gandalf calls Bilbo a 'Burglar,' much to the shock and upset of Bilbo who had never stolen anything. It's a joke, based on Governor Theodore Bilbo who was the first and only governor to implement a state sales tax, in 1930 – a first-class burglar, indeed! Apart from that bit of humour, Bilbo, the senator/governor, does not seem to have had much in common with Bilbo, the hobbit. Theodore Bilbo was one of six members of the American Palestine Committee, which could correlate with a hobbit helping Jews, but apart from that, he was also a racist, and a member of the KKK – however, that aspect is actually part of the symbolism, since Jews felt compelled to move to Ottoman Palestine because of racism.

The Rothschilds helped create an abundance of antisemitism in order to justify a home for the Jews, in Palestine. The only problem with their plan was that they didn't expect the numbers, or the type of people that came, and seemingly, they did not clue into that hitch in their plan, until the mid- to late-1940s. An enormous number of simple, God-fearing Jews were forced to move because of racism abroad, and they were the ones who unknowingly overthrew the Rothschilds' Ring, that is, Golem plans, by their sheer numbers.

Bilbo represents normal people, Zionists, etc., who bumbled into finding the 'Ring,' and like the hobbit in the story, had no idea what they had actually taken possession of.

For those interested, please see letters #29 and #30 for some overt opinions on the Jews, by Tolkien:

https://time.com/wp-content/uploads/2014/12/the_letters_of_j.rrtolkien.pdf

The other connection to Bilbo can be found by calculating the amount of time that Gollum had the ring. Gollum possessed the ring for 478 years. Obviously, counting in years will pull us way out of the timeline, but if we count 4 years, 7 months, and 8 days from the premiere of Das Rheingold, we arrive at April 30, 1874. Das Rheingold, which premiered on September 22, 1869, is the first time we find a Jewish creature depicted with a magic ring. [Curiously, 478 is also contained in reverse, in the year 1874.] April 30, 1874 was one day prior to the end of the siege of Bilbao, a city in Basque Country that was historically known as Bilbo. The liberation of the city of Bilbo is connected to Bilbo the hobbit escaping from the goblin cave, with the 'Ring.' The reason Tolkien drew attention to a city in Basque Country, is because Bilbo/Bilbao was famous for its steel production. 'Steel,' in narrative code, has to do with 'immigration,' 'movement,' and 'relocation,' because just like steel is used for building and infrastructure, people are the infrastructure of a country, and/or operations. There are a number of examples of how 'steel' is used to represent 'immigration' in narrative code, but since many of the instances will be relevant later in this post, evidence and examples will be presented in due course.

The city of Bilbo/Bilbao was also famous for a type of sword called 'bilbo,' and Bilbo the hobbit had a magic sword. As the other post noted, 'sword' denotes 'rightful ownership,' and the land of Israel, historically and biblically, belongs to the Jews. 'Steel' was used to steal the 'Ring' from 'Gollum.'

[Sidenote regarding 'steel': A comparison of some of the uses of iron and steel in narrative code, may help provide a more complete comprehension of 'steel.' Historically, iron has been associated with power; for example, iron rule, iron law, rod of iron, etc. 'Iron' is 'power from the top,' essentially, 'control' - this control aspect is evident in the meaning of the Iron Curtain. Iron has also been used in connection with the 'N' and 'nucleus' narrative codes, because of William Gilbert's, De Magnete, published in 1600, which stated that an iron magnet at the center of the earth, controls North. Also, a middle English name for iron magnets was lodestone, meaning leading stone, which is quite comparable to lodestar, an old name for the pole star (Polaris/North Star). Steel, on the other hand, is often connected to the industrial revolution, making the narrative code of 'steel' to mean 'power from the bottom up.' 'Steel' can be used in reference to common folk replacing or overthrowing a power, for example, by replacing 'iron.' Joseph Stalin's last name was reportedly derived from his ability to organize strikes and protests when he was younger, hence, "man of steel," or "Stalin." 'Steel' is often used when talking about 'ops that require a lot of assets.' 'Red steel' has to do with 'rusted steel,' meaning 'corruption,' and has frequently been used in regards to 'infiltration,' although it can also be used for 'iron controlling steel,' meaning, a manipulated person.]

Wheat and Settlements

The Rothschilds helped set up quite a few settlements in Ottoman Palestine, and later, in British Palestine. One of their settlements, Zikhron Yaakov, had a wine barrel making shop, which perhaps connects to the wine barrel riding in The Hobbit.

There is also an interesting bit of narrative code with regards to a land purchase the Rothschilds made. In 1906, Aaron Aaronsohn, an agronomist and botanist associated with the Rothschilds, found what he believed to be the wheat from which all other wheat originated, the news of which created quite a stir, even in America. He found the wheat while on a walk by Rosh Pina, a Rothschild settlement, the name of which translates as cornerstone. That same year, the Rothschilds purchased a very large portion of the Jezreel Valley from the Sursocks. 'Wheat,' in narrative code, has to do with the 'start of new ops,' as wheat is planted, grown, and harvested. 'Cornerstone' connects to 'building,' so Rosh Pina fits in with their message, very well. As a further validating connection, the meaning of Jezreel translates as God sows, and fits in perfectly with the original wheat.

At some point, Aaronsohn disassociated himself from the Rothschilds, although it is unclear what, if anything, he knew of their heinous plans.

Aaron Aaronsohn was one of the main founding members of the Nili spy ring, a spy ring which helped the British defeat the Ottomans. Reportedly, Nili used the cover of fighting locusts to hide their spying operations.

The British defeated the Ottomans and the German forces in 1918.

Golem

The Hobbit is not the first time that Gollum/Golem appears in that era. There were also a number of movies, operas, and a book, released between 1915 to 1936, which centered on the story of a golem.

The most famous legend about Golem is about a creature created by a rabbi, in order to protect Jews from persecution. In that particular story, and in several of the versions created between 1915-1936, the golem goes on a rampage that ends by ensuring the security of the Jews. The basic meaning of this during WWI, and before WWII, was about creating a scare event that would convince powerful people of the need to set up the State of Israel. In some of the stories, the Golem turns against its creators, likely indicating the planned persecution of Jews, however, it is destroyed when the amulet is removed from it. One film version from 1920 ends with the Star of David appearing on the screen, essentially meaning that the creation of Israel would end the need for world wars.

1937

1937 was the year of the publication of The Hobbit. The other post goes over the narrative code of The Hobbit quite well, so not much will be written about it here. However, 1937 also had a number of other connected events and media, worth looking at.

1937 was the year of the Peel Commission, and although nothing came to fruition from that, there was a major push to further solidify and expand the Jewish homeland.

In The Hobbit, the dwarves and Lake-men make a settlement of the treasure of the Lonely Mountain, which would correlate to the Jews negotiating with the Arabs.

Another famous story from that year, involving dwarfs, was Disney's Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. You may recall that in LotR, there were originally seven dwarves' rings made. The seven connection is quite intentional - both of these stories are about events in Israel, but whereas Tolkien's is about the Jews reclaiming their homeland from the dragon (the Ottoman Empire), Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs is about ops involving trafficking and blackmail in the British Palestine area. The seven dwarfs in Snow White are miners, and the treasure they are mining for is blackmail. The dwarves in The Hobbit also mine and dig for treasure, which is a common theme in other stories that also portray dwarfs as miners and metal workers, but there is a distinction to be made here; The Hobbit does not have a plot line based around a young girl who gets kissed while she's asleep, after eating a poisoned apple. Disney altered the original Snow White stories (there are several traditional Snow White tales) and the meaning of them, to conform to their message. The original tales mostly had to do with catching and punishing the wicked stepmother for selling her kin into prostitution, whereas Disney's narrative code is about catching the Prince in a blackmail trap so that they can dispose of the witch - the tale's overall meaning being flipped.

NARRATIVE CODE IN SNOW WHITE AND THE SEVEN DWARFS:

The Evil Queen and her magic mirror represent people spying on the sexual blackmail ops. Mirrors connect to spying, as spying is a way of gaining information, and the mirror in this instance represents spying on covert actions. In basic narrative code, 'mirrors' represent a 'source of information.' Certain newspapers, even in the 18th century, had Mirror in their name, and today we still have newspapers called Mirror, or Daily Mirror. Typically, 'mirrors' in most narrative code have to do with 'communicating covertly,' namely, 'speaking in narrative code,' as mirrors can obscure reality - much like how the mirror world in Through the Looking-Glass, by Lewis Carroll, makes everything distorted. Historically, 'water' was also viewed as a source of information due to its reflective quality. This is seen in an embellished form with respect to the mirror of Galadriel, in LotR. Spying in order to elicit information is obvious with the use of one-way/two-way mirrors, often used in interrogation rooms. Individuals being interrogated see their own reflections, while others secretly view the proceedings, all the while encompassed in near darkness on the other side of the glass. It should be noted that cameras and telescopes, which are also often used for spying, contain mirrors as part of their apparatuses.

The 'poisoned apple' is about 'exposure'; in fact, symbolism of the apple goes all the way back to the book of Genesis. Even though the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil is not specified, historically, it has been portrayed as an apple. In the story of Adam and Eve, after they eat of the fruit, they realize that they are naked, that is, exposed. The tale of an apple falling on Newton's head and his subsequent discovery of gravity, also has to do with the threat of exposure creating pressure, the pressure being represented by gravity.

[Sidenote: Aristotle discovered gravity, not Newton.]

There is also the story of William Tell having to shoot an apple that is balanced on his son's head... William Tell, meaning 'will tell.'

Back to the story:

The seven dwarfs represent the Rothschild minions in British Palestine, and the basic plot of the story is as follows:

Good people have found out about the blackmail or snow white ops, and are going to try to expose them, so in order to safeguard the blackmail, bad people have to put the ops to sleep for awhile. Later, they can fully bring back the blackmail operations once they can get someone powerful, such as a prince, to become blackmailed, that is, unable to resist a sexual encounter with a girl under a sedative. With the newly acquired powerful person (and/or people) connected to blackmail, the ops can then be reawakened and they can remove the spying, along with the threat of exposure.

Snow White is connected to using sedatives on children, for the purpose of blackmail, etc. "Snow White" is also a street name for cocaine, and "Dopey" is a word for someone who seems drugged up, and can also be used as a name for various drugs. 'Snow,' in narrative code, has also been used for 'hidden information,' since snow is 'frozen water.'

Another mining film from the same year was King Solomon's Mines, based on a book with the same title from 1885, which was a bestseller at the time of its publication. The story connection is the Rothschild-funded De Beers diamond mining, started in 1888. Both the De Beers mining operation, and the King Solomon's Mines story, are based in South Africa.

'Diamonds,' as narrative code, refers to creating 'blackmail' that doesn't lose its power - diamonds are forever.

'Diamonds from coal' means 'dirty deeds' that become 'treasure,' in other words, 'blackmail.'

In the 1930s, the real King Solomon's mines were supposedly found in Timna Valley, Israel, by Nelson Glueck. They were copper mines. The narrative code for 'copper' doesn't really make sense these days, since copper is not as sought after as it once was.

However, there are a few historical associations which partially explain its use in narrative code:

Copper was associated with mirrors, because many mirrors were made of copper in ancient times; hence, a connection of copper to 'information,' or 'communication.' In more modern times, copper has been used to transfer electricity, including telegraph messages - again, giving it an 'information' and 'communication' connection.

Copper, in mythology and alchemy, was used to represent Aphrodite (Venus), which therefore gave it a sexual connotation. Orichalcum, also called aurichalcum, is a mythical metal from Atlantis - thought to be derived from the ancient Greek word, oreikhalkos, meaning mountain copper. In the Roman era, orichalcum meant, gold copper. This mythical metal was also connected to Aphrodite.

Fast forward to an article from 2012, to strengthen some of the connections of 'blackmail,' to 'King Solomon's mines':

<https://www.nationalgeographic.com/history/article/king-solomon-mines-bible-timna-dung>

In the link above, the archaeologists found manure that helped support Glueck's claims about the area; the 'dung,' or 'manure,' meaning 'material evidence.'

'Urine' is 'dirty water,' meaning 'incriminating information,' but 'dung' is solid, hence, it is 'material evidence.'

The donkey dung was found on Slave's Hill, a mesa named that by Glueck, in 1934. 'Slave's Hill' is the same message as 'Nemo,' though obviously not as covert a message, since its name in plain English, is literally, 'Slave.'

News regarding diamond and copper mining is often used to send narrative code messages about ops involving blackmail and trafficking, but the ops can also be connected to one another:

<https://2009-2017.state.gov/documents/organization/245377.pdf>

<https://www.brilliantearth.com/conflict-diamond-child-labor/>

The Rothschilds' partial acquisition of the failing Rio Tinto Spanish copper mine, in 1873, should now make more sense.

World Wars, and Nazi Puppets

So, as the pre- WWI and WWII Golem stories indicate, the wars were started in order to create the pressure needed for the Rothschilds to take control of the land of Israel. The whole of that plan did not work out for the Rothschilds, but they still benefited somewhat from the two world wars.

The Nazis were the Rothschilds' puppets and fools. According to one etymological origin, the word Nazi, was not just an abbreviated form of Nationalsozialist, but rather, came from a 1920s nickname, Nazi, or Naczi (derived from the German name Ignatz), meaning a foolish person.

The Rothschilds could not openly fund the Nazis, nor could they even launder money into Germany, so they created a situation in which they would appear to be forced to give wealth to the Nazis.

Baron Louis de Rothschild remained in Austria until after the Anschluss, despite others pleading for him to leave. He was subsequently arrested by the Nazis, and held for ransom. He was released in 1939 on payment of twenty-one million dollars. This payment was possible through the highly discounted sale to the Nazis, of the Rothschild portion of the Czechoslovakian Witkowitz Mines and Iron Works, which equaled 51% of the company.

(<https://www.nytimes.com/1955/01/16/archives/baron-louis-de-rothschild-dies-freed-by-nazis-for-21-million-former.html>)

The Nazis also seized other Rothschild properties, assets, and valuables, at this time.

World War Two, and Infiltration

The Rothschilds' intention was never for the war to be won by the Nazis. In fact, their two main objectives were:

1. Creation and control of the State of Israel, of which only the creation of Israel worked out.

2. Infiltration, which explains how and why they already had plans in place for where Nazis could flee to, after the war. South America is mainly where they were smuggled to, so it should come as no surprise that in 1940, there was the further discovery of the Nazca lines (also called "Nasca lines"). The word "Nazca" looks and sounds similar to "Nazi," and thus makes for a convenient hidden message. The two main people who rediscovered the Nazca lines were Paul Kosok, a professor in history and government, and Maria Reiche, a German translator. Two German Americans, one of them a translator, which indicates, a message for Germans to translate. The first Nazca picture Paul Kosok was recorded to have seen from an airplane, was the drawing of a bird. Birds fly, and 'fly' in narrative code means 'to flee,' or 'leave,' so this was a message indicating where Nazis should flee to. Supposedly, the lines depict birds that were not native to the area, which would work for even clearer messaging.

Interestingly, in 1933, Paul Kosok wrote a work titled, Modern Germany: A Study of Conflicting Loyalties. The title itself works as a message, even if the content of the work is disregarded.

Maria Reiche believed that the Nazca lines were astronomical markers, and one of the figures in the lines has even been nicknamed, "The Astronaut." This narrative code connects directly with NASA, another place Nazis were smuggled into. Nazi sounds a little bit like NASA, and Operation Paperclip was responsible for smuggling a number of Nazi scientists into the organization.

The district of Nazca became a province on January 23, 1941, exactly the same date as the groundbreaking for the NACA Lewis Research Center, now known as the NASA Lewis Research Center.

Former Nazis were also smuggled into the CIA, which was literally designed as an organization of subversion and infiltration, that is, aliens. Hence, explaining the Roswell UFO crash that was in the news on July 8, 1947. Not surprisingly, a little over two weeks later, on July 26, 1947, President Truman created the CIA with the signing of the National Security Act. Roswell was not about creatures from beyond earth, but about human beings setting up a government organization for infiltration, 'aliens,' in narrative code. The predecessor of the CIA was the CIG, an abbreviation for Central Intelligence Group, and a number of UFOs are said to be cigar-shaped.

Further infiltration included the Red infiltration, that is, of Communists, which is why the Red October Steel Plant was brought up in several CIA documents. The narrative code was about 'red steel,' that is, 'Communist immigration.' It may seem strange that the CIA, which smuggled Nazis into the USA, would be warning of Red infiltration, but the covert world works in layers and factions, and certain aims of 666 assets, clash with others. Essentially, they did not want Communist assets stealing their positions.

That, and other infiltration, is how 'Mordor' began to be rebuilt.

Another example of 'steel' in this timeline, is the following:

The first publication of Superman was in April of 1938. Superman is an American immigrant from outer space, known as The Man of Steel. The fact that he's referred to as an immigrant and not an alien, will be relevant later. His character is based on an earlier short story by the same writer, called, The Reign of Superman. The Reign of Superman was published in January of 1933. The same month as that story was published, Hitler came into power as head of the German government. The story is about a man from the breadlines named Bill Dunn, who is experimented on, and thereby given immense telepathic powers. With his new powers, he seeks to rule the world, and even to start a world war. There is a line that states, "a veritable holocaust of confusion burst upon his mind." His powers are only temporal, so he again returns to the bread lines - further demonstrating that Germany was just a piece on the board, used toward a larger aim. The breadline description refers to Germany being in financial woes due to the Treaty of Versailles, which is also the meaning of the character's name, Bill Dunn; bill, a word for invoice, and dun meaning, demanding payment. Once the character receives telepathic powers, that is, power via propaganda, he becomes a world superpower, referring to Nazi Germany. With this perspective in mind, the release of Man of Steel in 1938, has to do with moving people out of Germany. Superman is an immigrant from the destroyed planet of Krypton, and his cape is like a red flag flying in the sky. The famous red flag of that time was the Nazi flag. Superman's cape, although red, lacked an emblem, which indicated that the people immigrating were not affiliated with the government.

Another storyline worth mentioning is the Looney Tunes' Bugs Bunny show. In the first episode, in 1938, there is an unnamed rabbit being hunted by a pig with a gun. Rabbit, being used in this instance to mean Rabbi, and therefore Jew, so the message being sent was that Jews were in grave danger.

Only covert people in the top tier would have known that the war was never intended as an instrument for the Nazis to take over the world. Even Hitler may not have known, so against that Nazi strength, what covert and overt means helped the Allies win the war?

This next section is about an unexpected Patriot operation, and the section following will explain the Rothschilds' plans for how the Nazis would lose the war.

Enigma Machines

Enigma machines definitely existed and were basically used in the way that history overtly recounts, but that did not preclude them from being used in narrative code, as a symbol for explaining another type of op.

Taking Control of Communication Devices

Enigma machines were the rings or strings, controlling people. Actual enigma machines were used to authorize and give certain directives, much like the codes in a nuclear football. Enigma machines on U-boats informed the U-boats where to go, what to attack, etc. Both the machine that ciphered the message, and the one that deciphered the received code, can be likened to the same thing; they both contained the same information. Breaking a code or getting possession of an Enigma machine indicated taking a form of control. Churchill said that Enigma codebreaking shortened the war by two years.

Stories about the Enigma machines that have been released to the general public, expose another story hidden in narrative code, a blackmail and flipping operation.

Before going on, it is worth taking a step back, to the origin of the name for the Enigma machines, which is, the Enigma Variations.

Edward Elgar's orchestral composition, the Enigma Variations, is based on variations of one theme, with each theme connected to a different person. 'Enigma' means 'riddle,' or 'dark secret.' Elgar's musical composition was not originally named "Enigma" - that was a later addition to the title. The fact that 'enigma' was added later, perhaps indicates that Elgar, or someone else, only realized the piece's potential use for narrative code, after its completion. Interestingly, Elgar's fame grew immensely after the premiere of that work, which would seem to confirm that it was promoted to send an important message. 'Enigma' would be akin to 'submerged' from the 'Submerged Telegraph,' meaning 'something hidden or covert.' Regarding Elgar's piece, 'something hidden that's connected to a number of people,' sounds a lot like, 'blackmail strings, or rings.' As portrayed in LotR, a 'ring' can be both a device that controls, like the One Ring, or a device by which someone is controlled, like the rings of the Nazgul.

Significance of Elgar's Variations

Elgar's Variations commented on a recent event involving Rothschild blackmail strings. The Rothschilds, via their control of the Holy See, used the Holy See's property as a protected blackmail storage facility. At this point, the Vatican and the Rothschilds were regaining power, and 'enigmas,' being 'blackmail,' would then be reactivated.

EVENT TIMELINE DEMONSTRATING ROTHSCHILD REASCENT TO POWER

1888 - Wilhelm II becomes King of Germany.

*In the other Substack, Wilhelm II was shown to be one of the nine kings at Edward VII's funeral, that is, one of the nine 'Nazgul.'

1890 - Bismarck is forced to resign by Wilhelm II.

1896 - Pope Leo XIII formally declares Anglican orders, "absolutely null and void," in papal bull.

1898 - Wilhelm II visits the German Templars in Ottoman Palestine.

*It seems likely that the Rothschilds were using Wilhelm II for their own ambitions, in Ottoman Palestine. Side note: Wilhelm II was removed from power in 1918, which was the same year that the British Army defeated the Turkish and German forces in Ottoman Palestine - further corroborating the narrative code of The Hobbit.

1899 - Enigma Variations premiere

1900 - King Umberto of Italy is assassinated.

*King Umberto had approved of the triple alliance with the German Empire and Austria-Hungary in 1882, so seemingly, he was not a pro-Rothschild controlling the Holy See, type of person.

The Enigma Variations can be played with another melody, and that is apparently the enigma of it, because Elgar would never say what that other melody was. He only stated that it was a "dark saying," and "better left unsaid." He also said that it was quite famous and so he was surprised that no one guessed it. Though it could be interpreted that by 'no one,' he was indicating it was connected to 'nemo,' this seems unlikely. One plausible proposition for the enigma, seems to be the Bridal Chorus/Wedding March from Wagner's Lohengrin Opera, from 1850. A main plot of that opera is, 'a question that should not be asked' - which sounds quite similar to an enigma. In the opera, the bride asks the groom (the Swan Knight) the question, "What is his name?" and because of that question, he has to leave her. The idea is that one can gain protection from an enigmatic 'wedding ring,' but revealing who holds the 'ring' removes the protection and/or benefits of that arrangement. The Lohengrin wedding ring would be similar to the wedding symbol in the 1937 Snow White.

Another guess at the enigma, by a person named Patrick Turning, is Twinkle Twinkle in a minor key. It is unlikely that he is suggesting this as a tune, because recordings of it being played with Elgar's piece sound fairly unpleasant, but in regards to narrative code, his suggestion makes sense.

In Twinkle Twinkle, a star is compared to a diamond, and 'diamonds' (blackmail) control 'stars' (famous people).

If Elgar was asked to send this warning about 'rings' being activated, then it was probably for two reasons:

1. He was an excellent composer, and had just composed the perfect piece to work as the basis for a symbol.
2. His first name was 'Edward,' and his last name also started with an 'E.'

Edward is a name that is often connected to 'blackmail.' For example:

-Edward Snowden

-Jeffery Edward Epstein

-Edward III who was given The Inventio Fortunata (a writing on the Rupes Niger/Black Rock of the North Pole that was supposedly 33 'French' miles in circumference).

-Edward Weston, the photographer of the Nautilus, said to be "one of the most famous photographs ever made," and to have sexual connotations

-Edward L. Blackmail, a lawyer

-Edward G. Robinson who starred in the 1939 film titled, Blackmail

There are other examples that are more obscure and would require more explanation, so we will not delve into them, here.

DOUBLE E CONNECTIONS

E's numerical value is 5, and in radio terminology, 5:5 means clear communications. The origin of 5:5 as a symbol is somewhat unclear, as it seems to have had prior usage before its use in radio communications. Although possibly not a correlation at the time of Elgar, there are some likely connections to 5:5, and blackmail, which will be presented later. 'EE' also looks like a backwards 33, which will be quite relevant regarding 'capturing enigma machines' and 'rings.' '33' as a symbol, simply means an 'organization,' or 'structure,' hence why it is known as the 'mason number,' as masonry is connected to building and structures.

WORLD WAR II ENIGMAS

Although Alan Turing was not the only person to work on cracking Enigma machine codes, he is the person most recognized for the Allies' success in Enigma codebreaking. There is a reason his legacy has been placed front and center, as his name alone, works in narrative code. "Alan Turing" sounds very much like, 'allen turning.' 'Allen key turning,' is narrative code for 'creating pressure.' So, by what means did they create pressure? - with the 'bombe,' in reality a type of 'codebreaking machine.'

Alan Turing is the person associated with the creation of the bombe, even though his invention was partially based on an earlier Polish machine, called the "Bomba," and the bombe constructed after his, functioned at a much higher speed. This is not to imply that any of the Enigma codebreaking account is false, but to show that certain records are obviously slanted, and/or promoted, for their usefulness in conveying another message. That said, some of the official narrative seems curiously fishy, especially considering that one of the recorded problems they had with breaking the Enigma Code, was previously divulged in a British patent, from 1925.

(<https://www.cryptomuseum.com/crypto/enigma/patents/files/GB231502.pdf> and <http://www.patentlyinteresting.com/its-an-enigma.html>)

Bombe and the Polish word, bomba, are both words for ice cream desserts, and bombe also translates from French, as bomb. Ice cream is used for, I scream. The narrative code here is about creating pressure through 'screaming' and 'bombs,' simply put, scare ops, and 'explosive,' or 'damaging information.' What would be one thing that frightens people? Having damaging information released about them. This is where blackmail rings, and threats, come in.

Enigma machines are similar to the symbol of the Submerged Telegraph, as they both basically represent, 'covert information and/or orders.' Stories that involve the Enigma machines are usually about U-boats, even though German navy ships and the air force also used Enigma machines. Capturing the Enigma machines would mean creating rings, and blackmail.

It is important to note that anything can be utilized as narrative code. The more obscure and unlikely it is to be thought of as suspicious by non-covert world people, the more likely it is to be used. As well, since many covert messages have to reach a lot of the covert world, especially those who can help coordinate ops, the more popular an object or certain media is, the more likely it is to be exploited for sending narrative code.

THE CEREAL, CHEERIOATS

1941

May 1

CheeriOats was introduced. They are wheat, shaped like rings. The first type of box released had a backwards "33" on it (e.g. ch33riOats). The message being sent was, 'flipping 33s with the use of ring ops.' The name, "CheeriOats," without the last three letters, is "Cheerio," as though conveying the message, 'Goodbye. I'm going to join the British now.'

May 9

Eight days after CheeriOats was introduced, the Enigma machine that 'changed the tide of the war,' was captured by the British. It was from the U-boat, U-110, which is a fairly obvious '11' signal. '11' represents the end time of one thing, and the beginning of the next.

May 10

The very next day, Hitler's deputy parachuted into Scotland - which is a rather obvious, and important flip.

1942

In another related example, instead of capturing 'Enigma machines,' this one had to do with mythical Japanese code-books. 'Mythical,' because according to the official record, there were no code-books recovered, even though there are multiple accounts of code-books being recovered.

January 19

President Roosevelt approved the Manhattan Project, which was the program that led to the complete surrender of Japan.

January 20

A Japanese submarine that was rumoured to have contained code-books that were 'a godsend for the Navy codebreakers at Pearl Harbor,' was sunk.

1944 (extremely important event)

June 4

The U-505 with numerous code-books and two up-to-date Enigma machines, was captured. That very same day, Rome was taken by the Allies. Since the Vatican was used as a blackmail facility, it should come as no surprise that the Americans renamed the U-505, to "USS Nemo."

*Also, 'U-505' would be a 5:5 signal, so even if the historical records are correct, and the Americans actually captured a U-boat containing Enigma machines that day, it most likely was not the U-505.

1945

April 29

From February to May, 1945, there were secret negotiations between representatives of the United States and of Nazi forces, for the surrender of German forces in Northern Italy, codenamed, 'Operation Sunrise.' The official surrender was signed on April 29th, although hostilities continued until May 2nd. Also, on April 29th, US Naval Officers captured an Enigma machine, named 'Enigma D, A1214,' in Northern Italy.

ADDITIONAL CHEERIOATS CONNECTIONS

Original box example:

<https://www.generalmills.com/news/stories/5-things-you-didnt-know-about-cheerios>

May 1945 cartoon advertisement with obvious implications:

<https://chroniclingamerica.loc.gov/lccn/sn83045462/1945-05-06/ed-1/seq-100/>

[The character named Joe, gets the idea of a ring from a gal being painted in a bathing suit, which represents that an exposed person being recorded, results in a 'ring.' Interestingly enough, the cartoons above that one are about finding the Achilles heel, and locking up shoes; 'shoes' in narrative code being, 'assets,' or 'boots on the ground.']

Cartoon advertisement containing a sign for free ice cream, and a strong man in leopard print:

https://64.media.tumblr.com/3e5c97fae9d088e430bab4dbb83927e3/tumblr_n9m1ym06qJ1s3zerco1_1280.jpg

[The ice cream fits well with the Bombe, and 'scream.']

Leopard print has quite the connection to Playboy and such, so it is likely that the symbolism has prior blackmail connections. Also, circuses usually have three rings, as well as a 'ringmaster,' and the word 'circus' literally comes from a word that means both 'circle,' and 'ring.']

There is also a prominent cartoon character in the Cheerioats ads, named 'Cheerio O'Leary,' which further indicates the 'cheerio' message.
(<https://chroniclingamerica.loc.gov/lccn/sn83045462/1942-07-19/ed-1/seq-75/>, and <https://chroniclingamerica.loc.gov/lccn/sn83045462/1942-08-16/ed-1/seq-88/>)

Turing and Apple

There is additional information about Alan Turing and 'apples,' that is worth looking at. As mentioned earlier, 'apples' have to do with 'exposure.' Alan Turing is said to have died from intentionally eating part of a cyanide-laced apple. Alan Turing represents pressure and creating rings, so eating an apple refers to exposing and killing those ops, and data. Alan Turing is also known as the father of modern computing. The 'Apple' company logo of a partially eaten apple is not based on Alan Turing, but rather, shares related symbolism. Apple computers were originally somewhat designed to be like Enigma machines or the Submerged Telegraph; that is, designed to send orders and to create 'strings.' They were also designed for spying and creating blackmail 'rings,' hence the apple logo and name. The first Apple computer's introductory price in April 1976, was $666.66 USD. (Apple's first logo from 1976 was of Isaac Newton sitting by a tree with an apple hanging above his head, and the partially eaten apple logo was created in 1977.)

It isn't recommended reading, but the FBI released documents on the Finders, that show an intended use of early computers.

Alan Turing is also known for his theory, called the Imitation Game. The idea is to have a machine and a person complete the same task, and to see if the observer of the written task can tell the difference. This seems to mean that when you can't talk about people, machines can be used to represent them; for instance, Enigma machines representing blackmailed people. An imitation is something that is used in place of the real thing.

Final Note on Other 'Enigma' Examples

This same Enigma symbolism is found in the DC comic character, the 'Riddler.' Riddler is also known as 'Edward Enigma,' or 'Edward Nigma.' In most comics, his character creates traps and riddles, and is sometimes involved in blackmailing wealthy people. His main colors are green and purple, which interestingly, are also found with characters named 'Enigma,' in other media:

- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Enigma_\(Vertigo\))
- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Enigma_\(DC_Comics\))
- <https://www.goodreads.com/book/show/48850916-julieta-and-the-diamond-enigma>
- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Enigma_\(Marvel_Comics\))

The 666 Plan to Ensure Nazi Germany Did Not Succeed
'Enigma rings,' as important as they were, would not have been able to win WWII. Also, the Enigma operation was not part of the 666's plan, but rather, was harmful to them. The 666's plan to ensure Nazi Germany would not win the war, was to cause the entrance of the greatest superpower of that time, the United States. The military and industrial power of the U.S. was necessary to stop the Nazis, but it was also delayed so that there would be enough time for the 666's other ops - namely, the scare that would lead to the creation of Israel. This entrance into the war was brought about by having their American assets help create a false flag on American soil, in order to stir up enough public opinion, for America to enter the war. The false flag was the attack on Pearl Harbor. At the beginning of the war, public opinion in support of joining the war was only at 7%, but by November 1941, with tensions rising between the US and Japan, public opinion in support of entering the war was at 68%. After Pearl Harbor, public opinion rose to 91%. Obviously, Japan carried out the attack, so how did the 666's American assets help? The attack was provoked by Roosevelt's oil embargo, but as to why the attack was not foreseen, we turn to another Disney film; this one from October 1941, titled, Dumbo. Notably, the codename of US Navy air-sea rescue missions during the 1940's and 50's, was "Dumbo," - based on the Disney movie. Dumbo is now the unofficial nickname for any air-sea rescue. Also, in 2014, the artist Banksy compared Dumbo to the U.S. air force in the Iraq wars. With this in perspective, what does the narrative code in the film imply?

An elephant whose big ears are compared to wings, and with an ability to fly that is compared to 'an airplane,' represents the U.S. Air Force.

Dumbo makes reference to 'acting dumb,' as in, 'ignoring radar and other intel of an impending attack.'

Timothy, the mouse, states, "All we have to do is build an act, make a star, a headliner," meaning a public sensation or shock.

Dumbo joining the clowns in their fire/emergency act, means being made a fool of and allowing the emergency.

Falling into a pie relates to 'Pie/Pi,' meaning coded instructions.

*Pi is a mathematical constant referred to by a symbol, hence its use as 'coded instructions.'

Only toward the end of the film does Dumbo learn to fly, and then he becomes a hit. He makes sounds like an airplane while dive bombing at the clowns, which illustrates that after the emergency, there would be a counterattack; in reality, meaning that after the attack on Pearl Harbor, they would take to the air (air-sea rescue).

[Sidenote: Additional confirmation of 'Dumbo' having to do with the U.S. joining the war, is seen with the 'Dumbo operations' having been announced to the public on August 6, 1946, the same day as the bombing of Hiroshima - in a sense, the final counterattack to Pearl Harbor.
(<https://content.time.com/time/subscriber/article/0,33009,803659,00.html>)]

1954:

The first books of LotR were published in 1954, so it is no coincidence that the predecessor narrative code symbol to Sauron's Ring, the 'Nautilus,' was the name of the U.S. submarine launched that year.

The USS Nautilus was the first nuclear powered sub. 'Nuclear' is not just about big physical explosives, but also about other control mechanisms, such as information that would cause a shock - 'explosive information,' so to speak. 'Blackmail' is an incredibly powerful weapon, and hence all the secrecy around it. Hiding information about blackmail by talking about nuclear power, provides perfect camouflage, and also allows covert aware people to know what is going on - information hidden in plain sight. The word 'nuclear' actually comes from the word 'nucleus,' and 'nucleus,' as mentioned earlier, has to do with 'center of control.' So in this instance, Nemo's 'N' flag, and 'nuclear,' essentially have the same meaning.

The historic North Pole expedition in 1958, 'Operation Sunshine,' makes the 'control' message all that much clearer.

(In 1954, Kelloggs released a toy Nautilus submarine in their cereal boxes - further demonstrating that it was major news across all milieus.)

There was also the December 23rd release of Disney's 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea film. The film's plot incorporates elements from both Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Seas, as well as The Mysterious Island, but with a new spin. Notably, within the film plot, there is a military coalition that goes after Nemo and the Nautilus, and at the end of the film, the Nautilus is flooded, and the island, Vulcania, explodes. Although Nemo is the antagonist of the film, by how Nemo's character and ambitions are portrayed, one can tell that the film's creators' sympathies were more in line with the 666 than with Patriots.

Narrative Code of LotR not covered in the other Substack:

'Frodo' is the Latinized version of the Old Norse name 'Fróði,' which means 'wise' or 'learned.' Wisdom, although not necessarily the same, is often linked to intelligence. Adding 'intelligence' to the fact that Frodo was 33 years old at the beginning of the book, would likely mean that in narrative code, Frodo stood for 'military intelligence groups.'

Tolkien, reportedly, would sometimes hide his surname in his writing. According to Tolkien, Tolkien means foolhardy, so Took in LotR was probably meant to be his name, especially since Gandalf, at one point, says to Pippin, Fool of a Took.

The seven Palantiri are compared and portrayed as stars in LotR. They broadcast the future and are used to communicate with other people, and that is exactly what stars, that is, celebrities, are often used for. If one knows narrative code, then many of the publicly reported actions of stars can be informative as to current ops. It is no surprise that 1954 was the debut year of a star whose name had one letter less than elvish ... that is, of course, Elvis. His first hit, on July 19, 1954, was ten days before the publication of The Fellowship of the Ring.

[The words for star and elf share the same basic element, EL star, in Tolkien's Elvish.]

In addition to information in the other Substack post, a further connection of Saruman to the Vatican, is Saruman's usage of a white S-rune as his emblem on orcs' helms. 'S' is 'snake' in narrative code. As mentioned earlier, 'snake' means 'a group of people working as one whole.' The head of the snake via the Rothschild's control was in the Vatican, and that's why the Hall of the Pontifical Audiences, built in 1971, looks like a snake:

The building is also a 'shell structure.'

However, in 1954, the pope flipped and started working against the 666. Not everyone at the Vatican was happy about that, though, so there was narrative code stating that the Pope had hiccups, which meant, he was saying things or releasing information that was frowned upon:

<https://www.nytimes.com/2004/02/25/opinion/IHT-1954pope-ordered-back-to-bed-in-our-pages100-75-and-50-years-ago.html>

Pope Pius XII died in Gandolfo Castle in 1958. He was the first pope to die in Gandolfo, which may be LotR-type narrative code communicating that he flipped, since Gandolfo looks somewhat like Gandalf. Gandalf is of Old Norse origin, meaning magic staff elf or wizard elf, and Gandolfo comes from Gandolf, which means magic staff wolf or sorcerer wolf - not a perfect connection, but the best that would have been conceivably possible.

*This does not mean that all subsequent popes that did not die in Gandolfo, were not pro-Patriot; however, in 1958, the Gandolfo/Gandalf message would have been very relevant.

[Sidenote: After Pope Pius XII, the next pope was Pope John XXIII, who brought in the Second Vatican Council, which among other things, resulted in the Novus Ordo Missae.]

It is also worth mentioning that the US nuclear tests at Bikini Atoll in 1954, were called Operation Castle, as castles will be quite relevant later on.

'Castles' are another term for 'the main hub of an operation.' Castles are also connected to chess narrative code, as chess is a game of castle warfare. A chess board has two rooks on each side like pillars, akin to the 11 signal.

Modern covert warfare is very much like chess, so not surprisingly, portions of LotR correlate to chess players, and/or to a chess match.

Sauron, much like a king piece in chess, is mostly stuck at the end of the board.

The Nazgul are much like black queen pieces, or bishops.

Gandalf is much like the white queen piece.

Two Towers would be akin to rooks.

Hobbits are like pawns, and that being the case, like a pawn, when Frodo, Sam, and Gollum reach the end, their actions are like a pawn becoming a queen piece... and, checkmate.

Tolkien probably did not intend all of the chess analogy, but he would have been aware of the chess nature of the covert world. There is even this quote from LotR: "The board is set, and the pieces are moving. One piece that I greatly desire to find is Faramir, now the heir of Denethor... But the Enemy has the move, and he is about to open his full game. And pawns are likely to see as much of it as any, Peregrin son of Paladin, soldier of Gondor." - The Return of the King

Pawns, whether they be hobbits, or orcs, can take down a king, queen, or any other piece, given the right position... The 666 has not maintained power because of huge armies or unparalleled technology, but because of strategically placed threats. However, too often, they underestimate the power of hobbits, and the planning and strength of the will of good people.

The 666's Ops during the 1950s

The 666 was grabbing for their own power with the founding of CERN in 1954, for the purpose of nuclear research. CERN would later create the World Wide Web. One needs to consider the power of all that, as it is essentially the nucleus of the internet. The name says it all - a world wide web, 'web,' as in a spider's trap - SPYder. The first web server was created with a NeXT computer. NeXT was a company founded by Steve Jobs, who was also one of the three founders of Apple.

*Apple computers, as mentioned earlier, were designed for blackmail and spying, and the company bluntly gave away their association with the first computer's introductory price, of $666.66.

The 'Ring' was not able to be exposed during that time, and 'Mordor' was not defeated, so the 666 kept gaining in strength.

Castles and 11

The WTC (World Trade Center) was the new hub of the 666. A number of people may take offence to this statement, because of the vast number of honest and good-hearted people worked at the WTC. However, the WTC was the structure that corrupt organizations used, in order to store data and run some of their operations from.

David Rockefeller suggested the idea of building the WTC, and his brother, Nelson Rockefeller, was the person who signed the legislation to build it.

The construction of the World Trade Center started in 1966, the choice of year likely implying 66, or 666, as the intended communication.

[Sidenote regarding ZIM: The year 1966 also saw the destruction of the Beit ZIM building, due to a fire, on Rothschild Boulevard in Israel. ZIM is a shipping company with a prominent seven star logo – the same symbol that was originally suggested for the flag of Israel. The plot of land that the Beit ZIM building had been on, was later used to build the Rothschild 22 Tower.]

Apart from the Twin Towers literally being shaped like a giant 11, and each of them having 110 stories, there was another connected eleven code from that time.

April 4th, 1973

The WTC officially opens in NYC, with a ribbon cutting ceremony.

April 5th, 1973

The Pioneer 11 is launched into outer space.

'Eleven' is a 'gateway,' or 'pillars,' and combining that with pioneer, it becomes a notification for new ops recruitment for a 'new hub,' or 'new castle.'

Pioneer 11 was the sister rocket to the Pioneer 10, which could be another Twin symbol. Pioneer 11 was sent to look at Jupiter and Saturn.

So the 666 had a hub for their operations, but where were they getting their funding? One might think it was from the Rothschild's amassed fortune, but it does not quite work that way. Since there are layers of power, most things at this stage would not have been micromanaged by the Rothschilds, and certainly, the Rothschilds would not want a paper trail connected to them. The Cult prefers to spend taxpayer money, and not to dig into their own funds. They needed an enormous, and already expensive program through which to funnel money, and the easiest one was NASA. NASA was not the only program they could have used, and did use, to money launder, but it was one of the largest and most consistent. Money could easily go missing without being nearly as obvious as a $10,000 toilet seat, or a $435 hammer:
<https://www.washingtontimes.com/news/2018/jul/10/senator-demands-answers-pentagons-10k-toilet-seat/>.

In 1961, the year the WTC plans were publicly announced, there was also the launch of Project Gemini. In 1966, the year of the groundbreaking for the WTC, the Gemini mission ended.

*Project Gemini's last flight was on November 11, 1966.

Gemini means twins in Latin, and the mission was named after the third constellation of the Zodiac with its twin stars, Castor and Pollux.

On May 14, exactly 40 days after the opening of the WTC, there was the launch of Skylab. Forty days is most prominently remembered as the number of days Noah was within the ark, and that was exactly what Skylab represented; an ark – in this instance, a place for holding data. The number forty, even in regards to Noah's Ark, historically means completion, which connected with the completion of the building of the World Trade Center. The Skylab was quite literally a symbol in the sky. The 666's prior main facility was the Vatican, and if one were able to view the Skylab from earth, it is no surprise that it would have looked almost exactly like the Chi Rho symbol. The reason it looked this way, is because after it was in orbit, they had to remove one of the solar arrays. Had they needed to remove the other side instead of the one they did, it would not have looked nearly as much like the Chi Rho symbol. The story was that it was damaged during launch, and hence its removal, but the true story is more likely that it was purposefully damaged, or even designed in such a way as to cause its needed removal. Not only would the Chi Rho symbol connect to the Vatican, but it would also imply the meaning of death and resurrection, since the Chi Rho symbol is a symbol for Christ. Not surprisingly, the 666 steals and distorts many good symbols for their own means. The famous origin story of the Chi Rho symbol is that it appeared in the sky, from God, as a symbol of victory, to the Roman Emperor Constantine. The symbol is made up of an X and a P – important to keep in mind, because this symbol will reappear later, in the context of a similar event.

Another connection of Skylab to the operations occurring in the World Trade Center, is that on April 4th and April 5th, 1973, there were major Skylab news briefings at the Marshall Space Flight Center (MSFC). The director of MSFC, and the MSFC manager for the Skylab Program, gave the general presentation on the program, followed by a series of various presentations by specialists. Reporters and commentators from the U.S., and from several foreign countries, were in attendance. The planned May 14th date of the launch was also officially confirmed on the 5th of April – meaning that the launch of Skylab was coordinated with the opening of the World Trade Center, and the Pioneer launch.

1976

Taking a look at a message sent by the Palantir, Elvis:

On January 30, 1976, George H. W. Bush became the director of the CIA. Two days later, on February 1st, 1976, Elvis, along with Captain Jerry Kennedy of the Denver Police, and Ron Pietrafesa of Colorado's Strike Force, flew from Memphis to Denver in order to have 22 Fool's Gold Loaf sandwiches from the Colorado Mine Company.

'Mine' and 'mining' had to do with 'acquiring blackmail.'

'Sandwich' meant 'job,' and bread was the offer of payment – 'bread', 'dough,' or 'money.' The inside of the sandwich was the job description. The Fool's Gold Loaf was loaded with peanut butter, and 'peanut butter' has to do with 'sexual operations.'

[Sidenote regarding peanut butter: This is why Bill Clinton's favourite sandwich was based on Elvis's Fool's Gold Loaf, and why the spy sub couple in the news these days, the Toebbe couple, supposedly hid an SD card in half of a peanut butter sandwich.]

So the message was that Bush was recruiting people for sexpionage ops.

Fool's Gold would mean that the person being blackmailed, would be unaware of being blackmailed, as they would be the fool – as opposed to someone knowingly being blackmailed in order to move up within the Cult side of the covert world.

The plane's pilot who joined Elvis and the others in the meal of sandwiches, was named Milo High, which sounds like mile high, as in the Mile High Club.

*By the way, Denver is also known as the Mile High City.

The restaurant's interesting online description is quoted here:

"The Colorado Mine Company was one of those places that wasn't what it seemed. It was a dive bar of sorts, but slightly classier and wrapped in a unique style of western kitsch with a menu to match. It was the kind of place your mother had warned you about, but that only made it that much more fun to hang out there...

Off-duty cops, big-name athletes, some unctuous types you'd never question and journalists alike were all ushered into a back, grotto-like room. Everybody was everyone else's best friend, although you'd never recognize them during daylight hours. It was the night's last watering hole. There was always a sense that something dark and untoward could happen at any second..."

So blackmail collection and/or creation was happening in Denver. But notice, on December 21, 1977, Denver became the headquarters of the DOE Western Area Power Administration. The DOE started operations on October 1, 1977, after President Carter signed The Department of Energy Act of 1977 into law on August 4, 1977.

*Again, DOE comes from doe, the female reindeer (from the North) with the Y head/antlers - a department to hide nuclear information in.

Elvis died on August 16, 1977, at 3:30pm. The day prior on the 15th, there was the supposed Wow alien signal, which was likely a go signal for removing Elvis - obviously that signal did not come from outer space. One of the autopsy reports stated that Elvis had been constipated for four months, which is a crude way of saying that he was trying to release evidence.

That alien message is also why in a number of movies that portray alien spacecrafts coming to earth, there is an inside joke when one of the characters says, "I hope they bring Elvis back," for instance, in Independence Day, Men in Black, etc.

Also, in August 1977, on the 3rd, thirteen days before the death of Elvis, and on the very day before the creation of the Department of Energy, there was the MKUltra Senate hearing, which had been brought about by the 1975 Church Committee. (<https://www.intelligence.senate.gov/sites/default/files/hearings/95mkultra.pdf>)

There were many programs and a lot of information that the 666 wanted hidden and off shored, MKUltra being just one example; thus, the creation of the DOE.

Since neither side had complete control, and both were struggling for leverage, the publication of The Silmarillion by Tolkien, in 1977, makes perfect sense. It is written about the times before the War of the Ring. The scenario at that point had gone back in time, so to speak.

1979

In the year 1979, Skylab crashed to earth. Interestingly, it was predicted by British mathematician, Desmond King-Hele, and his team, to only last six years, that is, until 1979, due to increased solar activity.

Sometimes predictions are just predictions, but at other times they are the result of exclusive information of preplanned events - similar to the idea of Palantiri being able to see into the future.

'Solar activity' would mean 'light,' or 'exposure.' It has already been explained that 'lightning' and 'apples' can mean exposure, but since narrative code is placed within an overt context, there have to be multiple hit codes that can mean the same thing. It would not work to say that Skylab was hit by lightning, or a partly eaten apple.

NORAD made a forecast of Skylab's 1979 reentry in 1977, which might have been because of the exposure going on with the Senate committee bringing up dirt.

President Carter also flipped from being a 666 installed puppet, to being controlled by the military, around that time. One of the indications of this is his recommendation in February 1980, to bring back the military draft, and to also include women in the draft. It comes across as a pro-military message, but with the recent end to the Vietnam war, the recommendation would have been political suicide, helping pave the way for the election of Ronald Reagan, later that year. There was an even more clear indication of him flipping to being military-controlled, which requires looking at some of the most popular media of that time – Star Wars. The following are quotes of George Lucas openly admitting to some of the political parallels he was making with the films:

"George Lucas has admitted that one of the biggest influences on the series was the Nixon era. In an interview with the Chicago Tribune, Lucas said Star Wars "was really about the Vietnam War, and that was the period where Nixon was trying to run for a [second] term, which got me to thinking historically about how do democracies get turned into dictatorships? Because the democracies aren't overthrown; they're given away." "

"In "The Making of Star Wars: Return of the Jedi," when asked if Emperor Palpatine was a Jedi at one point in his life, Lucas responded, "No, he was a politician. Richard M. Nixon was his name. He subverted the senate and finally took over and became an imperial guy and he was really evil. But he pretended to be a really nice guy." "

"Most famously, Lucas got some heat for giving Anakin a line of dialogue that was almost verbatim from a Bush speech. Anakin says to Obi Wan before his ultimate betrayal, "If you're not with me then you're my enemy." Bush's line was, ""You're either with us or you're with the enemy." "

https://www.huffpost.com/entry/star-wars-is-more-political-than-you-think_b_590b663de4b056aa2363d298

"Lucas explained politely as I listened contritely. Anakin Skywalker is a promising young man who is turned to the dark side by an older politician and becomes Darth Vader. "George Bush is Darth Vader," he said. "Cheney is the emperor." "

<https://www.nytimes.com/2009/04/19/opinion/19dowd.html>

<https://www.chicagotribune.com/news/ct-xpm-2005-05-18-0505180309-story.html>

<https://time.com/4975813/star-wars-politics-watergate-george-lucas/>

It's very similar to how the creator of Star Trek (Gene Roddenberry) used Star Trek as a type of political commentary, without having to worry about receiving backlash.

"Roddenberry stated: "[By creating] a new world with new rules, I could make statements about sex, religion, Vietnam, politics, and intercontinental missiles. Indeed, we did make them on Star Trek: we were sending messages and fortunately they all got by the network." "If you talked about purple people on a far off planet, they (the television network) never really caught on....

Roddenberry also gave Star Trek an anti-war message and depicted the United Federation of Planets as an ideal, optimistic version of the United Nations."

Lucas didn't say who Luke Skywalker was meant to portray, but being that the first movie came out in 1977, and both Luke Skywalker and Jimmy Carter were farmers, it is fairly easy to find the correlation. The message being that Carter will push back against the post-Nixon Republican Empire, and help hide information, Death Star plans. Luke Skywalker's original last name was Starkiller, meaning someone who can remove specific people, often being the stars. The way the 1980 Star Wars film demonstrates that President Carter flipped, is not by changing Luke's whole role in the story plot, but by changing the script of the movie to connect Luke Skywalker to Darth Vader, by making Darth Vader into Anakin Skywalker. That plot twist was even said to have surprised the actors. Also, having Luke's arm and right hand cut off, and replaced with a Vader-like robotic arm, further indicates a Vader connection, as well as showing a new control over Carter, as the right hand has historically implied power and authority.

Carter flipping to pro-military was a good thing, as the USA military has, for the most part, been Patriot-controlled. The military has been one of the major hindrances for the 666's plans of complete control.

On the other side, since the 666 works via infiltration, political parties are mostly just a puppet show to keep the masses distracted. There have been some good politicians that are not puppets, but they are few and far between, and even some of the good ones have sometimes been compromised.

Nazis in the Media

Starting especially in the 1960s, the 666 began to take control of media and entertainment, so many movies and shows that have been used as vehicles of narrative code, have therefore portrayed Patriots and the military as the stories' bad guys – just as the Empire and dark side of the Force, in Star Wars.

Notice, in Star Wars, that the dark side's forces, the Stormtroopers, share the same name with WWI Imperial German specialist soldiers, which was also a similar name to the Nazi Sturmabteilung, that is, the Storm Detachment.

This requires some clarification, as earlier it was shown that the Nazis were the 666's puppets. The Nazis were not the same thing as the 666, because although some Nazis may have previously been part of, or joined the 666, the Nazis as a whole were only used by the 666. Whereas the 666 is covert, Nazis were mostly an overt group. This is somewhat similar to how the worm on a fishing hook is only associated with the angler, in so far as the angler is the one using the worm for bait; the two are not the same. Also, the covert world works in layers, meaning many covert people only know the narrative code they have been raised with, and most would not even know about the 666's involvement in the world wars. So Nazi, to the lower masses of the covert world, would simply be a message of these are the dictatorial and militant bad guys, much like calling someone a nazi is used as an overt expression, these days.

In order to understand a narrative code symbol, one often needs to trace its use in history, but other historical connections do not necessarily result in a symbolic connection. The 666 does not use Nazi as a symbol in reference to themselves, nor do Patriots call the 666, Nazis – although the atrocities of both are comparable, they are, and were, two different groups.

Star Wars began an era of comparing Patriots and the military, and pro-Patriot politicians, to Nazis. That comparison, however, makes solving a lot of media from around that time, quite easy. There were a number of movies and other media, with plots that either had to do with keeping treasure away from Nazis, or stealing treasure from the Nazis.

As a small example:

Indiana Jones: Raiders of the Lost Ark (1981),

Indiana Jones: The Last Crusade (1989)

Indiana Jones and the Fate of Atlantis, video game (1992)

Enigma (2001)

U-571 (2000)

Wolfenstein, video game (1981)

[Sidenote regarding video games: Video games might seem like an odd genre of media to use, but they are trying to reach all ages and levels of the Cult. A good example of a video game being used to send narrative code, is the game, Borderlands. Borderlands is the meaning of Ukraine, and is also used as a common nickname for Ukraine. After every single release of a Borderlands video game, there has always been some sort of confrontation or emergency event in Ukraine.

The DLC's also correlate to events in Ukraine. Although the timing did not follow the usual pattern, this last Borderlands' game, Tiny Tina's Wonderlands, was released a month into Russia's invasion of Ukraine.]

The reason that all the media listed above share a similar plot line, is because at that time, Patriots were attempting to collect 'blackmail' and 'evidence' of 666 perpetrated crimes, to use as leverage against the 666 and the 666's puppets. The 666 obviously did not want them to obtain that 'treasure.'

Additionally, there is the element that the media wanted the military, and Patriot politicians, such as Reagan, to look like dictators, or nazis.

A person who was directly compared to a Nazi at that time, was George H. W. Bush. Prescott Bush was one of the seven directors of the New York based Union Banking Corp., an investment bank that was owned by another bank, controlled by the Thyssen family. Fritz Thyssen was an early supporter of Hitler, although he stopped supporting the Nazis in 1938, and fled to Switzerland due to his disagreement with the Nazis' persecuting of Jews and Catholics. Thyssen was arrested in Switzerland, and was in a Nazi prison from 1941 to 1945. Based on that, the historical Nazi connection to the Bush family is very weak, especially, considering that Prescott Bush only owned one share of the Union Banking Corp. So whether the historical Nazi connection is true or not, the point at that time was simply to make Bush and pro-military politicians look like Nazis. Many people think both of the Bush presidents were Deep State, so this will require some clarification in order to understand the ops of that time. It cannot be stated whether the Bush presidents were complete Patriots, but it can be proven that they were not for the 666, and that they were working with the U.S. military, for the most part. There were some messy situations, and both Bush presidents ended up making bargains with the 666 toward the end of their presidencies.

Indications that George H. W. Bush, and George W. Bush were generally patriotic:

Reagan, who was extremely pro military and pro freedom, a truly great patriot, believed in George H. W. Bush, and picked him as his vice presidential nominee, in 1980. At the end of his tenure, Reagan left a message for Bush, on stationary that read, "Don't let the turkeys get you down," with an illustration of an elephant with turkeys on its back.

'Turkeys' are generally a symbol for the CIA. 'Turkey' is an older narrative code symbol than the CIA, and sometimes has to do with making sacrifices for a cause, but its basic association with the CIA has to do with the fact that the call to limit meat began the same month that the CIA was formed. Truman ended that call three months later, by accepting a turkey from the National Turkey Federation - which was the beginning of the official Turkey Presentations at the White House. Essentially, Truman was saying that he accepts the meat, that is, the CIA. The first person to refuse a turkey was JFK, and he was assassinated three days later. The turkey was notably 55lbs, which was a "5:5" agreement signal, so JFK's refusal signalled his refusal to cooperate with the CIA. There is a similar story recorded in 1865 about how Lincoln spared an 1863 Thanksgiving turkey, originally meant for the dinner table. It is a fairly obvious insinuation of the 1865 assassination, and the 1863 Proclamation of Emancipation.

[Side note regarding narrative code: As mentioned earlier, because of multiple contexts, there is the need for multiple narrative code symbols with similar meanings to fit inside those contexts. Additionally, having multiple different codes helps negate the possibility that people who are not aware of narrative code, suddenly see patterns. One may wonder why good people in the covert world have not taught the overt world about narrative code. Some people have tried to do so in the past, but there are two main reasons it has not happened on a wide scale.

1. It has been exceedingly dangerous to reveal this type of code without becoming a target, because the whole framework of the covert world depends upon it for communication and control.

2. Narrative code has been designed in such a way as to make anyone who wants to expose it, appear crazy. For example, imagine trying to convince someone of a secret network that uses the words, CheeriOats, and aliens, to communicate with.]

Returning to the earlier mention of President Reagan leaving the newly elected President Bush a note – Reagan was telling Bush not to let the Turkeys, meaning the CIA, get him down, but to push back against them like he did.

At the time he became the CIA director, George H. W. Bush obviously had correspondence with Elvis, and Elvis was definitely a Patriot. Being connected to the CIA would typically not have a good connotation, but as with George H. W. Bush, it always works on a person to person basis. Taking into consideration that the president decides on the director for the CIA, there have been some good ones. Also, the fact that Bush was kicked out by Carter, further indicates that he was not helping the 666's plans.

According to the WikiLeaks release of the Podesta emails, Jeb Bush was on top of the DNC's list of 2016 presidential candidates to undermine. It is likely that they thought he was the military's pick, though unbeknownst to them, it was actually Donald Trump. Obviously, the Democrats are not necessarily the 666's party, nor has the Republican party always been Patriot-leaning, but for that particular year and a number of other years, the Democrat party presidential candidates have been 666's puppets.

The World Trade Center attack on 9/11 is often given as an example for George W. Bush being an evil mastermind – that will be covered later, and it will be revealed as to how and why he was framed for it.

The Wolfenstein video game is a good one to look at, because it shows the connection of the Cult trying to remove treasure from Bush.

Timberwolf was George H. W. Bush's Secret Service name, hence the choice of video game name since wolf relates well to 'Wolfenstein.' The connection becomes even more clear when you look at the release dates of the games.

The first game, Castle Wolfenstein, was released in 1981, which was the first year George H. W. Bush was vice president. The next game was released in 1984, the year Reagan and Bush were again elected. The company that created the game, legally disbanded in 1987, but in 1991, a different company decided to bring it back, and released a new version in 1992. In the new version, there is a new main character, 'William Joseph ("B.J.") Blazkowicz,' an American spy who fights the Nazis. The first name and initials of that character are the same as Bill Clinton's original name, and he would be elected that same year.

William Jefferson Blythe (Bill Clinton)

William Joseph Blazkowicz (Game protagonist)

The next release was in 2001 with the Return to Castle Wolfenstein, which was the first year of the George W. Bush presidency.

George H. W. Bush only had four years, and towards the end of his presidency, he made a deal with the new administration, on the threat of being targeted for an assassination.

The film, The Bodyguard, was released on November 25, 1992, just 22 days after the presidential election. The most famous soundtrack from that movie is Whitney Houston singing, I Will Always Love You, which she had released on November 3rd – the same day as the election.

The movie stars Whitney Houston in her acting debut, along with Kevin Costner and Bill Cobbs.

Frank Farmer (Kevin Costner) is hired by Bill Devaney (Bill Cobbs) to protect Rachel Marron (Whitney Houston) from a stalker, and a hitman.

BREAKDOWN OF THE BODYGUARD'S NARRATIVE CODE

The bodyguard has the last name Farmer, and "The Farm" is a common nickname for the CIA. So, The Farm will be enlisted by Bill C. to supposedly protect Houston from a so-called random assassination, but it comes with a cost (COSTner). The cost of the bodyguard is that Houston will "I will always love you."

So who is Houston?

That would be George H. W. Bush, because he was from Houston, Texas.

Interestingly, it is mentioned three times in the film, that the bodyguard, Frank Farmer, a former Secret Service agent, was not on shift when Reagan was shot.

The film is essentially telling Bush not to screw the incoming administration, or he will be subject to a random killing.

The song also says, "If I should stay, I would only be in your way. So I'll go," also implying that they will not go after him if he will get out of their way.

There were many ways that Bush could have tried to screw the next administration before the end of his presidency, but he did not want to risk assassination - it is possible that the threat did not just apply to him, but also to his family. (This is not in the least to defend his actions, but simply to state what the options were that he was presented with, and the choice he made.)

This does not mean that Whitney Houston represented Bush; it only applied here because of the timing. Taking narrative code messages like this one out of their timeline of immediate events, leaves them without the context with which to decode them. Without some correlation to current events, narrative code will be out of context and will not make sense - narrative code relies upon, and is built on a type of narrative.

The deal obviously worked because on April 13, 1993, Kuwaiti authorities supposedly foiled an attempted assassination on George H. W. Bush. Bill Clinton responded to that supposed assassination attempt, by launching cruise missiles at what was believed to be the headquarters of the Iraqi Intelligence Service.

The Secretary of Defence later said this about the missile attack:

"What we're doing is sending a message against the people who were responsible for planning this operation... If anybody asks the same people to do it again, they will remember this message."

Only seven days after that foiled attempt, on April 21st, there was the pilot episode of Walker, Texas Ranger. One of George H. W. Bush's middle names is "Walker." In the episode, one of Walker's friends gets shot by a rouge CIA agent, while responding to a bank heist, and at his grave, among other things, Walker says, "go with the eagle." Eagle is Bill Clinton's SS name. At the end of the episode, Walker successfully rides a dangerous bull called the "Terminator," which would be a message of avoiding being terminated.

1993, Epstein, and Trafficking

Jeffrey Epstein purchased Zorro Ranch on February 22, 1993. In order to prove that Epstein was not just a random diabolic criminal and was originally backed by many people in high positions, consider the fact that the very day he purchased Zorro Ranch, the TV film Babylon 5: The Gathering, debuted, with a main character named, "Jeffrey Sinclair" - noticeably, the first syllable of the character's last name is sin. The film is about a group of alien races joining together in council with the human race. Interestingly, Epstein's birthdate, May 6th, 1952, falls in the middle of the very first CERN council, May 5th to 8th, 1952.

Patriots, in order to have leverage in the covert world, create blackmail, but their sexual blackmail ops are basically limited to adult sexpionage. Sometimes it is not even a matter of creating blackmail, but simply of finding and gathering blackmail that already exists. On the flip side, the 666, as shown by Epstein and Ghislaine Maxwell, employ truly evil means for creating blackmail.

'Submarines,' as shown regarding the Nautilus, can insinuate 'blackmail control,' but even actual submarines can be used for blackmail ops, and trafficking. Consider the fact that Ghislaine Maxwell is a submarine pilot, and that Jeffrey Epstein had an island, and how that could all be used to traffic children for blackmail, or to bring people to a hidden place to commit crimes without fear of repercussion.

Trafficking often works by infiltration, either by infiltrating a preexisting group, or by setting up an organization that overtly does good things, but covertly allows for trafficking. Traffickers will use poverty stricken, war-torn, and disaster areas to steal children, as the children disappear without a record. For instance, in 1994, Hurricane Gordon supposedly resulted in around 2,000 deaths and disappearances in Haiti. If some of the children that disappeared had actually been trafficked during the rescue operations, would anyone ever know?

Planet Rings, and Polanski

In regard to the 666's more heinous methods of blackmail, another person of note is Roman Polanski. Information regarding him pulls us back in the timeline to 1977, but the subject material fits in here. On March 10, 1977, Roman drugged and raped a thirteen-year-old girl at Jack Nicholson's house. Most reporting says that he was alone when he committed this act, but a reporter's transcript from the grand jury proceedings from March 24, 1977, reveals that he was not the only one at the residence. When Samantha Geimer, the thirteen-year-old victim, was asked how many people there were, she said, "There was three guys and two girls." That is why in the news on March 30th, scientists reported that they discovered at least five rings encircling the planet Uranus, much like the rings of Saturn. This does not mean the rings of Uranus don't exist, but rather that the announcement was timed to send another message. As well, the exact number of rings may have been known to be higher at the time, but saying "at least five" would fit the message, whereas a higher number would not.

Uranus is often used in crude jokes for the words, your anus. Also, the myth of Uranus has to do with castration and usurping, so the 'sexual control' aspect is very apparent.

<https://www.nytimes.com/1977/03/31/archives/uranus-is-encircled-by-5-rings-scientists-report-in-key-finding.html>

[Sidenote regarding Saturn: Saturn is nicknamed The Lord of the Rings, and the mountains (possibly volcanoes) on its moon, Titan, are named after mountains in LotR. Saturn also has a hexagon storm at its north pole, called the Eye of Saturn, with supposed winds of up to 330 miles per hour.]

Back to 1993

In February 1993, there was a truck bombing under the Twin Towers. While it may have come across as a random overt terrorist attack, there were definitely 666 handlers behind the scenes. This aspect will only be fully apparent, later on in the post.

The 666 will place the numbers 6, 66, or 666, in obvious view, to indicate when events are associated with, or regard them.

A few small indications that the bombing was connected to the 666 would be:

1. The bomb was reportedly 606 kg.

*There is debate as to what the bomb was actually made of, as according FBI agent Frederic Whitehurst, the FBI could not tell the difference between urea nitrate, or urine and sewage.

2. Khalid Shikh Mohammed, the uncle of Ramzi Yosef, gave $660 in funding for the attack.

*Khalid Shikh Mohammed was reportedly considered to be the principle architect of the 9/11 attacks.

3. Six people were killed as a result of the explosion.

There definitely seem to be some manipulated facts and/or numbers regarding this event.

Six people died, including one pregnant person. 'Pregnant,' in narrative code is much like 'wheat'; it refers to the start of an op.

Reportedly, exactly 17 children were trapped between the 35th and 36th floors, for five hours. The message likely being that classified children ops, that is, nemo ops, were in danger.

*The use of the number '17' simply means classified, and is derived from the U.S. Q clearance, which became the clearance of the D.O.E.

The whole event created the message that a 666 operation was underway to destroy incriminating evidence.

This related to the fact that in September 1993, there was the joint announcement for the plans of creating the I.S.S. - plans for a new castle for the 666's operations.

The plan for a new space station was announced by U.S. Vice President Al Gore, and Russian Prime Minister Viktor Chernomyrdin. They also announced the agreement that the U.S. would be involved in the Mir program, including U.S. Space Shuttle docking in the Shuttle-Mir program.

What program would give them a way to funnel enough money to move to a new location, and set up a new hub? How about a space station that has supposedly cost approximately $150 billion, when at the time of its announcement, Clinton said it would only cost $17.4 billion? '17.4' was likely a message of 'classified,' and '4/fore,' meaning something hidden, about to happen.

I.S.S., Soccer Balls, and Water Transfer

Another correlating message from around that time is the International Superstar Soccer, a football video game released on November 11, 1994. It shares the same initials as the International Space Station, and 'soccer' in narrative code has to do with 'data transfer.' This would be a very weak connection, but for other events that took place that same day:

- Bill Gates bought da Vinci's Codex

- The Progress M-25 was launched to the Mir space station

Those two listed events will soon be reviewed. First, though, how does 'soccer' relate to 'data transfer?' The iconic soccer ball look with the 32 alternating panels of white and black, is based off the look of a communication satellite that NASA launched in 1962, called, "Telstar."

<https://earthobservatory.nasa.gov/blogs/earthmatters/2018/06/14/world-cup-2018-satellites-soccer-balls-and-spectacular-space-images/>

This is why Putin handed Trump a symbolic soccer ball in 2018, and said, "now the ball is in your court." Mainstream media also reported that that type of Adidas ball likely contained a "transmitter chip," making the narrative code of handing over data, even more obvious.

<https://www.cnn.com/2018/07/25/politics/trump-putin-soccer-ball-chip-transmitter/index.html>, and <https://www.rt.com/sport/433414-putin-trump-summit-football-helsinki/>

As a final connection of 'soccer' to 'information transfer,' the U.S. version of the nuclear briefcase is called the 'nuclear football,' or just, the 'football.'

Other events of November 11, 1994:

As another message of 'data transfer,' Bill Gates purchased da Vinci's Codex, for $30,802,500.00. The subject of the Codex is the movement of water, and 'water' in narrative code, is 'information.' The Codex being acquired by a new owner would therefore be a message of the 'movement of information.'

The Codex had been previously purchased by Armand Hammer on December 12, 1980, which was the same day Apple launched its IPO.

The Codex, as well as the topic of the movement of water, contains da Vinci's theory of the moon being covered with water, which brings up an important bit of narrative code, the 'Moon.'

[Sidenote on the 'Moon': In narrative code, 'Moon' has to do with 'information control' and 'storage,' and often the 'hiding of information.' The 'hiding' aspect is based on the fact that the dark side of the Moon is never seen from Earth. Also, in actuality, since the moon's gravitational forces are partially responsible for the Earth's tides, this makes for simple symbolism of 'information control.' Jokingly, the Moon is said to be made of cheese, and cheese is a common saying when taking photos; therefore, in narrative code, the 'moon' can be made up of photos, that is, 'a place for storing blackmail recordings.' Remember Obi-Wan's line from Star Wars, "That's no moon. It's a space station."]

The last relevant major event was the Progress M-25 being launched to the Mir space station, as it was the space station to be replaced by the I.S.S.

(Though it is probably apparent by now, "November 11" is an "11" message, and by the way, the Shuttle-Mir program only had 11 missions.)

21st Century Events and Media:

The first stay at the I.S.S. started on November 2, 2000, affirming that the relocation to a new 666 hub would have already been long underway before the pivotal and controversial 2000 presidential election.

The Mir station deorbited on March 23, 2001, which was the anniversary of Project Gemini's first manned mission, March 23, 1965. Also, the number 23 is narrative code for 'quick removal,' for example:

1. According to legend, 23 people stabbed Julius Caesar.
2. 23 skidoo: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/23_skidoo_\(phrase\))
3. Traditionally, a Grand Jury is comprised of 23 members.
4. 23 enigma: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/23_enigma

So, '23' deorbiting, and the anniversary of Project Gemini (Twins) has to do with quickly removing ops and remaining information from the Twin Towers' hub.

On January 15, 2001, NASA took a picture of some of the Nazca lines.
(<https://earthobservatory.nasa.gov/images/5848/nazca-lines-peru>)

The context here is changed as it would not have been telling WWII Nazis where to flee, but the basic message of fleeing, or relocation, remained the same. The reason for a message about fleeing is given in the photo, as one of the lines is a depiction of a spider, which meant spyder/spying. Spying on what, though? Being that the photo was taken by NASA, the message would likely have been in reference to ops they were connected to. The danger was spying on the spiral (a spiral being the other lines' depiction in the photo). Now, what might a 'spiral' mean? Spiral galaxies, similar to ring galaxies, have a nucleus that the rest of the galaxy revolves around; as well, spirals are often seen in snail shells and seashells – meaning that there was spying on the 'central shell operations,' and hence a need to relocate those ops and assets.

MOVIES WITH RELEVANT NARRATIVE CODE:

The movie U-571, released in 2000, is important to look at. It is a movie about the U.S. capturing enigma machines from the Nazi U-571. Historically, the film's story is completely inaccurate, since nothing was recovered from the German U-571 boat, and also because it would not have been the Americans, but rather the British going after enigma machines, at that point. However, the movie was not intended to be historical. As with a lot of the other Nazi media from that time, the movie has to do with taking or keeping important 'evidence' and/or 'rings,' away from Patriots. The U-571 was chosen because "571" is the same number as the nuclear USS Nautilus SSN-571. The movie's narrative code is talking about the 'Ring,' that is, 'complete control.' Within the context of enigma machines, the 571 implies that it had to do with a lot of extremely incriminating data that the 666 wanted to get away from Patriots.

With the Nautilus (571) making an appearance in narrative code, it is no surprise that the year after, the first Lotr movie of the Peter Jackson trilogy, was released. With regard to the movies, the r in Lotr is intentionally lower case because the narrative code of the films does not follow the books, and does not have to do with 'L..R' (Lord Rothschild). Instead, Sauron represents George W. Bush and the military. The original meaning of the books was flipped for these movies, making the good people seem evil, and the truly evil people into the heroes of the story. It is of no surprise that Christopher Tolkien hated the films.

The Lotr movies had to do with data and asset transfer out of the WTC hub, and keeping the 'control' and 'evidence' (the 'Ring') away from Sauron.

The timing of the Two Towers movie in 2002 would obviously make people think of the Twin Towers.

The 'destruction of the Ring' in the films, represents the 'destruction of all the remaining data, evidence, and a number of witnesses' that could have ratted on them in the Twin Towers, and Building No. 7.

The 'crowning of Aragorn' is used as narrative code for the 'setting up of a new hub', or 'castle' for their operations. If you pay attention to the aerial footage of Minas Tirith in the movie, you will notice that it bears resemblance to a keyhole, and 'keys' have to do with 'data.'

The aerial view of St. Peter's Basilica and Square at the Vatican also resemble a key and keyhole, but that is almost assuredly because in the Bible, Peter is said to hold the "keys of the kingdom of heaven."

(Intel opens doors to knowledge that were previously locked, hence 'key,' representing 'intel' or 'data.')

Unlike the books' meaning where a 'hobbit destroying the Ring' has to do with

'public exposure,' the narrative code of the films simply has to do with destroying evidence. This is also why The Scouring of the Shire was completely left out, because little people (overt world people) were left in the dark. The section at the end where two hobbits are carrying a giant pumpkin is quite informative, because 'pumpkin' in narrative code has to do with 'scare ops,' and the public was left with psyops, and scare ops like Osama bin Laden.

*For those interested, there is a pumpkin decode within this post:

Narrativecode

Narrative Code

Why do we recognize symbols? Standard code symbols are perceptible because they are obscure. A group of dots and dashes (morse code) or a random group of letters and numbers clearly indicate intention, even if they do not make sense without being decoded...

Read more

4 years ago · 11 likes · 2 comments

[Sidenote on the dual aspect of media: It is important to be able to separate the narrative code message being sent, from the overt story or media that is being used. In the case of the Lotr movies, it is likely that most of the actors did not understand the covert message being sent by what they were filming, so it is not as though they were attempting to create a story about the 666. Narrative code both uses and sometimes abuses overt media, but the overt part of the media can still portray good themes. The Lotr films, and many pieces of media, can still be enjoyed for their overt story. There are certain stories and media where the overt part and the covert part are too intertwined to be separated, but one has to judge that on a case to case basis. In all likelihood, even Tolkien would have had a separation between his overt world of The Lord of the Rings, and the narrative code he hid within. Although, that said, the plot of the books would have presumably been a good bit different if Tolkien had not included narrative code. From the start of writing LotR, the only plot that Tolkien knew is that "the Ring had to be destroyed."]

Events related to the aftermath of 9/11 were fairly constant during those following months and years, however, certain events like the indictment of Zacarias Moussaoui on Dec. 11, 2001, were unique. Interestingly, the capture of Saddam Hussein on Dec. 13, 2003, which was seemingly a counterattack against 9/11, coincided with the final movie of the trilogy, The Return of the King. Although the Lotr movies' narrative code did not relate to the overt 9/11 story of terrorists from the Middle East, the movies' releases coinciding with major overt events related to 9/11, would have plainly indicated to people on the lower rungs of the covert world, that there was a connection of the movies to the WTC's removal.

Also of note, Elijah Wood, the actor who played Frodo (the Ring-bearer of the trilogy), and other Lotr actors reportedly witnessed the 9/11 attacks while on a plane flight.

The Plans for 9/11

It was mentioned earlier that the Chi Rho symbol would reappear, and in this context we find the same symbol, but simply as 'XP.' Windows XP was released on August 24, 2001 to manufacturing, and to retail on October 25, 2001. The default theme for Windows XP was called Luna, and Luna means moon. Development began in the late 90s under the codename Neptune, which would correlate to the time frame of the I.S.S., and coincidentally, 'Neptune Spear' is the name of the Operation that went after Osama bin Laden, in 2011.

Since it has already been stated that the 666 took down the Twin Towers and Building No. 7, this will be confirmed with further narrative code. First, it is worth mentioning that the collapse could not solely have been caused by planes, as at the very minimum, there had to be strategically placed explosives, in order to take down those three buildings. It seems nobody remembers that a WWII bomber crashed into the Empire State Building in 1945 and caused a fire, because the building did not collapse. Trump was interviewed following the collapse of the Twin Towers, and even he said that he could not understand how a plane could cause them to go down, since the towers were built with the steel from the outside, which is the strongest possible structure. He thought there had to be bombs that went off almost simultaneously. His opinion is valid, since he built buildings for a living.

Reminder - '11' means the end of one thing, and the beginning of the next.

In the Egyptian calendar, the new year falls on September 11. For some reason, the 666 uses a lot of Egyptian symbolism, e.g., 'Pyramids,' 'Eye of Ra,' 'Gold Skin,' etc. This is possibly because the ancient Egyptian pharaohs viewed themselves as gods, and were often taskmasters, and the 666 desires to enslave the world. To the 666, the Egyptian New Year would mean 'new Cult beginnings.'

Via Proclamation 5696, in 1987, President Reagan made September 11 the 9-1-1 Emergency Number Day - so the choice of that date to take down the buildings would have been an obvious connection to, emergency.

The second plane hit the South Tower at 09:03:11, exactly 17 minutes after the first plane hit - notice, there is a hidden '911.' The timing was coordinated to send clear messages.

The first plane (Flight 11) hit the North Tower at 08:46:40, and the connection to that time is found just two days earlier with Unix/Epoch time hitting its billion at 01:46:40 UTC. Many would see that as a message of a new time or era; however, there is also another connection which brings up the fact that the towers were built with the understanding that they may have to be destroyed. Unix time reached 999,999,999 two days before 9/11, which shares a pattern with when it reached 99,999,999 in 1973. Unix time began January 1, 1970, and on March 3rd (3/3), 1973, Unix time reached 99,999,999, which was the month before the inaugural opening of the Twin Towers on April 4th (4/4), 1973. What will seem uncanny are the events on the days surrounding the time switchover from 99,999,999 to 100,000,000:

March 1st: Pink Floyd releases The Dark Side of the Moon

March 2nd: Skyline Tower collapses

March 3rd: Unix time

March 5th: Two planes crash above Nantes, France

March 7th: Car bombs placed in NYC by the terrorist group, Black September, found and disabled

March 8th: Bombs explode in London

As shown, a number of events happened that almost mirror the events of 9/11, including a building completely collapsing with a name similar to Skylab. However, that is only the beginning of the indications that the towers had a planned destruction, if needed.

The design for the Twin Towers was inspired by Yamasaki's previous work with the Saudi Binladin Group on the Dhahran International Airport. The Saudi Binladin Group was owned by Osama bin Laden's father.

There are numerous media portrayals of the destruction of the towers prior to 9/11 - some quite early on:

-https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/World_Trade_Center_in_popular_culture

-<https://blog.wfmu.org/.a/6a00d83451c29169e20120a5c18144970c-800wi>

-youtube . com/watch?v=P1ULjJ3EqyY

-<https://www.ibtimes.co.uk/dark-web-twisted-parallel-universe-where-homer-simpson-predicted-9-11-1502995>

-<https://www.looper.com/669279/every-time-a-cartoon-correctly-predicted-devastating-future-events/>

-<https://web.archive.org/web/20140911223817/http://www.thestranger.com/seattle/Content?oid=8708>

In addition, some of the more compelling indications of the planned destruction would be the destruction of Skylab, and the Mir Space Station.

Outside of narrative code, one reason to suspect this is simply the feasibility: It would have been difficult to plant explosives prior to the attack without being noticed, but extremely easy to build a structure with certain components containing highly explosive and pyrotechnic material. This would also explain why it would have been near impossible for Patriots to stop an "attack."

There is a movie that indicates just that, albeit, in a subtle way:

Conspiracy Theory, starring Mel Gibson and Julia Roberts, was released on August 8, 1997. Three days prior to the release of that film, on August 5th, Ramzi Yousef, the reported "mastermind" of the 1993 Twin Towers truck bombing, went on trial.

The movie is about an MKUltra victim who the CIA tries to silence. Jerry Fletcher, the MKUltra victim, is also a conspiracy theorist. Apart from some crazy conspiracy theory parts, some of the overt messages in the film are actually quite interesting, but the most interesting parts are the hidden messages.

Jerry Fletcher keeps on mentioning "Geronimo" throughout the film, and in one section, Alice Sutton, the DOJ agent that Jerry is in love with, finds a cloth bag in the mental hospital that is folded in such a way that the name of the hospital printed on the bag, spells, "Geronimo." The reason this is important, is because the codename given to bin Laden, was also Geronimo.

At one point in the film, Jerry Fletcher and Alice Sutton have to flee from Jerry's apartment due to the CIA trying to break in. Jerry sets a fuse ablaze that causes a fire in which his whole apartment and all of his file cabinets of conspiracy-related information, are completely destroyed in a matter of minutes. He had his apartment rigged to become an enclosed furnace at a moment's notice.

Geronimo

Geronimo opens up a substantial amount of narrative code, and to understand it, we have to look at Geronimo, the Apache warrior, and parachutes.

Geronimo was a prominent Apache warrior during the Apache Wars. He was notable for constantly evading capture, and making escapes when he was captured. His real name was "Goyaałé." The origin of his name, Geronimo, is debated, but the most famous story of its origin, is that Mexicans would supposedly cry to Saint Jerome for protection when Geronimo was attacking them, and their pronunciation of Jerome sounded like, "Jeronimo."

'Geronimo!' is also often yelled when parachuting. A parachute is a device that protects people from falling to their death. A parachute is also described as being umbrella shaped. An 'umbrella' is narrative code for 'water protection,' that is, 'information protection.' By itself, the word 'parachute,' can also be used as a comparison or analogy for 'protection,' e.g., a Golden Parachute within business.

In both of these examples, 'Geronimo' connotes 'protection' - which fits in perfectly with Osama bin Laden, because bin Laden was the 666's protection. He was the cover, the psyop of misdirection for the taking down of the Twin Towers. They created a somewhat fake enemy, convinced the public that the 'sky was falling' and that bin Laden ("Geronimo"), was to blame. They knew that if the destruction of the Twin Towers could be blamed on terrorists from the Middle East, then no ordinary person would suspect that it was all just an inside job to destroy incriminating evidence of past crimes.

The meaning of protection through fake propaganda, is also the reason why in the Sheppard music video for their song titled, "Geronimo," they create a Frankenstein-like Geronimo out of cardboard. The book, Frankenstein, came out at the same time as the press revolution. There is the famous visual of Frankenstein lying flat on a table (which looks much like a printing press), being electrocuted – signifying, having the ability/power to turn people's reputations into monsters via the press. The subtitle to Frankenstein is The Modern Prometheus, and Prometheus in the Greek myth gave men fire – the meaning being, setting the public on fire and/or creating public outrage via the press.

Creating a monster via the press is exactly what they did by making Osama bin Laden into the mastermind evil terrorist in the public's eye, when he was really just was the 666's fall man, and/or cover. He became the "cover story." (This is not to say that bin Laden was not a terrorist; he just was not the mastermind that the public has been led to believe.)

There is a lot more to Geronimo the Apache, which will open up even more narrative code for this timeline. Geronimo, himself, was also a red herring ploy. Many native warriors were put to death during the Apache wars, and even though Geronimo was as violent as the others, even to the point of reportedly scalping women and children, he was never sentenced to death. A number of people, reportedly including President Grover, would try to get him sentenced for execution, but other individuals high up in the government, would make sure to spare his life. It is likely that Geronimo was also secretly aided in some of his escapes from captivity. The 666 needed Geronimo alive for their plans because without a strong leader for the Apaches, the Apache would not have instigated as many problems; therefore, the government would not have had the reasons with which to publicly justify kicking native tribes off of certain lands, and containing them to reservations.

There were even instances where it is likely that 666 assets intentionally provoked the Apaches. For example, in 1862, having been promised negotiations for peace, Coloradas, the chief leader of the Apaches, came to meet with U.S. military leaders under a white flag of truce. Instead of that arrangement being honored, soldiers killed him under orders, disengaged his head, and sent his skull to New York, to be studied. The removal of his head was what really infuriated the Apaches, as they believed he would then not have his head in the afterlife.

Using natives to stir up trouble was not an unknown practice. Prior to the War of 1812, the British government was doing just that by aiding natives in their attacks, as well as by using British spies to instigate even more native attacks.

The Apaches, at that time, were in the way of the Gold Rush in California, but there was more at play than just land and resources. Even when Geronimo wanted to assimilate with "white men" and their culture, he was not permitted to do so. He went so far as to personally ask Teddy Roosevelt, but he was still not permitted to do so. There are two main reasons they did not allow him and many other natives, to assimilate:

1. They needed the public image of a fierce, dangerous, and evil warrior to be maintained, which assimilation would not easily allow for; his public image would take on a new slant, and he would likely be somewhat forgotten.
2. Delegating natives to reservations was a way to control them, and having them confined and unassimilated would allow for them to be more readily manipulated for certain 666 operations.

Even in this current day and age, many natives go missing from the reservations, and a lot of drugs, arms, and human trafficking happens through the reservations along the borders of Mexico, and Canada.

Most likely, Geronimo was a ruthless and evil warrior, but that is not why he was demonized by the press of that time. Even his supposed blanket of scalps turned out to just be propaganda.

- <https://chroniclingamerica.loc.gov/lccn/sn96088356/1909-05-21/ed-1/seq-2/>

- <https://chroniclingamerica.loc.gov/lccn/45043535/1899-04-01/ed-1/seq-19/>, and <https://chroniclingamerica.loc.gov/lccn/45043535/1899-04-01/ed-1/seq-20/>

- <https://www.smithsonianmag.com/history/geronimos-appeal-to-theodore-roosevelt-117859516/>

Geronimo appeared in Pawnee Bill's Wild West show, depicted as a treacherous and murderous native, who would not hesitate to scalp any of the audience members given the chance, and appeared under names like, "The Worst Indian That Ever Lived." People came to see the "savage that had been tamed." Teddy Roosevelt had Geronimo appear in his 1905 inaugural parade. Geronimo was someone that was manipulated for a 666 cause during the Apache Wars, and afterwards, as just a piece of propaganda.

Teddy Roosevelt was also a 666 puppet, but unlike Geronimo, he was fully aware of his association. The events by which Roosevelt came into power, were the deaths of Republican Vice President Garret Hobert, and President William McKinley. Garret Hobert died in November 1899, and President William McKinley died from assassination in September 1901. There is the famous photo from 1909, taken just shortly after the time of Roosevelt's presidency, with him standing by an elephant that he had shot. That photo was a message of him having killed the Republican Party. Technically, he was a Republican, but notice that when he ran against President Taft in 1912, the emblem for his party was a bull moose, and not the Republican Elephant.

Geronimo's tomb at Fort Still is a stone pyramid, and pyramids are used as a Cult symbol. However, according to some accounts, not all of Geronimo's corpse is buried there.

According to a letter from 1918, members of Yale's Skull and Bones (including, according to tales, Prescott Bush), supposedly stole Geronimo's skull and femurs and put them within the Skull and Bones' Tomb, in 1917. Although the Skull and Bones is cloaked in secrecy, and reportedly has very strange rituals, the character and associations of each of the members would have to be based on the individual, and not the whole, because the society itself simply appears to be, for the most part, a group that collects blackmail. Skull and Bones - think skeleton in the closet. The taking of Geronimo's skull, or at least saying that they supposedly took it, was a way of informing others that they knew of their deeds, and have leverage against them.

The symbol of a skull and bones is also the Jolly Roger, which connects to pirates. Interestingly, the character Davy Jones, a pirate who owns men's souls in the films Pirates of the Caribbean, was reported to have been based off of Captain Nemo, from Verne's books.

[Sidenote: U.S. Navy subs will hoist the Jolly Roger when they come into harbor after a successful mission.]

Back to Geronimo: Mt. Vernon Arsenal and Barracks was where Geronimo, and over 400 of his followers, were held for seven years. In 1900, the place became a mental hospital, "Mount Vernon Mental Hospital," aka "Searcy Hospital," and was used as such until 2012.

Certain mental hospitals have been used to help create MKUltra victims. An MKUltra victim is somebody who has essentially been manipulated into a human ticking time bomb. With the right trigger, they are programmed to snap – often leading to their own, and others' deaths. JFK's assassin is the perfect example – not only was he verbally manipulated and fed certain propaganda, but his wife was also a pharmacist; it is not difficult to imagine that he was given certain drugs to even further skew his psyche. Remember how Geronimo the Apache evaded capture, and escaped? In the MKUltra instance, it isn't the killer, but the killer's handlers that escape, because there are no strings attached. Using assassins that self-implode is one of the 666's protections, that is, 'Geronimo.'

The Conspiracy Theory movie plot around MKUltra and a mental hospital should make more sense now. The character, Jerry, even mentions how Oswald was a "patsy." When speaking about love, Jerry says that it will make you do crazy things, like jump from the top of the Empire State Building, yelling "Geronimo," but you won't be hurt, because "love gives you wings." He also repeatedly buys the book, Catcher in the Rye, in which the book's character has a fantasy of catching children running through a field of rye, before they fall off a cliff. This book is connected to the killers of John Lennon, and Rebecca Schaeffer, and also to John Hinkley Jr., as a copy was reportedly found in his apartment. The choice of book and its involvement in the movie plot, does not make sense unless you realize that MKUltra'ed people, are often used to catch people from falling into criminal liability, so to speak.

[Sidenote: When the character Alice is searching for Jerry in the mental hospital, a nurse blatantly mentions the Mount Vernon hospital.]

A few final short notes on Geronimo bin Laden:

In the year 1993, the year of the WTC truck bombing, and the announcement of the I.S.S., there were two movies about Geronimo the Apache, released within the same week (Dec. 5th and Dec. 10th).

Osama bin Laden being buried at sea was likely a message of destroying evidence of the pysop: <https://www.cpf.navy.mil/Newsroom/News/Article/2755760/bin-laden-buried-at-sea/>

The Bush PSYOP Plot

Following 9/11, President George W. Bush used the propaganda of the supposed Middle East terror attacks as an excuse to go after Saddam Hussein. Rather than targeting bin Laden, the psyop, Bush took out a likely 666 controlled asset that posed a threat.

George W. Bush has been said to have been the mastermind behind 9/11 – the main reason given is that he supposedly helped Middle Eastern terrorists so that he could further the arms industry. The 666 knew prior to 9/11 that some people would question the narrative of lone terrorists from the Middle East, so they needed a conspiracy theory that would lead to an empty, unverifiable rabbit hole. They knew that they could take out two birds with one stone by making Bush the target of that theory, as it would also lead to the ruin of his reputation among certain groups. The first example of how they framed him is the uncanny reading on September 11, 2001, that sounded like "Kite, Hit, Steel, Plane, Must," at the school Bush was visiting that day. Another later example is the revealing of Epstein's painting of Bush with a paper airplane and Jenga towers. The third example is from just six months prior to 9/11, on March 4, 2001, with an episode of The Lone Gunmen TV show, a spin-off from the X-Files, in which the Lone Gunmen uncover a plot of someone from the U.S. government planning to crash a plane into the WTC, and to blame it on terrorists, in order to ramp up weapon sales. Sound familiar? The Lone Gunmen characters derived their names from the Warren Commission's conclusion that Oswald was solely responsible for the assassination of JFK. However, they are not the lone gunmen, but the people that expose the lone gunman. Which leads to another character with a similar meaning, the Lone Ranger. The Lone Ranger is a lone gunman who exposes criminals, and brings them to justice. His faithful native companion, Tonto, is played by Chief Thundercloud in the 1938 movie serial. What comes after 'lightning,' that is, 'exposure'? 'Thunder,' which means 'public outcry.' The Lone Ranger represents the ability to turn people into public criminals. 'Tonto' means 'wild one,' which also fits in with the symbolism of 'Frankenstein,' and 'Geronimo.'

Chief Thundercloud is also famous for his role as Geronimo in the 1939 movie, Geronimo: The Story of a Great Enemy. That movie, according to one story, was the inspiration for the parachuting cry of "Geronimo!" Another story regarding the origin of the parachuting cry, has to do with a mountain called "Currahee," meaning, 'stand alone' - various myths, yet with the same basic meaning.

The Lone Ranger theme music for both the TV and radio episodes was from the William Tell Overture; another bit of narrative code for 'exposure,' or, 'will tell.' The Lone Ranger radio show also solves the meaning of the American secret communication system during WWII, the SIGSALY.

[Sidenote on Bush's evident compromise: There is a distinct difference between certain Patriots as to how far they will go to defend their respective countries. JFK fought to the death, and though he survived assassination attempts, Reagan would also have been willing to fight to the death. On the other hand, both Bush presidents compromised. For strategic purposes, sometimes one has to play the game and cooperate for a time, but there should always be a limit to the degree of compromise. It could be argued that both Bush presidents went beyond that moral limit. That said, it is hard to know what went on behind closed doors, and all of the factors involved.

Toward the end of his presidency, George W. Bush chose to comply with the 666, via Citibank/Citigroup (an asset that was owned and controlled by Al-Waleed bin Talal, who was the 666's arm of the Middle East). Having those handlers post presidency, explains why the Bush family has verbally attacked President Trump in recent years, thereby going directly against the top of the military command, as Trump is the Patriots' choice for a leader.

On November 23, 2008, which was the day after the 45th anniversary of the assassination of JFK, President Bush decided to bail out Citigroup.

<https://www.reuters.com/article/us-financial-bush-paulson-idUSTRE4AN3Z420081124>

The following day, President Bush informed President-elect Obama of his decision, and told him that his administration would be in "close cooperation" with Obama's incoming administration.

Both of the Bush presidents made bargains shortly before leaving office. The pressure to cooperate with the Cult instead of being on the offensive, would have ramped up, as certain presidential powers and safeties are obviously only available while in office.

Interestingly, George W. Bush was replaced by a person with the middle name, "Hussein" - Barack Hussein Obama. This was likely used as a message by the 666, in retaliation for Bush having ended the reign of Saddam Hussein. (Although the tenure of Obama's administration will not be covered here, it is of note that his administration decided to go after Osama bin Laden; that is, 'Geronimo,' the psyop.)]

SIGSALY/Green Hornet

SIGSALY, also known as System X, or Project X, or Green Hornet, was an encrypted voice communication system, which was never broken during the entire war. Alan Turing was involved in its original creation. SIGSALY, much like the Enigma machine op, has been used to tell another story of the covert ops of WWII. We know 'communication' can be used as a narrative code symbol for 'control,' so what does it mean for a system to never be broken? What was the power behind the control? SIGSALY got its name Green Hornet, from the 1939 radio show, Green Hornet. In the show, the vigilante's real name was Britt Reid, and he was the grand-nephew of the Lone Ranger, that is, John Reid. The Green Hornet would infiltrate the underworld and capture criminals, and then leave the captured criminals, and all of the incriminating evidence that he had collected, for the police to find.

SIGSALY represented the ability of turning people into the next public criminal. It was much like the second half to the Enigma op, because the Enigma op created 'rings,' and SIGSALY was the threat of exposing such 'rings,' which also explains its other name, 'Project X,' as 'X' will often signify 'target.'

New Castle Location

The obvious next question in this timeline would be, 'Where did the 666 move their central hub to?'

The joint I.S.S. announcement in 1993 might indicate Russia, and although it is likely that data did pass through Russia, it would not have been a good place for a hub of operations, especially with Putin having become the Russian president in 2000. Putin, whatever else he may be, is not pro-666 - his comments on the worship of Satan in the West is a fairly good example of his stance.

If someone wanted to send a message of moving their Castle, then what better message vehicle to use than a world chess championship?

The youngest FIDE Champion ever was the champion of the 2001 - 2002 FIDE World Chess Championship, and he was Ukrainian. The runner up was also Ukrainian. (Since there are plenty of ways to rig chess games, that is not an issue.)

That championship indicated Ukraine as the new Castle location. To be clear, although Ukraine, the Vatican, and the WTC have been used by the 666, this does not implicate the majority of the people in those places. Many people in those areas have been overt, and likely entirely unaware of the 666's dealings. In this circumstance, Ukraine was simply where the 666 had the most power to manipulate and hide. Ukraine is not a bad place, rather, it is a place that has been abused.

Interestingly, the person who made the joint I.S.S. announcement with Al Gore, Viktor Chernomyrdin, was appointed as the Ambassador of Russia to Ukraine, in May 2001.

Another indication of Ukraine being the new hub is "Nibelung treasure" narrative code.

As shown in Wagner's Ring Cycle, the 'Nibelung treasure' had to do with the Vatican, but as basic code, it would simply refer to 'power.'

On November 19, 2004, a movie under the title Dragon King, was released in the UK, and it was later released in other countries under the names of Die Nibelungen, Ring of the Nibelungs, and Sword of Xanten.

Two days later, on November 21, 2004, the second rounds of the Ukrainian presidential election were held, resulting in massive protests over the election's integrity. The protests, known as The Orange Revolution, lasted until the inauguration of Viktor Yushchenko, on January 25, 2005. The original results of the election which had prompted the protests, had Viktor Yanukovych as the winning candidate, instead. Yanukovych was supposedly backed by the Russian government.

Yanukovych did end up becoming president of Ukraine from 2010 to 2014, but was ousted on February 22, 2014, due to both the Euromaidan Uprising that started in 2013, and the Revolution of Dignity riots of February 2014. He subsequently fled to Russia.

So it is no surprise that on February 21, 2014, the day before they again removed Yanukovich, there was a highly reported news story about finding the Nibelung treasure:

https://www.huffpost.com/entry/nibelung-treasure-gold-silver-woods-germany_n_4826228

Another indication of Ukraine being the 666's main hub is Clinton's 'steel' deals with Ukraine, in 2014. The deals were made with billionaire Victor Pinchuk, the stepson of Leonid Kuchma, who was president of Ukraine from 1994 to 2005. President Leonid Kuchma sold a huge state steel factory to Victor Pinchuk at a extremely discounted price.

With all the attempts to connect Ukraine to the EU, it is worth noting that the EU's flag symbol is a ring.

If the 666 hub is in Ukraine, then there will also be 'nemo' operations:

"Ukraine's Shame: An Epidemic of Human Trafficking" (2016):

<https://www.newsweek.com/ukraine-human-trafficking-416319>

"Ukraine Orphanages Feeder for Child Trafficking"(2015):

https://www.huffpost.com/entry/ukraine-orphanages-feeder_b_7344882

Additional Examples of Narrative Code Regarding the Relocation of the 666's Hub
Ukraine became the 666's new central hub after the WTC, but they also sent ops elsewhere, and hence there was the creation of the MedNautilus submarine telecommunications cable, in 2001.

There is a low budget Lotr parody Swiss film from 2004, called The Ring Thing, which I was hesitant to include because it is so cheesy, but the symbolism is extremely simple. Released in Switzerland in December, 2004, it is basically a message revealing that they let Bush win the recent election, but that the Cult need not worry, because they have the 'ring.' The character, Fredi (the film's version of Frodo), falls out of an airplane while on the toilet (an 'evidence' symbol). At the end of the film, Fredi keeps the ring, but allows Lord Sauraus (who is literally dressed like a Nazi), to have his love Heidi, who would represent the presidency.

Another film worth mentioning is Finding Nemo, from 2003. The film is about rescuing a clown fish named "Nemo," who ended up in a dentist's fish tank. Rescuing a 'nemo' may sound like a good thing at first, but notice that the fish remains "Nemo" throughout. "Nemo" never becomes 'someone,' so the movie is not about rescuing 'nemos,' but about rescuing 'nemo' ops. A 'dentist' in narrative code is 'someone who puts an end to ops,' because they pull out teeth, that is, remove assets. The fact that Nemo is a clown fish with stripes is also relevant. 'Stripes' as a narrative code symbol has to do with 'abuse.' The origin of 'stripes' is not actually from whipping stripes, but from an old folktale about how the tiger got its stripes. In the story, a tiger is a fool, and gets tricked into being burnt by ropes. As for 'clown,' people lower down on the Cult side of the covert world, are often called "clowns." I have yet to confirm the origin of that term, but I suspect it either comes from circus clowns or medieval jesters; possibly because they are someone's fools (controlled by a ringmaster), or because they are in a type of disguise. Even regarding circus clowns, you may think that they are the fools, but they are really the ones fooling you.

Back to Finding Nemo: The 666 hub was relocated because among other things, good people were gaining leverage to stop their trafficking ops. The 'happy ending' in narrative code, signifies the 666 finding a new safe place to continue with their operations.

Recent Good News

On January 23, 2022, this story about the capture of the U-505 was in the news:

<https://www.businessinsider.com/us-sailors-saved-u505-uboaat-enigma-in-high-sea-raid-2022-6>

As a reminder, the U-505 is the Enigma sub that was reportedly captured on the same day that Rome was taken by the Allies. The sub was renamed to "USS Nemo."

That same day, there was this announcement in the news:

<https://www.nytimes.com/2022/06/24/world/europe/pope-vatican-jews-second-world-war.html>

The Vatican made previously unreleased files available online, regarding people who had pleaded for help from the Vatican during WWII.

The combined Vatican archive release of requests from WWII, and the story about the sub that was renamed "Nemo," sends a message of helping previously 'unnamed' individuals. It is a message of Patriots having acquired more 'control' or 'enigma rings,' enabling them to help those in danger, and the release of information means that they are no longer considered 'nameless,' that is, 'nemos.'

The historical aspect of the U-505 sub had to do with flipping the Vatican, but this time it is only used for its association, and for making the message of ongoing ops clear. (This instance of narrative code in modern news is a good example of why it is important to know the historical usage of a symbol, in order to understand and decode its current message. Not all narrative code symbols go back to the 1940s, or in the case of 'Nemo,' to 1869, but many definitely have very old origins.)

It is very likely that the current Pope had already flipped a number of years ago, but he certainly used to be connected to the 666, one example being the time he rejected the Argentinian president's pesos donation because of the "666" in the sum:

<https://time.com/4369505/pope-francis-mauricio-macri-donation-666/>

Pope Francis claimed to not like that number and while this can sound to some as if he was against the Cult, that was actually not the case. In 2019, he sent a donation to migrants at the U.S. border, and each person ended up receiving $6.66. $500,000 divided by 75,000 people from six caravans, equals $6.66666667. There is no way that they did not do the math prior to making the donation. The message being sent was that he wanted his association with the 666 kept a secret, and not openly revealed:

<https://abcnews.go.com/International/pope-francis-donates-500000-migrants-us-border/story?id=62675582>

Notice also that the donation was for "six caravans."

Russia's Invasion of Ukraine

At the beginning of Russia's invasion of Ukraine, there was a threat to crash the ISS, sending the message that Russia's invasion of Ukraine is for the purpose of ending the 666 hub in Ukraine.

<https://www.msn.com/en-us/news/world/russias-space-chief-responds-to-new-sanctions-by-suggesting-that-the-iss-would-no-longer-be-prevented-from-crashing-into-the-us-or-europe/ar-AAUkMJJe>

This is also why in December 2021, there was a Telugu film about the crash of Skylab. The reason for portraying Skylab instead of the ISS, is that a movie about crashing the ISS to Earth would probably not be all that well received by the general public. The person pictured on the front of Skylab in the movie photo, is wearing a blue T-shirt and a yellow scarf, which are the colors of the Ukrainian flag:

<https://www.imdb.com/title/tt15029058/>

The same day as that film was released in India, the msm reported that Russia was "planning massive military offensive against Ukraine":

https://www.washingtonpost.com/nation-security/russia-ukraine-invasion/2022/12/03/98a3760e-546b-11ec-8769-2f4ecdf7a2ad_story.html

India is partnered with Russia in BRICS, so it makes sense that their media would support Russia. After Russia released a statement about biolabs in Ukraine, India's UN representative made a statement about the importance of the Biological and Toxin Weapons Convention.

On a related note regarding crashing the ISS, the official name for the location in the Pacific Ocean where many space satellites, crafts, and stations (now well over 250 of them) have been sent when they deorbit, is called "Point Nemo." It is also known as "the oceanic pole of inaccessibility." The closest humans to that point are reportedly the astronauts on the ISS. Point Nemo is the planned crashing location for the ISS in 2031. It is a graveyard for space junk, and a place where ops symbolically go when they die, essentially making it the modern version of the myth of Atlantis.

Atlantis and Bitcoin

Atlantis, according to the myths, is a place that was completely destroyed, and will always be securely lost at sea. Plato used it as a metaphor for corruption of power and wealth. Plato placed the location of Atlantis beyond the Pillars of Hercules, which would be an '11' symbol, as in later writings the inscription on the pillars was "non plus ultra," meaning nothing further beyond, or the end of the known world.

Plato's metaphor is further reinforced by a book published in 1709 called The New Atlantis, a dystopia about the goddess of Justice visiting her mother, Virtue, finding her in rags, and forgotten. Later, they are joined by Lady Intelligence as they observe earthly scenes of corruption, moral destruction, rapes, orgies, etc.

'Atlantis,' therefore, is a symbol of 'corruption lost at sea.'

There is actually both a LotR connection, and a Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea connection. Tolkien based the Downfall of Númenor on the story of Atlantis, and in Verne's work, Captain Nemo and Professor Arronax visit the ruins of Atlantis, which are lit by a volcano.

Both the implications of corruption, and hidden ops, connect to this article published on May 10, 2022:

"Have researchers found an undersea road to the lost city of Atlantis?"

<https://nypost.com/2022/05/10/has-an-undersea-road-to-the-lost-city-of-atlantis-been-found/>

Found by researchers aboard the EV Nautilus and compared to both the "yellow brick road" from The Wonderful Wizard of Oz, and a road to Atlantis - in reality, it is formations from ancient volcanic eruptions.

All of which connect to this article released on the same day:

"El Salvador's President Unveils Golden 'Bitcoin City' Amid Brutal Crash"

<https://www.vice.com/en/article/g5qa9y/el-salvadors-president-unveils-golden-bitcoin-city-amid-brutal-crash>

Quoting from the article above: "...built in the shadow of a volcano..." and

"volcano bonds".

'Cryptocurrency' can literally mean, 'hidden and/or secret money.' Cryptocurrencies, especially Bitcoin, have been used to fund heinous ops, as they are harder to track than normal currencies. That said, not all cryptocurrencies are a bad thing, and they can be useful in funding good covert ops.

It may seem strange that El Salvador's president would choose to reveal the plans for the city right after a crash, but consider that the market terminology when an asset loses more than expected value, is called "underwater," which is exactly the wording that was used in the news the day prior:

<https://www.cnn.com/2022/05/09/40percent-of-bitcoin-investors-underwater-glassnode-data.html>

So, in other words, El Salvador was announcing a safe haven for criminals.

(This example should help to explain the complexity of the current ops, as some of the ones taking place right now, involve attempting to flip, or removing entire governments.)

Enigma Diamond:

Another bit of news connected to cryptocurrency from this year, is the Enigma diamond:

<https://www.cnn.com/2022/02/10/billion-year-old-black-diamond-bought-with-cryptocurrency-for-4point3m.html>

<https://nypost.com/2022/01/17/rare-diamond-blasted-from-outer-space-could-fetch-6-8m/>

A diamond named "Enigma," would mean 'blackmail.'

"555.55" is probably being used for '5:5,' that is, 'clear communications.'

Notice that the article says, "landed in Dubai," and the symbolism of the diamond's cut has to do with the Middle Eastern Khamsa symbol:

<https://apnews.com/article/massive-black-diamond-space-auction-ae17c561ce95112b8f60e64b220dabed>

Quotes from the auction description:

"...their specific mineral make up suggest possible extra-terrestrial origins..."

"The Enigma's 55 facets form a design imbued with significance, as a sign of protection and a tool of deflection against the evil eye, it also represents blessings, power and strength. In addition, black diamonds have come to be seen as the 'stone of reconciliation', a restorer of peace."

(<https://www.sothebys.com/en/digital-catalogues/the-enigma-fancy-black-diamond>)

This all seems to indicate an update about flipping ops, and leverage in the UAE. This is a good example of not having enough context to understand the particulars of the message. Whoever the message was intended for, would have the necessary context to understand it, but just this single piece of news is not quite informative enough to decipher the exact details of the communication.

That was not the only diamond news related to Dubai:

"The World Got Diamonds. A Mining Town Got Buried in Sludge.":

<https://www.nytimes.com/2022/09/23/us/south-africa-diamond-mine-collapse.html>

(Keep in mind that the overt story can be true, as many news stories are just manipulated for their usage as a covert messages.)

Six miles of waste from a previous De Beers diamond mine breaks through a dam on September 11, 2022.

The article is fairly simple as to its basic message:

'waste/sludge' = evidence

'dam' = a place to hold information

'six miles' = 666

'Sept. 11' = emergency

Interestingly, that mine is where the Jubilee diamond, a diamond that was named in honour of Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee, came from.

Nautilus Exposure

A few days before the diamond mine news story, there was a huge event, although from an overt view it wouldn't seem like much:

<https://www.msn.com/en-us/travel/tripideas/worlds-first-nuclear-powered-sub-returns-to-museum/ar-AA10jglj>

<https://www.navytimes.com/news/your-navy/2022/09/08/the-worlds-first-nuclear-powered-sub-reopens-to-public/>

The USS Nautilus was publicly revealed at the Connecticut Maritime Heritage Festival from September 9th – 11th, the dates of which look like 911, indicating, 'an urgent op.' 'The public reopening of Nautilus' as a message, is akin to 'dropping the Ring into Mount Doom,' the overall message being, 'an op in preparation of public declassification.'

Queen's Death

Interestingly, the day before the Nautilus reveal, was the day of the Queen's reported death, which is not a direct correlation to the Nautilus, but likely related, as the House of Windsor has been involved in blackmail and trafficking.

It is not possible to know to what extent each individual has been involved, so this is not a direct accusation against any particular member of the British royal family. However, their involvement is why in Lewis Carroll's book, Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, from 1866, the White Rabbit brings a child to the Queen of Hearts. (Queen Victoria was a big fan of that book). 'Rabbit,' in this instance, had to do with sexual connotations, much as the use of bunny symbolism in Playboy (which is another deep rabbit hole.) In this instance, 'rabbit' as narrative code, has nothing to do with the earlier mentioned Bugs Bunny 'rabbit' being used for 'rabbi,' meaning, 'Jews' escaping from a threat. The context of a narrative code message is always key, as symbols themselves can morph in many different ways. One has to view and decode narrative code within the context of the whole narrative of the message, and within the context of the events of the time. In this scenario, simply looking into some details about Lewis Carroll gives a lot of context. Apart from his books, he was also known for his cryptograms, and photography of naked children. 'Cryptograms' would be a message of knowing how to communicate covertly, and photography of naked children would be a message of being involved in 666 blackmail ops.

Back to the Queen's death: Her removal was a message of taking out a power structure, and a cleanup of past crimes. It is quite likely that she actually passed away well before the reported date, and that the announcement was purposefully delayed. However, it is also conceivable that she is still alive, as faking one's death is not as uncommon as most are led to believe. Timing the death of someone like the Queen probably sounds unlikely, but this is not unprecedented, as it did take place with George V, when he was euthanized by Lord Dawson of Penn. (The Penn is mightier than the sword.) These days, deaths and other such events would ordinarily only be reported falsely, or faked, and not actually timed to coincide with other events.

Red Steel

News about exposure and crackdown on corruption, that is, 'red steel':

These articles are about a person named Elaine Thomas who falsified test data which resulted in weak steel on Navy submarines:

<https://www.digitaljournal.com/world/us-navy-boosts-monitoring-of-subs-after-falsified-steel-tests/article>

<https://www.msn.com/en-us/news/us/washington-state-metallurgist-who-falsified-steel-strength-for-navy-subs-gets-2-12-years-in-prison/ar-AATQF8J>

When is steel weak? When it rusts, which makes its color red. The article does not plainly state, red steel, but Elaine Thomas is from Auburn, Washington, and auburn as a color, is red.

Notice, also, that she worked from 1977 until 2017 - the year the DOE was created, until the year Donald Trump became president.

Occasionally, phonetic or spelling ambiguity will be used for narrative code, as in this instance the name Elaine, is used in place of 'alien.' So the real message is about justice that will be brought upon those who weakened military 'steel,' via infiltration.

The day before that story was in the news, there was also this story:

"Chinese-owned steel mill coats Serbian town in red dust; cancer spreads":

<https://www.reuters.com/world/europe/chinese-owned-steel-mill-coats-serbian-town-red-dust-cancer-spreads-2021-11-09/>

Red steel dust from a foreign-owned plant increasing cancer, is probably a message of CCP infiltration and corruption.

"...the municipality of around 100,000 people reported 6,866 cancer cases in 2019, up from 1,738 in 2011."

Notice the numbers "1,738" and "6,866" are a hidden '17' and '666,' meaning covert 666 ops.

Operation Nemo:

Some overt events, but with the obvious choice of narrative code for names of the law enforcement operations.

Operation Nemo: Investigating educators that sexually abused children:

<https://www.msn.com/en-za/news/other/saps-operation-nemo-to-look-into-educators-sexually-abusing-child-athletes/ar-AA153BpN>

A quote from the article linked above:

"Explaining why the specialist unit was involved, Jordan pointed to the existence of what she called "a sinister underworld" and said it was becoming "increasingly organised". "

More context:

<https://www.news24.com/news24/southafrica/news/watch-police-reopen-case-against-ex-st-andrews-coach-accused-of-sexual-grooming-20221208>

Operation Nemo: Lancashire Police appealed for help to prevent children going missing on beaches:

<https://www.blackpoolgazette.co.uk/news/people/operation-nemo-lancashire-police-appeals-for-volunteers-to-prevent-missing-children-cases-on-blackpool-and-st-annes-beaches-3305018>

<https://www.lanpac.co.uk/projects/operation-nemo/>

Prepping for Checkmate

There were a whole group of ops timed with the maintenance closure of the USS Nautilus SSN-571, from October 31 to November 12:

<https://www.theday.com/local-news/20221028/nautilus-submarine-force-museum-to-briefly-close-for-maintenance/>

On the 7th of November, a 5711 Nautilus Tiffany watch sold at an auction for 3.2 million:

<https://www.msn.com/en-us/tv/news/a-tiffany-blue-patek-philippe-nautilus-just-sold-for-2432-million/ar-AA13PWRJ>

The watch's number is a combination of '571' and '11.' The meaning of 'eleven' is already based on time, but the connection to a watch in this instance, makes the communication even clearer. The auction would have also had a 'gavel' or 'justice' communication to it, based on an auctioneer's hammer.

Notably, there were only 170 of those watches made, and they are the final of the 5711 line.

The following day, on November 8th, the drowning of the 71-year-old Tiffany jewelry and diamond tycoon, Dilek Ertek, was announced, and her body and jewels are still missing:

<https://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-11403425/Tiffanys-tycoon-dies-plunging-death-cruise-ship-jewels-missing-cabin.html>

'Diamonds missing' and the death of a 'jewelry tycoon' would be a message that a handler had been removed, and puppet strings had been cut. This would then connect to another death announcement that day: the death of Evelyn de Rothschild, age 91:

<https://www.nytimes.com/2022/11/08/business/evelyn-de-rothschild-dead.html>

<https://www.mirror.co.uk/news/uk-news/breaking-queens-financial-adviser-sir-28436270>

His death means that a very central piece has been removed from the board, and therefore, a lot of worldwide puppet strings are no longer at play. Notice that the article mentions that he was an avid horse trainer. 'Horses,' in narrative code, are often used to send messages regarding political races, and about people in government offices, which is why George Soros was also involved in owning a race horse:

<https://www.nytimes.com/2018/06/07/sports/justify-belmont-george-soros.html>

Many 'horse' narrative code examples are quite lengthy, but one simple news example is the following;

February 14, 2020, John Durham was investigating former CIA director, John Brennan.

<https://thehill.com/homenews/administration/483165-doj-attorney-looking-into-whether-cia-withheld-info-during-origins-of/>

March 10, 2020, horse trainer, John Brennan's death:

<https://www.northjersey.com/story/news/new-jersey/2020/03/10/nj-coronavirus-cases-tuesday-state-total/5009352002/>

(Note that both of the John Brennans were from New Jersey.)

The timing of Evelyn de Rothschild's death announcement with the U.S. midterm elections was no coincidence.

All of these events were also timed to correlate with the blood moon eclipse on the morning of November 8th:

<https://www.bbc.com/news/science-environment-63555781>

A third narrative code news connection to 'Tiffany diamonds' occurred a few days later, on the 12th, with Tiffany Trump getting married. (The 12th was also the last day of the maintenance closure for the Nautilus SSN-571.)

<https://www.nytimes.com/2022/11/12/fashion/weddings/tiffany-trump-wedding-mar-a-lago.html>

A number of articles had headlines stating "Sparkling like a jewel." She even upgraded to a new diamond ring for the ceremony – a message of new control over blackmail strings.

<https://www.dailymail.co.uk/femail/article-11426633/Tiffany-Trump-upgraded-1-5-MILLION-engagement-ring-wedding-Michael-Boulos.html>

There was the threat of Hurricane Nicole derailing the wedding plans. Consider the possibilities of having planned a wedding near a potential storm. If the previous operations had not worked out, then they could have simply created news stories about Tiffany wedding delayed due to fears of damaging storm.

The message is of a new alliance regarding 'Tiffany Jewels.'

(Tiffany Trump was even named after the company.)

Nov. 7

Tiffany Nautilus watch sale, meaning blackmail control, plus time running out, and the beginning of a new era.

Nov. 8

The former controller (Rothschild) of the blackmail died, and 'diamonds' are stolen (drowning of Tiffany tycoon story).

Nov. 12

Tiffany gets married, meaning blackmailed people are successfully connected to a new 'ring.'

Tiffany's husband, Michael Boulos, is a billionaire heir to a motorcycle distribution company. 'Motorcycles,' in narrative code, have to do with being 'driven.' Obviously, Tiffany did not marry him for the sake of narrative code, but the motorcycle company aspect is highlighted for a specific reason. The following are some short examples of 'motorcycle' and 'driving':

T. E. Lawrence was injured in a motorcycle crash on May 13, 1935, and died six days later. The accident took place on the same day as the first Hollywood mainstream werewolf film, Werewolf in London, was released. The movie is about a man who becomes a werewolf, and is driven to destruction, and to his death. 'Werewolf,' in its usage in narrative code, has to do with people (especially those who can create violence) who are controlled by the 'full moon,' that is, by the 'threat of exposure of blackmail.'

[Sidenote regarding 13: The date of the 13th has the connotation of 'death' or 'being targeted,' because in many cultures, '13' is considered an unlucky number, which may originate from the Biblical meaning of '13' being a type of 'completion' – a synonym to 'completion' being 'termination.' This meaning is also seen with regard to MS-13.]

EVEL KNIEVEL

Most of Evel Knievel's early jumps happened on the same day as a historic event regarding the ending of African American segregation. The idea was about 'driving' people to promote and/or accept a cause, and in this case, to 'jump' a barrier. Additional indications for this were other coinciding events, such as a white man receiving a black man donor's heart, and certain TV programming switching from black and white, to color.

Societal driving that brings about good and peaceful causes can be used for the betterment of society, but driving people can also cause a lot of harm, such as with riots, which correlates to the next example:

The day after Kyle Rittenhouse was cleared of murder charges, Elon Musk posted that there was no way to make motorcycles safe – meaning, 'driving' people, just as driving people to create BLM riots, will cause 'crashes.'

Driving people to their deaths is also why the show Squid Game has the word 'squid' in it, since 'squid' is often used as a term for a young, inexperienced motorcyclist who will most likely crash, or for a rider who rides as though they have a death wish.

Within the context of recent news, people connected to 'Tiffany Jewels' were able to be driven, and with the transfer of blackmail control, were therefore unprotected, so they made a new arrangement.

Also connected is Ivanka's blue dress at the wedding, which was reported to have been based on Grace Kelly's dress from the movie, To Catch a Thief, from 1955. The movie's plot line revolves around a former cat burglar having to catch the current thief, which could be used as a message that people who have flipped, are now helping catch others who refuse to cooperate.

<https://www.dailymail.co.uk/femail/article-11425905/Ivanka-Trumps-dress-Tiffanys-wedding-copy-Grace-Kellys-gown-Catch-Thief.html>

"Cat burglar" is also interesting, because in many narrative codes, 'cat' has to do with 'commitments.' Thus, a 'cat burglar' could be used for someone who steals other people's 'strings.'

A short timeline reviewing some of the major patterns regarding the 'Ring' and 'Nautilus':

1850:

(Sauron had the Ring for 1,850 years)

First Submerged Telegraph line (what the Nautilus represents)

1954:

Launch of Nautilus SSN-571

Publication of LotR

2000:

Movie about 571 submarine (taking 'Enigmas' away from so-called 'Nazis')

2001:

9/11 Twin Towers and WTC 7 demolition

Start of Lotr movies (Destroying 'Sauron's Ring')

Start of the MedNautilus submerged telecommunications line in the Mediterranean Sea.

(Sidenote: With 'Alice in Wonderland' narrative code now being somewhat explained, it is worth mentioning that the same company in charge of the MedNautilus, released the Alice ADSL in Italy, the year after.)

2004:

Lotr parody movie with Sauron dressed as a Nazi.

2022:

September 8: Queen announced dead

September 9 - 11: Nautilus SSN-571 publicly revealed

September 11: Former De Beers' diamond mine from which the Jubilee diamond originated, had a dam collapse

October 31 - November 12: Nautilus SSN-571 maintenance closure

November 7: Nautilus Tiffany watch 5711 sold

November 8: Rothschild announced dead, and Tiffany diamond tycoon announced to have been drowned and jewelry stolen

November 12: Tiffany Trump married, with new diamond ring (Last day of Nautilus SSN-571 closure)

The Core of the 666's Goal

Prior to the end of this entire post, it is worth looking at narrative code in relation to an invention from 1866, which happens to be relevant to the entire timeline:

Flag Semaphore, a visual telegraphic system:

-<https://www.anbg.gov.au/flags/semaphore.html>

-https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Flag_semaphore

Besides the fact that its year of creation correlates to the first permanent submerged telegraph cable, the interesting thing about this way of communicating is that its flag positions for the letters "N, W, O" create an upside down trefoil, which is the same symbol as the later trefoil nuclear symbol (radiation warning symbol). Most people think NWO means New World Order, but it actually means 'North/nucleus World Order.'

To show that the trefoil pattern was intended for those letters and not some uncanny coincidence, notice that the letter 'J' is out of sync from the pattern, with the letter 'K' being assigned the flag positions that should have been assigned to the letter 'J.' Although the alphabet starts with flag positions that look like the letter 'A,' this was purposefully altered in the middle, to more easily facilitate the flag positions for 'NWO.' The fact that the flags for the letter 'J' are out of pattern, also explains why the flag positions for the letter 'K' are substituted as the numerical flag symbol for '0.'

(Another symbol based off of flag semaphore is the peace symbol, that is, the nuclear disarmament symbol from 1958. Gerald Holton created the symbol by combining the flag stick positions from the letters 'N' and 'D,' to stand for Nuclear Disarmament.)

So, 'NWO' plainly means 'Center of control world order,' much akin to the symbolic meaning of '666,' that is, 'man taking the place of God.' The NWO (666) wants to be at the center of all human activity, comparable to Sauron's dark machinations in LotR. The very shape of the upside down trefoil also indicates that same meaning, as the shamrock is a trefoil plant, and the shamrock has historically been used as a symbol for the Trinity. Turning a shamrock upside down would be symbolic of removing and/or replacing the Trinity.

It should come as no surprise that the creation and acceptance of the nuclear symbol coincided with Project Shamrock:

Project Shamrock, which started in 1945, was an espionage op by the NSA and the predecessor of the NSA, the AFSA, on all of the telegraphic data that entered and exited the United States. In 1946, the year after the op started, the nuclear radiation symbol was created at the Berkeley Radiation Laboratory. In 1974, the nuclear symbol was accepted as the international symbol for Basic ionizing radiation, and the year after, in 1975, Project Shamrock began to be exposed by congress, which coincidentally was the very same year that the NSA was revealed to exist. Thus, the creation and use of the nuclear radiation symbol was used as a message to convey being spied on. Covert people would have understood that this message or symbol translated to 'spying' or 'recording,' because the word 'radiation' and the very same symbol were already connected via narrative code to 'damaging information.' For instance, 'radioactive' was used as narrative code for 'release of dangerous information,' such as activity over a radio. And in terms of the trefoil symbol, in the 1930s, there were a number of film reels with the same trefoil pattern, instead of the typical circle pattern. (Video recordings are one of the most powerful forms of control, that is, blackmail.)

The upside down trefoil is technically only one half of the overall covert meaning of the nuclear symbol, but before going over the next half of the nuclear symbol, it is first worth reviewing '666,' since there is the commonality with the meaning of 'NWO' and the '666' symbol.

The symbol '666,' is the very name, and core value of the Cult - that which propels the people at the top of the Cult, forward.

'6' has historically been the number of 'man,' or 'mankind,' one of the reasons being that according to the Biblical creation story, man was created on the 6th day, as the completion of creation. However, because of its connection to 'man,' it also often represents 'baseness' or 'evil,' as man has the capacity to do evil. This is why Goliath was said to have been six cubits and a span, and why another Philistine warrior was said to have had six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot - it is possible those physical attributes were true, but the reason they were mentioned was for the symbolism of '6.' '666,' which is said to be the "Mark of the Beast," is a trinity of man, meaning man trying to usurp God's position. Man is mortal and frail, and so the only way to become like God is to rule over others and to put one's own aims (not morality, nor the good of humanity) at the center.

To fully understand their aims, it helps to have an understanding of that which the 666 desires to replace. Many beliefs and religions – not all – skew the idea of what God is, so it is important to give a basic understanding that even an agnostic would not have qualms with. Whether one acknowledges God as personable, or not, the Center is what God is. The innate goodness of reality, and the absolute purpose from which morality flows – that is what God is. As some have said, "God is IS." When an individual fights for the life and freedom of a trafficked person, that individual is fighting for God. As the Apostle Paul said, "For in Him we live, and move, and have our being..." Without such a God, no morality can abide.

"...Perhaps the greatest proof is found in the asking. Does the universe match up to what a universe should look like without a God? According to some, this world does not reflect what a world should look like if there was a God, because "it's so unjust" – agreed – "so how can there be a just God?" To which the logical response may be, "How can there be injustice without there first being a just God?" No matter how senseless, empty, and unjust everything may seem, the very concepts of those things could not be discussed if sense (meaning), fullness (purpose), and justice did not exist. Thus, one eventually runs into the problem of trying to disprove God by referencing things which can only be sourced in a God. ..." - unpublished source material

That Being and/or Reality is what the top cadre of the 666 wants to replace. They want to be able to decide the worth of each individual, and they desire, if it were possible, to destroy innate meaning. Oftentimes, the Cult views the worth of people only in terms of what their body parts can be sold for.

The rulers of the 666 believe that they should be the controllers of mankind, the very center of mankind's activities, have the power to decide what is right and what is wrong, choose whose life has meaning and who can be used as livestock, or worse, etc.

This all brings up another point which is not of the same topic as narrative code or the covert world, but is nonetheless at the heart of the covert war. The intellectual process that enables humans to have the will to do evil – is the reason for any and all evil in this world. The covert world has many similarities with the world of morality, as both can be somewhat hidden from those not actively looking for them. To borrow an expression that is symbolic in nature, "now we see through a glass, darkly."

No one does what they deem to be fully evil; one might do something that they know is evil, but they will always have some perceived good that they think justifies their act. The Biblical story of Genesis, whether one believes it to be fact or symbolism, accurately shows humanity's reasoning for acts of evil. Adam and Eve ate of the Forbidden Fruit, not for the sake of becoming more like God in character, but rather, for the desire to become more like God in status. They did not desire what was good, but rather desired to become the good, that is, to be at the center. The Cult's wish to be at the center did not begin with the Cult – rather, it is the first step toward any evil.

Similar to the manner in which narrative code is hidden because of overt shells, evil exists in part because of benevolent looking shells. Pleasure is a good thing overall, but when derived from the wrong act, or for the wrong reasons, it can be evil. Evil seeps into people when their desires are based on viewing themselves as the good of things, rather than on seeing the innate good in things. The question to be asked is whether one is giving honor to the innate goodness of life, or if one is placing oneself at the center, and in so doing, striving to usurp the true innate meaning of life.

The covert world and narrative code are only a means for evil to remain embedded and hidden, and not the cause of the evil. However, that said, narrative code is the reason for the creation of a lot of media. Overt stories are like shells, whereas narrative code is like the pearls within. Once narrative code is exposed, the covert world will be judged – each pearl, whether it be good, or malformed.

Second Half of the “Nuclear/Nucleus” Symbol

The nuclear symbol is only described as being a (singular) trefoil with a circle in the center, however, it can technically be two trefoils, as the background creates another. (A good example is the previous graphic of the film reel and the nuclear symbol.) Also, the nuclear symbol is sometimes portrayed backwards with an upwards facing trefoil, at times even in official areas, which further portrays the second aspect to the symbol. The meaning of the second half is revealed by flag semaphore, as well. The letters it creates are ‘Z, H, U.’ Zhu is the Chinese word for ‘pig,’ and when spoken, it sounds very much like ‘Jew.’ The Jew connection would correlate with the Rothschilds being at the top of the Cult. Overtly, ‘pig’ does not make sense because of the common negative associations with calling someone a “pig,” but the Chinese symbolism for a pig is much different, and ties a number of related messages together. (The use of a Chinese word, apart from its symbolic connection, also relates to the fact that the Rothschilds were doing business in China, starting in the 1830s.) Traditionally, pigs in China were seen as a symbol for wealth. ‘Pigs’ was also the name between the Ming and Qing dynasties, for slaves that were sold abroad, which connects with the Rothschilds being controllers of slavery. The most important message, however, is connected to the fact that pig iron was first used in the late Zhou dynasty, and that zhu connection would mean that the Rothschilds had taken over the ‘Iron.’ As stated earlier, ‘Iron’ was used as an early symbol for ‘power,’ ‘North,’ and ‘center.’ The word ‘iron’ likely comes from two root words that meant, ‘holy power,’ or ‘holy metal.’ That etymology of ‘iron’ fits in well with the previous power of the Holy Roman Empire. Interestingly, the use of iron in the building of early churches was seen as a symbol for Christianity conquering paganism, as the iron would function as a lightning rod, and lightning was associated with Thor and Zeus. (This also indicates that Isengard, which means ‘Iron guard,’ represents the Vatican.)

The Rothschilds taking over ‘Iron’ explains why the ‘N’ in the ‘NWO’ is directly at the bottom of the trefoil, as the Rothschilds’ rise to power would have created a ‘pole shift’ of the previous power structure.

‘Pig’ is also a term for a container used to store or ship radioactive material, and the etymology of that term comes from ‘pig iron.’

The unholy trinity aspect of the NWO trefoil is also connected to a triangle; not simply because they are of similar shapes, but because of a number of symbolism connections. Another Christian symbol akin to the shamrock that the 666 stole, is the pyramid with the eye. Originally, it was just a triangle with an eye in the center, and sometimes had rays of light portrayed coming from within it – it was, and is, a symbol for God the Father. The eye represents providence, and each side of the triangle represents a person of the Trinity. The symbol looks similar to a flipped nuclear trefoil with the central circle. For both the trefoil (Shamrock), and triangle with an eye (God the Father) symbols, the connection is the Trinity aspect, which is also the reason for the Cult’s usage of them, but in an antithetical type of way. (A similar symbol with the Tetragrammaton inside a triangle, can also be found in many old churches.)

By replacing both trefoils of the nuclear symbol with triangles, and combining them, the Seal of Solomon is then portrayed, which is the ring symbolism that the Rothschilds used.

Another correlation is that ‘NWO’ spelled backwards spells the word, ‘own.’ One can easily see ‘own’ in terms of controlling something, having slaves, or having prisoners. This is exactly how the Nazis used triangles, as they would mark prisoners with different colors of downward facing triangles. However, Jewish prisoners and some other types of prisoners would get an extra upwards facing triangle. With regards to the Jewish prisoners, the upward triangle denoted 'Jew,' which again created the symbol of the Seal of Solomon, and/or Star of David. It may seem strange that the Nazis, who were puppets of the Rothschilds, would mark the people they were killing with the symbol that the Rothschilds used for 'power,' but one has to remember that the same visual symbol also had an overt connection to the Jews. Also, it could be seen as being used as a symbol of Rothschild ownership, as the Rothschilds were sacrificing people of their own ethnicity, to further their own aims. 'Holocaust' literally means 'sacrifice by fire and/or burnt offering.' Remember, this does not make the flag of Israel an evil symbol, as the use of a symbol, and not the symbol itself, is what defines it within a context.

Final Comments

Against this darkness of 'Mordor,' what is there for us 'hobbits,' to do?

Actually, nothing, in one way. The chess game is mostly over, and we are just waiting for certain pieces to fall. Of course, the point is not to laze around doing nothing, but many things are out of civilians' hands. The military is the only route to victory, and they will act when it is best, and not a second sooner. The military, or militaries, will follow the chain of command, when needed. As you may assume, special ops are being carried out tirelessly, to make sure those in greatest danger are safe - if you are willing to keep them in your thoughts and prayers, this is always appreciated. We are not likely to hear or see anything until it happens; in order to safeguard operators and those in captive situations, this is necessary.

The right actions at the wrong time or place, or the wrong actions at the right time or place, can lead to devastating effects. If you ever happen to find a site that makes you think blackmail, or trafficking ops have taken place, please do not take matters into your own hands. If your hunch is misconstrued, you could end up putting innocents in danger with your actions. If a business has a word like nemo in its title, it does not necessarily mean that they are involved in such ops, as words and symbols have their overt applications, also. In fact, when an organization is involved in heinous ops, many times, 90% to 99% of those who are in the organization, have no idea about what is covertly going on. It is the small percentage that operates in the shadows, and uses overt operations as a front for their deeds. Chances of catching such criminals, without at least a law enforcement level intel, is low, and the chance of catching them without putting others in the crossfires, is almost a certain zero. These ops use innocent people as safeguards, so the people you wish to protect will simply become the shields of their abusers. This is not to say that one should not act when others are in danger, but simply advice to prevent avoidable harm.

That said, involvement is needed at all times, at the community level. Among other options, choose to be informed about what is going on in your nearby schools. Do not allow schools to be used for indoctrination, because brainwashing is partially how the 666 has been able to do all that it has.

While awaiting the exposure of the 666's crimes, another action is to share information. This is the era of digital information warfare. Use discretion, as there is so much peddled misinformation and misdirection, which is only created to distract, confuse, and discredit you. There is also a lot of disinformation and fake decoding online, so be aware. Look for timeline based decoding, because although possible, it is always more difficult for that to be skewed.

[Sidenote of importance: This post has pointed out many crimes of the Rothschild family, but in all fairness, it is worth mentioning that there is always a chance, that there have been, and are, a few members of the Rothschild family who have not been supportive of the main ops of their family.]

All that you have now read reveals some of how the world has worked, exposes crimes, and most importantly, begins to expose the covert way of communicating, that is, narrative code. This type of information can help remove the top of the 666's power structure, and free many people below, who are slaves to their system. Without public awareness of narrative code, its current usage, and its usage throughout history, the Cult will rise to power again. History repeats, not because people do not know history, but because people only know the overt events (the symptoms) of history. One has to address the cause, and not the symptoms, to be ahead of history.

We have an opportunity to change the whole of the world into a much more free, and good world. It is an opportunity that we must not let slip by, and a war in which we must not surrender. J.R.R. Tolkien created the word "eucatastrophe," from the combination of the Greek words "eu" (good), and "kataklypsos" (to overturn). The meaning of that word is "the Fall with a good ending," much akin to the Ring being destroyed, and the Scouring of the Shire. May these be the days of the Eucatastrophe.

If you are able to, please share this Substack post. Certain people may attempt to remove this information from the internet, and in light of that possibility, please feel free to also copy this writing, and post it elsewhere.

This is Operation Frodo, an open source exposure op: exposing the 'Ring,' aka 'Submerged Telegraph,' aka 'Nautilus,' to the 'Mountain of Fire,' which is the public awareness.

Welcome to The Fellowship of the Ringbreakers.

"The road goes ever on and on Down from the door where it began."

Subscribe to TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers

Launched 3 years ago

The Covert World and hidden ciphers

Type your email...

Subscribe

By subscribing, I agree to Substack's Terms of Use, and acknowledge its Information Collection Notice and Privacy Policy.

Discussion about this post

Write a comment...

Failed to load posts

Ready for more?

Type your email...

Subscribe

© 2025 TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers · Privacy · Terms · Collection notice

Start your Substack

Get the app

Substack is the home for great culture

sleepydude's Substack

sleepydude's Substack

Symbol Comms / Acroamatics

Comms Dictionary

Updated 2024-08-30 : Perpetual work in progress, expect many revisions.

sleepydude

Mar 31, 2023

The format for this dictionary is as follows:

Comms Equation (X=Y1 / Y2) - Description. Example(s). Link to relevant media.

The list will be listed by category and then alphabetically unless I determine a better organization method. Each category will have a brief description of the subject matter and trend as it pertains to the category. Sub-category descriptions may also be provided to establish general themes among the greater category. As time goes on I will tag a link onto the left side of each equation, on the term, which will link to a more in-depth examination of the Comms term.

Seeing (WIP) next to something means I'm not yet settled on the definition, but I have a good hunch that I'm close to it.

Click here for a shortened version of this content.

Click here for a brief explanation of the cryptographic system and it's merits.

The most important term is Water = Information. Truly, all else flows from that singular revelation.

So, without further ado...

00 - Change Log

2024-08-30 Updates: Coyote, Jackal.

2023-05-25 Updates: Added Quick Comms links.

2023-05-01 Updates: Vehicles, Cars, Trucks, Trains.

2023-04-25 Updates: Crickets, Locusts.

2023-04-24 Updates: Tigers.

2023-04-16 Updates: Gold, Silver.

01 - Animals

Animal Comms concern talk of "agents", or "those who have their own agency." In other words, they are those among the Cabal who have their own needs, wants, and habits. They are identified by the function they serve, and may identify as several animals depending on context. Farm animals are typically considered Government agents (The Farm = CIA/Alphabet Agencies) while all feral or otherwise wild animals are considered public or independent agents.

Sub-Categories:

Aquatic = Deals in Information

Land = Deals in Infrastructure

Arctic = Deals in Old/Distant Information (Ancient History, Facts)

Tropics/Jungle = Ever-Changing Situation

Beasts of Burden = Industry(Medical, Construction, Military, Media) Workers

Birds / Wings = Messengers

Bugs = Listening Devices / Lowest-Level Spies

Fish = News Writers and News Readers

Pests = Snoops, spies, traitors, insurgents, etc.

Pets = Assistants and Servants

Reptiles = Obsession more than occupation. "Possessed"

Egg-layers = Involved in investments

Primates = "Unevolved" Criminal Organizations/Members

Birds-of-Prey = Message Interceptors / Organizers

Rodents = Infiltrators

Terms:

Ant = Military Grunt - A loyal, unquestioning worker who does as their told, marches at the beat of the communal drum, will happily die fighting your enemies for you, and snoops around looking for things to bring back to the nest(base), in search of appeasement(promotion) from the queen(all in the name of "Lady Liberty"). If you leave treats(bribes/indulgences) laying around it will draw the attention of the scout ant and they'll swarm you in short order. If the queen dies(the illusion of choice and freedom collapses) then the ants will either revolt or simply abandon their post, never to return.

Ape = Made Man / Gang Leader - Someone who is high enough into organized crime to be able to rip your face off without a second thought. Typically refers to apes like chimpanzees. Sophisticated enough to not look out of place wearing a suit and tie, but still sloppy enough to need to wear a diaper(someone to clean up after him) anywhere he goes. Impulsive and selfish, apes usually need a handler to coach them how to behave in a public setting among Cabal big-wigs. Every now and again, however, a group of chimps are thought to be able to write Shakespeare(their own Comms language system) if given infinite time. King Louie from the Jungle book is an example of an ape, in this case an orangutan(intellectual criminal leader), lamenting his desire to become like a human(Cabal bloodline member).

Bat = Private Detective / Private Investigator / Analyst - Someone who works independently or with a partner or secretary, to track, analyze, document, or investigate criminal activity outside the rule of law. Basically, it's a guy you hire to snoop around at night, use sonar(gadgets) to track the movements of bugs(listening devices/persons) and report back before daylight(the truth comes out). Bad guys and good guys alike employ private detectives to spy on their competition. Bat guano is poop(evidence) which some cultures consume as a delicacy. In other words, you can hire a bat to accumulate evidence and implicate others as well as themselves. That's why bats are often called "rats with wings." Bats also click, like the click-clack of a typewriter or keyboard, suggesting their frequent use of data-management tools. True to any other commonly Halloween themed creature, they mark high among the "spook" category. More notable bats, who gain a reputation around town and thereby lose the element of anonymity, often turn to using disguises. At a point some bats turn to vigilantism as their primary motive. With that in mind, you should already have come to the conclusion that Batman is the perfect specimen of the ideal. He's not beholden to the law, he made his debut in Detective Comics (DC), uses gadgets frequently and is a modern take on Sherlock Holmes motif.

Bear = Sleeper Agent / Under Cover Agent - Someone who signed up to work in the field and disguise themselves as a civilian on a mission taking longer than a year, on average. Some bears can sleep over several seasons if they are well stocked. Bears are merciless when confronted, valuing their mission as more important than anyone's life, and are very territorial, meaning other bears from another intelligence agency are not welcome on the same operation under any circumstances. You'll never know if "a bear shits in the woods"(leaves evidence) because they are more than happy to kill anyone who discovers their identity and threatens their young. Biden recently considered releasing grizzly bears into public. This is a Comms article, and not meant to make sense.

Bees = Tabloid Journalists / Paparazzi - Someone who works in the entertainment industry to keep an eye on the Stars(celebrities). They go out, hover over all the blooming flowers, collect pollen, and turn that pollen into honey(sweet, sensational information). They deal primarily in gossip and rumor. Occasionally a bee will be tasked as an assassin to take out "undesirables", earning the name "killer bees" which swarm a target and lead to a "tragedy." The most notable example is the death of Princess Diana.

Cat = Independent Contractor / For-Hire Agent - Someone who works on their own but is on your pay roll. Low maintenance. Generally hunts mice(think computer mice) and will occasionally leave them at your doorstep(threat neutralized). In other words, their role is to rid your organization of pests(spies/traitors/embezzlers). They keep themselves clean(nothing naughty they do will ever implicate you). Mrs. Norris in the Harry Potter series wanders the halls of Hogwarts to catch students misbehaving. Tom and Jerry.

Cattle(Cow) = Informant / Insider Contact / Leaker - Someone working within an industry who has valuable insider information that can be occasionally milked. In the case of the standard farm cow, it's typically referring to someone in the municipality industries – the guys who keep things running on time. Cow-farts, methane, are explosive which indicate sometimes they have information that is capable of serious damage to an organization. Other varieties of cattle, including ox or buffalo, indicate construction informants or military informants respectively.

Chickens = Cautious Investor - Someone who has carefully planned their investments. Typically, those who have 401ks or some other designed stock, bond, trusts, or savings portfolio. They are the ones who lay "nest eggs" for their retirement and progeny. Unfortunately, while they are careful investors they are also very stupid and vulnerable to foxes(con men) who offer to pad their portfolio with exciting business ventures only to rob the chicken coop when least expected.

Coyote = Human, Drug and Arms Trafficker / Blackmarket Conman = Someone who specializes in the movement of merchandise on behalf of black market organizations. Specifically, they refer to those tasked with the transport of the goods themselves, not the carriers of said goods. Typically, a coyote will prey on the weak and unfortunate offering them particularly dangerous solutions to their problems. In modern times, they are often associated with trafficking humans who usually are talked into chasing opportunity only to find themselves being used as mules to transport more illicit goods. It's also typical that women and children taken in by the false promises of a coyote find themselves being bound, gagged, and turned into sex slaves. Coyotes are the American form of a Jackal, but in modern times the two have taken on specific roles in a similar business. Typically, coyotes find themselves clients or even in the employ of a jackal. Think on Wile E. Coyote's relationship with ACME. ACME would be the jackal, the provisioner, and Wile E. Coyote the aptly named coyote. It's the expected trajectory that any successful coyote eventually becomes a jackal in its more generic term, so calling a coyote a form of jackal is apt.

Cricket = Local Gossiper / Chatter / Drifter / Transient - Someone who travels frequently and isn't shy about being overheard dispensing happenings around town. They're the crass, wisecracking drifter types who just do their best to get by. Not to be confused with their bigger cousin, the locust(foreign gossiper), crickets are the target of vagrant laws and not unlike the acts of an obsessed person destroying their house in search of a lone cricket chirping and "disturbing the peace." Crickets fly, but not far, requiring leaps to get them from place to place. Leaps(leaps in logic) are dangerous to the Cabal because obscure connections about illicit activities may be made when people rashly "jump to conclusions." It is said that crickets are harbingers of luck, especially in Eastern mythos, and so keeping a cricket close is a surefire way to avoid bad luck – which is to say if you listen to the chatter and chirping at your local watering hole you might hear a thing or two you can act upon.

Dog = Personal Assistant / On your "leash" - Someone who is beholden or sworn to you and follows your orders as "man's best friend." They will fetch you things, bury bones/ledes, and generally serve as your most vigilant defender. Dogs can also be used to refer immediately to their owner, as trusted representatives of the master's will and interests. "You want a friend in Washington? Get a dog." - Harry S. Truman.

Dolphin = Systems Analyst / Investigator / Detective - Someone who works professionally to look at data, interpret that data, and provide a strategy to best use that data. Anything that clicks using sonar mimics the click-clack of a typewriter. For that reason, any animal utilizing sonar(gadgets), which dolphins are most associated with, require some tool in order to do their job. Despite their impressive ability to look at data, dolphins are not necessarily a part of police or any authority. Mostly outside contractors who occasionally assist humans, dolphins are more akin to accountants or personal risk assessment agents. They're the guy you call in when an eccentric dare-devil is trying to get life insurance. Like other fish, most of the time they aren't entirely clueless, but they are stuck moving through water(information) and so can never threaten land creatures. Unlike fish, they are mammals, with the name dolphin meaning "fish with womb." Summarily, dolphins are great allies to a sailor(comm aware) surrounded by sharks(rogue intel agency), seals(special forces) and other marine dangers.

Donkey = "People's Champion" / Braggart / Loudmouth - Someone who advocates for the masses, as "one of their own" who comes from humble upbringings and is there as your guy on the inside to "fight the system" from within. Some donkeys are honest, but most are the worst of the worst as it pertains to politics. They're typically loud attention seekers whose stubbornness is matched only by their potential loyalty to the cause. Despite their brazen nature, donkeys are reliable and even willing to die for you, jumping in front of a bullet because they often do believe what they preach. It is for these reasons the Democrats chose the Donkey as their "spirit animal" because they always wished to express themselves as the "people's" choice through siding with unions, slavery, and often authoritarian measures all in the name of compassion. "The negro is too stupid for their own safety, so we must enslave them for their own good" is no different a sentiment than "people can't own their own fire arms because in their stupidity they'll kill themselves and us."

Elephant = Alarmist / Traditionalist / Dismissive - Someone who complains about urgent problems while offering no solutions. Basically, whenever a situation arises an elephant is the first to notice with their large ears and inform everyone there is a problem with their trumpet, but they are the last to do anything, being slow and aggravatingly methodical. The phrase "elephant in the room" refers to a problem no one wants to address. Elephants aren't exactly stubborn as much as they are dismissive of anything smaller than them. They're contradictory in their reactions to things freaking out over a mouse(infiltrator) but completely ignore a pack of lions(leaders) stalking them. Elephants are said to like peanuts(concessions) which basically means they're easily tricked into accepting the worst deal and then try to cope and convince themselves and their constituents they got something of worth out of it. Elephants are hunted for their ivory(good points) and have long been associated with the circus(media). The defining trait of an elephant, however, is that they are very exclusionary on account of their impressive memory. If you wrong an elephant, they'll remember it. They'll bring up anecdotes and obscure stories about you from long, long ago and talk about it like it was yesterday. The only problem is, however, that they seldom bother to act upon the information, careful to just go about doing their own thing and only charging those who threaten their little cliques of likeminded elephants.

Fish = News Readers / News Writers - Someone who lives in information(water) and is rarely seen outside of that environment. Fish swim(think: "surf the web") for news to cover or to wade in. Fish are stupid and woefully unable to understand Comms. They are gullible and fall for just about any trap, net, or hook. Fish lay eggs(long-term investments) and so are prime prey for stock market shenanigans. Simply put, fish are "normies" who fall for any story no matter how outrageous, hook, line, and sinker. Consider the phrases "it's like shooting fish in a barrel" and "a sucker is born every minute."

Fly = Listening Device / Paid Listeners - Traditionally, it was anyone who was tasked with recording information during a meeting. Stenographers, for example. Since the rise of electronics, however, the majority of flies and other bugs are recording devices meant to keep an accurate and evidential record of what someone said or did. Flies live in poop(evidence), lay eggs(long-term investments), and are drawn most frequently to the decaying corpse of animals(agents). Flies, in this context, are also called in to extract all the rot(corruption) they possibly can after someone gets taken down to prevent it from leading to their associates. When referred to as "feeders" they describe all those who post on internet forums and remark on current events, which feed the spider(web crawler) and allows for tailored(silk) propaganda.

Fox = Controlled Opposition / Con Artist / Sophist - Someone who is paid to say or do things that make an opposing organization look bad, sound silly, or otherwise an independent agent / mercenary for hire that is willing to do just about anything if the price is right. They frequently prey on chickens(investors) and rob hen houses of their eggs(long-term investments) like retirement funds, true to the con-man motif. Foxes are in it for themselves so it is near impossible to know where their allegiances truly lie - "The quick brown fox jumped over the lazy dog."

Frog = Conspiracy Theorist / Skeptic / Non-Normie - Someone who is able to make "leaps in logic" and arrive at plausible explanations for happenings. Frogs inhabit three environments simultaneously: water(information/data), land(normie-world), air(rumor/gossip). Frogs start life as tadpoles(like fish) and eventually transform into something that can easily transition through nearly all the elements. Frogs are especially dangerous to the Cabal, as they notice things others do not and have the means and gumption to go further and carry their findings around all avenues of information transfer. Frogs tend to act randomly and the only way to catch one is to shine light(attention) in its eyes and distract it as long as possible with frivolous and sensational buzz(think: bug) articles, which can often backfire as it only gets them more excited amidst the info-sphere. Pepe, Kekistan, and even the Biblical Plague of frogs falling from the sky are all indicative of just how effective and fearsome frogs have historically been in undermining the Cabal's power structure.

Goat = Scapegoat / Fall Guy / Plausible Deniability Proxy - Someone who is willing to represent an organization and sacrifice themselves for the sake of maintaining secrets of that organization and its illicit dealings. Not all goats, however, are completely willing and some are simply tricked into dying for "the greater good." Main-stream and admitted Satanist practitioners act as comically over-the-top examples of the actual organization, effectively acting as a red-herring or strawmen, expressly to distract from the actual operation's beliefs, themes, and actions. It causes normies to think "Satanists? You mean those freaks who dress up in Halloween costumes?" when you're really referring to occult practitioners like the Rothschild Central Banks, the World Economic Forum, Rockefeller's Medical Cult, and the DeepState at large.

Gorilla = Mafia Don / Cartel Head - Someone who has reached the peak of the criminal underworld. They're the biggest, baddest ruffian swinging through the jungle. When they get big enough, some even try to take over small nations like banana republics, like Cesar Chavez. Joaquín "El Chapo" Guzmán, who was taken in about the time Harambe tragically passed on, is probably the most recently notable gorilla to puff his chest out and swing his massive mitts all over the place. Silverbacks refer to gorillas like Fidel Castro who go on to senior(gray hair) status, as opposed to most gorillas who do not live very long since the company they keep are wild animals who all are so selfish that they cannot help but try to take out the boss to become boss themselves. Guerilla tactics, which are hit-and-run tactics using foliage and hostage civilian municipalities are the preferred tactic for gorillas leading their organization.

Horse = Activist / Politician - Someone who runs races(political elections) or is involved in the running of races(campaign workers). Horses can pull carts and vehicles(narratives) and those who run in races are betted upon. Horses respond to sugar cubes as a treat(indulgences/bribes) and peanut(think: media circus) butter(bribe used to "grease palms") can make them look like they are talking but are actually saying nothing like Mister Ed, which basically refers to a political "fall guy" like Perot. Anyone accepting to be paid to stand around with signs and neigh and whinny for you politically is a horse. Nearly all horses with promise need to be "broken in" to be of any worth, which is to say, initiated into the Cult.

Human = "Chosen" / Not You - You are not a human. You never were and you never will be. If you're reading this you are a slave. Humans are born of a chosen bloodline and there is nothing you can do to become human. Humans don't have to work, they do what they want. Humans have wealth, and their beasts(slaves) do all the work for them. Wealth is defined by your possessions working for you, not you working for your possessions. You are not wealthy, and even if you find something of value it does not belong to you; a human merely allowed you to have it. When the Cabal speaks of "humanity" they're talking about themselves, their own interests, and most definitely are not referring to the trash(you) which litters THEIR world and THEIR democracy. A pawn may become a Queen, but can never become a King.

Jackal = Arms Dealer / Intimidator - General street arms dealer. Domestically, it doesn't include military arms, just stuff you can get at a regular gun shop but without the background check. Their stock may turn more military if they set up shop in war-torn nations, however. May also include knives, stun guns, tasers, pepper spray, and other defense weapons. Their aim is to target gangs and supply them with weapons and offer connections to other black market dealers. Jackals can also be employed to intimidate a target, usually ones most likely not to fight back or retaliate. Jackals may eventually grow into tigers(professional hitmen/arms dealers/war profiteers) if they have the stomach for it. Most often, jackals will stick to supplying small time criminal enterprises to avoid becoming a target of larger organizations. In folklore, jackals are notorious for "preying on the young." Many an aspiring young thug's arsenal have been furnished by a jackal, who then pillage the dead and reclaim their guns to sell once again. Their primary scheme is to arrange two groups to go to war so that they may supply both sides and profit. As such, they are often seen as tricksters and instigators of gang violence. Anubis is the most popular jackal deity. Notable examples in recent fiction include Marcus from the Borderlands games, the aptly named Jackal from FarCry 2, and Patches the Unbreakable in FromSoft's Souls series of games.

Kangaroo = Willfully Ignorant / Disingenuous / Court Rigger - Someone who is willing to overlook, or "leap", over evidence to pursue an individual in court or some other avenue by which they may abuse their power and authority out of spite or hysterics. Kangaroos cannot jump backwards, so once a kangaroo has you in their sights they will rush their target and never back down, regardless of the consequences they may personally sustain. Kangaroos are often associated with boxing, and so betting on their court cases is a pass-time whereby the kangaroo in question is expected to put on a good show rather than respect any decorum or rule of law. Kangaroos are marsupials, and so have very deep pockets from which they may pull out some of the most obscure and irrelevant evidence solely to attempt to damage the reputation of the defendant. More than anything else, a Kangaroo's goal is to trick you into a pissing contest to have you look more foolish than them, knowing full well they will not win on merits and so double down on tarnishing character.

Lion = Leader / King / Owner / Hero - Someone who always gets the final say in any decision making and the first to call out problems when they arise. They're the one making the last call, whether everyone else trusts them to or they rise to the occasion and are simply the only one to stand up at take command. Lions are known for their roar, which is the call to action. It starts slowly and then gains traction until everyone ducks their head for fear of catching the lion's gaze. Most times the lion is the one to say what everyone is thinking but are too afraid to say out loud. In other words, a lion represents a response to the uncomfortable truth. John the Baptist is an example of a lion, who calls out from the wilderness to make straight the paths for the Lord. He demanded King Herod repent for his transgressions, never relenting, unafraid of the consequences. Donald Trump would be an example of a lion, whose primary characteristic is saying out loud what everyone else is thinking but too afraid to say.

Lobster = Over-Confident - Someone who is over-confident in their abilities, particularly as it pertains to preparation. In folklore, it is believed lobsters are technically immortal due to their unique molting process. Science only somewhat supports this idea, though. The Revolutionary-War era British were called lobster-backs not only because of their red military attire, which in hindsight is a very dumb thing to wear in war, but because they believed their navy, army, and officers were the best in the world. In reality, they had simply never been challenged. It can be said, then, that lobsters only turn red after having been cooked. In other words, "omae wa mo shindeiru" or "you're already dead."

Locust = Foreign Gossiper / Chatter / Drifter / Vagrant / Transient - Someone who travels about the globe frequently and isn't shy about being overheard dispensing happenings around the world. They're the crass, wisecracking drifter types who just do their best to get by. Locusts are a larger version of crickets, traveling far greater distances and taking with them all sorts of diseases and destroying crops(growing narratives). Basically, a slave can listen to locusts to get an outside perspective of their situation and determine that their Government is totalitarian. In that sense, locusts bring ruin to well-established "farms" and eat anything green(propaganda). In turn, eating a locust, as was one of the primary staples of John the Baptist along with honey(liquid gold/paparazzi rumors), means you are partaking of international rumors and gossip as well as leaps in logic. In other words, you're "cultured" and "have been around." Anything that leaps risks your population "jumping to conclusions" and deciding to overthrow the tyrants in charge. Locusts are fearsome and are notoriously hard to put down short of intentionally inducing a famine(cease illicit operations) for a while. Being a biblical plague, it's obvious how powerful a swarm of locusts can be to upsetting the status quo. Locusts always follow a major Declass, as a country during the "fall"(collapse) reels with learning the truths their local Government had hidden from them behind a thick wall of propaganda(greenery).

Mouse = Extortionists / Embezzlers / Infiltrators - Someone who sneaks into your organization, lives hidden behind the walls, leaves poop(evidence) everywhere, and steals your cheese(solid, insider information). Not to be confused with a rat, mice are far smaller and typically aren't in it to assist your enemies, opting more for strict personal gain within your organization. On very rare occasions, mice can be used for experiments as an ally to test your organization's security response(cats and dogs). Tom and Jerry, Mouse Hunt

Mole = Spy / Guy on the Inside - Someone who infiltrates an organization for the express purpose of discovering the inner workings of the organization. Moles specialize primarily in digging up the foundation of a structure, making holes for others to follow, and bringing back anything that can be used to sink an organization. Moles are blind, so they don't have anything in particular that they're looking for. Voles are like moles but stick closer to streams of water(information).

Monkey = Gangster / Pickpocket / Ruffian - Someone who is the lowest of the lowest tier in organized crime. They aren't enforcers(wolves), are too selfish to organize on their own, and sling their poop(evidence) everywhere. Basically, car jackers, pick pockets, muggers, rapists, and anyone else who deals in petty larceny. When Scarface was called a monkey he was visibly upset with being compared to a "small fry" criminal. He'd probably rather be a gorilla(mafia don/cartel head), but was most likely just another ape(made man/gang leader).

Mule = Smuggler - Someone who gets contraband past pigs(cops), dogs(assistants), and any other authority figures. Honestly, this one is pretty straight forward...

Owl = Communications Director / Instructor / Manager - Someone who organizes roles, partitions funds, handles or intercepts messages, and otherwise controls resource dissemination in any criminal enterprise. Owls can be a great source of confidence in an organization, and to some degree assume a "human-relations" role, decidedly handling all the in-fighting or grudges that may arise. Working almost exclusively at night, an owl's primary function is to keep rodents(infiltrators) from doing damage to the farm, and so are welcomed by the farmer(agency coordinator) though the two rarely come into contact aside from some passing glances. The Duke, from Rockadoodle, is the preeminent example of an owl at work. George Soros, who chose the name $OrO$ because it resembles a horned owl's face with the "r" forming the beak, along with his revolting eye sags, is the most notable owl active in the world at the moment.

Parrot = Mouth-Piece / News Anchor - Someone who repeats what they hear told to them verbatim. They're just there to look good, colorful, and occasionally perform some tricks. Crackers(gimmicks), like getting to fly around the world and explore interesting places for news stories are their go-to treat and reward for their efforts, as the "Polly want a cracker" saying goes. Like any other bird, they're there to give people a message. Parrots, unlike other birds, can mimic human("chosen"/ not you) speech(Comms) without really knowing the proper time and place to say such things, like when a Parrot randomly screeches curse words when you have guests over. For that reason, putting them in a cage(think: baby-crib) and covering it with a blanket(cover story) to keep them calm is appropriate.

Pig = Beat Cop / Detective / Uniformed Authority Figure - Someone who eagerly sniffs around in the mud and dirt(criminal activity) for truffles(contraband/caches). Pigs are easily bribed with treats(indulgences/bribes) and are most commonly found associating with rats and other sewer or poo-dwelling creatures. Covered in flies(listening devices), poop(evidence), and dirt(criminality), most cops are dirty. If they aren't they usually would rather be, because a pig that keeps his nose clean is the first to be fried like bacon(be turned into a patsy).

Penguin = Secret Agent / Tuxedo Agent - Someone who regularly wears a suit, goes to fancy parties, and does all sorts of spy work for the government or intelligence agencies. Think James Bond. They have a license to kill, survive on fish(news readers/news riders), and reproduce in some of the harshest winter conditions(old, secret military installations). These are the guys who can kill a platoon of men with a pencil while looking like they just got done chatting about their second yacht's new cocktail bar. They dance well, sing, and otherwise are the life of the party as sophisticated entertainers. More than anything, however, they are flightless birds, which is to say they are often disguised as messengers but are instead avid swimmers(navigates information) capable of some awe-inspiring feats of intelligence gathering.

Pigeon = Mail Carrier / Messenger - Someone who gets paid to transport everyday mail. USPS, UPS, FedEx, or any other such low-tier message, parcel, and package delivery mechanism. The distinction of pigeons is important because they are easily trained to perform mundane tasks, don't draw any attention from those below, and can really be a good ally for sneaking packages into mailboxes for both your friends and enemies. In other words, if you want drugs, money, a bomb, or something like ricin to be plopped on someone's doorstep, you can pay off a pigeon and they'll just give you the dumb pigeon head bob and not ask what's in the box. In the 40s experiments were done to see if pigeons could pilot directed missiles by training them to peck at images of ships(information vehicles) and tanks(think-tanks).

Rabbit = Sex Worker / Sex Slave - Someone trained or captured who is willing, either paid or brainwashed, to perform sexual acts. Bunnies(think: Playboy) are high-brow escorts while hares are trashy street walkers. Age isn't always a factor, but white(pure) rabbits usually refer to virgins, and therefore are typically minors. White rabbits typically allude to pedophilia in many works including Lewis Carroll's Alice in Wonderland, which serves as a deeply encoded how-to guide to get away with raping your underage niece and/or any children you're looking after in general while also grooming them to perform various sexual acts.

Rat = Traitor / Snitch / Saboteur - Someone who infiltrates your organization for the express purpose of leading it to ruin. They spread the plague, which implicates you as well as those you deal with. Their role is not just to covertly ferry data to your enemies, but also to take action within your organization in ways that cripple your operability. Cats(independent contractor) are ill-equipped to deal with them, so rats typically require specialists to come in and deal with the pest.

Seal = Special Forces - Anyone who works militarily to perform strike missions whose primary target is information and the safe acquisition of that information. Intelligence packages, including individuals who know how clandestine operations are organized, are fair game for seals. They hunt fish(news readers/news writers), primarily, but their ideal target are penguins(secret agents). Seals fear almost nothing except killer whales(large armies) and sharks(rogue intel agency).

Shark = Rogue Intel Agency / Big Fish / Private Military Corp. - Almost always refers to group of specialist intelligence agencies who have access to their own SCIF(Sensitive Compartmented Information Facility), work outside official channels, and can do far more than just assassinate a target. They do frame jobs, set ups, "accidents", can plant evidence, fabricate evidence, shut down sectors of the government temporarily, body snatch, don extensive disguises or even masks, and even topple small administrations of foreign nations. Consider them upgraded versions of independent security forces, with the means and willingness to do wet-work just about anywhere in the world. That said, some sharks aren't entirely hostile and prefer instead to just focus on exploiting companies loose information channels to make a lot of money, like basking sharks who suck in a lot of fish(news readers/news writers) with their gapers. Think: Shark Tank, the tv show. The team tasked with taking out Will Smith's character the movie Enemy of the State are the perfect example of a modern shark. Great White(morally good) sharks are considered the deadliest to humans(bloodline members) because they can't be bought off and work solely to take out Cabal swimmers who dip their toes in the water when the scent of blood is about. Q could be considered a Great White shark.

Sheep = Slave / Normie - Anyone who serves these two purposes: insulate humans("chosen" people) from the elements with their thick wool and to be sacrificed to the gods(hidden rulers). Sheep, as opposed to fish(news readers), have absolutely no idea what is actually going on in the world. They don't deal with information(water), they can't be milked(insider information), and fall for the dumbest of tricks well beyond the stupidity of most fish. They're scared of dogs(assistants) because they think they are wolves(henchmen) which only further expands on their gross superstition and fear of all things they don't understand, which is damn near everything. Sheep will frequently wander off and die without a shepherd(religious leader) to guide them. They are the 9-5 worker who doesn't care about news, politics, only votes when something affects them personally, and is incapable of unique, rational thought or the ability to act independently. Sheep only do what the majority is doing, and eagerly fall for every trend no matter how insane it is.

Snake / Serpent = Collusion / Deceit / Villainy / Coil - Any series of competing organizations or individuals working in tandem to undermine or exploit an otherwise working system. It can be said that snakes find security in legal loopholes. The Gadsden flag and Benjamin Franklin's "Join, or Die" snake flag expresses a positive representation of the snake, as a symbol of existential cooperation to resist tyranny. In that light, snakes being a symbol of rebellion is not necessarily negative, in contrast to biblical interpretations of serpents which often represent rebellion against God. Electricity, traditionally, is synonymous with snakes and serpents, with the ouroboros, the snake eating its tail, symbolizing a closed loop of cooperation or an uneasy alliance – a closed circuit. Snakes in the medical industry, such as the caduceus, represent the authority to heal poison/venom, referring to the bronze snake coiled along a rod as Moses was instructed to set up. The Greek god Hermes is also said to have performed healing with a similar device.

Spider = Web Crawler / Programmer - Someone who sets up a program(web) or some other such network designed to harvest juices(personal information) from the husks of bugs who wander into the trap. Put generally, a spider is the guy or gal who hazes, trains, and filters through all sorts of promising data or random individuals to find those who have something of merit to offer the organization, typically with the alphabet agencies. In some cases, spiders will work with pigs(cops/detectives) as in the story of Harriet's Web to elevate the status of the farmer(intelligence agency coordinator).

Tiger = Hitman / Assassin / War Profiteer - Someone who is in the business of killing people – anyone, anywhere in the world, if the price is right. Usually they keep to themselves, but every now and again they'll surface and take out villages of people at a time only to slink back into the tall grass and disappear. Tigers are to be feared for good reason, they eat, sleep, and breathe with murderous intent. Some tigers even get to the point of a legendary status such that tales are written about their exploits. Mythical Kung Fu masters who claim to have killed swathes of people with their bare fists in pre-modernist Asia are the stereotypical tiger. In modern times, however, they're the ones you can rely on to act alone, brave the harshest of jungles, and take out their target showing no mercy. Being cats, tigers are also independent from any organization, but can occasionally be tamed by "magicians." Tigers who form loose organizations with other jungle creatures may find themselves peddling guns in between their hunts, and result in stories like The Jungle Book – responsible for the cycle of perpetual violence as they kill a village, leave a survivor, and that survivor(child soldier) goes on to seek revenge, becoming a monster in his own right. This is exceptionally problematic for the Cabal, as a survivor who achieves vengeance can turn into a rogue entity that can completely stabilize a warring third-world setting and establish a moral(white) culture amongst the wilds. If you want a literary interpretation of a Tiger and Mowgli without the allegory, look at the relationship between Solidus and Raiden from the Metal Gear Solid series of video games.

Turtle/Tortoise = Bureaucrat / Government Worker - Anyone who works in an organization whose purpose is to service the citizenry but cannot, or refuses to, serve that function in a timely manner. Turtles move slow, get slower as they age, and can get really, really old. They're especially found in government, insurance or banking offices. Whenever you go to the DMV, for example, you'll eventually run into someone who is agonizingly slow, dead inside, and routinely cannot perform the most mundane of tasks. Should you harass them or plead for them to move faster they will retreat into their shell, taking even longer to act, and in the worst cases call for security. Some turtles have gotten to important positions on behalf of their family connections or by chance and are well beyond their capacity to function. Those are called "post turtles." Turtles can be used by the Cabal to demoralize the populace, and are hired expressly because they discourage the citizenry from utilizing public functions, thereby saving those allocated taxpayer funds for lining the pockets of those in power. Turtles can swim(deal in information) and have been known to attack large black(morally bad) objects obsessively, while doing no damage. The patron saint of turtles is Mitch McConnell.

Viper = Schemer / Conspirer / Unusual Bedfellows - Similar to snakes and serpents, but instead of general exploitation of common law for profit or convenience, a viper seeks to undermine a system purely out of malice. The Pharisees were described by Jesus as a "den of vipers", alluding to their scheming and conspiring to have him crucified on trumped up charges and attempting to overthrow the Roman occupation. Vipers are distinct from other snakes and serpents due to their more potent venom(lies) which stretch the truth further than typical levels of hypocrisy, into the realm of fantasy. Further, vipers will almost always be willing to form an alliance with those they typically deem their greatest foes. Pontius Pilate and Herod were said to have become great friends after they helped the Pharisees execute Jesus, true to the unusual bedfellows motif.

Wolf = Stooge, Thug, Goon / Henchman - Someone who looks like a dog but is more independent, not officially a part of your organization. Almost always of a criminal background, wolves are pack(gang) animals and will eagerly turn on you should you show a sign of weakness. They respect shows of force, with alpha wolves being the variety most willing and capable to clean up and leave no traces of a hunt(hit job). The primary role of a wolf is to intimidate and watch over illicit goods and their transportation. Full moons indicate a hunt has begun. The most notable example are the hitmen from Pulp Fiction, with Mr. Wolfe acting as the literal pack alpha.

02 - Indulgences, Food & Treats (WIP)

Chip = Portion / Bet / Wager / Trial Run / Sample

Cookie = Conditioned Behavior / Trick

Ice Cream = Campaign Bribe / Political Favor

Sugar = Positive Incentive

Chocolate = Negative Incentive (WIP)

Milk = Insider Information

Cream = Time-sensitive Insider Information

Butter = Time-stable Insider Information

Spicy = Controversial

Pumpkin = Surprise / Scary / Spooky

Pumpkin Spice Latte = Controversial and Scary Insider Information / October Surprise

Orange = Marked for Death (Godfather)

Potato = Brain-Dead / No Campaign Staff

Vegetable = Stooge / Seat-Filler / Background Scenery

Alcohol = Leisure / Vacation / Party / "Out of Character"

Smoking = Conversation

Cigar = Speak Frankly / Unfiltered Speech / Unscripted

Cigarette = Speak Publicly / Filtered Speech / Scripted

Tomato = Embarrassing / Unpopular

Plum = Good Pick / Enticing / Working as Intended / Satisfied

Lemon = Bad Pick / Sour / Initial Problems / Regret

Beef = In-Fighting / Grudges / Rival

Egg = Long-term Investment

Chicken = Unremarkable as in "Tastes like chicken"

Bacon = A cop being made an example of.

Corn = Mundane / Abundant / Low-Effort / Unsophisticated

Popcorn = Happenings / Exciting Events / Surprising

Oil = Well Performing

Coffee = Talking Points / Work Memo / Orders

Cracker = Gimmick

Steak = Serious Business / Good Prospects

Onion = Homesteading / Hermitage / Ogre

Peanut = Concessions / Cope / Trickle-Down-Economics / "At least we got peanuts out of the deal!"

03 - Science, Energy & Climate

Energy concerns one's ability to act through channels of power. Put simply, energy refers to the avenues by which one controls the "energy" of the crowd and power over influential figures. Everything from propaganda, media, cinema, music, celebrity gossip, political figures, to the state of the Cabal's control apparatus are involved in the discussion of energy. Climate Change is a metric used by the Cabal to determine how healthy their relationship to the masses is. The hotter they say it is, the more they feel the crowd is about to turn on them.

Sub-Categories:

Clean/Green/Renewable = Propaganda

Fossil Fuels = Blackmail, Extortion, Frame Jobs

Explosive = Information that can take out more than just the target

Elements = Earth(Bureaucracy), Wind(Gossip/Rumor), Water(Information), Fire(Attention/Passion)

Energy = Power and Control measures.

Terms:

Earth = Security / Authority / Officialdom / Bureaucracy - Anything that is based upon deference to authority. Policy, tradition, custom, culture, and fear in general are tools used to control the masses. Bureaucracy, effectively; those rules which is set in stone and unwavering to your attempts to move it. "I'm big, you're small. I'm right, you're wrong."

Wind / Air = Rumor / Gossip / Hearsay - Anything that convinces people to act despite a lack of evidence or logical reasoning for them to do so. Wind can't be detected when it's not storming(breaking news), you can only feel it or see plants(actors/spies) flutter when it's happening, and you need windmills(news agencies) in order to harness energy(power) from it. Wind can be hot(sensational/new) or cold(historical/old).

Water = Information / Instruction / Knowledge - Any form of intelligence, knowledge, data, instruction, directions, or other actionable information. Water comes in three states: liquid(present), solid(past), gas(future) ranked by commonality. Liquid water can be acted upon right now, solid water must be thawed out but can be built upon, and gas needs time to solidify by means of cooling down. In other words, if water is hot it's hard to handle(hard to be believed) but when it's cold it is more difficult to move(harder to get interest). It is said that one who seeks information has a "thirst for knowledge."

Fire / Temperature = Interest / Passion / Excitement / Attention - Anything that excites the masses and gets them moving. Includes trends, entertainment, bandwagons, etc. That which is said to be hot is getting a lot of attention. That which is said to be cold is old news. Generally, temperature is an indicator of public interest in the contextual topic, most often associated with potentially negative reactions to the subject rather than positive reactions. Things like the Cold War imply that the information one does get is old and covert. Cold case files are those which have lost public interest or lack definite leads to follow. When things are "heating up" it means that you're receiving unwanted attention, like getting the spotlight put on you during an interrogation.

Light = Attention / Truth - Anything which draws the attention of the masses and allows for sight(revelation). That which emits light is said to be inspired, and therefore naturally draws the eye to it and anything it also shines its rays("look here!") upon. Solar energy is a form of light energy, but light is more general and can be found without celestial(celebrity) status being a factor. Ideas, points, or remarks that have merit are sources of inspiration, and therefore sources of light. Light produces heat(interest) which may lead to increased public scrutiny. Work(progress) can only be performed with a source of light(truth), otherwise you're stumbling around in the dark(surrounded by lies).

Dark = Hidden / Obscure / Occult / Lies - Antithesis to light, and not traditionally considered a form of energy but rather an absence of energy. In the absence of energy, in dark places, there is security(earth/caves). Night time being used refers to that which is taking place "under the cover of dark" or behind the protective veil or simply out of sight(under the table). Black market deals, insider trading, trafficking, smuggling, and any other form of criminality takes place in the dark and at night. Includes lies told to get people to do things they would otherwise never do and leading them to "show their dark side."

Solar / Star = Celebrity Influence - Anything that is hip and happening which is pushed by celebrity, media, online influencers, business moguls, elected political figures, or other such high-status individuals in the entertainment and news fields. The Sun is a star(celebrity/celestial) and represents the biggest figure who is sucking up all the public's attention. Anything the Sun shines one gets seen by just about everyone. Furthermore, stars act as nodes or beacons by which sailors(Comms aware) people may navigate open waters(info-sphere). The Sun is effectively the "director" of the Collective Conscious, and controls the stage lights for the play/movie.

Geothermal = Government Influence - Anything that involves knowledge of the internal workings of the security, surveillance, or otherwise top-secret sector of the Government or public infrastructure. By knowing who to call, what to say, and where to go you can circumvent the barriers of bureaucracy and get to the meaty core of people in any agency or institution that can actually be of help or service. Additionally, it involves any explosive(top secret) information that may lead to volcanic eruptions(organic declass/natural end of the world/God is pissed). Most often, this route involves putting pressure(coerce/threaten) and heat(attention) on people in positions of power to do what you want. Basically "do what I say or I'll bury you!"

Nuclear = Top Secret / World Ending / Chain Reaction - Anything that comes out that will lead to top-secret material being disclosed and the following chain reaction that could implicate just about everyone in the Cabal, exposing their crimes to the public. It's the most explosive of all information. Mutually Assured Destruction involves everyone releasing the dirt(blackmail) they have on others all at once and then hoping they survive the widespread chaos that would ensue. Power derived from nuclear plants must be throttled to prevent nuclear meltdowns that can result in entire cities being leveled in an instant or polluted with radiation("look here!") that can afflict anyone who goes near it, like child porn(cheese pizza). Just having or viewing child porn is a crime from which there is really no cure or treatment.

Coal = (Solid/Old) Blackmail / Dirty Information - Old evidence that can burn(garner interest) and threatens to have the truth(light) come forward. Fossil fuels are when someone does something wrong, getting involved in any criminal activity from misdemeanors to felonies, and there is physical evidence like recordings or video. Coal, specifically, refers to evidence that is old(solid) and not ongoing. Coal must be definitive, and the identity of the individual in the evidence cannot be disputed in court.

Oil = (Liquid/Present) Blackmail / Dirty Information - Current evidence that can burn(garner interest) and threatens to have the truth(light) come forward. Fossil fuels are when someone does something wrong, getting involved in any criminal activity from misdemeanors to felonies, and there is physical evidence like recordings or video. Oil, specifically, refers to evidence that is current(liquid) and ongoing. Pipelines are continual flows of criminal activity. Shutting down a pipeline implies one's obscure deals have ceased. Oil can only be acted upon if the target is "caught in the act." Many embezzlement or money laundering schemes are the subject of oil energy.

Natural Gas / Fracking = (Gas/Future) Blackmail / Dirty Information - Upcoming evidence that can burn(garner interest) and threatens to have the truth(light) come forward. Fossil fuels are when someone does something wrong, getting involved in any criminal activity from misdemeanors to felonies, and there is physical evidence like recordings or video. Gas, specifically, refers to evidence that is up in the air(rumor/gossip). It's things everyone, even the public, knows about already, like Epstein Island, but no one is willing to touch for fear of its explosive(collateral) damage. Methane, or cow(insider info) farts(evidentiary talk), is explosive and therefore must be handled with care. Gas leaks are synonymous with leaks in an organization. "Loose lips sink ships."

Dams = Censorship / Information Throttling / Delays - Anything that is held in limbo in the news cycle artificially so that it may have a more controlled impact, as in being throttled or drip-fed. Particularly, dams deal with any information that is absolutely going to come out but is not necessarily dirty(blackmail) in nature. Delaying statistics of a crime, stock, business, voting, or demographic nature to prevent a flood(declass) requires a dam to be set up to stop information from flowing out too quickly or too slowly. If too quickly then a flood is guaranteed, too slowly and you risk the dam breaking and the water(information) coming out all at once anyways.

Plant = Paid Liar / Shill / Story-Teller -

Carbon = Conspiracy / Collusion / Illicit Activity / Criminal Behavior - Anything that is black(morally bad), burns(produces energy), and is the basis for life(the hierarchy). Basically, it's most criminal activity or generally just reprehensible and degenerate behavior. Carbon-based life forms, which we all are, refers to sinners and anyone who can be manipulated, coerced, or blackmailed into doing things. The number of Carbon is 6, has 6 neutrons, 6 protons, and 6 electrons. 666, is the mark of the beast, so anything made of carbon is a beast suitable for slaughter and a burnt offering to the old gods, a holocaust.

Carbon Emissions = Conspiracy Talk / Dirty Talk / Conspiracy Theories - Anything that challenges the status quo, especially any talk of the Elite, Cabal, or Authority and their criminal acts. Carbon is synonymous with criminality or general sleaze, so emissions of the carbon variety are topics of conversation about those in power and their illicit deals, activities, fetishes, etc. Carbon emissions contribute to the greenhouse effect, and results in global warming(anger and pushback against Globalism).

Electricity = Collusion / Circuit - Anything that is a coordinated effort to pool resources together to achieve a unified goal. If batteries are pooled resources, then the circuitry which connects positive to negative ends are the colluding elements. When corporations collude together to gatekeep a market by price-fixing their products and establishing an oligarchy, they have formed a circuit, which is to say, they've formed a series of connections whereby all of them watch one another in a conga-line and so long as no one disconnects the price remains fixed. The Five-Eyes Intelligence Agency collusion also forms a circuit and is used to transfer energy between the agencies such that they don't break their domestic spying laws. Electricity, traditionally, is synonymous with snakes and serpents, with the ouroboros, the snake eating its tail, symbolizing a closed loop of cooperation or an uneasy alliance. Snakes coil themselves, not unlike an electric induction coil.

Wave = Trend - Anything that comes and goes in the public consciousness, seemingly without rhyme or reason. The moon's(subconscious) influence and gravitational pull is said to direct the tide. Further, anything that makes a "big splash" is said to capture the attention of many people, thus artificially producing waves throughout the water streams(info-sphere). Despite their best efforts, it's only by producing earthquakes(great acts of destruction) that the Cabal has managed to make tsunamis(big trends). Generally, waves are best treated with respect, and navigated by rudder, oar, sail, or some other such nautical navigation device.

Weather = The Current Situation

Humidity = Oppression

Boil = Building Pressure

Steam = Signs of Oppression / Frustration

Clouds = Distractions

Fog = Low Visibility / "Fog of War"

Rain = Information Release / Precipitation = Participation

Snow = Soft Information / "Fluff Pieces"

Blizzard = Information Shutdown / Lockdown

Snowflake = Exposés on an Interesting Individual (melts fast)

Ice = Hard / Foundational Information

Black Ice = Hard Information that leads to "Accidents"

Permafrost = Permanently Top-Secret / Lost to Time / Buried and Forgotten

Glacier = Sources of Information

Iceberg = Bigger news than anyone can fathom

Cold = Old News

Warm = Relevant News

Hot = (Ice-)Breaking News

Salt = Exciting News / Upsetting News

Freeze = Slow Classifying of Information

Melt = Slow Declass of Information

Smoke = Discussion / Conversation / Debate / "Fiery Talk"

Global Warming = Rejection of Globalism

Greenhouse Gasses = Counter of Propaganda / Conspiracy Talk

Waves = Movements / Trends

Tide = Big Movements / Big Trends

Rising Water Levels = Too much Mis/Disinformation

Flood = Overwhelming Information Release

Tsunami = Overwhelming Wall of Information / No Escape

Earthquakes = Cracks in the Landscape(Government / Authority / Foundation / Infrastructure)

Storm = Mass Declassification

Tornado/Twister = Civil Strife / Civil War / "Vortex of Emotions"

Lightning = Riot / Raid / Unrest / Blitzkrieg

Thunder = Outrage / Angry Crowds

Ice Caps = Hard-Core Cabal Information / (Real)Ancient History / Esoterics

Ice Caps Melting = Hard-Core Cabal Information Declass / Esoterics

Hole in the O-Zone = Fully Exposed to the Truth(light)

Arctic = Military Globalism HQ (Center of the Map)

Antarctic = Economic Globalism HQ (Border of the Map)

Season = Life Cycle of an Era/Nation/Organization

Spring = Revolution / Birth of a Nation

Summer = Stable Control / Growing Period

Fall = Collapse / Harvest

Winter = Inactivity / In Hiding / Regroup and Plan

Drought = Lack of Information / Instructions

Desertification = Plans Abandoned / "No place to hide."

Deforestation = Uncovering and Displacement of Agents(Animals)

Landslide = Bury everything, "letting them have the win"

04 - Color, Numbers, & Philosophy (WIP)

White = Morally Good / Pure / Of the Prime Mover - Refers to the white pieces on a chess board. Basically, anyone who is pure, honest, wholesome or otherwise follows a positive moral compass. White Hats, White Magic, White Mages, White Knight all refer to operating in ways that are genuine and interested only in the betterment of mankind or doing the right thing with no expectant reward. "White People" has nothing to do with skin color, and the majority of the time refers specifically to people who cannot be bought, sold, coerced, or otherwise deviate from their principles, even at the threat of death.

Black = Morally Bad / Corrupt / Adversarial - Refers to the black pieces on a chess board. Basically anyone who is corrupt, shady, adversarial, violent or otherwise "in it for myself." Black Hats, Black Magic, Black Mages, Black Market, Blackmail, all refer to operating in ways that are scummy and exploitative. Scams, schemes, murder, fraud, theft, rape, etc. are all hallmarks of a black-souled individual. "Black People" has nothing to do with skin color, and the majority of the time refers specifically to people who are easily bought, sold, coerced, or otherwise will do as they're told so long as they get rewarded fairly for how much of the knee they had to bend to appease the Adversary(Satan), who acts as the opposition to God, the Prime(first) Mover, in this game of Chess(Rulers and Pawns) we call life.

Brown = Avarice / Greed / Worldly - Refers to the accumulation of things. All that is brown is concerned only with getting more of what they already have, piling their possessions up more and more in fear of the sting of death. It makes more sense in antiquity, whereby those who hoarded things not for their value(like gold and silver) but rather all sorts of items of dubious quality and worth would find most of what they own is colored brown. In other words, brown refers to those things like tools, furniture, clutter, decorations, or otherwise common or mundane and not "collector's" pieces. Their value is solely based on function, not form, and therefore are often materially wooden, stone, dirt, or of other some such vulgar composition. Basically, anything that a cave man would want to bring back to his cave.

Red = Tradition / Resistance / Conservative -

Orange = Death / Hazard -

Yellow = Inspired / Inventive / Fleeting -

Green = Propaganda / Growth / Life / Self-Sustaining / Cover -

Blue = Authority / Overbearing / Abyssal / Liberal -

Indigo = Divinity

Violet / Purple = Royalty / Enlightenment

Tiffany Blue = Insurance Policy / THE Diamonds / Collateral

17 = Explosive Topics / Top-Secret

11 = Repeat / Once More

10 = All-Encompassing / Everyone and Everything

9 = Return / Finish

8 = In Perpetuity / Infinitely

7 = Perfect / Ideal

6 = Stuck / Loop

5 = Together / Momentary / Understood

4 = Soon / Upcoming / Foundation

3 = Balanced / (Nuclear) Family

2 = Duality / Tied / Marriage

1 = Unity

1,2,3,4... = According to Plan

5,4,3,2... = Countdown

05 - Technology, Transportation & Jobs (WIP)

Vehicle/Vessel = Narrative - Anything moves people and things. Opinions, facts, stories, anecdotes, stances, experience and any other means by which lessons form and one may learn about the world are ample mediums by which Man may move his things and himself. Nations are built upon being able to move many things at once – to group objects, ideas, concepts, cultures, and individuals together and then shift their position through time and space. Books are those things which hold narratives. Books form a bookshelf. Bookshelves form a library. Libraries form a consortium. Fractally, upwards and onwards, until we arrive at what we always were from the start. The Universe(One+Word).

Car = Individual Narrative / Movie - Any short-form story-telling device used to establish a simple narrative or analogy for use in wider schemes of communication. Most cars simply reinforce the existing narrative, but are put in a more modern light so certain nuances are better understood. A car's primary purpose is to shuttle small groups between destinations, and do not have the capacity nor ruggedness to endure harsh conditions. In other words, a car, like a movie, isn't meant to hold up to critique of a critical nature. Movies are the most common form of narrative transportation, which is why the vehicle and film industries are both failing at a consistent rate. All vehicles are "movies" in that they move you from one point to another. They're both failing because both are out of novel ideas, restricted by politics and regulations, and their owners seem intent on destroying their respective industries in order to control the masses and sabotage the economy. One-off movies, novels, music albums, etc. are examples of these short-form story-telling devices.

Truck = Working Narrative / Movie Sequels / Mini-Series - Any long-form story-telling device used to establish an interconnected narrative or analogy for use in wider schemes of communication. Trucks can carry a lot more than a car, and not only reinforce the existing narrative but permit the transfer of goods between them. As vehicles, they allow a longer distance to be traveled and are durable enough to withstand the necessary conditions to move large amounts of goods across borders. They have "staying power" in the public eco-sphere. Sequel series like Star Wars, Marvel, DC, Fast&Furious, The Expendables, or any other such interconnected but isolated narrative "caravans" can be considered trucks. Mini-series like Breaking Bad and Lost, even Anime ventures, are also arguably trucks since they must be viewed in order for the plot to make sense unlike with trains(sitcoms). Basically, if there's a "bandwagon" forming around a media property, it's likely a truck because it's not just an A to B story line, it's an indefinite moving organization that transports ideas and concepts for Comms use. You can load up a lot onto one truck and it all make sense, just like how movies like the Avengers have several character vehicles and story arcs occurring simultaneously.

Train = Working Narrative / Episodic / Sitcoms - Any long-form story telling device used to establish an sometimes indefinite narrative with compartmentalized stories which band together to form a much larger and uninterrupted narrative or analogy for use in wider schemes of communication. Trains are modular in nature, allowing you to attach and detach the components in any order – an episodic construction. Shows like Cheers, Scrubs, or Family Guy don't necessarily have to be watched in any particular order for the overarching story to make sense. The shows can go on for generations without being uninterrupted, but that also means it can put a stop to road traffic like cars and trucks, symbolizing a halt to an actor or actress's career in movies or other properties. The definite fall of the sitcom coincides with trains in a remarkably similar fashion, as the attention span of the average viewer doesn't wish to sit around and wait for each episode to come and go, like waiting for a train – they'd rather binge on a truck(miniseries) and move on to the next thing that's trending and catching everyone's eye.

Sailor = Dreamer / Entrepreneur / Mover - Someone who is willing to go anywhere and do anything to see their dreams become reality. They're the ones who move the world, change up the status quo, and bring back to the world of man all those wondrous things once thought impossible. "If he fails, at least fails while daring greatly." The greatest example of a sailor, by his own admission, is John F. Kennedy. The sailor motif in his oval office was overbearing, to say the least. His moon-landing speech fully encompasses the sentiments of a wanderlust sailor. Traveling to the moon(subconscious) is a plea to break down the walls between the waking and unwaking (Cabal and Normie) worlds and lead Man into a new era of enlightenment.

Ship = Transition / Dream-Chasing / New Possibilities - Some new way of thinking, living, or world view that can alter what was once thought possible. Ships facilitate the transfer of goods and people, and those same goods and people from far-off places carry with them cultures, inventions, ideals, and beliefs that can forever change the current state of the world and how people live in it. Ships follow the stars(celebrities) to chart their courses or otherwise determine their location on the map(state of the world). When a ship heads off into uncharted waters, anything is possible, which scares the Cabal to no end, as those in power seek nothing more than to maintain that power. Change, therefore, is their enemy.

Firearm = Will / Extension of Will / Reach - Something that allows an individual to project their will beyond the scope of their typical functions. Guns are fire(passion)+arms(extensions) and so an extension of one's passions is their will. It's a novel concept to be able to look at a far-off enemy and wish death upon them while retaining one's own safety from harm. "If only I could just reach my hand out and squish them at this distance!" Firearms provide a solution to that aching will to do away with your enemies over a great distance. In a modern setting, the ability for someone to act outside their particular spheres of influence count as an "assault" on those other spheres. An "assault weapon", then, is the tool by which one may impose one's will upon those whom they disagree with. An example of this is the use of one's popularity or credibility, like on social media, to urge others to attack or harass another individual. Basically, firearms denote an individuals social reach and influence over the masses. A firearm or "assault weapons" ban, therefore, is a call to prohibit the influential capabilities of individuals over those in otherwise untouchable positions of authority and power. After all, the 2nd Amendment is more about keeping power in check than anything else, and any armament(extension) which allows one to keep power in check is in keeping with its intent.

06 - Medicine & Health (WIP)

Masks = Using rubber masks, body doubles, Hollywood CGI, or some other means of hiding your identity during transit or even using proxies when forced to keep up appearances publicly.

Covid Status = Current status of your involvement in an ongoing investigation, embellished further by terms such as: fever, covid positive, covid negative, sniffles, cough, shakes and shivers, etc.

Covid Positive = You are formally being investigated (current focus).

Covid Negative = You are not being investigated (current focus) at this time, but that may change in the future.

Been in Contact with Someone with Covid = You were mentioned in the case files of someone under investigation.

Fever = Feeling the heat of an investigation, and having the spotlight on you.

Sniffles = People close to you are talking about you. Drip, drip, drip, there's a leak...

Cough = You may have given up details, wittingly or unwittingly, possibly due to coercion and threats. "Cough it up, already!"

Shakes and Shivers = You're being tortured (rare).

Grateful = You've been detained and are behind bars.

Quaranteen/Lockdown = You're unable to travel; airports and piers are being monitored. Possibly being deposed or challenging an indictment.

Never Vaccinated = You're a clean "pureblood" who may be a no-good politician, but at least you aren't a Cabalist. In other words, you're cooperating fully from the get-go. Doesn't rule out Controlled Opposition, however.

Vaccinated = You made a deal offer with investigators.

Double Vaccinated = Investigators accepted your deal. You have artificial "immunity." AKA a plea deal.

Booster = You may have broke the terms of the deal; so they altered the deal, pray they don't alter it any further.

Brains = Puppet masters, campaign directors, and lawyers. "So, you're the brains of the outfit, aye!?"

Aneurysm/Brain Clot/Stroke = Your puppet masters are changing hands, and you're looking at new leadership, like when a sportsball athlete gets traded. (Fetterman may have had a change in puppet masters.)

Heart = Cabinet, assistants, and immediate campaign team. Those closest to the vest, who know your "innermost" secrets, for better or worse.

Heart Attack = A traitor in your own team sold you out. May require a new heart (transplant) to weed out any scum, filthy, Judases still kicking around.

Blood = Your constituency and financial backing. The "lifeblood" of the organization. Generally, describes team morale, loyalty and confidence.

Blood Clot = When your funding gets sluggish, your constituency isn't following orders, and when people are forming cliques and squabbling.

Died Suddenly = Demanded Witness Protection to whisk them away. You leave everything you own, abandon all electronics, and forget all bank accounts and phone numbers. New identity, after a long stint in an undisclosed location. Not even your family (Comms unaware) knows if you're still alive.

Cancer = Depending on the organ involved, designates parts of your team are now working against you. It's not necessarily they are working for White Hats, but more or less they're in it for themselves now and are looting the storeroom before jumping ship.

Shit/Crap/Scat/Poopoo = Evidence of wrongdoings left behind.

Toilet Paper = Establishing an alibi; specifically "receipts" proving you're clean. "See ma, I wiped!"

Colon Cancer = Your "evidence clean up team", the people who wipe your ass, are out of commission. Which means, you can't clean up after yourself, and if you do it hurts like a son-of-a-bitch. In other words, you're plagued by evidence laying around and can't stop leaving a scat trail for investigators to follow.

Knee Surgery = You can't stand on your own. You've been "benched." You have fallen and can't get up. In other words, you're not important anymore and people have to wheel you around to make appearances. Bad feels man. Just look at the "Pope." Basically just a Weekend at Bernie's mannequin at this point. People are forced to wheel you around.

"Grateful to be Vaccinated" = Behind bars for life because of the deals (vaccinations) taken, having escaped the death penalty. (We must remember, testimony from higher-up officials is essential to draining the swamp completely. Though we may justifiably want them dead, some are better left alive if they are willing to testify against all the others.)

Operation Warp Speed = Saved millions of lives. How? Not because of the "vaccines." Instead, it was the most merciful war-time act any President has ever taken. "10-million" people involved in DeepState operations were given an opportunity to come clean.

Toilet Paper = Receipts / Alibi - Anything that aids in the removal of evidence against your person. Receipts, for example, have a time stamp which prove you were at a location during an alleged crime. Because of this, the phrase "show me the receipts" is synonymous with the expression "show me the evidence/proof." Basically, toilet paper is anything that provides you with an alibi and safeguards you from suspicion. Sometimes, however, too clean of an ass is suspicious and can denote a betrayal. "There you stand all spick and span, but where were you when the shit hit the fan?"

07 - Parts and Materials (WIP)

Everything is a sum of its parts. Therefore, each part itself is a component, or tool, by which an animal or object fulfills its necessary functions. Distinctions between teeth and fangs, wood and metal, are important and play into the idiomatic understanding of the whole whose parts they entail. Even parts of a ship, like sails and a rudder, inform a greater understanding of the whole.

Sub-Categories:

Body Parts = Abilities and job specifications

Terms:

Fang = Predator / Can Hunt - The ability to fight others outside of just defensive capabilities. Preying on other animals indicates one's ability to use others to further your own goals. Fangs, further, also indicate action and the ability to act with initiative and make decisions on your own as an independent actor.

Fur = Insulation / Cover - The ability to protect one's self or others from the elements (the power of others). Basically, if you have fur it means someone can spin (craft cover stories) your fur and safeguard you from public scrutiny. Wool, from sheep, refers to feigning ignorance or otherwise just dismissing things because "I forgot", "I don't recall", or "I'm not in a position to know that." To pull the wool over someone's eyes, therefore, refers to convincing someone what's actually going on isn't - a low-level gaslighting in a way.

Tail = Story / Tale / Report - The ability to tell stories or recall events pertinent to one's time as an animal. Anything with a tail has some degree of intrigue or interest which can be used as a talking piece (as a vehicle). In other words, a tail means that the occupation most certainly is not uneventful and you'd have a good time listening to what they've been through, at the very least. Whenever actors regale others with stories of meeting other actors, it's like an animal waving its tail to signal to others how good of a time they've had/are having. For example, a wagging tail means one is happy while a tail tucked between your legs means you had a rough time.

Wing = Messenger / Freedom - The ability to enter enemy territory, if necessary, and relay messages between two opposing parties. "Don't shoot the messenger" alludes to this ideal. Wings also mean you have the freedom to come and go as you please, as a necessary component of society. Industries society has to deal with despite the hassle are often staffed by birds of all shapes and colors.

String, Stringer = Command / Code - Any order received that requires a programmed series of actions to be performed. When you "string something together" it means grouping them into a cohesive whole. Think: Bundling Firewood. In programming, combining several functions into a sequential command is often termed a "macro" feature. One well-known example is the Konami Code: up, up, down, down, left, right, left, right, B, A and Start. Instead of saying the whole thing, you could instead just say "Konami Code". Like during a nuclear attack, certain steps must be taken in a strict sequential order such that the task to be accomplished is according to a strict pattern. Bomb squad defusal, further, shows how certain decisions can be offered up to the operator, like in the "do I cut the green or the red wire?" trope. In Comms it can refer to activation or response plans, like after false flag event, to clean up or otherwise push a structured narrative by exploiting an event. Puppets have strings, and those strings are used to control the limbs of a puppet.

Flag = Signal / Indicator - Something that expresses to those who are Comms aware your current state of mind and what you're willing to discuss. A "Red Flag", for instance, is an indication that the person you're dealing with has a lot going on that might not sit well with you. A "White Flag" means surrender or otherwise a feign of innocence. Flags on ships signal the general state of a vessel just as clothes can indicate the mood of a person. Ties, scarves, and dresses are used in Comms to send signals to onlookers as to how to act, talk, and receive information from the sender. For example, a wacky tie indicates anything the person says should not be taken seriously. A striped tie means your emotions are mixed between the two colors and signals indecision. A yellow tie can indicate the individual is going through an idea phase and is asking for or offering counsel, or a "meeting of the minds" in a safe and secure place(quarantine). No tie means you just want to drop your anchors(burdens) and relax a bit.

Rudder/Oar/Paddle = Trend-Setter - Something that works to redirect the public sentiment so that you may capitalize on the energy swells. News media was an effective rudder until trust was lost. Now, the most powerful form of this ideal rests in online influencers on Social Media, like YouTube, Twitch, Twitter, Instagram, and TikTok. Every individual can be seen to act like a crewman on a Viking longboat, each assigned to their own oar.

Rope = Connections / Cooperation / Control / Deal-maker - Something that allows you to tie two things together. Threads make string. Strings make cords. Cords make cables. Cables make ropes. Ropes, therefore, are a vast collection of bindings that work together to form a cohesive control scheme. The bigger the rope, the larger subject you can take control of. The largest rope of them all is the one that forms the idea behind the Freemason Cable Tow(peer pressure). The compulsion to seek acceptance from others by altering your behavior is the greatest means by which a collective may control an individual and prevent them from achieving their potential and acquiring true freedom. When a Mason symbolically removes their Cable Tow, they are swearing off caring about what others think – including God. The danger, therefore, is that assuming this then makes you God. In other words, a puppet Master has no strings(commands) on him... This is the moment when the Mason becomes a "Free"-Mason.

Leaves = Perceived Value / Story / Transferable / Fiat Note - Anything whose value is based on what it represents rather than its immediate tangible uses. The pages of books are traditionally called "leaves" which on their own are of little worth realistically, but when a story is put to them they have a greater value due to the perception of those who "consume" the content. Book burnings are not unlike leaf piles which are burnt during the fall(collapse) of an era. During a financial collapse, fiat notes litter the street like leaves and are worth just as much, which is the immediate analogue for the meaning behind leaves in Comms. Different types of food products denote different forms of transferables. This includes leafy vegetables like cabbage, lettuce, kale, spinach, or any other such vegetation. Cabbage and lettuce, for example, have traditionally been slang terms to refer to cash money. Regardless, when times are tough people will resort to using leaves to "wipe their ass"(get rid of evidence) because toilet paper(receipts/alibis) are hard to come by.

Ivory/Horn/Ray = Slogan / Catch-Phrase / "Good Point" - Something that sounds good, looks good, can be worked as a base material for endless projects, but otherwise has value only in that it is easy to manipulate. Slogans, catch phrases, good campaign ideas, or anything that generally has you say "well, you've got a point there" is ivory. It isn't exactly something you can industrialize and push on a large scale, but if you get your hands on some ivory you'll not be sad about it. Summarily, ivory is kinda like a proto-meme, and something that while not exactly true it isn't false either.

Gold = Invention / Perfection / Inspiration / Male / Consciousness / Sun - Anything which is capable of forever altering the course of human history. Includes inventions, movements, discoveries, or novel ideas. In the Bible, gold is often referred to as "talents" which were classified not only as gold coins but "that which is worth its weight in gold." In other words, you need talent to make something that's worth more than the sum of its parts. When what you make is revolutionary to the point where human civilization is forced to tailor itself around your novel talent, you have created "star dust", another name for gold", and secures you safely in the annals of history like a guiding feature for humanity in the sky. The Sun's metal is gold, symbolizing its perpetual nature and emphasizing its importance in the continuation of life as we know it. Suppression of gold is essential to the Cabal in order to "prevent the passage of time", as it is believed preventing inventions and discoveries from coming out ensures a "freezing" of the status quo, enabling them to maintain power indefinitely. Finally, gold is associated with the Collective Consciousness and directs the "solar winds" which is the driving force of weather(world events).

Silver = Innovation / Iteration / Refinement / Female / Subconsciousness / Moon - Anything which is an improved upon iteration of what is already remarkable. Includes innovation, decoration, aesthetics, and examination. In the Bible, silver is also referred to as "talents", like gold, and so too is considered to be that which is worth more than the sum of its parts. Silver is often associated with subliminal, an subconscious understandings of themes and concepts. "Silver tongue" or "silver screen" therefore are references to being swayed by means of perspective. Someone with a silver tongue plants subconscious ideas in your mind to change your thinking, while a silver screen is an illusion of reality meant to convey a story. More than anything else, however, silver represents taking a revolutionary idea and adapting it to make it more tailored towards subsets of a task. For example, a hammer would be a golden(invention) idea, while a tack, ballpeen, claw, and mallet are all silver(iterations) of the original concept. Silver is associated with the moon and so concepts of menstrual cycles, femininity, and tides(waves/trends) are applicable. In terms of the mind, silver represents the Collective Subconsciousness, which is often associated with dreams, criticism, and general themes of instinctual or passive, emotional reactions to stimuli.

Thanks for reading sleepydude's Substack! Subscribe for free to receive new posts and support my work.

Type your email...

Subscribe

Discussion about this post

Write a comment...

eric

May 29, 2023

The amount of effort you've put into considering and understanding all of this is unbelievable. I check everyday for a blog post

Like (3)

Reply

Share

Kingslea
Mar 15

Hey! Hope you are well! Can you do a dig on the scarab beetle?

Like (1)
Reply
Share
1 reply by sleepydude
21 more comments...

Failed to load posts

Ready for more?
Type your email...
Subscribe
© 2025 sleepydude · Privacy · Terms · Collection notice
Start your Substack
Get the app
Substack is the home for great culture

sleepydude's Substack
sleepydude's Substack

Symbol Comms / Acroamatics
Dog Comms Examples
Here's a good example of Dog-centric Comms
sleepydude
Jul 20, 2023

What is really happening here?

We all know this is nonsense on the face of it. A hotter temperate climate isn't gonna make dogs more 'hostile' to humans. Dogs aren't getting depressed because of 'climate change.' They have no concept of this economic scam to bother getting depressed about it.

Thanks for reading sleepydude's Substack! Subscribe for free to receive new posts and support my work.

Type your email...
Subscribe
That is, unless...

Unless "dogs" are Comms for "personal assistant."

Remember, 'Climate Change' = 'A change to their Globalist Climate' and 'dog' = Personal Assistant.

Replace these headlines with the appropriate analogues:

"Our pets are part of the climate problem. These tips can help you minimize their carbon pawprints" becomes "Our assistants are part of the globalist resistance problem. These tips can help you minimize their talk of our conspiracies."

"Global warming might be causing dogs to become depressed, say pet behaviorists" becomes "Anti-Globalist sentiment might be causing personal assistants to become depressed, say CIA Handlers(think: MK-Ultra)."

"Dogs could become more 'hostile' to humans as the planet heats up" becomes

"Assistants could become more snappy with the global elite as the world realizes they've been tyrannized."

"Environmental impact of pets may mean it's time to 'eat the dog'" becomes "The liability that comes with assistants having personal political opinions may mean it's time to fire(cook) them and do their job yourself."

Basically, it's self-help fluff to Global Elites in all branches of the technocratic hegemony and political realm to compensate with the fact their control apparatus is failing and their 'pets' are under-funded, understaffed, overworked, and upset with the 'heat' and attention the public is giving them on every single subject. They're constantly being 'grilled' by the scrutiny-centric questions of the public and are fearful and depressed at how much the public absolutely despise them, their bosses, and their handlers. It's not like the 'good old days' the more senior of them remember. They've never felt so pressured from all sides.

Remember, they're in this situation because of their over-liberal use of Comms in day-to-day life. If they had even the slightest amount of self-aware restraint on using this symbol cipher system they probably wouldn't be failing as bad at keeping these kinds of clown-world pieces from standing out like a sore thumb. But, no, they had to slather the Comms apparatus onto everything they do to feel 'empowered' and super special that it killed the subtlety of it all and now the 'sheep' are starting to notice.

Their vanity and pride in thinking they could get away with using it for everything from internal puff pieces to grocery lists has become their poetic downfall.

It's great for us but, like watching someone cope with getting AIDS after being a wanton sex fiend, it's really pathetic to watch...

Type your email...

Subscribe

Thanks for reading sleepydude's Substack! Subscribe for free to receive new posts and support my work.

Type your email...

Subscribe

Thanks for reading sleepydude's Substack! Subscribe for free to receive new posts and support my work.

Type your email...

Subscribe

Discussion about this post

Write a comment...

Failed to load posts

Ready for more?

Type your email...

Subscribe

© 2025 sleepydude · Privacy · Terms · Collection notice

Start your Substack

Get the app

Substack is the home for great culture

TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers

Mount Doom is Erupting

TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers

Jan 28, 2024

(This post will not explain much narrative code, as most of the narrative code that will be referenced has already been explained in the first post on this Substack.)

The narrative code of a 'volcano erupting' is basically the 'release of information'.

Despite only having a death toll of six people, the biggest volcano in the news in recent years was the Tonga volcano (Hunga Tonga-Hunga Ha'apai). Not that any death is not tragic, but this simply shows that the story has been inflated, compared to other similar stories. One can literally find hundreds upon hundreds of articles from the past few years about the Tonga eruption.

It was compared to a hammer with the force of a billion tons:

<https://interestingengineering.com/science/scientists-say-tonga-eruption-hit-with-the-force-of-a-billion-ton-magma-hammer>

['Hammer' = authority and/or court cases (gavel)]

And to a hundred Hiroshimas:

<https://phys.org/news/2022-01-tonga-eruption-equivalent-hundreds-hiroshimas.html>

It dwarfed the largest Nuclear blasts:

<https://www.pennlive.com/nation-world/2022/01/nuclear-test-monitor-says-tonga-volcano-dwarfed-the-largest-recorded-nuclear-blasts.html>

It rang the earth and atmosphere like a bell:

<https://www.popsci.com/science/tonga-volcano-tsunami-simulation>

https://omaha.com/weather/tonga-eruption-was-so-intense-it-caused-the-atmosphere-to-ring-like-a-bell/article_074ac4dc-af1d-518c-a3e7-afd786d2413f.htm

It sent ash up to 17 km, and had 86,000 lightnings in its plume:

<https://www.volcanodiscovery.de/de/hunga-tonga-hunga-haapai/news/170502/Hunga-Tonga-Hunga-Ha-apai-volcano-Tonga-major-eruption-sent-ash-up-to-17-km-86-000-lightnings-in-plu.html>

It supposedly caused the most intense lightning storm ever recorded:

<https://www.usatoday.com/story/news/weather/2023/06/23/tonga-hunga-volcano-2022-produced-most-intense-lightning-storm/70350972007/>

<https://www.bbc.com/future/article/20230713-how-the-tonga-hunga-volcano-produced-the-most-intense-lightning-ever-seen>

It even supposedly touched space:

<https://www.sciencenews.org/article/hunga-tonga-volcano-eruption-touched-space-lightning>

And sent water into space:

<https://www.washingtonpost.com/science/2022/12/12/tonga-volcano-water-space/>

<https://www.nasa.gov/centers-and-facilities/goddard/tonga-eruption-blasted-unprecedented-amount-of-water-into-stratosphere/>

None of the claims regarding it have to be false, but the way in which they are worded and promoted tell another story.

The start of the eruption coincided with the December 20, 2021 beginning of the jury deliberations for the Maxwell trial:

<https://www.cnn.com/2021/12/20/us/ghislaine-maxwell-trial-monday-closing-arguments/index.html>

<https://www.nbcnews.com/news/us-news/defense-rests-ghislaine-maxwell-trial-two-days-rcna9194>

<https://www.cbsnews.com/news/ghislaine-maxwell-trial-four-accusers-testify-jeffrey-epstein/>

[The eruption does not need to have been manufactured, as one only needed to coincide events with it. It was therefore, however, undoubtedly foreseen.]

The eruption ended on the 15th of January, and two days later on the 17th, the Enigma diamond was announced for sale. This is perhaps the most widely reported upon diamond in recent years:

<https://www.thenationalnews.com/lifestyle/luxury/2022/01/17/enigma-rare-555-carat-black-diamond-unveiled-in-dubai-thought-to-be-billions-of-years-old/>

https://web.archive.org/web/20220215143652if_/https://www.usaid.gov/sites/default/files/documents/2022-02-11_Tonga_Volcanic_Eruptions_and_Tsunami_Fact_Sheet_1.pdf

In articles, the Enigma diamond was said to have "landed in Dubai". Dubai is part of the UAE, a united coalition of sorts, the symbolism of which correlates to the global military coalition which responded to the aftermath of the Tonga eruption.

Coinciding with these events was this news:

"Ghislaine Maxwell will no longer fight to keep names of 8 'John Does' secret"

<https://nypost.com/2022/01/15/ghislaine-maxwell-will-no-longer-fight-to-keep-names-of-8-john-does-secret/>

<https://www.cnn.com/2022/01/17/us/ghislaine-maxwell-john-does/index.html>

See the first post for more information on 'enigma' and 'diamond' – they are essentially narrative code for 'leverage'.

[Sidenote: Also related is the severing of the submerged communications cables, as they share similar symbolism to the submerged telegraph:

<https://scitechdaily.com/severed-cables-altered-seafloors-massive-hunga-tonga-eruption-triggered-destructive-submarine-volcanic-flows/>, and

<https://www.bbc.com/future/article/20220607-the-detectives-hunting-for-underwater-volcanos>]

One of the deaths attributed to the eruption was of a dog rescuer, and one of their last Instagram posts was of lightning:

<https://nypost.com/2022/01/17/body-of-british-woman-saving-dogs-found-after-tonga-tsunami/>

'Lightning' = 'exposure'

Maxwell was famously pictured with dogs:

December 16, 2021:

<https://www.nytimes.com/2021/12/16/nyregion/ghislaine-maxwell-trial-epstein-pictures.html>

<https://www.thedailybeast.com/photo-of-jeffrey-epstein-pal-ghislaine-maxwell-at-in-n-out-burger-was-staged-paper-claims>

<https://www.businessinsider.com/ghislaine-maxwell-seen-at-in-n-out-burger-los-angeles-2019-8?op=1>

<https://nypost.com/2019/08/15/jeffrey-epsteins-gal-pal-ghislaine-maxwell-spotted-at-in-n-out-burger-in-first-photos-since-his-death/>

'Dogs' are code for 'being subservient' or 'having someone on a leash'.

Notably, one of Maxwell's dogs was named "Captain Nemo":

<https://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-10599435/Ghislaine-Maxwell-hired-Swedish-man-24-dog-walker-reveal-worked-for.html>

<https://news.yahoo.com/ghislaine-maxwell-secret-dog-walker-155537640.html>

Tonga is Mount Doom:

The Tonga volcano has been used to symbolize Mount Doom.

A photo released on September 18, 2022 shows "real-life Mount Doom".

<https://www.space.com/international-space-station-acid-lake-mount-doom>

In the Peter Jackson Lotr films, the Tongariro National Park was used to film the setting for Mount Doom. Tongariro = Tonga....

A few days after that above photo was released, there was news on the Tonga volcano, as well as further news on the De Beers diamond mine which was covered in sludge:

<https://www.nytimes.com/2022/09/22/climate/tonga-volcano-climate.html>

<https://www.nytimes.com/2022/09/23/us/south-africa-diamond-mine-collapse.html>

(See first post, or the Nautilus Update post for a September 2022 event timeline.)

The volcano story also makes mention of another volcano which was said to resemble the Eye of Sauron:

<https://www.australiangeographic.com.au/topics/science-environment/2021/07/scientists-discover-undersea-volcano-near-christmas-island-looks-like-the-eye-of-sauron/>

That volcano was seen on July 11, 2021, and on July 15 a trove of Maxwell documents were released:

<https://nypost.com/2021/07/16/dozens-of-ghislaine-maxwell-court-documents-have-been-released/>

Also, Maxwell's trial was originally scheduled for July 12.

The volcano was found near Christmas Island, and Maxwell's birthdate is December 25th.

[Sidenote: This mention of the Eye of Sauron was also published that same month: <https://news.sky.com/story/amp/eye-of-sauron-image-reveals-disc-forming-around-alien-planet-12361826>]

New volcanoes:

Tonga is reportedly still brimming with magma:

<https://www.livescience.com/planet-earth/volcanos/tonga-volcano-eruption-was-fueled-by-2-merging-chambers-that-are-still-brimming-with-magma>

Obviously, that volcano has not erupted recently, so the symbolism was transferred to another volcano:

December 18, Federal Judge ordered documents naming Jeffrey Epstein's associates to be unsealed:

<https://abcnews.go.com/US/federal-judge-orders-documents-naming-jeffrey-epsteins-associates/story?id=105779882>

December 18, Iceland volcano erupts:

<https://abcnews.go.com/International/iceland-volcano-erupts-weeks-after-earthquakes-shake-southwest/story?id=105757922>

And then to a third volcano, technically a volcanic moon:

December 30, Juno craft flyby of Jupiter's volcanic moon Io:

<https://www.cbsnews.com/news/nasa-spacecraft-juno-io-jupiter-moon-volcano-approach/>

^Reported heavily on January 3.

January 3, Court documents naming Jeffrey Epstein's associates unsealed:

<https://abcnews.go.com/US/court-documents-naming-jeffrey-epsteins-associates-unsealed-wednesday/story?id=106047160>

The Juno craft started orbiting Jupiter in July of 2016, and also in 2016, there was the Virginia Guffrie deposition:

https://www.huffpost.com/entry/jeffrey-epstein-names-list_n_658af932e4b03e698a144678

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/news/world-us-canada-53605784>

On January 3, 2024: "High-end sex ring in Boston and D.C. areas was 'honeypot' scheme by Russia, China, South Korea or even Israel - to ensnare US officials, intelligence experts believe"

<https://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-12904363/Sex-ring-Boston-Virgiinia-honeypot-China-South-Korea-ensnare-officials.html>

^With brothels incidentally in Virginia. The link contains an extra 'i' in "Virginia", possibly as code for 'eye'/'something to see or take note of'.

[Sidenote: The Jupiter moon was named after Io in Greek mythology, one of Zeus's lovers, so this aspect also fits in with the overall narrative code.]

The next flyby of Io is on February 3rd, which does not mean it will coincide with anything, but it certainly could.

Subscribe to TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers

Launched 3 years ago

The Covert World and hidden ciphers

Type your email...

Subscribe

By subscribing, I agree to Substack's Terms of Use, and acknowledge its Information Collection Notice and Privacy Policy.

Discussion about this post

Write a comment...

Pataphors
Jul 28, 2024

I loved this one, you did a great job connecting the Tongan volcano to the Maxwell case. Great job.

Like
Reply
Share
1 reply by TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers
Matt
Jun 13, 2024

Good stuff. Are you aware of any others decoding comms like this? I have only found you, decodingsymbols.wordpress.com, and sleepydude.substack.com.

Like
Reply
Share
2 replies by TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers and others
3 more comments...

Failed to load posts

Ready for more?
Type your email...
Subscribe
© 2025 TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers · Privacy · Terms · Collection notice
Start your Substack
Get the app
Substack is the home for great culture

Code of the Ring

Discover more from Code of the Ring
Covert signals
Enter your email...
By subscribing, I agree to Substack's Terms of Use, and acknowledge its Information Collection Notice and Privacy Policy.
Already have an account? Sign in
The Covert War of the 19th- and 20th- Century, and the Great Ring Code
Code of the Ring
Apr 28, 2022
Deciphering this narrative-imbedded code requires finding the exact historical context and conversation, and verifying it with a timeline of events. This is what we have endeavored to do.

Part of this account of covert events and plans was hidden by Tolkien within certain of his writings. Tolkien was a Signals Officer in WWI, and he developed code that he used privately while in the military. He was informed that he had been set aside as a code breaker before WWII, and was asked to serve in the Foreign Office's cryptographic department, in the event of a national emergency. He created several of his own languages. Tolkien was also part of what we call, 'the covert world'.

If you are new to the covert world, welcome. Prepare to be shocked.

A narrative code does not necessarily line up with standard usages of a word or symbol. Code is meant to symbolize something different than its symbol. For instance, if you are told, "On the word 'zebra', run quick as you can!", does the word 'zebra' have anything to do with you running? No, not really, but that is the signal/symbol which was decided on. A code symbol simply has to do with the meaning applied to it.

We will start with the meaning of a "ring". Historically, rings have indicated status and rank; the most powerful being that of a king, as it contained his seal. Behind the approval of a king's seal rested his whole army and government.

After the Battle of Waterloo, the Rothschilds manipulated the stock market and thereby put England in debt to them. In 1832, the Rothschilds made a loan to the Holy See. With this newly acquired financial leverage, they became the rulers of the 666.

The 666 is the covert satanic cult – other names for this group include "the Eye", "Deep State", "Globalists", and "Illuminati".

"6" has historically been the number of "baseness" and "evil"; not because it is evil, but because it is the number which represents mankind, and mankind is corruptible.

"666" is a trinity of man – man trying to take the place of God.

The Rothschilds may be of Jewish origin, but covertly, they are no friend of the Jewish people. It is important to understand that this has nothing to do with Jews, or any religion, group, or people; the 666 has infiltrated every religion and organization.

You may wonder why monarchs didn't simply order the assassination of the Rothschilds. That is because in the covert world, these people would already have had their own assassins, and some may have already been planted within a monarch's staff – there's a high likelihood that an assassination attempt would have backfired. Plus, even if they were to have killed someone, the deceased individual's wealth would not have simply returned to the crown.

Using blackmail, and financial power, the Rothschilds formed a "ring".

In 1869, President Grant and others tried gaining leverage against the 666. By buying up large sums of gold and also by having access to insider government information, James Fisk, Jay Gould, and Abel Corbin, started cornering the gold market. On September 22nd, 1869, King Ludwig II sent a coded message to President Grant via the premiere of the Das Rheingold opera from Wagner's Ring Cycle. (Wagner, unaware of the hidden reason for this performance, was against the premiering of this opera.) The opera is about a cursed gold ring – it was used to send the message that the 666 knew what President Grant was trying to do, and a warning not to interfere with their "gold ring".

A day after that premiere, on September 23rd, President Grant decided to break the "Gold Ring". On September 24th, the "Gold Ring" was gone. If they had not ended it, President Grant and others would have been assassinated just as Lincoln had been.

Fast forward to 1937, and we have the publication of The Hobbit, by Tolkien. On the surface, the story is about dwarves taking back their home from a dragon. It also involves the finding of a magic ring, a creature named Gollum, and a jewel called the Arkenstone. Unlike Wagner's depiction of dwarves as nasty little evil creatures, Tolkien portrays them as good people, overall. There's a reason for this difference in portrayal; Wagner was highly antisemitic, whereas Tolkien admired the Jewish people. Dwarves, in both of these stories, represent Jews. Tolkien clearly admits that in the following interview:

<https://tolkienlibrary.com/press/804-Tolkien-1971-BBC-Interview.php>

"The dwarves of course are quite obviously, couldn't you say that in many ways they remind you of the Jews? Their words are Semitic obviously, constructed to be Semitic."

The Hobbit is partly about the events of WWI in Palestine. Tolkien didn't like allegories, but this isn't an allegory; it's literal information, hidden in narrative code.

Dragon = Ottoman Empire

Battle of Five Armies = Battle of Megiddo (There were five main forces involved – British, French, and Italian vs. German and Ottoman – and it was the final battle of the Sinai and Palestine campaign.)

Lonely Mountain = Temple Mount, Mount Sinai, Mount Megiddo, or Mount Carmel

Bilbo = Likely a certain person or group of people belonging to British military intelligence

Arkenstone = Ark (probably not referring to the actual Ark of the Covenant, but using "Ark" [the Jews' most prized possession] as code for something else).

The part about the magic ring which Bilbo acquires from Gollum, is reference to how the 666 lost certain damaging information and power.

"Gollum" means "Golem"; Tolkien just uses spelling ambiguity. A golem is a Jewish mythical figure that's brought to life by magic. Gollum represents the 666's machinations for Israel. Sometime during the British military's ventures in Ottoman Palestine, someone came across information that would be damaging to the Rothschilds. What the Rothschilds were doing in Ottoman Palestine, and planning, is not yet declassified, but whatever it was, their "Golem/Gollum" ended up compromising them.

The "Ring" was later transferred to those in the covert world who oppose the cult.

In 1954, we have the first two books of LotR published together under one title: The Fellowship of the Ring. (Interestingly, it was published on the anniversary of the first day shots were fired in WWI, on July 29th.)

The beginning of the book reveals what the magic ring from The Hobbit is: it is the Ring of Power forged by Lord Sauron. The Ring is given to Frodo to take care of. Frodo and Sam represent the relationship between an officer and his loyal adjutant (aristocrat and gardener). Notice, Frodo turns 33 years of age (the coming of age for hobbits) when Bilbo turns 111. "33" is code for "structure" or an "organization". Simply put, Frodo would represent something akin to military intelligence. "111", or as Bilbo said, "eleventy-one", is also code, but that will be explained later as it is not integral to this part. Oddly enough, their birthdays are on September 22nd, which is also the date Das Rheingold was premiered, and one day after the anniversary of the publication of The Hobbit – a possible harkening back to those events. (The Hobbit publication also lines up with the anniversary of the Lodge-Fish Resolution of 1922, a joint resolution legally endorsing plans for the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people.)

Tolkien did state that Wagner's Ring Cycle had nothing in common with his writing, and as stories, that is correct, although as code, there is a commonality. The commonality, however, is only due to the fact that Wagner's Das Rheingold was utilized to send a coded message – the opera in itself did not necessarily contain coded messages. As Tolkien put it, "both rings were round, and there the resemblance ceases" – the rings may have something in common, but the stories, and the coded messages, couldn't be more different.

Near the beginning of the first book, there's also some history on the Ring. The Ring was first taken from Sauron after Isildur defeated him, but instead of destroying it, Isildur kept the Ring, not knowing that Sauron's spirit was tied to it. Isildur was shortly thereafter killed by orcs, and the Ring was lost in a river, for some time.

Certain sections of historical content, such as that one, represent actual historical events, but most of LotR is actually a blueprint for destroying the 666.

Many people have thought that LotR is about WWII, but that doesn't make sense for three reasons: 1. Tolkien said it wasn't about the world wars. 2. All of the main coded messages in LotR are about covert actions, not overt struggles. 3. LotR ends with the destruction of the "Ring", and the end to the evil power structure, which did not happen after WWII – if anything, the 666 became stronger.

A quick rundown of some of the pieces of narrative code in LotR:

Ring = Power (money/gold, blackmail strings, threats, etc.)

Sauron = Lord Rothschild LotR = L.R.

^Another person who seemingly figured this out is Elon Musk:

Elon Musk
@elonmusk
@teslaownersSV LotR
12:38 AM · Oct 13, 2020
168 Reposts · 6.64K Likes
(Musk grew up within part of the covert world.) Rather than using "lotr", or "Lotr", Musk used "LotR", likely indicating "Lord Rothschild", when responding to an earlier post about "Illuminaughty".

Nazgul = Most likely originally based off of the nine kings at Edward the VII's funeral, as they all would probably have had allegiance to the cult, or been in some form of debt. "Ring Wraiths"/"Nazgul" simply represent any ruling power (government, corporation, royalty) under the 666's control.

Interestingly, Musk also knows this:

Elon Musk
@elonmusk
Nine rings for mortal men
3:42 PM · Aug 23, 2021
1.08K Reposts · 25K Likes
Saruman = Pope (Tolkien would've known about the infiltration and corruption within the Vatican. Notice that the wizard robes and ranking are much like the robes and ranking in the Catholic Church. The White Wizard (Saruman) is meant to be good, but sides with darkness – the top of any large organization is always the most infiltrated and controlled. The White Hand of Isengard might be about the irony that the hand that is raised in blessing, is sometimes the hand causing evil.)

Isengard = Vatican ("Isengard" is an old English word for "iron enclosure", which potentially references the previous iron fence at St. Peter's Basilica.)

Frodo and Sam = certain people within military intelligence

Hobbits, in general = normal people unaware of the corrupt covert world

Mount Doom = Volcano ("Volcanos" represent "evidence/testimony", etc.)
Reasons: Exposed heat. Eruption can be damaging.

The "volcano" signal is still used to communicate, to this very day. For example:

March 16, 2022:

King Salmon outpost lost data contact with several volcanos.

Same day, King Salman leaves hospital after medical procedure and tests.

^Meaning: King Salman is cooperating and damaging information will not be released.

November 28, 2021:

"Six new vents tear open on erupting Canary Islands volcano..."

Canary = singing like a bird, i.e. canary trap

November 29, 2021:

First day of the Ghislaine Maxwell trial.

(There's also a related connotation to "volcanos" which I won't mention, but I'm sure many of you will guess.)

Gold = Wealth

Forged in a volcano = Blackmail

Tolkien reportedly compared Mount Stromboli, a volcano on the Mediterranean, to Mount Doom.

Side note: Saturn is nicknamed "Lord of the Rings", and on its moon "Titan", there's a mountain (likely an ice volcano), called Doom Mons, named after Mount Doom.

Middle-earth = Mediterranean = Body of water

"Mediterranean" is derived from the Latin words medi (middle), and terra (earth).

Water = Information

"Plant" is another word for a "spy". Plants need water, and spies need information. There are also a few common sayings that relate water to information:

"That argument doesn't hold water."

"That idea muddies the water."

"The mind is like a sponge."

The battle for Middle-earth is partially a battle for control of information. The Two Towers, Isengard and Minas Morgul, are about the control of religion and government. If someone can control both the information coming from the pulpit, and from the media/propaganda, then they can brainwash most of the world – and that's basically what's been happening, especially for the last sixty years.

Which is a good segue into another bit of code:

Two Towers, and "11". The Two Towers was published on Nov. 11 (11/11). WWI officially ended on Nov. 11, at 11 o'clock. The meaning behind "eleven/11" basically has to do with a clock; 11 is moving towards midnight. Essentially, it means "the end of one thing, and the beginning of the next". The Doomsday Clock has a similar meaning: "the last possible moment to reverse course". For additional examples, here are two films that play off of that meaning:

https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/11/11/11_\(film\))

https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/11-11-11_\(film\))

^Two different films/links, although the links look the same.

The Two Towers represent a gateway to darkness and the end of Middle-earth.

The movie puts it well when Saruman says:

"The world is changing. Who now has the strength to stand against armies of Isengard and Mordor? To stand against the might of Sauron and Saruman, and the union of the two towers. Together, my lord Sauron, we shall rule this middle-earth. The old world will burn in the fires of industry. The forests will fall. A new order will rise. We will drive the machine of war with the sword and the spear and the iron fist of the orc."

Additional examples include the Freemason symbolic use of the Boaz and Jachin pillars, and also the Pillars of Hercules, with the inscription: "Non plus ultra" (Nothing further beyond).

LotR is about freeing Middle-earth from the 666's army and the Eye, and destroying the "Ring" where it was formed.

The Eye of Sauron being able to see anyone who puts on the Ring, has to do with the eye of the 666 being aware of anyone who tries to use the 666's own system as leverage against them – as soon as you try to covertly control the 666, you become a visible target to them.

The invisibility aspect is much the same; if you want to use their own "Ring" (system of blackmail, etc.) to control them, then you can't disclose it. Normal people can't see the "wearer" of the "Ring" because the "Ring" is covert, and one's normal allies cannot "see" and thus cannot help the "wearer", because the "Ring" cannot be harnessed overtly.

Because one cannot harness the 666's covert means against them openly, one is forced to play their covert game.

Consequently, the only option to take away power from the 666 is to destroy the "Ring". The reason it has to be destroyed in Mount Doom (the mountain of fire) is because public exposure and declassification is the only way it weakens. The 'Ring' was partially 'wrought' by the blackmail of evidence (volcano), and it will be made 'unwrought', by evidence. Since the 666 has controlled the media, there are other battles than just the immediate exposure. Even if someone revealed proof of the crimes, the media can spin public opinion. The reason Gollum falls into Mount Doom is because the Rothschilds' "Golem" (their crimes in Israel) is tied to the "Ring".

Now, to go back to the account of the battle where Sauron lost the Ring to Isildur. Isildur represents both Lincoln and Grant... America being one of the only places where people were pushing back against the 666. The whole Civil War was started as a means for Britain to take over part of America. Lincoln, of course, did want to end slavery, and he was able to achieve ending that form of slavery (although, sex trafficking and other forms of slavery remain). Obviously, the 666 was not happy that Lincoln ended slavery, but what they were really interested in was taking over America.

Side note: Over 99% of the people fighting in the Civil War would not have known anything about Britain's covert involvement. Most were fighting because they were either for or against the Union, or they were for or against slavery.

Grant, overtly, and Lincoln somewhat covertly, led the Union to victory. However, rather than exposing the 666 afterwards, Lincoln probably thought it wisest to keep the "Ring", and he was therefore assassinated (shot by a 666 asset, an "orc").

The U.S. was in a lot of debt because of the war, and that, plus Lincoln's death, caused them to lose hold of some of the leverage they had previously acquired against the 666. As mentioned at the beginning, President Grant tried to gain financial power against the 666, but was quickly threatened.

The sword "Narsil" being broken has to do with the debt of the U.S., and hence the foreign ownership of the U.S. Corporation. The problem was not that there was a U.S. corporation (the Corporation had already existed prior to any of this) – the real problem was that rather than being under the Government, the Government and the Constitution became subject to the Corporation.

Even though the Constitution is meant to be the law of the land, notice how often it's been disregarded within the last one hundred years. Some people think the Act of 1871 turned the U.S. into a corporation, which it didn't; that act simply gave a physical place for the corporation to later be run from. President Grant was the last true president of the U.S.. Stewards of Gondor represent all presidents that have followed.

Only with the repossessing of the Corporation, and by the reestablishment of the Constitution and Government above the Corporation, is the sword reforged: "Andúril, Flame of the West".

The good news is that this has already happened. In a brilliant move with the signing of E013848, the previous administration made way for the U.S. Government to take ownership of the corporation. They knew ahead of time that the 666 would attempt foreign interference in the election, and E013848 makes it such that any foreign-owned asset within the U.S., connected to election interference, becomes property of the U.S. There were more than just security reasons to cage up D.C.; it was also a message that the 666's property was forfeit. Biden is only president of a somewhat defunct, and now U.S.-owned corporation. His "stewardship" is somewhat of a show while other ops take place.

A quick rundown on some other narrative code:

Dwarves' map compasses have East in place of North, likely since Jews pray facing east towards Jerusalem.

The Hobbit, Chapter 11, "On the Doorstep", just so happens to be about the dwarves reaching the secret door to the lonely mountain.

Sword reforged: Historically, the symbol of a sword has been about rightful heir and power, i.e. the legend of Excalibur.

The Seven Stars on the flag of Gondor is a Biblical type of symbol. "Seven" has to do with "completion", i.e. there are seven days in a week.

The reason for the seven dwarves' rings is likely for reinforcing the Jewish connection.

Ents likely represent people who are of higher status and power, but who have been unaware of the depth of the corruption. They are "plants" that are asleep. Once they are made aware, they can use their leverage to help remove 666 assets. The way to houseclean the Vatican would be to inform good people within the Vatican, of the infiltration. What has already been covertly done there, has not yet been revealed.

Nazgul's fear of water is a fear of information that could harm them. The Witch King of Angmar not being able to be killed by the hand of a man, is reference to Shakespeare's play, Macbeth. Macbeth had the same type of prophesy made about him, and he was made a king by witches. The idea of "making a deal with the devil" is connected to both characters.

(Names of the original nine Ring Wraiths: King Haakon VII of Norway, King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, King Manuel II of Portugal, Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany, King George I of Greece, King Albert I of Belgium, King Alfonso XIII of Spain, King Frederick of Denmark, and King George V of Britain.)

Elves represent people that live within the covert world. "Magic" has to do with things that are done behind the scenes/covert abilities.

Tolkien may also be alluding to "eleven", as certain "elven"/"eleven" information will lose its purpose, especially when the "Ring" is destroyed; hence, why the elves and Ring-bearers sail away.

"Eleven" information = information that would cause a "doomsday"

Though not actually related, some of the roots of "eleven" are foreign words spelt, "elf". (<https://www.etymonline.com/word/Eleven>)

There are obviously more coded messages contained in these books than what we have brought up; this is only a basic outline of what Tolkien was trying to convey.

We are coming up to the gates of Mordor. As foreseen by Tolkien, and many others, this world as we know it has reached a reckoning, but the Ring has been carried to the Cracks of Doom, and those who have it are prepared to release it into the heat.

It will get dark before the destruction of the Ring, but this is not a war of bloodshed and weapons, but a war of minds, for the control or freedom of mankind.

Subscribe to Code of the Ring

Launched 4 years ago

Covert signals

Type your email...

Subscribe

By subscribing, I agree to Substack's Terms of Use, and acknowledge its Information Collection Notice and Privacy Policy.

Discussion about this post

Write a comment...

HomeslicegQ

May 1, 2022

This is well thought out! Thanks for putting all this together and I think a lot of the conclusions make sense.

Like (1)

Reply

Share

Elizabeth P Dove

Dec 18, 2022

This is so cool. I love this. Nice dig.

Like

Reply

Share

Ready for more?

Type your email...

Subscribe

© 2025 Code of the Ring · Privacy · Terms · Collection notice

Start your Substack

Get the app

Substack is the home for great culture

sleepydude's Substack
sleepydude's Substack

Symbol Comms / Acroamatics

The Comms Pitch

An explanation of how this system developed, it's uses, and how it got out of control.

sleepydude

Apr 06, 2023

Let's say you and a buddy are involved in separate businesses but want to work together by giving one another inside information – an act that may or may not be illegal.

So, it becomes necessary to hide that stream of information being sent from one another away from prying eyes. At first you use couriers to send envelopes to one another, but after your courier lost a package you realized that's not exactly safe.

It becomes necessary, then, to devise a system by which you can send a message and anyone who intercepts said message cannot read the message. This is the premise of a cryptographic system of communication. You can read more about the various forms here.

First you try swapping letters for numbers, but that's too simple. Then you try a complex system of decoder ring pictographs but that gets far too complicated, wasting time and not being all that accurate. You settle on using symbols and folk tale as your encryption method, and since you and your buddy grew up together you know the same stories and idioms for that to work.

Eventually, the whole courier thing becomes a problem since it's clear a courier can be traced going from and to you and your business "partner." You have to get rid of the middle man's obvious role in the scheme.

Then the idea hits you!

Don't try to hide the message transfer. Instead, be so OVERT that you are actually COVERT.

Psychologically, people will ignore you if you're loud, annoying, and have an air of arrogance and ignorance about you. People will naturally just tune you out. They'll get so wrapped up in the spectacle they won't realize the sleight of hand, like a magician performing magic. Smoke and mirrors hides the hand tricks.

So, the plan becomes, then, to just publish the encrypted messages in the local newspaper. You're both rich, so paying the newspaper to run a heavily dictated but random news story every now and then costs nothing. Also, the louder and more annoying the article, the better. Average people will just ignore it, leaving the real intent for you and your buddy.

You hire a writer to write exactly what you want using set, bulleted talking points that absolutely must be presented verbatim. Give him the ability to embellish how he pleases and bingo, you've got your middle-man in this information hand-off established. What's better, he doesn't even realize what you're getting him to do. Only you and your buddy really know what's going on. No more courier to have to worry about, just a dumb journalist given marching orders by a wealthy donor to the newspaper with a fascination in outlandish stories about pet owners in town and ways to clean your kitchen.

History Lesson Time

Do you see how it all came about now?

How Comms became so prevalent?

Taking it back to antiquity, these same methods of covert communications were utilized by the royalties of all ancient empires. Egyptians, Greek, Babylonian, Judaism – they all had their own systems because why wouldn't you? With spies and traitors from aggressive nations everywhere, the only way to prevent getting shanked by your political opponents is to devise some method to keep your big plans hidden and one step ahead of your adversaries.

What's fascinating, however is that eventually all these forms of cryptographic systems started to overlap, in an effort to maintain meaning despite language barriers. A guy who speaks Egyptian and a guy who speaks Roman want to send a message to one another, but neither speak the other's language very well. One language that is universal, however, is the symbolic meaning behind natural phenomena. A pig in any culture acts like a pig. A donkey acts like a donkey. A leaf acts like a leaf. The wind acts like wind, fire acts like fire, water acts like water, and earth acts like earth. Things have their natures, and those natures can be understood simply by experiencing them. You don't have to learn a new language to understand what it feels like to be a sailor. You just have to live the life of a sailor for a day. Eventually, kings who are too busy to do the decoding themselves hire advisors and prophets to interpret the symbols for them, who eventually gain an air of mysticism about them and take up names like "magi", "soothsayer", "scryer" or "alchemist."

By using these phenomena and their associated folk lore you can expand upon this universal language to send messages whose meaning is 1:1 and completely untarnished despite perhaps even several translations having taken place over its journey through many hands. Like the telephone game, where people sit in a circle and attempt to whisper a sentence to one another in a loop, eventually the sentence will get butchered and become something completely removed from the original meaning. Saying something like "the fox jumped in its hole," however, can be translated a million times and still maintain the simple premise. It safeguards the meaning despite the language barriers.

Hell, at that point just hiring an artist to paint the Comms is enough to get the point across, and then you don't even need to use language. Those such painters who understand the Comms then acquire the name "Renaissance Man" like Leonardo da Vinci. Who commissioned the Mona Lisa? Was there a secret message encoded in the painting? Why did Leonardo run off with it?

Gives you something to think about, aye?

Getting Out of Hand

What we are facing now, however, is an oversaturation of the use of this system. It's so bloated and unwieldy that the sheep are starting to catch on. Us sheep still can't figure out how to speak it, but they recognize that those in charge are getting away with these crimes in some form or fashion. At a point, it doesn't matter how hard you try to hide your innocence, the proof is in the pudding. If those in charge have more than the sheep do, the ruler's investments always seem to go their way, and the wealth gap between sheep and shepherd is always expanding, then it's clear the "casino" is rigged against the patron.

The patron doesn't have to know how to realize they're being conned by the establishment...

At that point it becomes necessary to consider appeasing them with bread and circuses in an effort to distract them from their perpetual poverty.

That strategy can only go on for so long, however...

When the Cabal began to use it too liberally, thinking the public would never realize how and what was going on, they found themselves existentially reliant upon its use. It's now everywhere, and surrounds every industry as the go-to method of communication for the Cabal. Essentially, they no longer know how to speak to one another without it being masked in lies and symbolism.

In other words, they've lost touch with literalism. They can ONLY think figuratively – in metaphor and analogy. Because of this, they now cannot view anything just for what it is. They see hidden meaning in everything and cannot disassociate things. They cannot help but be paranoid that we're catching on. They cannot help but be paranoid that they've relied too heavily on a system which now appears to be showing irreparable cracks and flaws.

They're right. Eventually the people will catch on...

Once a sheep wakes up, the only solution is to kill them off before they gather together and construct their own covert system of communications in an effort to overthrow your rule, which only leads to them stumbling upon your own system and then seek to use it against you.

That's where we are now.

White Hats are using the tyrants own system of communications against them. That's what Q means by "symbolism will be their downfall."

Memes are static in their radio transmissions. Interference frequencies that make their own messages garbled messes.

Memes confuse and befuddle the meaning of terms. Memes establish new meaning and a new language which we can use to talk to one another. Memes mean so much more than you can possibly understand, with the same importance in how pamphlets and political cartoons helped spark the American Revolution.

Q tasked us with this exactly:

We must wise up to their communications systems in order to overthrow them. That's what Q's ultimate mission on the boards entailed.

The "ALGO" is the Comms apparatus. It's the system they've built to speak freely among the sheep without their awareness. Game theory demands we subvert their systems, by injecting new meanings, new ideals, into their systems of control. By creating our own system of communication, one using images that demonstrate truth, we chip away at their control. We must bog down their lines of communication such that they must resort to the most insane-sounding and ridiculous clown-world articles in a desperate effort to relay to one another what parts of the sheep need the rivet welder to come fix the leaks.

It's too late, however. We outnumber them. Their ship is sinking. In fact, it was over before it even started.

Thanks for reading sleepydude's Substack! Subscribe for free to receive new posts and support my work.

Type your email...

Subscribe

Discussion about this post

Write a comment...

TBH

Apr 6, 2023

Great post - thank you SD!

Like (3)

Reply

Share

Failed to load posts

Ready for more?

Type your email...

Subscribe

© 2025 sleepydude · Privacy · Terms · Collection notice

Start your Substack

Get the app

Substack is the home for great culture

TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers

Nautilus Revealed

TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers

Jan 28, 2024

Short, but significant update on events of the past year:

The Durham report was submitted on May 12, and released on May 15.

<https://www.justice.gov/storage/durhamreport.pdf>

The Durham report, while not yielding satisfying results for many people, did bring some very valuable information into the public light. For instance:

-Fully exonerated Donald Trump and others from the fraudulent Russian collusion story

-Proved that intelligence agencies have been used as political machines

-Verified the claims of wiretapping of Trump's tower

The Durham report may prove to be a lynchpin later on, though currently it is serving as a marker for the release of information, and court cases.

The covert picture is much more telling than the overt information:

On May 11, the day before the Durham Report was submitted, the movie, Sound of Freedom, was announced to be released to theatres on July 4th.

On May 15, the same day as the release of the Durham report, the 30 year anniversary of the Nautilus speaker was announced:

<https://www.msn.com/en-us/news/technology/bowers-wilkins-celebrate-30-years-of-nautilus-with-187-000-abalone-pearl-speaker/ar-AA1bcCo1>

(Additional links, and information:

<https://www.lifestyleasia.com/hk/tech/bowers-and-wilkins-nautilus-30th-anniversary/>

<https://newatlas.com/home-entertainment/bowers-wilkins-nautilus-turns-30/>

<https://www.bowerswilkins.com/en-gb/blog/products/nautilus-30-anniversary>)

The Nautilus speaker represents making classified and powerful information accessible.

Sound = making information accessible

It is also a threat to those who are not complying, since the prices $70,000 and $187,000 represent 'deadly' information.

187 is slang for death, and also the California penal code for murder.

'7' is explained in the Revelation post to mean 'heavenly perfection/completion', which is why in modern times it can also be used for death, as '7' can signal sending someone to 'heaven', that is, 'their final resting place'.

[Sidenote: The company, Bowers and Wilkins, was founded in 1966, which is the same year that construction on the WTC began. The Nautilus speaker was first released in 1993 which was the year of the WTC truck bombing. Additionally, a founder of Bowers and Wilkins worked with MI6.]

The announcement of the movie, Sound of Freedom, shares the same symbolism with respect to making information accessible, but more importantly, it is quite literally exactly that. The movie serves as a marker for the beginning of declassification, as well as an awareness operation that people can be involved with.

Later, during the week of the 15th, Jim Caviezel, in an interview about the movie and other information regarding ending human trafficking, also mentioned the recent release of the Durham Report, further connecting the narrative code aspect of the two releases.

The release of the movie was not only timed with July 4th for the obvious 'freedom' symbolism, but it also played on the 3rd, which made it coincide with the buck moon.

Buck moon has to do with the season in which deer antlers are in full growth. In this instance, the combination of antlers with a full or illuminated moon would be symbolic of highly secret data being exposed. (See the first post for an explanation of 'antlers' and 'moon'.)

There was no 'Nautilus' narrative code those two days; however, there was on both the day prior, and the day of Donald Trump announcing he would screen the movie at his golf course in New Jersey. <https://www.aol.com/entertainment/trump-screen-sound-freedom-nj-171345085.html>

As shown in the previous post, the 'Ring', and/or the 'Nautilus', was symbolically handed over to Donald Trump, which is why it makes sense for such narrative code to coincide.

Day prior: Change of command over Nautilus 571 submarine:
<https://news.yahoo.com/officer-charge-historic-ship-nautilus-003200159.html>

Day of: Article about replacing the Webb telescope with the proposed Nautilus telescope: <https://phys.org/news/2023-07-thin-lensed-telescope-surpass-james-webbgoodbye.html>

Change of command likely has to do with the 'Nautilus' reveal op, as the prior command was during the prepping stage, and so a change indicates moving into the revealing stage.

The Nautilus telescope articles are of a similar vein, but probably also imply using certain evidence as leverage.

Of note is that the 12th was also the anniversary of the first Webb telescope photos that were publicly released:

<https://www.businessinsider.com/nasa-james-webb-space-telescope-captures-star-> birth-formation-2023-7

^Fifty new sun-like stars. 'Star' = famous person = a way to communicate information and lead people

'New stars' would mean a change of narrative, likely coming from new outlets, and 'sun-like' would indicate that they will be used for 'exposure'.

It is worth making a side note on the Webb telescope, since in narrative code, it has to do with 'collecting data on famous people'.

The basic usage of 'telescope' in narrative code is for 'tracking' or 'spying'. This can be shown in several ways, for example, with the use of mirrors in telescopes, or with NASA using some military spy telescopes. Very simply put, however, a telescope is used for looking at stars, that is, 'spying on important people'.

The Webb telescope has been described as a "time machine".

'Time machines', in narrative code, can be a little convoluted, but one of the basic meanings has to do with evidence collection and being able to access past records as blackmail. In some simple correlations, a timepiece can be called a 'watch', and the same word is also used for watching. 'Clock' is a word that can be used for 'noticing', but also for machine records, such as when a car has clocked up a certain amount of miles.

A small example of a 'time machine' being used this way is on the 2004 show, Lost.

The island in the show is actually a time machine, and the island was formally run by a group called 'DHARMA'/Dharma Initiative.

Compare this to earlier that year, when Facebook launched on the same day that a DARPA program called 'LifeLog' ended.

LifeLog was designed so that people would willingly give all their information, including special events, and day to day activities.... sound anything like Facebook? Facebook was a way to circumvent the project being connected to the government. Which is also why the time machine in Lost is an island, as an 'island' is an isolated place.

(A 'time machine' can be like the Wayback Machine, with the ability to access the past.)

[Sidenote: Douglas Gage, the manager for the LifeLog program even compared it to Facebook when he said, "I think that Facebook is the real face of pseudo-LifeLog at this point" - <https://www.vice.com/en/article/vbqdb8/15-years-ago-the-military-tried-to-record-whole-human-lives-it-ended-badly>]

Another Nautilus marker was seen on August 4th with the celebration of the 65th anniversary of the USS Nautilus's North Pole journey. On that same day, the premiere of Into The Light was scheduled, a movie about psychological operations and mainstream media manipulation. The celebration of Operation Sunshine, and the release of Into the Light also have continuity by their very titles.

<https://news.yahoo.com/65th-anniversary-nautilus-historic-north-035900983.html>

Review of Nautilus narrative code timeline:

1850:

(Sauron had the Ring for 1,850 years)

First Submerged Telegraph line (what the Nautilus represents)

1954:

Launch of Nautilus SSN-571

Publication of LotR

2000:

Movie about 571 submarine (taking 'Enigmas' away from so-called 'Nazis')

2001:

9/11 Twin Towers and WTC 7 demolition

Start of Lotr movies (Destroying 'Sauron's Ring')

Start of the MedNautilus submerged telecommunications line in the Mediterranean Sea.

2004:

Lotr parody movie with Sauron dressed as a Nazi.

2022:

September 8: Queen announced dead

September 9 - 11: Nautilus SSN-571 publicly revealed

September 11: Former De Beers' diamond mine from which the Jubilee diamond originated, had a dam collapse

October 31 - November 12: Nautilus SSN-571 maintenance closure

November 7: Nautilus Tiffany watch 5711 sold

November 8: Rothschild announced dead, and Tiffany diamond tycoon announced to have been drowned and jewelry stolen

November 12: Tiffany Trump married, with new diamond ring (Last day of Nautilus SSN-571 closure)

2023:

May 11: Sound of Freedom

May 12: Durham report submitted

May 15:

-Nautilus speaker 30-year anniversary release

-Durham report release

July 12:

-Change of command for USS Nautilus 571

-Webb telescope anniversary

July 13:

-Donald Trump announced Sound of Freedom to be screened at his golf course

-Widely reported article about replacing the Webb telescope with the Nautilus telescope

August 4:

-65th anniversary of the USS Nautilus 571 reaching the North Pole (August 3, 1958)

-Into the Light movie premiere

Subscribe to TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers

Launched 3 years ago

The Covert World and hidden ciphers

Type your email...

Subscribe

By subscribing, I agree to Substack's Terms of Use, and acknowledge its Information Collection Notice and Privacy Policy.

Discussion about this post

Write a comment...

Esoteric Veritas

Jan 29, 2024

I first heard about "Twilight Language" through Michael Hoffman - I am sure you have heard of him and his work. I still don't know what this all means but I am trying to figure it out. Good work.

Like

Reply

Share

1 reply by TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers

1 more comment...

Failed to load posts

Ready for more?

Type your email...

Subscribe

© 2025 TheFellowshipOfTheRingbreakers · Privacy · Terms · Collection notice

Start your Substack

Get the app

Substack is the home for great culture

Pastebin

API

tools

faq

paste

Search...

Login Sign up

SHARE

TWEET

KingMist

Master Index

KingMist

Oct 25th, 2022 (edited)

12,816

0

Never

Add comment

Not a member of Pastebin yet? Sign Up, it unlocks many cool features!

3.34 KB | Help |

——/ MASTER /LoA/ INDEX /——

The Power of your Subconscious Mind by Joseph Murphy
>PDF (also in the library)
<https://www.trendculprit.com/power-of-the-subconscious-mind.pdf>
>Audiobook
<https://youtu.be/Solb9uA-tgQ>

EXTRA RESOURCES

>All of Neville's Original Audio Lectures (also in the library):
<https://drive.google.com/drive/folders/16RSQCM6r9yweWL8AR7BTnKTnQd-Cd9L8>
>Summary of Neville's books and transcribed lectures (incomplete and subject to change)
<https://publish.obsidian.md/neville-s-vault/Index>

>Read Neville for free online (all books in library)
<https://realneville.com/>
|
<https://readnevillegoddard.com/>
|
<https://imaginationandfaith.com/neville-goddard-text-lectures-1-10/>
|
<https://icebluezen.com/neville-goddard-text-lecture-archive/>
|
<https://nevillegoddardbooks.com/neville-goddard-text-lectures>

>Talk to AI Neville
https://beta.character.ai/chat?char=LH59dBXc_pHj0PxDCVsb43orCvM6vqeRPuVDVNWD1gI

>Steve Pavlina's Explorer's Guide to Manifesting (also in the library)
<https://www.stevpavlina.com/resources/The-Explorers-Guide-to-Manifesting.pdf>

—FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS—

>Does LoA imply I'm to blame for the bad things that happen to me?
<https://pastebin.com/ETqz3K5Y>

>Should I hire a coach?
<https://pastebin.com/a2D57P0d>

>Manifesting And De-Manifesting:
<https://pastebin.com/QSGjSSPq>

>SP (Specific Person) related:
<https://pastebin.com/MzLX6gys>

>Getting into deep SATS (State Akin To Sleep)
<https://pastebin.com/QdfXJJQN>

>The Gateway Hemi-Sync Program (OLD, still usable but less complete)
<https://mega.nz/folder/uSZGCYCQ#-3miZdUvjf0W7zmBTL8C8Q>

>New Gateway Hemi-Sync Program (magnet also in the library)
<http://mgnet.me/.LoA>

>Pastebin FAQ
<https://pastebin.com/pDekUHXM>

>Success Stories
<https://drive.google.com/drive/u/0/folders/1Eboe5YJRpDxe8H46Dj-Sck7ICZeXbAax>

>Anon's imgur album
<https://imgur.com/a/ZMEgITS>

|_____|

Youtube channels recommendations in alphabetical order:
>100kwatt (Neville Goddard's original lectures)
https://www.youtube.com/c/100kwatt_Neville_Goddard

>Alpha Affirmations
<https://www.youtube.com/c/AlphaAffirmations>

>Be Something Wonderful
<https://www.youtube.com/c/BeSomethingWonderful>

>Bentinho Massaro
<https://www.youtube.com/c/BentinhoMassaro>

>Divine Imagination by Joseph Alai
<https://www.youtube.com/c/DivineImaginationbyJosephAlai>

>Edward Art Supply Hands
<https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCONxz4-oYekLXBsjPDvAnHQ>

>Elmer O. Locker Jr.
<https://www.youtube.com/c/ElmerOLockerjr>

>Giving Voice to the Wisdom of the Ages
<https://www.youtube.com/c/GivingVoicetotheWisdomoftheAges>

>Grave Mind
<https://www.youtube.com/c/GRAVEMINDunderground>

>Joseph Rodrigues
<https://www.youtube.com/c/JosephRodrigues>

>Master Key Society
<https://www.youtube.com/c/MasterKeySociety>

>Museum of Tarot
<https://www.youtube.com/c/MuseumOfTarot>

>Neville Goddess
<https://www.youtube.com/c/NevilleGoddess>

>Niclas / Upgrade to Life
<https://www.youtube.com/c/UPGRADETOLIFE>

Add Comment

Please, Sign In to add comment

Public Pastes

2026 smells like money

CSS | 12 min ago | 0.94 KB

13,000$ in 2 days

CSS | 12 min ago | 0.94 KB

Untitled

1 hour ago | 23.85 KB

Untitled

1 hour ago | 11.06 KB

Untitled

3 hours ago | 41.78 KB

world building - guilder

5 hours ago | 20.20 KB

Untitled

5 hours ago | 64.70 KB

webtv mame launcher

Python | 9 hours ago | 34.50 KB

create new paste / syntax languages / archive / faq / tools / night mode / api / scraping api / news / pro
privacy statement / cookies policy / terms of service / security disclosure
/ dmca / report abuse / contact

By using Pastebin.com you agree to our cookies policy to enhance your experience.

Site design & logo © 2025 Pastebin

We use cookies for various purposes including analytics. By continuing to use Pastebin, you agree to our use of cookies as described in the Cookies Policy.

OK, I Understand

Not a member of Pastebin yet?

Sign Up, it unlocks many cool features! Archives: [adv / f / hr / o / pol / s4s / sp / tg / trv / tv / x]

/x/ - Paranormal

4chan

Index

Gallery

Random

Stats

Search or insert post number

[236 / 109]The image is a screenshot of a text message conversation, specifically from a user named "Anonymous" who is sending a message to another user named "Noah." The conversation appears to be taking place on January 27, 2021, at 14:38:38. The text is in a language that is not English, and it is written in a style that suggests it is a conversation between two individuals.

The conversation is about a trip to Georgia, where the user is planning to visit the mountains and the Tbilisi area. The user mentions that they found one of the mountains in northern Georgia, which is a rich people's area. They also mention that they are planning to visit a rich people's area at the time, but that post-holidays are re-evaluate their plans.

The user mentions that they are looking forward to the wedding in Tbilisi, and they are planning to stay in a hotel. They also mention that they are looking forward to the wedding and the hotel.

The text includes a list of things to do and places to visit, such as visiting a local market, visiting a local bakery, and visiting a local restaurant. The user also mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

The text also includes a mention of a local restaurant, which is a local bakery, and a local market. The user mentions that they are looking forward to visiting a local market and a local bakery.

71KiB, 1302x841, 1734937780507596.png

View Same OCR Google iqdb SauceNAO Trace

Greentext thread Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 10:41:10 No.40587967

ViewReplyOriginalReport

Quoted By: >>40606874 >>40608298 >>40631201 >>40631618 >>40652611 >>40666269
>>40691379 >>40699789

Post paranormal greentexts.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1434935368071.jpg, 132KiB, 648x717

The image is a screenshot of a text message conversation, specifically from a Reddit post. The conversation is between two individuals, with the text appearing to be a series of text messages. The conversation is centered around a character named "ITT," who is described as having a spooky personal experience. The text includes various phrases and descriptions of the character's actions

The text is formatted in a list format, with each line representing a separate thought or action. The text is in a language that appears to be English, but the specific language is not clear from the image. The text is in a casual, conversational tone, and the conversation seems to be taking place over a period of time, as indicated by the timestamps at the top of the image.

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 10:42:31 No.40587979 Report

View Same0CRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace 1735002094769234.jpg, 514KiB, 1537x3014

Quoted By: >>40619275

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 10:50:31 No.40588038 Report

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1392921945443.png, 174KiB, 863x1812

[illegible]

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 17:17:36 No.40590455 Report

Quoted By: >>40627578

>>40587979

he summoned a crackhead. not an uncommon sight at truck stops. the lighter flick is the beacon.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1619203108257.png, 46KiB, 1044x599

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 20:27:03 No.40591324 Report

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1735617104112722.jpg, 4MiB, 1920x3437

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 20:40:16 No.40591405 Report

Quoted By: >>40591408 >>40593045 >>40638918

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1735691684703951.png, 128KiB, 1537x1296

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 20:40:48 No.40591408 Report

Quoted By: >>40591501

>>40591405

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 20:49:58 No.40591451 Report

Ty for bread. I have no creepypasta to share.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1662770137186810.png, 4MiB, 3786x7040

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 21:00:18 No.40591501 Report

Quoted By: >>40591537

>>40591408

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1662772039375534.png, 25KiB, 647x507

The image displays a text message in a dark background with a white font. The message is written in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-English language, possibly a code or a script. The text is organized into a list with numbered items, and each item is followed by a description or a statement. The text is formatted in a way that suggests it is a conversation or a series of messages, with each item starting with a colon and ending with a period. The first item in the list is "my 18th birthday party," followed by a description of the event, which includes the date and location. The second item is "October," and it describes the weather as "dark as all kinds of fuck." The third item is "around 25 people all gathered at my house," and it mentions that they were playing "manhunt." The fourth item is "everyone else waits an hour then hunts him with paintball guns," and it describes a situation where a person is hunted by a group of people. The fifth item is "couple rounds go by, no big deal," and it describes a situation where a couple of rounds of hunting go by without any significant event. The sixth item is "what could happen for 8 hours," and it describes a situation where the person is hunted for 8 hours. The seventh item is "eventually find him terrified in a hunter perch thing in a tree," and it describes a situation where the person is found in a tree. The eighth item is "ask him why," and it describes a situation where the person is asked why they are being hunted. The ninth item is "he tells me that he heard me trying to find him below the perch hours earlier," and it describes a situation where the person is told about an earlier attempt to find them. The tenth item is "it isn't fucking me," and it describes a situation where the person is not being hunted. The eleventh item is "it stayed below the tree calling his name for a few hours," and it describes a situation where the person is called by name for a few hours. The twelfth item is "ran off when I heard us coming to actually find him," and it describes a situation where the person is alerted to the presence of the group of people who are trying to find them. The thirteenth item is "wtf guys," and it describes a situation where the person is surprised by the presence of the group of people.

The image is a screenshot of a text message, and the content is not related to any specific topic or context, but rather a series of events or conversations that are not clearly discernible from the image alone. The text is in a language that is not English, and the style of the text suggests it is a script or a code, possibly related to a game or a system. The presence of the colon and period at the end of each item indicates that the text is a list or a sequence of events.

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 21:06:02 No.40591537 Report

Quoted By: >>40591542

>>40591501

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace 1621830031279.jpg, 2MiB, 2500x4750

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 21:06:47 No.40591542 Report

>>40591537

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 21:07:04 No.40591546 Report

Quoted By: >>40654602 >>40669503

>be me

>work overnight armed security >no ones there but me

>check doors, all locked >rove outside >parking lot is empty, nearest builsings are all dark, no lights >only two lights of the street kind far apart >walk the lot >nada

>go back inside

>sit at cameras

>3am

>pitch black out

>get up to piss and out of the corner of my eye catch movement on thr camera >its this fast fucking thing, quick as a flash that darts around the corner of the building behind the dumpsters

>oh fuck

>go outside, hand on gun, flashlight lit and held away from my body (FBI style)

>do this quick step around the corner >nothings there

>go back inside

>rewind tape

>its a ghost

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Under the Pyramids.png, 2MiB, 1158x6223

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 21:38:30 No.40591679 Report

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Pine Tree.jpg, 220KiB, 839x606

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 21:39:31 No.40591683 Report

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace grampa's mutant horses.png, 855KiB, 1060x4592

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 21:58:46 No.40591762 Report

Quoted By: >>40598246 >>40677962

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Bangledash Witch.png, 128KiB, 1882x609

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 22:00:11 No.40591767 Report

Quoted By: >>40617147

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Talking Horse.jpg, 163KiB, 988x1060

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 22:01:54 No.40591772 Report

Quoted By: >>40595906 >>40680637

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Weird Memories.png, 77KiB, 931x726

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 22:02:56 No.40591776 Report

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace The Flat Man.jpg, 2MiB, 605x5974

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 22:04:41 No.40591782 Report

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Anon Makes A Blood Sacrifice.jpg, 126KiB, 900x649

The image is a screenshot of a Reddit post with a meme-like layout. At the top, there is a header with the text "Anonymous" and a timestamp

"07/14/17/Fri/15:49:12 No. 38371043". Below the header, there is a large image of a green frog with a sad expression, wearing a blue shirt. The frog is looking to the left with its eyes wide open.

The main body of the post is divided into two columns. The left column contains a text passage that reads:

"Uncle was dying of cancer on hospital bed
doctors said he had 1 day left to live sad, go to my room and lock the door radamically decide to do a blood sacrifice by sacrificing my life for his drew a pentagram on a piece of paper and then cut my palm with a knife and soaked the paper with blood prayed that my uncle gets better in exchange for my life next day uncle makes a miraculous recovery"

The right column contains a question in a bold font:

"This was just a coincidence r-right?"

The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme, with a focus on the emotional content of the text. The frog's expression and the text surrounding it convey a sense of sadness and a desire for a miraculous recovery, which is a common theme in such memes. The use of the word "right" in the question suggests a humorous or ironic interpretation of the situation.

Anonymous Mon 23 Jun 2025 22:05:42 No.40591786 Report

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace IMG_0488.jpg, 909KiB, 1054x1626

Anonymous Tue 24 Jun 2025 00:09:34 No.40592407 Report

Anonymous Tue 24 Jun 2025 03:25:59 No.40593045 Report

>>40591405

This got me fucked up man. too detailed.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace 1000027311.png, 106KiB, 1060x680

The image is a screenshot of a text-based conversation between two characters, presumably from a video game or a similar interactive medium. The conversation is displayed in a dark, possibly black and white, color scheme, with the characters' faces obscured by masks. The text is in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-English language, possibly a script or a scripted language. The conversation is between two characters named "I" and "you," with "I" being the one initiating the conversation. The conversation is about a character named "Gorjie" who is in a situation where they are being pursued by a character named "Flash and Sonic." The conversation is filled with various actions and reactions, such as "I'm getting ready to fight," "I'm getting ready to run," and "I'm getting ready to fight." There are also references to items and locations, such as "the Flash and Sonic," "the MMO," and "the United States." The conversation is marked with timestamps and mentions of specific actions, such as "Flash and Sonic," "the MMO," and "the United States." The timestamps indicate the time at which the conversation took place, and the mentions of specific actions suggest that the characters are engaged in a dynamic and possibly tense situation.

The image is a screenshot from a video game or a similar interactive medium, as indicated by the presence of the game's interface elements, such as the chat window and the game's interface. The text is in a scripted language, which is common in video games where characters speak in a specific scripted language to convey their actions and dialogue. The characters' faces are obscured by masks, which is a common visual element in video games to represent anonymity or to indicate that the characters are not real people.

The image does not provide any visual clues about the characters' appearances or the game's environment, as the focus is on the text-based conversation. The image is a snapshot of a moment in the game, capturing the characters' reactions and actions in a moment of conflict or danger.

Anonymous Tue 24 Jun 2025 10:15:01 No.40594429 Report

Anonymous Tue 24 Jun 2025 14:43:08 No.40595906 Report

>>40591772

kek

Anonymous Tue 24 Jun 2025 15:44:11 No.40596224 Report

Spooky

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Grey Waifu.png, 779KiB, 1632x3465

Anonymous Tue 24 Jun 2025 17:54:31 No.40597163 Report

Anonymous Tue 24 Jun 2025 21:06:40 No.40598246 Report

Physical manifestation of his guilt from raping vc boys

The image is a screenshot of a text document, specifically a discussion forum post. The document is divided into several sections, each with a heading and a paragraph of text. The headings are "Cargo," "Ladder," "Ladder," "Ladder," and "Ladder." The text is in English and includes references to various sources such

Anonymous Tue 24 Jun 2025 21:19:11 No.40598299 Report

bump

Anonymous Wed 25 Jun 2025 08:08:16 No.40600626 Report

Anonymous Wed 25 Jun 2025 10:37:46 No.40601307 Report

>>40588038

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace black carpet stories.png, 1MiB, 1352x7132

View SameOCRGoogleigdbSauceNA0Trace ohboy.png, 161KiB, 1448x877

"https://www.reddit.com/r/IAEA/comments/96g25w/iaea_deep_space_tracking_data_released_today/," which suggests that the content is related to the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) and their deep space tracking data.

Below the graph, there are several comments and posts, which are not fully

These phrases suggest that the content is discussing the release of data from the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) concerning their deep space tracking capabilities.

The overall style of the image is informational and academic, with a focus on data analysis and scientific discourse. The use of the Reddit platform for discussion and the presence of the IAEA deep space tracking data suggest that the content is related to international scientific research and collaboration.

Anonymous Wed 25 Jun 2025 23:01:53 No.40605352 Report

Quoted By: >>40609603 >>40615396 >>40623939 >>40638233 >>40691050

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 06:14:36 No.40606874 Report

Quoted By: >>40610619

>>40587967

not paranormal but I recently learned that an old family friend is involved in sex trafficking, allegedly keeping women chained and storing deceased women in barrels. I believe it's true—he was always fucking creepy and his farm always gave me bad vibes. he even joked about feeding people to his pigs, Knowing this now messes with my head, but I doubt he'll get caught i live in a shit part of my state.

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 10:21:32 No.40607618 Report

Quoted By: >>40619445

>>40588448

sounds like a succubus/incubus, but the different appearance based on gender is weird. Do succubi/incubi have a tendency to shapeshift?

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Boarder Zone Guard.jpg, 555KiB, 1450x2257

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 12:12:54 No.40607979 Report

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 13:13:34 No.40608298 Report

Quoted By: >>40609108

>>40587967

>YouTube twink narrated my story

My life is complete.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Thatcher Effect.jpg, 359KiB, 1104x1456

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 15:23:54 No.40609030 Report

Quoted By: >>40661894 >>40685184 >>40686557

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 15:37:17 No.40609108 Report

>>40608298

He owes you sex for that youtube money

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 17:00:30 No.40609603 Report

Quoted By: >>40609920

>>40605352

Which board anon?

I can't find anything on the archives

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 17:46:51 No.40609920 Report

>>40609603

/pol/

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 18:44:48 No.40610261 Report

Quoted By: >>40610356

bump and request for the 'digital god' red face screencaps

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 19:07:20 No.40610356 Report

>>40610261

nvm here's the original thread:

<https://archive.4plebs.org/x/thread/14736756/>

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 20:06:43 No.40610619 Report

>>40606874

Midwest?

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace 319D988C-06AA-4E45-BF7D-14C77C00 (...).jpg, 70KiB, 440x440

The image depicts a stylized, ancient-style illustration of a figure that appears to be a deity or a mythological creature. The figure is depicted in a dynamic pose with one arm raised, as if in the midst of action, and the other arm extended outward. The figure is adorned with a headdress and a necklace, and it is wearing a garment with a pattern that includes stripes and geometric shapes. The figure's face is characterized by a large, expressive mouth and a prominent nose.

The background of the image is a plain, light-colored surface, which contrasts with the figure and allows it to stand out. On the right side of the image, there is a small, decorative element that resembles a vase or a pot with a handle. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of ancient Mesoamerican art, particularly from the Aztec civilization, which is known for its rich iconography and detailed depictions of deities and mythological beings.

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 20:44:17 No.40610822 Report

Quoted By: >>40611324 >>40631500 >>40633219 >>40654602 >>40667847

>be me, mentally ill NEET >been obsessed with aztec god Xolotl for months, have tried invoking him >be on a midnight walk

>notice streetlight flicker, think it's funny because it's like a horror movie trope

>try to make it flicker more, concentrating on Xolotl's power over electricity and Ollin >start thinking about how I'm under a powerline and this could go wrong, stop after a bit with no success

>powerline starts flickering right after I stop >giggle because it's like Xolotl is pranking me >walk a little more >notice an owl (could be another large brown bird) fly by a streetlight, headed east >never seen that here before, try to take a picture but fail >think about how owls have usually negative supernatural connotations across the americas >think about Mexican brujas >walk one minute more >hear two loud explosions one right after another, see light on the trees >seems to come from the east, where the owl went >stand stunned, unsure of what to do or the cause >wonder if this was gunfire and I should take cover >wonder if I or Xolotl caused the explosion >cop car passes by, no sirens on so it probably isn't gunfire >decide to go home

>hear more explosions later

>check internet in the morning can't find anything

Fast forward to yesterday >decide to check internet again to see if there's anything new >discover it's this whole mystery and an explosion was heard that night for miles, one person spotted a fireball in the sky over 10 minutes before

>Xolotl is a god of heavenly fire

>But I experienced the explosions at significantly different times, and multiple rather than just one

?????

<https://hillsboroherald.com/hillsboros-big-boom-remains-a-mystery/>

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 22:41:14 No.40611324 Report

>>40610822

have you been tested for schizophrenia?

View SameOCRGoogleIqdbSauceNAOTrace Anon's ayy nightmare.png, 341KiB, 1194x1790

Anonymous Thu 26 Jun 2025 23:26:44 No.40611504 Report

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 01:52:54 No.40612027 Report

Quoted By: >>40612103

It's sad we don't get anything like these on modern /x/.

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 02:16:02 No.40612103 Report

Quoted By: >>40613391 >>40658135

>>40612027

That's exactly because of these threads

>paranormal entity interacts with anon

>instead of keeping it to himself anon shares it on 4chan >paranormal entity is no longer interested in interacting with other anons since it knows her existence will be milked for (you)s

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 04:05:41 No.40612363 Report

Quoted By: >>40613398

Does anyone remember this one creepypasta/4chan post that was about how every year a single person is chosen to be "forgotten" by the world and it happened by every other human knowing where the person was and rushing there to kill and devour them and then destroying every personal belonging they had. I remember that the person would also get the memory of everyone else that was chosen before and the main character had enough time before people found him to see the memories of other people, the one before them was a girl that got immediately killed by her parents and as he went back to the stone age he saw the first chosen, cold and scared and realized that whatever was about to happen to him was a mercy because there was something much worse before.

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 10:12:48 No.40613391 Report

Quoted By: >>40627936

>>40612103

>be paranormal entity

>be salty about people encountering me for clout instead of being organically frightened

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 10:13:52 No.40613398 Report

>>40612363

I aint readin that

Got my head like a fuckin typewriter moving left to right.

Format your shit better.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Filipino Stories.jpg, 4MiB, 1128x6260

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 11:46:25 No.40613800 Report

Quoted By: >>40700210

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace IMG_9913.jpg, 3MiB, 2506x7655

The map shows the location of the trail.

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 13:41:45 No.40614378 Report

Quoted By: >>40614553

does anyone have more info on this one or has anyone checked out the location?

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 14:21:56 No.40614553 Report

Quoted By: >>40614632

>>40614378

Good to know, first one ive ever seen that had an actual map to reference.

Maybe I'll go there to die

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 14:36:28 No.40614632 Report

Quoted By: >>40614667

>>40614553

been thinking of doing the same thing, but for me it's to kill the critter that might be out there.

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 14:40:24 No.40614667 Report

Quoted By: >>40614679

>>40614632

Better get out your best Arnold impression.

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 14:42:49 No.40614679 Report

Quoted By: >>40614723

>>40614667

haha I'll do my best

need to head over to /k/ and look at their archives on cryptid hunting kit suggestions too.

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 14:51:34 No.40614723 Report

Quoted By: >>40614762

>>40614679

>cryptid hunting kit

My instinct would be that you're protected by things that are special to you.

Like, wear that bracelet your niece made you when she was 4 that you've kept all these years.

Bring the pocket knife you bought with your first 10 bucks.

Things that have a special memory or attachment infused into them SHOULD protect you.

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 14:59:46 No.40614762 Report

Quoted By: >>40614794

>>40614723

Actually a very fair idea, and I do take value in the concept of luck and enchantment.

im native american and have seen the same witch. all sorcerers, demons, spirits of nephilim, etc etc can shapeshift. other forms witches take is shadow people, tall faceless black figures with giant dreadlocks, figures made out of smoke, headless stick figures. but yeah the most memorable 1 is their reverse riding hood shit right here. the one i saw though didnt have a kids face. the one i saw had a pale voldemort face, and her hair was not tangled. anyway i wish i knew the origins. why are their true forms: tall 10 foot tall and lanky? what class of demon is that, and how do i protect myself? my grandpa owns property in mexico, his name is native af mines is not. his name means generic "sitting rodent" in native. its not even spanish thats how native he is and when i had to live with him for a while i contracted a slight curse. every few years or so this witch shows itself. i need to work full time though and cant afford the lack of sleep. it fucks my shit up for a week. i was born in the U.S. so ive no clue. and my mom asked him to not discuss the witch with me.....in the mean time ill write a few stories about the time i stayed at his place for a bit back in 99-2000

Anonymous Fri 27 Jun 2025 21:40:14 No.40617157 Report

Quoted By: >>40618027

sup Tetsuya, sup Midnightbroadcast

Anonymous Sat 28 Jun 2025 00:40:51 No.40618027 Report

>>40617157

Those channels can make this board seem much more interesting than it really is. It's a lot easier to be spooked by a story of someone claiming to be an insider or government agent when you don't see 20 of those people every day and the majority of the board being shallow, stupid, shitposters, or all three. What's important to know about this board is that it's the spooky stuff board, not the real stuff board, and there's no rule against making stories up. Though if there were a rule against making stories up I think a lot of real stories would get censored. With a lot of stories there's just no way for you to know for certain whether it's real.

Anonymous Sat 28 Jun 2025 01:06:44 No.40618141 Report

awww just let normie r-dditchild enjoy his creepy rain asmr videos

Anonymous Sat 28 Jun 2025 02:27:10 No.40618533 Report

>>40616880

Pakicetus?

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace South American grandpa devil enc (...).jpg, 1MiB, 528x3132

Anonymous Sat 28 Jun 2025 06:15:59 No.40619275 Report

>>40587993

Anonymous Sat 28 Jun 2025 07:25:51 No.40619445 Report

>>40588448

>>40607618

Hahaha the girls saw him flirting with a men! Gaaaaayyyyy!

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace IMG_9037.jpg, 1MiB, 1170x2105

The image is a screenshot of a text message conversation, which appears to be from a user named "Anonymous" on Thursday, April 28, 2020. The conversation is between two individuals, with the first message being sent by the user at 19:19:12 and the second message being sent by the user at 19:19:12. The conversation is about a story that the user has experienced with their friend, who is a dog.

The text is in a language that appears to be English, and it is written in a casual, conversational style. The conversation is about the dog's actions and reactions, as well as the reactions of the other person. The text includes references to the dog's actions, such as "suddenly a dog comes up over the side of the cliff and stops him," and the dog's reaction to the story, such as "My friend is terrified, but he can't move or scream."

The text also includes a mention of a doctor who is not a supernatural being, but rather a family member, and the story's conclusion, which is that the dog is "usually dogs." The text is written in a way that suggests a personal and intimate conversation between the two individuals, with the user sharing a story that they believe is true.

The image does not contain any other visual elements or information beyond the text itself. The style of the image is a simple, clear screenshot with no

The thirtieth section is titled "Disclaimer". The thirtieth section is titled "Disclaimer". The thirtieth section is titled "Disclaimer". The thirtieth section is titled "Disclaimer". The thirtieth section is titled "Disclaimer". The thirtieth section is titled "Disclaimer". The thirtieth section is titled "Disclaimer". The thirtieth section is titled "Disclaimer".

Anonymous Sat 28 Jun 2025 22:04:06 No.40623235 Report
View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Elephant Killer.jpg, 520KiB, 1842x2674

Yeah i have that one somewhere. I'll look for it. Might take me a bit.

Anonymous Mon 30 Jun 2025 00:14:11 No.40630164 Report

/r/equesting the one about a guy falling in love with a girl who escaped from a cult he met in the woods

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Trickster.png, 1MiB, 2316x2116

The image is a screenshot of a webpage with a dark background and a black header. The header contains a navigation bar with links to different sections of the webpage. The main content of the webpage consists of two columns. The left column is a list of text, while the right column contains a photograph of a landscape. The photograph shows a road with a stone wall on the right and a grassy field on the left. The sky is overcast, and the landscape appears to be in a valley. There are no discernible texts in the photograph. The overall style of the image is informational and seems to be from a travel or outdoor activity website.

Anonymous Mon 30 Jun 2025 01:24:11 No.40630462 Report

>>40629717

Welp, it's been 2 hours and I still can't find it. The search has now turned into a needle-in-the-haystack-level task. It's either buried among my ~20k unsorted images or it's in one of the image folders from the complete threads I've saved. Either way, I think someone else is gonna have to step up to the plate for that one. Sorry anon.

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1751242872450592.jpg, 7KiB, 250x250

The image is a close-up photograph of a dog wearing a red lobster costume. The dog has a white face with black eyes and a black nose. The costume includes a red hood with two large, white, googly eyes on either side of the hood. The dog's ears are also red and appear to be attached to the hood. The dog's fur is a mix of white and brown, and it has a white collar around its neck. The background is out of focus, but it appears to be a room with a neutral color palette. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is a candid, informal photograph, likely taken for a fun or humorous purpose.

Anonymous Mon 30 Jun 2025 05:34:17 No.40631201 Report

Quoted By: >>40637593

>>40587967

Dont believe in skinwalkers. If they were real, someone would have caught or killed one by now. Or we would have recordings of their failed attempt to do so. How come there have never been any successful search parties or hunting expeditions. Cryptids are all bullshit

Anonymous Mon 30 Jun 2025 06:05:52 No.40631250 Report

Quoted By: >>40631500 >>40642158 >>40668775

tfw you realize at least some greentexts were unironically real

Anonymous Mon 30 Jun 2025 07:37:16 No.40631500 Report

Quoted By: >>40633219 >>40658911 >>40658978

>>40631250

I'm the author of >>40610822 and I swear that really happened to me. That's why I included the link to the news article, to prove something really happened that night. But given that this board is full of obvious LARPer's, you don't have much reason to believe me. When I first posted this nearly a year ago I was very nervous about where I did so and how much detail I gave, because I was afraid it could get covered by some big greentext channel, blow up, and I'd consequently risk getting doxxed. I was someplace with security cameras, after all. But I've posted this multiple times since then and no-one really cares. I could probably shout it on the street and no-one would really care. To them, I'm just another schizo. It's almost kinda funny. Totally Real not LARPing Government Whistleblower#425 gets all kinds of attention, while when I post something I know to be objectively true I get crickets. I guess LARPing whistleblowers make for better entertainment.

Anonymous Mon 30 Jun 2025 08:07:47 No.40631618 Report

>>40587967

Does anyone have the greentext where two slavic dudes go hunting and some thing tears up their dogs. Then the skinwalker or whatever possesses one of them and he jumps out of a tree so the narrator has to kill him with a shotgun

Anonymous Mon 30 Jun 2025 08:27:18 No.40631710 Report

>>40627653

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Chinatown Frog.png, 434KiB, 2170x848

Anonymous Mon 30 Jun 2025 13:25:01 No.40633219 Report

>>40631500

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Nic Santos.png, 1MiB, 1286x6889

[illegible]

wearing

Anonymous Mon 30 Jun 2025 19:23:33 No.40635340 Report

View SameOCRGogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Colombian Sobandera.png, 145KiB, 1262x1057

Anonymous Mon 30 Jun 2025 21:38:16 No.40636204 Report

Anonymous Tue 01 Jul 2025 02:18:21 No.40637593 Report

Quoted By: >>40658960

>>40631201

I didn't believe in these things either til relatively recently. I thought they were basically a story convention cooked up here or on /k/ that took off. That was until I heard a story from a friend totally disconnected from this sort of culture and paranormal junk in general, and it hit all of the hallmark signs you see here. I'm more willing to believe in these critters now, since I know he wasn't pulling my leg and he had no clue about any of this stuff until I told him.

Anonymous Tue 01 Jul 2025 06:34:18 No.40638233 Report

Quoted By: >>40638431

>>40605352

if the world governments knows why are their current actions retarded? what is their endgame?

View SameOCRGogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace US-Underground-Cities-TGP.png, 710KiB, 735x2898

The article is about the "Farming Housing Offsite" initiative, which is a project that aims to create 100,000 new homes in the UK. The article also mentions the "Farming Housing Offsite" initiative's goal of creating 100,000 new homes in the UK.

Anonymous Tue 01 Jul 2025 07:44:04 No.40638431 Report

Quoted By: >>40638460

>>40638233

Because they're drunk with power and they have an escape plan.

>"We systematically went through and tried to guesstimate our guess of how many underground bases (there are), both underground in the United States, but also underground under the ocean around the United States," she stated. "And our estimate was 170 with a transportation network connecting them."

archive.is/aCS7u

View SameGooglegiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1497466944770.gif, 2MiB, 460x259

Anonymous Tue 01 Jul 2025 07:53:22 No.40638460 Report

>>40638431

surely more countries would know, and maybe even amateur astronomers

>tfw live near newly built underground rail in my country

Rope Shooter Randall Tue 01 Jul 2025 10:00:50 No.40638918 Report

>>40591405

>Le ebin room scares le zoomer

View SameOCRGogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace sarah and the cradle.jpg, 1MiB, 1079x1738

Anonymous Tue 01 Jul 2025 12:00:51 No.40639532 Report

View SameOCRGogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Rocky Mountian Corpse Candles.jpg, 2MiB, 3848x3768

Anonymous Tue 01 Jul 2025 18:58:24 No.40641787 Report

Anonymous Tue 01 Jul 2025 19:59:19 No.40642158 Report

Quoted By: >>40648014

>>40631250

Yep. I've put one out there that is the whole encounter as it was experienced. Still freaks me out to this day. I've since had some encounters with the circle of people likely involved/perpetrating. Terrifying stuff.

View SameOCRGogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Winter Ranch.jpg, 1MiB, 1848x3702

The image is a screenshot of a Reddit post, specifically a discussion about the movie "The Shawshank Redemption". The post is organized into a series of numbered lists, each representing a different aspect of the movie. The text is in a language that appears to be English, and the style of the text is informal and conversational. The image is a screenshot from a Reddit post, which is a social media platform where users can share and discuss various topics. The image is a screenshot of a Reddit post, which is a social media platform where users can share and discuss various topics. The image is a screenshot of a Reddit post, which is a social media platform where users can share and discuss various topics. The image is a screenshot of a Reddit post, which is a social media platform where users can share and discuss various topics.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Korea Kraut.png, 1002KiB, 1856x6196

Anonymous Tue 01 Jul 2025 21:53:59 No.40642775 Report

Anonymous Wed 02 Jul 2025 03:40:08 No.40644344 Report

[illegible]

is in a casual, conversational style, and the conversation appears to be taking place over a period of time, with the last message being dated "02/25/28" and the first message being dated "02/27/28." The conversation is marked as a "Report" and has a timestamp of "02/25/28 19:36:40." The text is in a language that appears to be English, but the specific language is not clear from the image.

Anonymous Thu 03 Jul 2025 11:32:41 No.40652582 Report

Anonymous Thu 03 Jul 2025 11:38:00 No.40652611 Report

>>40587967

Finally, the other one was archived but still fell on 404 and I couldn't get it to work back, thank you OP, these are great.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Metal-Hand-Guy.png, 226KiB, 822x993

Anonymous Thu 03 Jul 2025 16:14:01 No.40654057 Report

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Portal.png, 758KiB, 1087x1902

Anonymous Thu 03 Jul 2025 17:11:25 No.40654348 Report

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace MolochCultists.png, 3MiB, 2064x1636

Anonymous Thu 03 Jul 2025 17:38:51 No.40654442 Report

Quoted By: >>40656427

>>40648014

Sure. Often the best tells are given away by being a local - many of the Alaska ones posted are straight BS (Firewatch, for example), although the one with the entity similar to the Karelian flatman I gauge as being pretty honest. I don't think he embellished it.

The trouble with having put my own experience out there is now I know some of the rest are real.

Anonymous Thu 03 Jul 2025 18:13:30 No.40654602 Report

>>40589321

>>40591546

>>40610822

Thank you for posting OC anons

Anonymous Thu 03 Jul 2025 22:45:43 No.40656105 Report

bump

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Alaskanon>Returns.png, 335KiB, 1161x2239

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 00:02:40 No.40656427 Report

Quoted By: >>40660308 >>40676459

>>40654442

Hi Alaskanon, I thought that might be you. Pic related is the last time we talked.

How have you been?

>I've since had some encounters with the circle of people likely involved/perpetrating. Terrifying stuff.

Care to elaborate? Any new stories for us?

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Yakutia.png, 3MiB, 7452x3168

The image displays a screenshot of a web page with a grid layout, containing multiple columns of text and images. The text is in a language that appears to be English, and the images are in grayscale. The text is organized in a list format, with each item separated by a line. The images are scattered throughout the page, with some appearing to be photographs and others to be illustrations or icons. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a forum or a discussion board, where users can post comments and share content. The image is a screenshot from a web page, and the content is not related to a specific topic or theme, but rather a collection of text and images.

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 00:53:38 No.40656638 Report

Quoted By: >>40657007

Posting big Yakutia greentext since the flatman was mentioned

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Old-House-Possessed-Mom.png, 324KiB, 961x1122

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 02:00:41 No.40657007 Report

>>40656638

Thanks for posting. I didn't have that one.

Also that thread... lots of good stories in there. Bookmarked for future capping.

View Same0CRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Brother's-Dream.png, 190KiB, 1053x715

The image is a screenshot of a text message conversation. The conversation appears to be between two individuals, with the text in a dark green color. The conversation is in English and is written in a casual, conversational style. The first message is from the person who sent the message, who is identified as "Anonymous Sun 03 Jan 2021 04:42:46 No.27231830 Report." The message is a request for attention, stating, "I need the after 7pm slot, didn't get much attention so I'll report it here. Might be connected to astral projection an outer body experience."

The second message is from the recipient of the report, who is identified as "Go to holiday when I was about 6 or 7." The recipient responds with, "Just me, my sister and my Mum (yes I'm british)."

The third message is from the recipient, who is identified as "Fast forward to middle of the holidays. Stay at home."

The fourth message is from the recipient, who is identified as "I'm looking at an ice cream sign. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop.
I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop.
I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop.
I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice cream shop. I'm on my way to the ice

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 06:32:50 No.40657909 Report

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 08:10:27 No.40658135 Report

>>40612103

That's bullshit, as if they are aware of the existence of 4chan or whatever other places you can share these stories. Also, what the fuck would they expect? Even without the existence of the internet people would share these experiences, what are we supposed to do? Encounter a terrifying event that no one acknowledges and say "oh well" and move on? Lmao

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 09:16:29 No.40658367 Report

Quoted By: >>40669236

>5 years old

```
>grandpa takes me out to the mountains to pull some weeds
```

>says the physical labor will put some hair on my chest

>he would pull out certain plants that grew in the hills and sell them off to local nurseries or to asian businessmen if he landed a particularly rare one >while we're out looking for plants, he would check the traps he had set so we'd have dinner when we got back >occasionally we'd stumble across a trapped animal that was ripped in half with its organs and eyes missing >grandpa always cursed bigfoot when he found them, said that got damn monkey ass rat bastard got into his shit again

Anyone from the south eastern US have any ideas on what it actually was that was targeting his traps? I've since heard of some predators going after the organs, but never any that tear the animals in half to do so.

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 11:24:36 No.40658911 Report

>>40631500

i also believe you anon, i live in southern american and know those dieties have power especially here

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 11:34:50 No.40658960 Report

Quoted By: >>40659178

>>40637593

I like that you called it a critter, I like to call them that.

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 11:38:43 No.40658978 Report

Quoted By: >>40668085

>>40589321

I'm >>40631500 and I live in Germany, with parent who are very German in every cliche of the word, and I am 6'4 tall with strawberry blonde hair and all those Germanic/Saxonian -- not Aryan! -- feature; i.e. I look basically like a young Thor.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Blizzard Cabin.jpg, 202KiB, 1080x1923

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 12:20:05 No.40659178 Report

Quoted By: >>40666153

>>40658960

I usually call them stuff like that, since there's not really a good name for them since "skinwalker" technically means something else. So usually "nasty forest critters" or "evil innawoods gribbilies" works.

It's my friend's encounter so not really my place to tell the story. I've had some funny experiences in the woods myself but really nothing that exciting overall.

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 15:28:29 No.40660305 Report

Bump

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 15:29:12 No.40660308 Report

Quoted By: >>40660697 >>40660922

>>40656427

Hey fellow anon. Good to see you're still about archiving. I won't talk too much relating to that one, it doesn't make good greentexts and risks doxing me any more. Suffice to say my suspicions were correct and this stuff all runs at the higher end of the social/economic scale, and the local political level, in every town.

I do have some other stories to relate, though.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace PAVN.png, 327KiB, 771x3103

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 16:40:33 No.40660697 Report

Quoted By: >>40660922

>>40660308

Post stories pls

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace 20220709_171735 - Copy.jpg, 2MiB, 3023x3235

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 17:16:44 No.40660922 Report

Quoted By: >>40661000 >>40671022

>>40660308

>>40660697

Sorry, at work! I've got some time now.

For our honeymoon my wife and I spent two weeks driving around Alaska, seeing various things she'd never seen and I'd never seen, etc etc. The last day/night of the trip we stopped at a spot on the Richardson highway, the rainbow mountains. Hidden back there is one of my favorite places in the whole state, you go up a rocky gully and climb about 1500-2000 feet up, and at the top there's a pass through the mountains that forms a bowl. It's sheltered from the wind, has decent topsoil accretion, a profusion of ground squirrels, some rare and endangered flowers, and beyond all that it /feels/ calm and peaceful. If I had to guess I'd say it's an actual place of power, either channeling energy from the mountains or a ley-line passing through, hard to say.

Wife's never been to THE spot, only a failed attempt a few years back (don't play with avalanches kids), so we're giving it another go. We park the truck and bushwhack over to the 'trail' head, and it already feels a little off, somebody has been illegally baiting for bears very recently. The only bears in this area are huge monster mountain grizzlies, very cool. We get to the gully, start climbing, and it's just as lovely as ever, lots of great rocks. The gully cuts through about 300 million years of rock strata, there's a profusion of different rocks, never know what you might find - my cousin found some jade once (there's an entire mountain face/scree slope of sea bed fossils hidden further back there, for example).

We get to the top, spend a couple hours in the spot. It's just as peaceful and lovely as I remember, really puts the body and soul at ease. It starts getting late and we figure, well, time to climb back down and find some lunch. We're just getting out of the bowl and back into the gully when I find two really neat rocks of a type I've not seen before in this gully. They look like they've been placed there (picrel)

View SameOCRGoogleiqlqdbSauceNA0Trace 5E9624A1-1627-41C0-966F-8AF45245 (...).jpg, 2MiB, 2400x1600

The image is a landscape photograph capturing a scenic view of a mountainous region during the fall season. The mountains are covered in a mix of green and orange vegetation, suggesting the transition from summer to autumn. The road, which is the foreground of the image, is a two-lane highway with a white line running down the center. A white RV is parked on the side of the road, indicating a possible stop for travelers. The sky above is partly cloudy, with patches of blue visible through the clouds. The overall mood of the image is serene and tranquil, with the natural beauty of the landscape being the main focus. There are no texts or discernible brands in the image.

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 17:30:34 No.40661000 Report

Quoted By: >>40661045

>>40660922

I felt a mild compulsion to take these rocks so I could figure out what they were. No reason other than they were unique - and in that gully that is unusual. We set off down the gully, I slip and cut my toe on a rock (chaco life), and all is well until we get to the bottom of the gully.

We get back to the trail that leads into the gully. I'm in front, my spastic blue heeler is trying to uproot a bush a little ahead of me, and I'm hit with this sense of unease at my back. I stop and turn around and find that the wife has done the exact same thing without saying anything. We're both just looking into the gully, like there's something there - because that's exactly what it feels like. The sensation of something being in there and very unhappy with us is radiating out of there like heat from a coal.

Here's the thing, though: there's fuck all to see. This gully is just scree slopes at 40-45 degrees, hard rock vertical faces, a run-off scoured bottom, and the occasional bush 2-3 feet tall spaced maybe 50-60 feet apart (see picrel of the mountains to get an idea). There's nothing there, but that gut feeling of danger is pinging hard just like back at the 'Moloch abduction site'. I ask if she's ever felt that before, she says no, and I gently explain to NEVER ignore that feeling and it's time to go.

So, we go. We take the long way back to the truck, down the trail to the highway, down the highway to where the truck's parked, rather than the shortcut game trail through the trees - better visibility. Whatever we are feeling the dog is too: her normal MO is to sprint from squirrel to squirrel in the woods, generally bursting from the brush at random 20-50 feet ahead of us. Now she's planted firmly 3 feet in front of me, swinging her head side to side like she's looking for something. This is the only time I've seen her do this.

We make it to the truck, have some quick sandwiches, decide against camping overnight and load up for home.

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 17:41:02 No.40661045 Report

Quoted By: >>40661084 >>40661120

>>40661000

As we drive the sense of unease deepens. We pass by two unusual wildlife scenes over the next 50 or so miles: first, a raven and a great gray owl in a broad ditch having some sort of dispute. Second, 5 moose (3 adult, 2 juvenile) huddled together, adults on the outside and juveniles on the inside, like they're fucking buffalo (this is VERY unusual).

At about 10PM I stop at a pull off just before the ~5 mile straight stretch in front of Donnelly Dome, outside Delta. The wife is getting something out of the cabover camper and I'm stretching my legs watching the dog sniff about when I realize something is amiss. If you've ever been on that stretch of road (I have biked it many times) you will know that the wind always blows there, full stop. The wind isn't blowing. There's no bird song (in July?? unheard of), and there's not even a solitary mosquito buzzing me. It's so quiet all I can hear is my tinnitus. Big nope on my part, thanks. I get the wife, we head out, we get home. After that all is well, pretty much.

Except, what the hell was it all about? It took me close to 4 years to put it all together. About a year ago I talked with a native orthodox priest about it after he came to bless my home (whole different saga), and he told me it sounded like little people. I asked my neighbors, village born and raised, and they agreed. But why were they so upset?

The rocks, obviously. I finally ID'd them - one is serpentstone (used decoratively), and one is chert (hard enough and knapps well, useful for making tools/spearheads/arrowheads). They looked like they had been set out because they had been - I think the little people were out there hunting down chert for tools (I confirmed through a USGS paper that there is a chert vein running through there) and I rolled through and stole their very nice fucking rock.

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 17:49:06 No.40661084 Report

Quoted By: >>40661120

>>40661045

In the native lore if you steal something belonging to the little people and don't get caught, that's great, truly. You'll be blessed and have good hunting. Get caught? Murkier on that, but not great. Well, about 9 months after this whole episode my great grandfather's machete disappeared - I mean truly disappeared. I spent close to 10 hours looking EVERYWHERE for it, but it's truly gone off the face of the earth. It was only recently I realized: THEY GOT ME. A theft for a theft - I stole their rock, they stole my very nice and useful machete. I didn't know any better, so I guess they took pity on me.

I'm pleased, honestly. From everything I've learned the little people the natives speak of are almost certainly just a branch of the fey folk. There are even fairy rings and their equivalent, and portals. Fifteen years back I heard a story of a woman in her thirties who was out mushroom picking and disappeared from a very remote village (one bush plane a week kind of place, you don't leave without people knowing). The villagers look for a while, don't find her, give her up for lost. Three weeks later they find out she's alive when she calls them from IRELAND, generally disoriented and no clue how she got there. There are also tales of little people variously stealing children, returning children, lines of lantern lights marching through the night... the parallels with the fey folk are amazing.

So, to tl;dr - I stole a rock from arctic fey folk and made them mad, they stole my machete. Nobody got hurt. Good outcome.

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 17:58:49 No.40661120 Report

Quoted By: >>40661170

>>40661084

>>40661045

And, since I touched on it, my house was haunted.

>fiance and I are moving into grandma's old house to keep it lived in, help out the trust, get good rent >spend a couple months getting the side apartment livable before moving in, generally going after work and on weekends and puttering away >there by myself one day and get the distinct feeling of somebody standing behind me, nobody there of course

>ask if it's grandma, presence suddenly becomes warm and welcoming >huge mistake, don't do this >this goes on for three weeks, finally mention it to the wife one day >she gets very excited, says the same thing has been happening to her, especially in the kitchen, that it feels like somebody is looking over her shoulder and VERY unhappy with her >one day I'm working by myself and my analogue stereo turns the volume down on its own >haha ok grandma (spoiler: not grandma)

>close-up work glasses disappear twice, spend over an hour looking for them each time >they were on the tank of the toilet in the other part of the house the first time, then the tank of the uninstalled toilet in a room I hadn't been working in the second time

>wtf I've got a ghost, that's not something grandma would do though >move in, things are quiet for the rest of the summer >september rolls around, bringing the cold and the dark with it >dog starts getting protective of now pregnant wife >sometimes she will just sit in the dining room adjoining the kitchen and stare at the corner of the ceiling >alerts on nothing frequently >put wife to bed one night, I'm sitting on edge of bed, dog is on bed >dog perks up and looks towards window, then clearly tracks something from window to over my shoulder >keeps staring over my shoulder, can't break her focus

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 18:06:44 No.40661170 Report

Quoted By: >>40661240

>>40661120

>another day I come home and dog comes and says hi, turns around to go back to kitchen, then jumps and turns 180 back to me >every hackle is up, including ones I didn't know she had

>I briefly think she's snapped and is about to attack me

>she stops right in front of me and pointedly looks BEHIND me >does it twice more in the next 15 minutes

>next night I'm sitting on the stairs in the apartment talking to wife >hear a loud knock from the other part of the house, like somebody hit a wall in there

>nothing over there

There's a door between the apartment and the main part of the house, and since the apartment didn't have a kitchen we used the kitchen over there. The bedrooms upstairs were truly empty, but the living room was packed to the brim with the remainders of my grandmother's estate. Around this time when you went through the door into the main part of the house it felt like you were walking into thick fog or pea soup. The atmosphere in that part of the house would just make our hair stand on end.

>evening knocking goes on for a while >one night I'm particularly fed up with it and there's a good series of knocks >grab my handgun and go clear the whole upstairs (again) >standing in the empty master bedroom, only thing in there is an old landline phone

>phone rings

>so mad I go to answer it >accidentally knock it over and it unplugs itself (thanks divine providence)

>after I calm down I realize the other three phones on the landline didn't ring >bulletddodged.png

At this point things calmed down for a while, and we had our first child. Things stayed pretty quiet for about 4 months after her birth. Then:

>infant begins having nightmares >screaming in terror in her sleep >nightmares stop if we keep the curtains closed >weird feeling is still only in other part of the house >ghost can come in through the windows and give my infant nightmares, very cool >spring comes, then summer, other than the main house feeling haunted not much happens

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 18:22:12 No.40661240 Report

Quoted By: >>40661283

>>40661170

That fall my young-ish (24) cousin moved in to a room in the main part of the house. Yes, I did warn him. Shortly after this he got beat up by a gang of GI's, was off work for 7 months from injuries, lost his job, and got rather depressed. The 'ghost' seemed to like my cousin; I think it fed off his negative emotions.

>warn cousin house is haunted

>he shrugs it off, "ghosts aren't real bro"

>"great, just make sure you pay rent on time" (SPOILER - he didn't) >noises start back up again

>he sheepishly tells me he has heard footsteps in the hallway, and a sound like someone tapping their foot in an empty room up there

>"yeah man, the house is haunted" >cousin runs into my mom, mentions the house being haunted >mom gets offended, says ghosts aren't real >cousin comes home and tells me that he thinks my mom is right, it's just our imaginations

>we're sitting in the kitchen at 11 at night

>as soon as he says that five footsteps go down the hallway above our heads, like somebody stomping in work boots

>"sure man, whatever you say" >things stay at about this level through the winter, spring, and summer >cousin gets a GF, she comes over a lot, presumably they were sex-havers up there >the noise escalates, wife and I would be in kitchen and it would sound like there were people talking in his room when he wasn't home >every time you go up there to check it's dead quiet and electronics were off >cousin starts to complain of sleeping poorly, says GF tells him he's talking in his sleep like he's having nightmares

>he can never remember his dreams so he can't say if he is or not (remember this) >september rolls around, I'm outside one night getting truck loaded up to go hunting

>it's 10PM in my own fucking driveway and I get the DANGER DANGER YOU ARE BEING HUNTED sense going off hard

>oh well, gotta pack

>go inside for a bit though

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 18:30:59 No.40661283 Report

Quoted By: >>40661317 >>40666959

>>40661240

>cousin and his gf come home, warn him something is weird out there and to maybe stay inside >his eyes get BIG, he gets scared, tells me when he was getting out of her truck he glanced at the woods and thought he saw a couple lights

>he looked away, realized he couldn't be seeing lights through 200 feet of dense nigger spruce, looked back - they were gone >said it was three lights about seven feet tall, spaced about six inches apart, like so: - = >neat, glowing yellow eyes in the woods

>I don't sleep for shit that night, between packing, checking on the livestock, checking on the kids >pass out at 6AM ish, wake up at noon >cousin tried to call me before going to work, he's really worked up >that night after his gf left he had a nightmare

>he said he woke up lying in his bed and could tell there was something in the hallway, but he couldn't move
>it kept banging on his door until the door opened up
>he tried to tell it to go away but couldn't speak >a black mass with glowing red eyes, as tall as the ceiling (granted, that's only 7 feet), came into the room and stood by his bed >cousin panicking at this point >all of a sudden a thought pops in his head and he manages to scream (hoarse whisper) "In the name of Jesus Christ, I rebuke you"
>he wakes up lying in bed, drenched in sweat, door still closed
He's not particularly religious, so I was surprised he whipped that out. He wasn't sure where he had heard it. I think his bacon got saved. Regardless of your thoughts on Christ, I've seen a lot of accounts of that specific phrase helping in these situations.
>I'm rather alarmed by this, but I go hunting anyways >real bummer of a trip, no moose, no bears, equipment damage - oh well >come home

>cousin has had another nightmare while I'm gone
Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 18:41:46 No.40661317 Report

Quoted By: >>40661352

>>40661283

>'wakes up' in his bed
>there's a man sitting in a chair by his bed >face looks like a composite of all the men in our family, glowing red eyes >12+ (he isn't sure) shadow figures standing behind the man >man calmly tells cousin that he is "going to take over" the cousin's body >tells cousin all of the way he will make cousin mutilate his own body >tells cousin all the ways he will make cousin mutilate the people he loves >cousin's panic gets to, I figure, about an 11/10 before he remembers old reliable and whips out "In the name of Jesus Christ, I rebuke you" >wakes up in bed scared out of his gourd
When I hear this all my alarm bells go off and I realize what a FOOL I've been, because it was not and never had been a ghost in the house, but a DEMON.
>immediately track down an orthodox priest, he comes over a few days later and blesses the house >tells me living on the river and having grandma's old stuff still not completely dealt with have made an inviting home for the thing >my house is an energy backeddy collecting spooky trash, COOL >activity sharply abates after blessing, only a few instances of note afterwards - the usual voices in his room but nobody there >this happened after he brought home tinder whores (gf broke up with him) >everything seems to be OK now

There's a few other things that I left out but are worth mentioning. Well into all of this, when I was pretty well numb to the spooky aspect, I remember a door opening on its own. I looked at it and said, "Really? After all this, NOW you whip out the old open the door trick? Not impressive, bud." Turns out for a few days prior it had been scaring my cousin by opening doors on him.

Cousin also reported getting the sensation things were looking at him through his window, so he'd keep the blinds down. I caught him shining his gun light out the window a few times like he was looking for something.

(cont)

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 18:48:35 No.40661352 Report

Quoted By: >>40661407

>>40661317

The priest seemed to think the thing hadn't been there long, but looking back on it I think it had been there for decades. My grandma was an accountant for the catholic church, had nun friends etc, and I found a signed letter from one of them basically exhorting 'bad spirits' to leave the home with another paper (printed email recipe) from about 2002. My grandmother was VERY catholic, this was an unusual find. I also lived in that house for a time back around 2002-2003, and having memories of thinking I was seeing black figures out of the corners of my eyes upstairs. I was really young at the time, though, and just wrote it off. I think my cousin was just the perfect thing to feed off of and caused things to escalate enormously.

Why was the apartment side of the house always relatively safe? I don't know. Could be because we try to live spiritually well, could be something about my oldest kept it away (I should have named her Mulder). What I do know is things escalated every time he brought a tinder whore over, we could pretty much tell he had by how much noise came from his room while he was at work the next day. So, fucking tinder whores feeds demons, remember that.

And that's the really interesting spooky stuff from the last time we chatted, other than minor stuff with my kid. I figure you're gonna ask, so I'll share that too real quick.

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 18:59:14 No.40661407 Report

Quoted By: >>40661446

>>40661352

>oldest daughter stayed awake for two hours after she was born >had a level of cognition and awareness in her eyes I hadn't seen in a newborn before >beautiful girl born at 8:18AM on the 28th, 8lbs and 8 ounces after an 8 hour and 8 minute labor

Yes, really.

>normal infant

>about 6 months along she starts to really love books, she could happily be read to for hours >once put her to sleep by reading her a book on 18th century naval warfare and vessels of the line >at 7 months she starts talking >would just be normal baby babble and then a perfectly intelligible word thrown in, not mushy at all >one time at 11 months old she was holding one of her books and she turned it over and pointed to the "Banner baby books" logo on the back and said, "Dada, it's for babies."

>around 11 months she also starts pointing at an outlet in her room and saying it's "hot"

>she gets her little infant hands on some colored pencils and draws yellow, orange, and gray scribbles around it >that whole circuit begins tripping out, load or not, a month later

>then the heater fails

>while I'm waiting for parts I'm heating just the upstairs of the apartment with an electric radiator (it is -30F outside)

>I have the circuit for her room outlets off at the breaker, she still points at it and says 'hot'

>wake up one day, it's cold >heater isn't on

>check plug, heater tried to burn the house down >parts came in that day, got the regular heater back on >she doesn't point at outlet and say 'hot' any more >check outlet finally (so many projects)

>wing nut holding the hots together was upside down and collected condensate from the window >corrosion had built up between the wires, causing a fire hazard >fix it

>breaker still trips - the breaker spring retainer spontaneously broke so I couldn't keep circuit energized

Thank you to my guardian angel, seriously.

>fast forward to about 18-19 months >daughter will say things that she shouldn't know anything about

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 19:08:00 No.40661446 Report

Quoted By: >>40666612 >>40671022

>>40661407

>I built a black soldier fly hutch in the closet under the stairs one night, but only have larvae so far >next morning she walks by, points at the closet (closed door), and says "It's dada's bees"

>She was asleep when I built it, none have hatched and won't for almost a month

>Sure enough they look like bees when they hatch

Most memorable:

>tell girls we have to get ready to go see their grandma >daughter says, "have pizza?"

>tell her, no, I don't think so, but that she theoretically could have pizza

>she confidently says, "OK, see grandma, then pizza."

surekid.png

>get to mom's house

>let her out of the car

>she goes up to the front door

>mom opens the door

>she's holding a slice of pizza >daughter asks for some, grandma gives it to her

No kidding, huh. See grandma, then pizza. That brat saw 25 minutes into the future to see what she'd be eating.

>a month ago >daughter asks where dada's dada is

>HEDEAD

>tell her we can go see him >take her to graveyard

>pull up to graveyard >daughter says, "Look, there's little kids playing!"

>as you've already guessed, no, there's no kids, just three guys filling in a grave >get her out of car

>she looks around, asks "Where did the little kids go?"

>go say hi to everybody in the family plot >daughter asks after the kids again

>tell her I don't know, can you take us to where you saw them

>she sets course and takes us right over the top of a 4 year old's grave

Lol. She saw ghost kids at the graveyard. Funny shit right there.

So, that's about it since we've last talked. Had a few prayers answered in very interesting ways and seem to have ascended to peak schizodom. Wife saw a white aura around me once, that was a little peculiar. Been pretty quiet lately for the most part, though.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Charred Man.png, 2MiB, 1345x4509

The article discusses the impact of climate change on the environment and the need for a more sustainable approach to managing the environment.

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 20:14:45 No.40661771 Report

Anonymous Fri 04 Jul 2025 20:40:55 No.40661894 Report

>>40609030

Love this one, a classic

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Alaskan-Radio-Tech.png, 1MiB, 955x6382

The image is a screenshot of a webpage.

Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 01:18:42 No.40663323 Report

Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 02:04:04 No.40663551 Report

Quoted By: >>40663720

I guess I'll post my own short story

>Be 12 living in old family home

>Had a sister who was 2

>Slept in the same room

>Wake up in the middle of the night

>see figure of a child sitting on the window frame

>Just assume it's my sister and tell her to go to bed

>Wake up in the morning

>Tell my mother about seeing my sister on the window frame

>Anon.. how could your sister get up there she's only 2

>Realize I seen a ghost
>Mother explains that I had an aunt who died young and looked like my sister.
Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 02:49:34 No.40663720 Report
Quoted By: >>40666563
>>40663551
I've got a 2 year old, I can see it going either way. They'll climb anything that can be climbed, including everything that shouldn't... that said, it tracks for aunt ghost.
Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 05:28:30 No.40664147 Report
Quoted By: >>40671006
This probably isn't worth a greentext because it isn't spooky, but I've never been able to work it out

>Talking with a friend one day in around 2008
>Some singer comes up and friend tells me that our mutual friend's father absolutely loves him
>So much that he flew halfway around the world to watch him perform a few years ago
>When he was on the plane he was reading either his biography or his autobiography and it mentioned how the singer is a homosexual
>Friend's father is furious (he doesn't like gays) and completely stops liking him because of it
>Although he has to sit through the show because he paid good money for it and had to travel so far
>We have a laugh about this >Friend dies in 2009
>Bring up singer being gay to friend's father just to wind him up
>Has no idea what I'm talking about he's a chad heterosexual
>He must be in denial still
>On Wikipedia during covid just reading things and clicking through links
>End up reading about that same singer
>Remember story of him being gay
>Go to personal life section
>Only came out as being gay in 2017
>First time it was mentioned that he was potentially gay was 2015
>Got married in secret to some man in 2014
>Nothing before that about him being gay
>But friend told me almost a decade before it was made public

I have no idea how my friend actually knew.
Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 14:28:09 No.40666142 Report
bump
Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 14:29:57 No.40666153 Report
>>40659178
I've read that one before! Found it very interesting.

I would love to hear any of yours, even if not tht exciting.
View SameOCRGoogleIqdbSauceNA0Trace giza1.jpg, 2MiB, 1028x2070

Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 14:53:32 No.40666246 Report
View SameOCRGoogleIqdbSauceNA0Trace giza2.jpg, 1MiB, 1159x1449

Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 14:54:34 No.40666251 Report
View SameOCRGoogleIqdbSauceNA0Trace TINY D00000000R!!!!.jpg, 248KiB, 1184x1002
The image is a screenshot of a text document with two columns of text. The left column is a list of messages, and the right column is a continuation of the same list. The text is in a dark color, and the font is a standard, sans-serif typeface. The document appears to be a discussion or a conversation, as indicated by the use of emojis and other visual elements such as brackets and exclamation marks.
The left column contains a list of messages, each with a timestamp and a user name. The messages are in a casual, conversational tone, and they seem to be discussing a game or a topic related to gaming. The names of the users are not visible in the image, but the timestamps suggest that the conversation is ongoing.

The right column continues the list of messages, but it is not fully visible in the image. The text is in a similar style to the left column, with a list format and emojis used to indicate the end of a message or to emphasize a point.

The image does not provide any additional context or information beyond the text itself. It is a snapshot of a conversation, and the content is not related to any specific topic or event. The image is a clear and direct representation of the text, without any additional graphics or images.

Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 14:58:08 No.40666269 Report

Quoted By: >>40666787

>>40587967

Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 16:13:41 No.40666563 Report

>>40663720

The window frame is way too high and my sister was 2 so she had no upper strength to pull herself up there plus she looked older.

Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 16:22:54 No.40666612 Report

Quoted By: >>40676459

>>40661446

You mentioned in that original greentext about the cult that it's the second weirdest thing you've seen.

What takes the number one spot? If you answered somewhere and I missed it, sorry.

Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 16:58:17 No.40666787 Report

>>40666269

I think you got your folders mixed up for this one anon

Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 17:38:31 No.40666959 Report

Quoted By: >>40676459

>>40661283

>he said he woke up lying in his bed and could tell there was something in the hallway, but he couldn't move

>it kept banging on his door until the door opened up

>he tried to tell it to go away but couldn't speak

that's some textbook sleep paralysis pretty similar to an experience I had, sudden unexplainable prayer recall and all

Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 20:07:54 No.40667637 Report

Quoted By: >>40667807

>NEETing it up at home one summer

>Suddenly get sick with headache and general malaise. Feel terrible.

>To make things worse, keep waking up around 3 AM several days in a row for no good reason

>In a kind of mental fugue or depression that I put down to feeling sick

>Third day of this; try to cheer myself up by drawing

>Always sensitive about my lack of skill, it's common to experience negative thoughts when sketching

>This day is different, with the thoughts coming to the forefront on my thinking as if someone were standing beside me speaking aloud they are so bad

>Head is pounding. Keep thinking about my older brother and all of the mean stuff he would say to me and feel pressure in my head

>Continue on in misery

>From out of nowhere, I get the idea that I should pray the rosary

>Can't hurt to take a break, so I stop and begin to recite it

>That pressure in my skull intensifies as I pray, with the pain and frustration of my situation nearly bringing me to tears

>Can feel a sensation in my brain as if something were building up within

>Pressure suddenly gives way as something "snaps" in my brain. Lose control of my body and fall on the bed in panic

>Think it is an aneurysm or stroke and prepare for death

>Moments pass by

>Rather than being dead, I feel better than I have in days. The pressure and sickness are gone, but so is the negative thinking

>Atmosphere is totally peaceful and serene as if in the wake of a storm that has blown through

>Strangely quiet somehow as if an unseen loudspeaker had been silenced
>Astonished by the change, I notice something even more unbelievable
>The eastern wall of my bedroom has been replaced by a kind of 'painting' or image that resembles something like a cavern painted in mushy, ugly colors
>High on my former bedroom wall is what appears to be a gigantic moth around a meter long
>Somehow understand that it was this THING which had been responsible for what was happening
>The whole scene vanishes after a moment
Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 20:46:11 No.40667807 Report >>40667637
anytime i get extremely negative thoughts i remember its just (((them)))

our sins are washed away with the blood of christ, tell them to fuck off.
Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 20:53:35 No.40667847 Report
Quoted By: >>40668085
>>40610822

Tonight, after midnight, shall be the first anniversary of the event. Perhaps strange things will be witnessed in the sky again. Should a general thread about the incident be made?

Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 21:06:19 No.40667886 Report

>My wife and I are at one of the supermarket aisles.
>About 4 feet away was a woman of about 30 years old.
>This lady was about 5ft 6ins high, dressed in a pale blue hoodie with black hair.

>Behind me was the husband and a child of about 3 years old

>a typical family.jpg

>The woman had her back to me.

>Suddenly, the woman turned around.

>her eyes pass by mine.

>She stopped, flicked her eyes back into mine and looked intently at me.

>Her eyes bored into mine while she stood dead still for about 5 seconds

>I, too, stopped and gazed back into her eyes.

>Women don't generally do this with me!

>She had very dark brown eyes, almost black.

>No whites, no pupils, just two black/brown eye shapes.

>She could obviously see with them, as she was staring intently at me.

>She looked slightly disturbed and puzzled.

>I could feel she had noticed that I was not your typical shopper

>she was "reading" me.

>I was trying to read her also, as I could tell that she was not a typical housewife.

>I could feel that she was not an evil spirit

>but I could tell that she was not a normal human.

>her head shape was not quite right.

>She had a slightly wider than average forehead.

>Her face narrowed down to a pointed chin.

>the husband had caught up with her >she swung her attention to him

>she muttered something, turned and marched away to the end of the alley.

>I told my wife what I had just seen. She had noticed nothing.

>I didn't have time to really look at the husband nor the child, but I couldn't see anything strange with them.

>At first glance, this lady looked normal. It was only when her eyes caught mine that I could feel and see she wasn't normal.

Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 21:56:33 No.40668085 Report

>>40667847

Well no-one responded after an hour and the 4chan captcha's were unusually uncooperative when I made this reply so I won't. If you really want one you can start the thread yourself.

>>40658978

No you aren't.

View SameOCRGoogleIqdbSauceNA0Trace Screenshot_20250705_232039_Chrome.jpg, 263KiB, 1080x1024

The image is a screenshot of a tweet from a user named "@twangs_shanty59". The tweet is written in English and is a narrative text. The text is in a dark background, and the tweet has a pink notification at the top left corner, indicating that the tweet was posted 1 year ago. The tweet is in a conversational tone and includes a series of emotional and personal statements. The tweet begins with a statement about the user's mother being a 3/4 native and being methodically tortured at a camp for children of natives in the military. The mother's brain was broken, and she has six personalities, with one being a therapist. The user has witnessed three of these personalities, one of which has black eyes. The user has also seen the black-eyed one twice, once as an adult and once as a child. The user has told the mother that they were no longer a Christian, and the mother has told the user to eat a piece of flesh from a recently sacrificed little girl. The user cannot eat fast food because they will experience a fit of ptsd because most fast food is made from human meat. The user's body reacts to it and they lose their mind. The user's father was also involved, and the world is a sick place. The user ends the tweet with a statement about the world being a sick place and the need to burn it down. The tweet has a number of comments and likes, with the number of likes being 39 and the number of comments being 5. The tweet is also tagged with "@twangs_shanty59" and "@39_5". The tweet is a reflection of the user's emotional state and experiences, and it is a part of their online presence.

Anonymous Sat 05 Jul 2025 23:29:41 No.40668564 Report

i regret not screenshotting this southern black woman's encounter with a white witch. i can paraphrase it but basically she revealed how to counter it. something like grab a jar and place in it freshly ripped straws from a broom. make sure every straw is tall enough to poke out. tie them in a bundle with 1 hair i think? and slap the sticking out tops. slap away. she made this device when she saw a mystery black cat walking on 2 legs in her living room. slap slap slap slap slap. cat screamed like it went through a woodchipper and tackled itself out the door. a few months later they saw the rayciss neighbor woman get dropped off by some medic team in a wheelchair and some cast. i hope someone else has heard of this witch counter. id like to save the recipe but i dont fully recall the details are you an atheist r2dditclown. how do you not believe in cryptids. the watchers? their homonculus pets?

Anonymous Sun 06 Jul 2025 00:12:52 No.40668775 Report

>>40631250

Anonymous Sun 06 Jul 2025 01:55:34 No.40669236 Report

>>40658367

cats will shred up anything smaller than them. just for sport not even to eat. theyre the real vermin

Anonymous Sun 06 Jul 2025 03:27:14 No.40669503 Report

>>40591546

>no pic

so you made it up

Anonymous Sun 06 Jul 2025 10:42:25 No.40671006 Report

>>40664147

The singer fucked your friend in the ass

Anonymous Sun 06 Jul 2025 10:44:39 No.40671022 Report

Quoted By: >>40676465

>>40660922

>>40661446

Thanks much for your extended reply and additional stories, Alaskanon. I've been wanting to put together a proper response with a couple of follow-up questions but I got busy over the 4th and I still have family in town. Between that and being out in the heat I'm just exhausted. I'll keep the thread bumped and post soon.

Do you guys shoot off fireworks up there? If so I imagine they're pretty expensive.

Anonymous Sun 06 Jul 2025 17:07:05 No.40673156 Report

bump

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Screenshot 2025-03-20 173710.png, 167KiB, 1338x831

View SameGoogleIqdbSauceNA0Trace Archangel_Michael_and_Satan_Disp (...).jpg, 95KiB, 960x643

Anonymous Sun 06 Jul 2025 19:34:07 No.40673854 Report

```
>get rid of all the mlp stuff I can and avoid it after
```

[illegible]

[illegible]

Anonymous Mon 07 Jul 2025 01:21:40 No.40675658 Report

Anonymous Mon 07 Jul 2025 02:28:05 No.40675845 Report

>we turn the corner and suddenly, we are back on the original trail it's been about 10 years since this happened and i've looked for this logging trail both on satellite maps and doing trekking and i've never found it again, i think i was really teleported

Anonymous Mon 07 Jul 2025 06:33:25 No.40676459 Report

>>40666612

I never specified when I wrote it down, but that pulsing aurora shared here >>40656427 is easily the weirdest thing I have seen so far, simply for how inexplicable it remains. I don't know if you have seen or know much about aurora, but I can explain why it's so weird.

Normal aurora

>high energy particles penetrating into atmosphere >form dancing patterns along the field lines they penetrate on, often squiggly lines, sometimes swirls >only broad/diffuse when penetrating to lower latitudes (think of the red glow euros have been posting lately) >lasts for minutes to hours, smooth on-off curves (won't turn out like a light) >are rather dim in most cases, even when very good

This 'aurora'

>EXTREMELY BRIGHT (so bright it woke my mother up, and she came to ask if we had been shining a flashlight into her room)

>sub-second flashes

>whole-horizon

To this day it remains inexplicable. Two witnesses and a third quasi-witness, but I never saw anyone else report it and never heard anyone else talk about it.
The sheer energy required to do that would be insane, so I'm inclined to say it wasn't a government experiment for that reason (I doubt there's an antenna array yet built that can handle that). The only other account of an aurora bright enough to wake people I've come across was from the carrington event, which induced enough current to melt telegraph wires. The duration for this was markedly shorter, yes, but that should indicate the point-load involved. Solar outburst levels of energy, behaving like a signal light.

I really can't emphasize enough how strange that was. I can't remember exactly, but based on the house I think this would have been somewhere between 2004 and 2007.

>>40666959

Yes, that whole experience pretty well cemented my thoughts on what sleep paralysis is.

Anonymous Mon 07 Jul 2025 06:35:23 No.40676465 Report

>>40671022

No worries, life happens. Plenty of cheap chinese fireworks here like anywhere else, they're imported by the connex full. Normally nobody shoots em off on the 4th though - too bright. Especially nobody this year - too hot and dry.
Guaranteed to start a forest fire in your back yard.

>GMORP

lol

View SameOCRGoogleiqlbSauceNA0Trace Houston-Fiddler.jpg, 640KiB, 624x1749

Anonymous Mon 07 Jul 2025 11:29:04 No.40677569 Report

Anonymous Mon 07 Jul 2025 12:46:49 No.40677962 Report

>>40591762

>only saw him a few times, but he has all my contact info and wants to hang out on his property with demon horses just for lulz >moves his grandpa to a different bed twice while sleeping >better not flush the toilet he might wake up >wakes up anyway

>See's monstrous horses

>say nothing and go fishing >oh yeah i kinda forgot about those >chekov's crowbar?

>its just a flesh wound, but I have a concussion and am vomiting
>my grandpa is gone
>no hospital or police because?
>Horses get stronger when consuming flesh >didn't consume any of the rabbits just chewed them and spit them out >can't even be assed to go check the cabin again himself

What a turd.

Anonymous Mon 07 Jul 2025 20:44:05 No.40680204 Report
Bumping a good thread.

Anonymous Mon 07 Jul 2025 22:00:24 No.40680637 Report
>>40591772

I truly believe this one.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Anon Meets Ishtar 1.jpg, 3MiB, 4128x4636

Anonymous Mon 07 Jul 2025 22:22:00 No.40680734 Report

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Anon Meets Ishtar 2.jpg, 1MiB, 2346x2814

Anonymous Mon 07 Jul 2025 22:23:03 No.40680740 Report

Anonymous Tue 08 Jul 2025 04:10:18 No.40681893 Report
>>40626965

This isn't even creepy this is just weird and sad

Anonymous Tue 08 Jul 2025 06:54:00 No.40682249 Report
>>40673854

>/mlp/stopped reading here too scary for me

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace posessed by shrooms.png, 871KiB, 1998x2142

Anonymous Tue 08 Jul 2025 11:09:16 No.40683227 Report

Quoted By: >>40683590

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1736895191426293.jpg, 487KiB, 1148x2072

Anonymous Tue 08 Jul 2025 11:10:28 No.40683230 Report

Anonymous Tue 08 Jul 2025 12:46:59 No.40683590 Report
>>40683227

You bastard

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 136362590682.jpg, 563KiB, 1387x926

Anonymous Tue 08 Jul 2025 14:20:18 No.40684020 Report

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Afghanistan Witch.png, 146KiB, 1296x1461

Anonymous Tue 08 Jul 2025 17:43:37 No.40685150 Report

Anonymous Tue 08 Jul 2025 17:48:08 No.40685184 Report
>>40609030

This greentext story in particular always stuck with me. So fucking bizarre and disturbing.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Anon is a Sailor.jpg, 3MiB, 1340x8302

The image is a vertical list of text, predominantly in a dark green color, with some text in a lighter green color. The text is arranged in a grid format, with each line containing a list of items. The items are numbered and are likely to be related to a topic or subject. The style of the image is informational and appears to be a screenshot from a document or a webpage. There is a watermark or logo at the bottom of the image, but the specific details of the logo are not clearly visible. The image is set against a dark background, which contrasts with the green text, making the list stand out.

Anonymous Tue 08 Jul 2025 22:25:46 No.40686526 Report

Anonymous Tue 08 Jul 2025 22:37:04 No.40686557 Report
Quoted By: >>40689893
>>40609030

>he's le car guy but doesn't immediately recognize some fucking play doh mobile >automatically assumes the sky is lit up is because of a meteor he didn't see >the alien guy sanics to the door (which he closed just in time!) like some

View Same0CRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace 1651352255630.png, 812KiB, 1280x2630

View Same0CRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace amazon.png, 570KiB, 1200x826

>>40686557

Fair

>>40605352

The image is a screenshot of a Reddit post, specifically a section of a discussion about a school student's experience. The post is titled "It's start" and is dated 12/15/15. The author of the post is identified as "Anonymous," and the post is tagged with

[illegible]

>>40587967

The image is a screenshot of a text document with a dark background and a black border. The text is in a language that appears to be English, and it is written in a mix of uppercase and lowercase letters. The document is divided into two columns, with the left column containing a list of text items and the right column containing a series of images. The images are of a cartoonish style, featuring characters with white faces and black clothing. The text is dense and includes references to various sources, such as "The Dark Knight Rises" and "The Matrix." The style of the image is reminiscent of a comic book or graphic novel, with a focus on visual storytelling.

The image is a collage of four separate thumbnail images, each with a different text overlay and a timestamp. The text is in a combination of green and white colors. The first image on the top left shows a blurred face with a black background, and the text reads "They Followed ME HOME". The second image on the top right shows a similar blurred face with a white background, and the text reads "IT WERE THEIR SKIN". The third image in the middle left shows a black and white image of a face with a white background, and the text reads "HE ISN'T WHAT HE SEEMS". The fourth image on the bottom right shows a black and white image of a face with a red background, and the text reads "HE OFFERED ME RICHES". The timestamps are "13:17" and "10:38". The overall style of the image is eerie and ominous, with a focus on the faces and the text, suggesting a horror or suspense theme.

Anonymous Wed 09 Jul 2025 22:27:57 No.40693135 Report

Quoted By: >>40693301 >>40694224 >>40694313 >>40696655 >>40701818

I recently started a channel where I narrate Greentext stories with music and sound effects for a more 'theatric' feel

<https://youtu.be/3YF6oaW4B0c?si=GTGw5QWhuU6YsjjK>

Does anyone have something particular they'd like narrated?

Anonymous Wed 09 Jul 2025 22:58:28 No.40693301 Report

>>40693135

pretty good, anon. Keep making them

Anonymous Thu 10 Jul 2025 03:22:47 No.40694224 Report

>>40693135

Cozy, I like this

Anonymous Thu 10 Jul 2025 04:00:03 No.40694313 Report

Quoted By: >>40694568 >>40694737

>>40693135

Fucking parasite

Anonymous Thu 10 Jul 2025 05:41:18 No.40694568 Report

Quoted By: >>40694577

>>40694313

I worked on the last video for about 6 hours adding sound effects and visual elements

The recording of me reading it is also a lot effort since you have to enunciate things more than you're used to and rerecord things constantly. 15min of audio can take an hour.

If I was a parasite, I'd just copy the story into a text to speech generator like a lot of channels do, and call it a day

Anonymous Thu 10 Jul 2025 05:43:40 No.40694577 Report

>>40694568

An hour minimum

Anonymous Thu 10 Jul 2025 06:23:57 No.40694737 Report

Quoted By: >>40695762

>>40694313

Trust me, these are labors of love

If I was a parasite, I would just dump these into text to speeches and call it a day like some other channels do.

I built a soundbooth out of air mattresses and spent 6 hours adding sound effects and visual stuff to my last video alone.

I'm still new to it but it's fun making them

Anonymous Thu 10 Jul 2025 10:32:48 No.40695762 Report

>>40694737

Don't listen to the haters. Your voice is one worth 1 million subscribers.

Subbed

View SameOCRGoogleIqdbSauceNAOTrace A Light in the Window.png, 126KiB, 1884x545
The image displays a text document with a dark blue background and white text.

The document appears to be a discussion or a debate, as indicated by the use of the word "debate" in the header. The text is written in a casual, conversational style, with some paragraphs having a more formal tone. The document is divided into two main sections, each with a heading and a paragraph.

The first section, labeled "PROPOSAL 1," begins with a statement that reads, "I propose that we do this." The second section, labeled "PROPOSAL 2," begins with a statement that reads, "I propose that we do this." The text continues with a series of points and arguments, suggesting a discussion or debate on the topic. The document is formatted with a header and a footer, which is not fully visible in the image. The header includes the date "12/12/2019" and the time "10:00 PM," indicating the date and time of the discussion or debate. The footer includes the text "END OF PROPOSAL 1" and "END OF PROPOSAL 2," suggesting the end of the two proposals.

The image does not provide any additional context or visual elements beyond the text itself. The style of the image is a screenshot from a digital document, likely taken from a digital communication platform or a similar medium. The document is not a traditional printed page but rather a digital representation of a written text.

Anonymous Thu 10 Jul 2025 13:09:42 No.40696549 Report

Anonymous Thu 10 Jul 2025 13:32:53 No.40696655 Report

Quoted By: >>40697619

>>40693135

i like your voice and how you narrate, gave you a sub and look forward to more :)

Anonymous Thu 10 Jul 2025 16:34:16 No.40697619 Report

>>40696655

Thanks! I'm gonna get to recording another

Anonymous Thu 10 Jul 2025 19:07:29 No.40698375 Report

Quoted By: >>40699763

Not really scary but does anyone has the gay vampire greentext? Always gives me a laugh

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Bob the Builder.jpg, 2MiB, 1551x2398

Anonymous Thu 10 Jul 2025 21:37:01 No.40699149 Report

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Anon meets a Vampire.jpg, 522KiB, 1056x1438

Anonymous Thu 10 Jul 2025 23:58:22 No.40699763 Report

>>40698375

i got u /x/anon

Anonymous Fri 11 Jul 2025 00:04:01 No.40699789 Report

>>40587967

This story is bullshit because I know exactly the Ingles he's talking about and they're in a dry county.

Used to piss me off until I saw a freaking BILLBOARD that said "Stoves are for cooking, not teaching lessons" and realized how bad the domestic violence/child abuse scene must be up there. We have GOT to keep those yokels off booze.

Anonymous Fri 11 Jul 2025 02:19:16 No.40700210 Report

>>40613800

The last story regarding two Americans getting chased up a tree might a variant of an Aswang named Taghoy, so-called because it echoes what it last heard from people it stalks. There are variants of it, with one story saying that you can find it through it's voice; ie if it sounds like it's near you, it means it's far, while if it sounds like it's far from you, it's nearby. Also, due to modernization, it's been sort of meme'd here that them Aswangs are living in the city, and they are getting desperate and targeting everything, not just pregnant women and children.

Anonymous Fri 11 Jul 2025 11:06:26 No.40701818 Report

>>40693135

As a cuck once said,

>Hey, it's pretty good

keep at it my boy.

FoolFuuka Imageboard 2.2.0 - Asagi FetcherChange Theme Transparency - FAQ - Credits & Links - 4plebs on X - LegalArchives: [adv / f / hr / o / pol / s4s / sp / tg / trv / tv / x]

/x/ - Paranormal

4chan

Index

Gallery

Random

Stats

Search or insert post number

[112 / 22]

860KiB, 1311x751, esoterica.png

View Same OCR Google iqdb SauceNAO Trace

/x/ YouTubers General Anonymous Fri 06 Jun 2025 20:33:18 No.40483634

ViewReplyOriginalReport

Quoted By: >>40483659 >>40484032 >>40484592 >>40485258 >>40489748 >>40493349
>>40493484 >>40495777 >>40498440 >>40498997 >>40500870 >>40500878 >>40501458
>>40501767 >>40501861 >>40509353 >>40509895 >>40517091 >>40525758 >>40525894
>>40528647 >>40529988 >>40530011 >>40530065 >>40531292

Post your favorites. I'll start:

ESOTERICA THE CHAD KING OF /x/

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace BEN.png, 769KiB, 636x850

The image is a black and white portrait of a woman. She has long, straight hair that falls past her shoulders, and her eyes are looking directly at the viewer. Her expression is neutral, and she has a slight smile. The woman is wearing a light-colored garment, possibly a blouse or a dress, with a visible collar. The background is plain and does not provide any additional context or details. There are no texts or discernible brands visible in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of vintage or classic photography, with a focus on the subject's features and the simplicity of the composition.

Anonymous Fri 06 Jun 2025 20:37:10 No.40483659 Report

Quoted By: >>40483853 >>40485285 >>40493301 >>40501809 >>40503456 >>40503809
>>40505783 >>40519028 >>40531668
>>40483634

<https://www.youtube.com/@1one1one113/videos>

<https://www.youtube.com/@anthropicprinciple/videos>

<https://www.youtube.com/@healingaug5991/videos>

<https://www.youtube.com/@YellowRoseforTexas/videos>

These are the only ones I can think of right now that actually deal with topics that everyone else is blind to. Justin Sledge is a scam artist and starting this thread with him is just sad.

Anonymous Fri 06 Jun 2025 21:06:20 No.40483853 Report

>>40483659

A fellow intellectual

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace IMG_6076.jpg, 28KiB, 500x500

The image is a digital graphic with a predominantly red and black color scheme. At the top of the image, there is a text in white font that reads "Academic Knowledge" in a stylized font that resembles Gothic or medieval script. Below this, in a smaller white font, the text "Dr. Angela Puca, PhD" is written. The background of the image is a solid red color, which contrasts with the black and white elements of the graphic.

In the center of the image, there is a woman with long black hair styled in a ponytail. She has dark makeup, including black lipstick and eyeshadow, and is wearing a black top with a pattern that includes red and black elements. The woman is holding a book with her right hand, and her left hand is resting on her hip. She is looking directly at the viewer with a neutral expression.

The overall style of the image is dramatic and appears to be a promotional or artistic representation, possibly for a podcast or a similar media content. The text and the woman's pose suggest a theme related to academic knowledge or a scholarly discussion.

Anonymous Fri 06 Jun 2025 21:10:24 No.40483887 Report

Quoted By: >>40484042 >>40509353

MY wife

Anonymous Fri 06 Jun 2025 21:34:19 No.40484032 Report

>>40483634

Fuck off Justin

Anonymous Fri 06 Jun 2025 21:35:26 No.40484042 Report

Quoted By: >>40500494

>>40483887

Is she on a Diddy list like duat darling

Anonymous Fri 06 Jun 2025 21:37:19 No.40484055 Report

Quoted By: >>40484099 >>40484116 >>40501262

whats this boards opinion on Galahad Eridanus

Anonymous Fri 06 Jun 2025 21:43:03 No.40484099 Report

Quoted By: >>40484116 >>40505783

>>40484055

He's based and Blue Eisenhower November pilled
Anonymous Fri 06 Jun 2025 21:44:39 No.40484116 Report
Quoted By: >>40484326

>>40484055

>>40484099

double dubs

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace images (33).jpg, 7KiB, 194x259

The image is a black and white portrait of a man with a serious expression. The man has a bald head and is wearing a black shirt. His eyes are wide open, and his eyebrows are slightly furrowed. The background is plain and light-colored, which contrasts with the dark clothing of the man. There are no visible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the subject's facial features and expression.

Anonymous Fri 06 Jun 2025 22:11:04 No.40484326 Report

>>40484116

Watch this

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 170913.alfabetajuega-dross.jpg, 50KiB, 600x337

The image is a still from a video, featuring a person with long hair wearing a leopard print hat and sunglasses. The person is smiling and looking directly at the camera. Behind them, there is a colorful mural with various stylized faces and text, including the word "LOVE" in a large, bold font. The person's attire and the mural suggest a casual, possibly rock or punk-inspired aesthetic. The image is in color and has a dynamic composition, with the person in the foreground and the mural in the background.

Anonymous Fri 06 Jun 2025 22:36:27 No.40484500 Report

DrossRotzank. Watch it, I know you would like it

Anonymous Fri 06 Jun 2025 22:52:15 No.40484592 Report

>>40483634

>The Open Resourcery

<https://youtube.com/@openresourcery>

Anonymous Sat 07 Jun 2025 01:18:08 No.40485258 Report

Quoted By: >>40485285

>>40483634

Fuck this, glowie groomer

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace die_graal.png, 2MiB, 1024x1536

The image is a digital painting with a dark, moody atmosphere. In the center, a figure is standing on a staircase, facing a glowing light source that appears to be a candle or a similar source of light. The figure is holding a torch in one hand and a staff in the other, suggesting a sense of authority or a ritualistic or magical context. The figure's face is not visible, and the lighting casts a dramatic shadow on the figure's back. The background is dark, with a textured appearance that could be a wall or a stone surface. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of fantasy or supernatural themes.

Anonymous Sat 07 Jun 2025 01:26:23 No.40485285 Report

Quoted By: >>40493488

>>40483659

How is he a scam artist?

>>40485258

I've read about his background regarding that event. It's fucked up. Is there any more info about that that I can read?

Anonymous Sat 07 Jun 2025 10:32:41 No.40487262 Report

Bump

Anonymous Sat 07 Jun 2025 12:28:03 No.40488014 Report

Quoted By: >>40488482 >>40493085

Is he <our jew>?

He's a good scholar and historian imo. I haven't gotten any vibes of him steering what the audience should believe. The prison planet folks that fancy themselves gnostics and think archons hide in every shadow would benefit from his talks on the subject.

Anonymous Sat 07 Jun 2025 13:10:49 No.40488285 Report

https://youtu.be/SQ7Y80A52H8?si=nV0b-aDXcoCw-Y_s

Anonymous Sat 07 Jun 2025 13:41:15 No.40488482 Report

Quoted By: >>40488683 >>40489102 >>40508796

>>40488014

No, he's a poor scholar and gives bad and often times wrong information. His show is entirely surface level knowledge you can get from wikipedia or chatgpt. You have to wonder how much is explained by him being a simpleton, or more likely being a subversive jew. Either way you're better off dead than watching jewterica.

Anonymous Sat 07 Jun 2025 14:05:09 No.40488683 Report

>>40488482

Care to give an example?

Anonymous Sat 07 Jun 2025 14:59:03 No.40489102 Report

>>40488482

I think you're right about the Chatgpt thing.

But I remember in his Moloch video, he says that the pop density of canaanite ritual burial mounds correlate with jewish influence.

That seems like the last thing a jew would say, no?

Wish he'd BUY AN AD though

Anonymous Sat 07 Jun 2025 17:06:26 No.40489748 Report

Quoted By: >>40491841

>>40483634

For God's sake buy an add, Justin.

Anonymous Sat 07 Jun 2025 23:11:11 No.40491841 Report

Quoted By: >>40493175

>>40489748

He's to major to shill on here.

Anonymous Sun 08 Jun 2025 06:05:53 No.40493085 Report

>>40488014

>I haven't gotten any vibes of him steering what the audience should believe. so you havent watched any of his videos or are susceptible to light steering of conversations

Anonymous Sun 08 Jun 2025 06:54:27 No.40493175 Report

>>40491841

hes been doing it for years

Anonymous Sun 08 Jun 2025 07:50:38 No.40493301 Report

>>40483659

these people are sad. all with blocked upper nasal passages

Anonymous Sun 08 Jun 2025 08:08:34 No.40493349 Report

>>40483634

hes a kike

Anonymous Sun 08 Jun 2025 08:48:32 No.40493484 Report

>>40483634

<https://www.youtube.com/@TheGrayyman>

Found this guy on the /royjay/ threads and he's pretty funny. only seems to upload like once a year though and only has like 3 videos worth watching, but still...

Why are there so few good /x/tubers and most are AI gen greentext readings, like nigger if you want to do a greentext reading - at least your voice.

Anonymous Sun 08 Jun 2025 08:50:04 No.40493488 Report

>>40485285

He's not, /pol/ hates Jews who aren't 100% in support of Israel.

View SameOCRGoogleIqdbSauceNAOTrace Screenshot 2025-06-08 at 11.32.0 (...).png, 1MiB, 1099x1201

The image displays a screenshot of a YouTube channel named "Case File X". The channel has a dark, mysterious theme with a purple and black color scheme. At the top of the screen, there is a logo with the text "Case File X" in a stylized font. Below the logo, there are three tabs: "Home," "Videos," and "Posts," each with a corresponding icon. The "Home" tab has a blue background with a white "X" in the center. The "Videos" tab has a purple background with a white "V" in the center. The "Posts" tab has a black background with a white "P" in the center. The main content of the screenshot is a list of videos, each with a thumbnail image and a title. The thumbnails are dark with a greenish hue, and the titles are in white text. The titles are as follows:

- "The Case of the Lost Book"

[illegible]

- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"
- "The Tale of the Owl"

Anonymous Sun 08 Jun 2025 10:35:00 No.40493913 Report

Quoted By: >>40493920 >>40500278 >>40502144 >>40505553

Been looking at this channel since anons started sharing it, saying it was shadowbanned:

> <https://www.youtube.com/@TheCaseFileX/videos>

Yeah, definitely shadowbanned, though it's not clear why. Like people were saying "Yeah he exposes the elite and the occult" but there's a lot of videos on youtube that do that that get promoted. That moon landing video probably didn't do any favors, but why shadowban a video about the Salem Witch Trials. Fuck youtube, hiding the highest quality and best researched videos while pushing complete low effort slop.

Anonymous Sun 08 Jun 2025 10:37:11 No.40493920 Report

Quoted By: >>40495727

>>40493913

Is the format they truly struggle with 6 hour long videos packed with overlapping sound channels and hd video

Reduce your bitrate blueprint

Anonymous Sun 08 Jun 2025 16:34:18 No.40495727 Report

>>40493920

Mr Beast seems to do fine.

View SameOCRGoogleIqdbSauceNA0Trace 1726816504612088.jpg, 292KiB, 2747x1471

The image is a digital graphic with a collage-like composition. On the left side, there is a circular emblem with a star and a serpent intertwined, set against a black background. The emblem is bordered by a decorative pattern that includes a floral design. On the right side, there is a large, stylized illustration of a snake coiled around a star, also set against a black background. The snake appears to be coiled around the star, and the star is positioned at the center of the snake's body.

Overlaying the image is a text in a serif font that reads "Reincarnation the Secret Meaning." The text is in a lighter color, contrasting with the darker background of the emblem and the snake illustration. The text is arranged in two lines, with the first line in a larger font size and the second line in a smaller font size. The text is centered within the image, and the overall style of the image suggests a focus on the concept of reincarnation.

Anonymous Sun 08 Jun 2025 16:43:54 No.40495777 Report

Quoted By: >>40498593 >>40500870 >>40501284

>>40483634

<https://www.youtube.com/@lyamchristopher2393/videos>

While his videos are great, they are only from a literary point of view.

Lyam Thomas Christopher

The (only?) YouTuber who explains the Mysteries as they are from an Adepts point of view.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lwFNx1JJ-SE&t=2s>

Anonymous Sun 08 Jun 2025 18:15:28 No.40496217 Report

Quoted By: >>40497870

You have been posting this same thread for the past two years.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace b7t8993ptwp91.jpg, 105KiB, 640x1042

The image is a screenshot of a Twitter post. The post is from a user named "CLR Brian F" and it appears to be a response to a video posted by "CLGFC" on Twitter. The post is in a tweet format with a header that reads "CLR Brian F" and a tweet body that reads: "I was trying to explain a bit about vtubbing to my parents after they saw @Romarolla in the @CLGFC videos we've done, and my dad said 'Oh that's just like the Tool Bear!'". The tweet includes a link to a video titled "The Bear of Tools" and a logo of a bear with a wrench. The tweet also mentions a user named "CLR Brian F" and has a timestamp of 1:58 AM on September 23, 2020. The tweet has a total of 6,077 likes and 86 retweets. The background of the tweet is a wooden texture, and there is a bear character in the tweet's header.

Anonymous Sun 08 Jun 2025 21:54:44 No.40497359 Report

How does the Den of Tools find out about all of those Harbor Freight deals and future sales? He always references his "sources" but who are they really?

Anonymous Sun 08 Jun 2025 23:33:53 No.40497870 Report

Quoted By: >>40517163

>>40496217

We like it.

Also, Chass Jr shits all over Esoterica (school shooter cultist) and even the original Chass, but not Why Files, but yes Wendigoon (cute)

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Screenshot(2492).png, 188KiB, 286x314

The image is a close-up portrait of a man with a beard and a goatee. He is wearing a gray coat and a blue necktie. The man has a serious expression and is looking directly at the camera. The background is blurred, but it appears to be an indoor setting with warm lighting, possibly a restaurant or a cafe. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is realistic, and it seems to be taken in a professional setting, possibly for a business or personal portrait.

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 01:47:19 No.40498440 Report

Quoted By: >>40498997 >>40500451 >>40502162 >>40503816 >>40506929 >>40511078

>>40516901 >>40531005

>>40483634

I can't take the smarm. One time I had a long drawn out argument on Reddit with him about it. I accused him of disrespecting sources because his attitude is always "um.. ha ha.. look how superior we are in the modern world, we laugh at this garbage". I also accused him of gatekeeping the occult with his PHD influencer buddies.

Let us say, he was not impressed. He explained that he was trying to open up the occult to the general public and that is precisely why he got into scholarship. I accepted that.

But I still feel he is smarmy and disrespectful of past civilizations and their beliefs, like he is making fun of how absurd it all is, from some hipster douche perspective.

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 02:31:34 No.40498593 Report

>>40495777

>r who explains the Mysteries as they are from an Adepts point of view.

If you subscribe to the psychological paradigm...

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 05:29:15 No.40498997 Report

Quoted By: >>40500451 >>40500474

>>40483634

I like Justin, I really do, he does great dives into history of the occult. At the same time he is not an occultist.

Those who can, do. Those who can't, teach.

>>40498440

His wife is a rabbi, so, take that as you will.

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 10:35:51 No.40500278 Report

>>40493913

Case X files is one of the best

Mr Mythos too.

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 11:10:03 No.40500451 Report

>>40498440

>>40498997

I don't know why, but I get the impression that he's not being candid about his true beliefs. Probably so he doesn't get inundated with requests from people that want to learn how to practice this stuff.

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 11:14:14 No.40500474 Report

>>40498997

>His wife is a rabbi

makes sense

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 11:19:29 No.40500494 Report

>>40484042

Qrd? Is this real or a meme?

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 12:34:07 No.40500870 Report

>>40483634

painfully boring, actually useful to end "the midnight binge" if you're a zoomer (you will fall asleep)

>>40495777 based

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 12:34:57 No.40500878 Report

>>40483634

>Jew Marxist Satanist atheist

They really are cartoon villains

View SameOCRGoogleiqlqdbSauceNA0Trace IMG_5682.jpg, 1MiB, 1170x1487

The image is a screenshot of a social media profile page for a person named Michelle Gibson. The profile has a purple background with a logo in the top left corner. The username is "@MichelleleGibson8346" and the profile picture is a purple circle with a white outline. The profile has a number of likes and subscribers, with 80,4K likes and 361 videos. The profile is set to "view channel" and "Subscribe...".

The main content of the page is a video titled "North America's Great Lakes - Part 1: Lake Superior". The video is a 1:57:38 long video, and it is the first part of a series. The video is displayed in a landscape orientation and has a map overlay with the title "North America's Great Lakes - Part 1: Lake Superior" in the center. The map shows the Great Lakes region with various lakes and bodies of water.

Below the video, there are two other videos titled "North America's Great Lakes - Part 2: Lake Huron" and "North America's Great Lakes - Part 3: Lake Michigan". These videos are also displayed in landscape orientation and have a similar layout to the first video.

The overall style of the image is informational and promotional, designed to showcase the content of the profile and the number of views and subscribers. The use of a map overlay and the title of the video suggest that the profile is likely related to geography or environmental studies.

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 13:33:23 No.40501089 Report

Quoted By: >>40519992

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1729040171261594.png, 217KiB, 311x533

The image is a stylized cartoon illustration featuring a man with a halo above his head, standing on a table with a television set and a soda can. The man is wearing a white t-shirt with a graphic of a person holding a microphone, and a baseball cap. He is holding a black cord above his head. The table has a computer keyboard and a computer monitor. The background is a bright yellow sky with scattered clouds. At the bottom of the image, there is text that reads "THE MAGICIAN." The style of the image is reminiscent of a comic book or graphic novel illustration, with a cartoonish and exaggerated depiction of the man and his surroundings.

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 14:14:26 No.40501262 Report

Quoted By: >>40503390 >>40525538

<https://youtube.com/@LibraryoftheUntold>

I really dig this guy. I started with his video on Ringmakers and still watch him from time to time.

>>40484055

Can't argue with dubs, but seeing him get interviewed in a podcast made me lower my opinion of him. He also has a lot of faith in tech as an identity, which is always a red flag for these types. His production value is top notch though. It makes his flippant approach much more bearable even if he is cryptic for its own sake.

Honestly, he wishes he could be a Cliff High kinda guy (who is also a huge recommend but on substack).

>hello humans

>shlurp

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 14:19:52 No.40501280 Report

Library of the untold is one of the best. He's got it.

I put sledge on when I can't sleep. He always luls me to sleep with his calm tone. Intelligent but also mind numbingly boring.

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 14:20:12 No.40501284 Report

>>40495777

I watched some of his content

It's cool but it seems as if he gives no actionable ideas

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 14:43:37 No.40501376 Report

Quoted By: >>40501446 >>40501634 >>40505553

Case File X just dropped a new video https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9GwPmD_0PqQ

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 14:59:52 No.40501446 Report

>>40501376

Beat me to it

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 15:01:33 No.40501458 Report

Quoted By: >>40501853

>>40483634

Kylie Elia

She is just a human, but she understands the flux of humanity in this Universe. She's also cute by some standards, meh, give her some traffic, she needs inspiration to produce.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 20240717_104455.jpg, 32KiB, 267x360

The image shows a gray concrete post with a graffiti mural on it. The mural features a black and white illustration of a man's face, with a speech bubble that reads "TOLD YA" in bold, capitalized letters. Below the speech bubble, there is a smaller speech bubble with the word "ZAP" in it. The man's face is depicted with a serious expression, and he is wearing a suit and tie. The background of the mural includes various graffiti tags and markings, including the word "ZAP" and the word "KILL" in a stylized font. The style of the image is urban and street art, with a focus on the graffiti elements. The overall atmosphere of the image is gritty and urban.

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 15:38:19 No.40501634 Report

>>40501376

beat me to it

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 16:08:09 No.40501767 Report

>>40483634

Bob gymlan

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 16:18:10 No.40501809 Report

>>40483659

First ones unironically the name of a porn artist

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 16:26:53 No.40501853 Report

>>40501458

You're going to need to provide more than some basic bitch's name

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 16:29:27 No.40501861 Report

>>40483634

This guy and his electric universe theory

https://youtu.be/oophJNlP-fk?si=NnW6i39Gk64adM_C

Spooky stuff

<https://youtu.be/lAsPe63vWEY?si=d9sq70jOM1UXqYuE>

Thomas Sheridan, irish paranormal detective

<https://youtu.be/aaIznkm8jjY?si=w1wvnJwyf58DGoBo>

<https://youtu.be/03gEXqLv5g?si=1N86PDVmsBGp8fCV>

Jason Jorjani

<https://youtu.be/w94ny-EfBVs?si=wgm8h5F8AMwqcqFq>

I recomend DONT watch all of these in a single evening. Too much truth too fast can melt your mind.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace IMG_5506.jpg, 77KiB, 500x476

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 17:46:39 No.40502144 Report

>>40493913

Yeah ive noticed the same thing on X which is supposedly very "free", my account has been nuked over "antisemetic tweets" and I look at accounts that have 1M followers and the stuff they tweet which gets 2M RTs and im like "hmmmmmm"

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace IMG_5096.jpg, 983KiB, 1170x1142

The image is a still from a video, capturing a person standing in the foreground. The individual is wearing a white t-shirt with the word "JEW" written in blue marker across the chest. They are also wearing a plaid shirt with a red and black checkered pattern, and a red and black plaid skirt. The person has short hair and is wearing glasses. They are standing on a paved area with a chalk outline of the word "JEW" visible in the background. In the background, there is a crowd of people, some of whom are seated on the ground. The setting appears to be an outdoor public space, possibly a park or plaza, with trees and a building visible in the distance. The lighting suggests it is daytime. The person in the foreground is the main focus of the image, with the crowd and the chalk outline serving as a backdrop. The overall style of the image is candid and appears to be taken during a public event or gathering.

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 17:50:23 No.40502162 Report

>>40498440

For some reason this guy doesn't pass the vibe check

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 21:20:53 No.40503390 Report

Quoted By: >>40505553

>>40501262

Watching ringmaker now. Pretty compelling.

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 21:30:33 No.40503456 Report

Quoted By: >>40504913

>>40483659

><https://www.youtube.com/@anthropicprinciple/videos>

Blue Eisenhower November /x/

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 22:00:28 No.40503634 Report

New Jaymez video on ThatIsImpossible

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 22:37:23 No.40503809 Report

Quoted By: >>40521676

>>40483659

Second one reminds me of shuteye demon: https://youtu.be/-tZcTrudAJ0?si=lWY5xHcM8k6TM7w_

Also thirdeyetyrone: <https://youtu.be/3hWFOEUL36U?si=b0nnh6AX34kzpMX2>

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 22:38:45 No.40503816 Report

>>40498440

We should also be making fun of how retarded and absurd modern beliefs are as well.

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 23:20:10 No.40503977 Report

Quoted By: >>40503985

Does anyone remember or have that channel that talked about morgellons and a thing film of fungus that was used like an antennae for v2k?

Anonymous Mon 09 Jun 2025 23:21:57 No.40503985 Report

>>40503977

Nvm I found it, lookoutfacharlie: https://youtube.com/@lookoutfacharlie?si=4xEPO_PHa1a_kdhl

Anonymous Tue 10 Jun 2025 04:37:44 No.40504913 Report

>>40503456

>Blue Eisenhower November /x/

Yuck

Anonymous Tue 10 Jun 2025 08:28:09 No.40505553 Report

>>40503390

The amount of knowledge this guy is brain dumping is impressive. He's kind of dry, monotone, and boring, but the information and effort is undeniable.

>>40501376

>>40493913

This was cool too. Much more accessible and entertaining while being equally loaded with deep info. It's good to see people putting in the effort these two have.

Anonymous Tue 10 Jun 2025 09:40:18 No.40505783 Report

Quoted By: >>40516361

>>40484099

>>40483659

BEN seems to be a lot bigger than it seems. The Nobody is still contained to 4channel mostly but people are really asking about BEN in normie spaces.

...it makes me CONCERNed that the reset is happening VERY soon and we will experience the interesting times and then probably a reset again.

>You will awaken earlier and earlier in life each reset. they will not win.

Anonymous Tue 10 Jun 2025 10:34:53 No.40506088 Report

Truth is kinoer than fiction

<https://www.youtube.com/c/Truthisscariierthanfiction/videos>

Anonymous Tue 10 Jun 2025 13:10:48 No.40506929 Report

Quoted By: >>40516786

>>40498440

this guy is a fucking shill, the entire purpose of his channel is just to redirect people that are interested in occultism to viewing it as a hokey pokey hand waving and nonsensical beliefs that we've past hundreds of years ago. He takes this scholarly scientism reductionist redditor approach and people will immediately see it from his lens because hes got a big view count.

hes just fucking boring to listen to, never really expands your imagination on how previous esoteric thinkers viewed things. he just boils it down to a modern paradigm and regurgitates it back to you.

Anonymous Tue 10 Jun 2025 19:38:34 No.40508796 Report

>>40488482

Literally the opposite is true, you've never watched him.

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace IMG_4594.jpg, 34KiB, 561x440

The image is a digital illustration featuring a character that resembles a fantasy or mythical being. The character has a long white beard, a pointed hat with a pointed top, and a green face with large, round eyes and a frown. The character is holding a pipe in its right hand, which is resting on its hip. The character's attire consists of a dark robe with a hood that covers the upper body, and the lower part of the robe is visible. The background is a solid light blue color, providing a contrast to the character's dark attire. The image does not contain any text. The style of the illustration is cartoonish, with a focus on the character's facial expression and the details of its clothing.

Anonymous Tue 10 Jun 2025 21:59:51 No.40509353 Report

Quoted By: >>40509728 >>40514634

>>40483634

I'm not listening to this guy and it's for exactly the reasons you think.

>>40483887

I'm not listening to a woman either.

Anonymous Tue 10 Jun 2025 23:04:46 No.40509728 Report

>>40509353

These kind of mental heuristics are super efficient and effective. Stay wise, friend.

Anonymous Tue 10 Jun 2025 23:18:49 No.40509818 Report

Quoted By: >>40509831 >>40514629

For me it's this Chad

<https://youtube.com/@interestingbooksreviewed?si=-lcsJNVc68w8bJo7>

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace IMG_3923.jpg, 2MiB, 2246x1284

The image is a still from a video, showing a man with a beard and a light blue shirt, seated at a wooden bookshelf. He is holding a book titled "In the Name of Racist Man, Israel" by Jack Kevorkian. The man appears to be in a library or study environment, as indicated by the bookshelves filled with books in the background. The lighting in the room is soft, and the man's expression is one of surprise or shock. The style of the image is candid and appears to be a still from a video, possibly a documentary or a talk show, given the context of the book and the setting.

Anonymous Tue 10 Jun 2025 23:20:54 No.40509831 Report

>>40509818

Forgot pic

Anonymous Tue 10 Jun 2025 23:40:18 No.40509895 Report

>>40483634

Hello Justin Sledge, you freakin' useless wretch of a post

Anonymous Wed 11 Jun 2025 07:11:59 No.40511078 Report

>>40498440

>He explained that he was trying to open up the occult to the general public He wanted to make the esoteric become exoteric... He either fed you a line of bullcrap (very likely) or he severely misunderstands what he reads and spits back out. There's a lot of people that can gather knowledge like sponges and never grok it, apply it, live it, exude it, etc.

Anonymous Wed 11 Jun 2025 10:57:51 No.40512016 Report

Quoted By: >>40514217

Plugging that faggot again. I man it's ok you want x themed YouTubers, but the same picture every time.

Anonymous Wed 11 Jun 2025 18:44:14 No.40514217 Report

Quoted By: >>40515688

>>40512016

He's the unanimously agreed upon wannabe-jewish chad-king of /x/

Anonymous Wed 11 Jun 2025 20:03:26 No.40514629 Report

>>40509818

Yep that guy is on the pulse about so many things, I know he knows about the JQ and pretty much everything but just plays it coy.

Anonymous Wed 11 Jun 2025 20:04:27 No.40514634 Report

>>40509353

These are of course the correct answers.

Anonymous Wed 11 Jun 2025 23:00:10 No.40515688 Report

>>40514217

>He's the unanimously agreed upon wannabe-jewish chad-king of /x/

No, I think one person keeps making these posts and you have homo-erotic feelings for him. It's ok.

Anonymous Thu 12 Jun 2025 01:02:31 No.40516361 Report

>>40505783

What normie spaces are you hearing BEN talked about in?

kek

Anonymous Thu 12 Jun 2025 02:16:31 No.40516552 Report

Threesome with Daat Darling and Angela Puca

Anonymous Thu 12 Jun 2025 04:20:38 No.40516786 Report

Quoted By: >>40525476

>>40506929

Yeah for me its the sniggering and laughing at sources.

>"the text says to wear a leapord skin during the ritual."

>pauses

>gives look at camera

>smirks

>"uh.... cuz leopard skins are fashionable"

>"not so easy to come by these days"

>"I wonder if you can use a leopard skin uderwear" >looks at camera again

>"soooo anywayyy"

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1739065524537521.jpg, 28KiB, 720x421

The image is a digital illustration featuring two characters, one large and one small, set against a brick wall background. The large character is a green frog with a blue shirt and a brown hat, and it appears to be in a defensive or angry stance, with its arms raised and a frown on its face. The small character is a green frog with a black hat and a white shirt, and it is looking up at the large frog with a surprised expression. The large frog is holding a pair of long, curved objects that resemble a pair of scissors, and the small frog is peeking out from behind a brick wall, looking up at the large frog with a similar surprised expression. The style of the image is cartoonish and expressive, with a focus on the characters' expressions and the interaction between them. There are no texts present in the image.

Anonymous Thu 12 Jun 2025 05:31:24 No.40516901 Report

>>40498440

>Something is off about this guy and I just can't point to it

It's always them

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace sleddge_library.jpg, 83KiB, 639x578

The image shows a room with a wooden chair positioned in front of a bookshelf. The chair has a wooden backrest and seat, and it is facing the camera. On the left side of the chair, there is a black camera mounted on a tripod, with a black bag attached to the camera. The camera is angled towards the chair, suggesting it is being used for a video recording.

The bookshelf is filled with various items, including books, decorative objects, and a few figurines. The books are arranged in a somewhat disorganized manner, with some standing upright and others lying flat. The decorative objects include a small statue, a figurine, and a few other items that are not clearly distinguishable. The figurines are placed on the bookshelf, and the statue is situated on a shelf to the right of the chair.

The room has a warm, wooden finish, and the flooring appears to be made of hardwood. The lighting in the room is soft, and the overall atmosphere suggests a personal space, possibly a home office or a study. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is a straightforward, non-stylized photograph, capturing a moment in a room with a focus on the chair and the camera.

Anonymous Thu 12 Jun 2025 06:51:14 No.40517091 Report

Quoted By: >>40518189

>>40483634

I think this image sums him up quite well.

Anonymous Thu 12 Jun 2025 07:23:03 No.40517163 Report

>>40497870

I'm guessing we can expect another dogshit chass jr upload soon covering a thread that 10 other youtubers have already read. you always start shitting on chass anytime you're about to return. do us all a favour and don't bother

Anonymous Thu 12 Jun 2025 11:48:19 No.40518189 Report

>>40517091

this is why you never share behind the scenes footage if you want to be an authority, especially if it's this retarded.

Anonymous Thu 12 Jun 2025 14:31:44 No.40519028 Report

>>40483659

><https://www.youtube.com/@anthropicprinciple/videos>

This is the only one of these I have heard of. Subscribing to the other ones now.

Anonymous Thu 12 Jun 2025 15:34:54 No.40519255 Report

xanons whats our verdict on jay arae essex? i tried to watch some of his vids but its one incoherent garbled mess. jumping from one subject to another and so one in a span of mere seconds. did the glowniggers done him dirty?

Anonymous Thu 12 Jun 2025 18:13:22 No.40519992 Report

Quoted By: >>40524081

>>40501089

>America and Scotland were originally full of North Africans because place names have "moor" in them.

Typical midwestern white woman too dumb to realize that she's hurting the thing she thinks she's helping.

Anonymous Thu 12 Jun 2025 23:33:14 No.40521676 Report

>>40503809

I do not see the similarity

Anonymous Fri 13 Jun 2025 09:25:24 No.40524081 Report

>>40519992

People make free wheeling connections and think they discovered something nobody ever noticed(aka schizo)

Anonymous Fri 13 Jun 2025 13:52:19 No.40525476 Report

>>40516786

I've been trying to sus out what's wrong with Sledge as I don't dislike his content and he elaborates on stuff I'm already somewhat familiar with. But a high sub number always raises my eyebrow and of course his tribal association. As you pointed out, as scholarly as he tries to portray himself he just can't restrain the juvenile sexual innuendos. What's even more creepy is that the algo has found us and that we're here talking about him.

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace greer chad.jpg, 34KiB, 487x590

The image is a close-up photograph of a man with a serious expression. He has a beard and is wearing sunglasses, which cover his eyes. His skin is tanned, and he has a tattoo on his left arm. The tattoo is a stylized design with a swirl and a small letter "A" in the center. The man is shirtless, revealing his muscular arms and chest. In the background, there is a partial view of a woman, whose face is not visible. The lighting in the image is soft, with a warm tone, and the focus is on the man's face and upper body. There are no visible texts or logos in the image. The style of the photograph is realistic, with a shallow depth of field that emphasizes the man's face and the tattoo.

Anonymous Fri 13 Jun 2025 14:06:33 No.40525538 Report

>>40501262

I got hooked on his channel with a video about sentient plasmoids. I never talked bout it later still cant believe this shit. Is it real? Does plasmas are really sentient?

Anonymous Fri 13 Jun 2025 14:48:24 No.40525758 Report

>>40483634

HE IS A FUCKING JEW

My favorite one is Joseph T

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace ur_a_faget.jpg, 36KiB, 500x500

The image is a simple, cartoon-style illustration of a hand holding a piece of paper with the word "fagex" written on it. The hand appears to be in a relaxed position, with the fingers slightly curled around the paper. The background is plain white, which contrasts with the black outlines of the hand and the paper. The style of the image is informal and cartoonish, with a focus on the text and the hand holding the paper.

Anonymous Fri 13 Jun 2025 15:11:48 No.40525894 Report

>>40483634

>chad king

LOL

Anonymous Fri 13 Jun 2025 15:17:35 No.40525933 Report

Quoted By: >>40527026

I like Justin but calling him "chad king" is a fucking stretch. A "chad king" would be some kind of fucking John Constantine / King Mob super occultist. He's an academic. His interest in the occult is academically oriented and not practical (unlike Angela Puca who seems to be both).

I watch him for an academic perspective and that's it.

Anonymous Fri 13 Jun 2025 19:28:24 No.40527026 Report

Quoted By: >>40528275

>>40525933

Kneel before your king, pleb.

Anonymous Sat 14 Jun 2025 00:06:48 No.40528275 Report

>>40527026

Nice try Justin

Anonymous Sat 14 Jun 2025 01:44:15 No.40528647 Report

Quoted By: >>40529947

>>40483634

Oh hey I just found out about that guy recently!

I started looking up occult, Magick esoteric stuff recently because I want to build a magic system and make the seance, evocations and stuff seem legit. Though, Admittedly I've been getting interested in that stuff as a result.

Anonymous Sat 14 Jun 2025 09:36:56 No.40529947 Report

>>40528647

If you think he's good, you should also check out Chass Jr. who's even better

Anonymous Sat 14 Jun 2025 09:45:34 No.40529988 Report

>>40483634

Sledge really has a knack for taking the most interesting subject and syphoning all the fun out of it

Anonymous Sat 14 Jun 2025 09:52:31 No.40530011 Report

>>40483634

Esoterica is a qabbalist pedophile and only gets toted around here on /x/ because of a psyop started by him and his brain dead cult of personality. He will continue to hide behind the race card to disseminate lies about who he is and distract you away from the accusation. He is of The Evil One and does not know his own religion as true, for he is the Synagogue of Satan, those who say they are news but are not. Roman's 2:28-29

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace youtube for x.png, 454KiB, 930x830

The image is a collage of various social media profiles and content related to Islamic and Arabic culture. At the top, there are two prominent logos: one with a green and white design resembling a crescent moon and a star, and the other with a black and white design that includes a crescent moon and a star. Below these logos, there are several names and profiles listed in Arabic script.

The names and profiles are as follows:

1. "Islamic moon"
2. "blogging theology"
3. "Dr. Zakir Naik"
4. "The legend of history"
5. "The legend of history"
6. "The legend of history"
7. "The legend of history"
8. "The legend of history"
9. "The legend of history"
10. "The legend of history"
11. "The legend of history"
12. "The legend of history"
13. "The legend of history"
14. "The legend of history"
15. "The legend of history"
16. "The legend of history"
17. "The legend of history"
18. "The legend of history"
19. "The legend of history"
20. "The legend of history"

21. "The legend of history"
22. "The legend of history"
23. "The legend of history"
24. "The legend of history"
25. "The legend of history"
26. "The legend of history"
27. "The legend of history"
28. "The legend of history"
29. "The legend of history"
30. "The legend of history"
31. "The legend of history"
32. "The legend of history"
33. "The legend of history"
34. "The legend of history"
35. "The legend of history"
36. "The legend of history"
37. "The legend of history"
38. "The legend of history"
39. "The legend of history"
40. "The legend of history"
41. "The legend of history"
42. "The legend of history"
43. "The legend of history"
44. "The legend of history"
45. "The legend of history"
46. "The legend of history"
47. "The legend of history"
48. "The legend of history"
49. "The legend of history"
50. "The legend of history"
51. "The legend of history"
52. "The legend of history"
53. "The legend of history"
54. "The legend of history"
55. "The legend of history"
56. "The legend of history"
57. "The legend of history"
58. "The legend of history"
59. "The legend of history"
60. "The legend of history"
61. "The legend of history"
62. "The legend of history"
63. "The legend of history"
64. "The legend of history"
65. "The legend of history"
66. "The legend of history"
67. "The legend of history"
68. "The legend of history"
69. "The legend of history"
70. "The legend of history"
71. "The legend of history"
72. "The legend of history"
73. "The legend of history"
74. "The legend of history"
75. "The legend of history"
76. "The legend of history"
77. "The legend of history"
78. "The legend of history"
79. "The legend of history"
80. "The legend of history"
81. "The legend of history"
82. "The legend of history"
83. "The legend of history"
84. "The legend of history"

85. "The legend of history"
86. "The legend of history"
87. "The legend of history"
88. "The legend of history"
89. "The legend of history"
90. "The legend of history"
91. "The legend of history"
92. "The legend of history"
93. "The legend of history"
94. "The legend of history"
95. "

Anonymous Sat 14 Jun 2025 10:05:52 No.40530065 Report
Quoted By: >>40530975
>>40483634

Anonymous Sat 14 Jun 2025 13:53:00 No.40530975 Report
Quoted By: >>40531108
>>40530065

>Islamic preaching and pedo-prophet propaganda to the trash it goes

Anonymous Sat 14 Jun 2025 13:59:28 No.40531005 Report
>>40498440

I never have seem he making fun of any piece of work or philosophy, can you give any example of him doing that ?

Anonymous Sat 14 Jun 2025 14:20:50 No.40531108 Report
>>40530975

It's not even Sufi Islam, mind you.
So even within that it's not mysticism oriented at all.

Anonymous Sat 14 Jun 2025 14:47:14 No.40531292 Report
>>40483634

Jew

Anonymous Sat 14 Jun 2025 16:04:40 No.40531668 Report
Quoted By: >>40533315
>>40483659

How is he a scam artist?

Anonymous Sat 14 Jun 2025 21:04:32 No.40533315 Report
>>40531668

I don't like the guy but people don't know what "scam artist" means any more than they understand what a "pyramid scheme" is. Retards shouldn't use words they don't comprehend.

FoolFuuka Imageboard 2.2.0 - Asagi FetcherChange Theme Transparency - FAQ - Credits & Links - 4plebs on X - LegalArchives: [adv / f / hr / o / pol / s4s / sp / tg / trv / tv / x]
/x/ - Paranormal

4chan

Index

Gallery

Random

Stats

Search or insert post number

[358 / 36]The image depicts a futuristic cityscape under a stormy sky. The city is densely populated with tall buildings, some of which are illuminated with lights, suggesting a nighttime scene. The sky is filled with dark clouds, and the overall atmosphere is dark and ominous.

In the center of the image, there are large, spherical objects that resemble flying saucers. These objects have a greenish hue and are emitting a bright light, which contrasts with the dark sky. The light appears to be emanating from the center of the saucers, creating a spotlight effect.

The city below is shrouded in darkness, with only the outlines of buildings visible. The buildings vary in height and design, but they are uniformly lit, indicating a city that is well-maintained and possibly technologically advanced.

The image does not contain any discernible text or specific human figures. The style of the image is realistic with a focus on the fantastical elements, such as the flying saucers and the cityscape. The overall composition suggests a scene from a science fiction or fantasy narrative.

52KiB, 728x408, alien-invasion-scene-stockcake.jpg

View Same Google iqdb SauceNAO Trace

60% of humanity is going to die next year MJkiller Sun 23 Feb 2025 23:33:47

No.39904464 ViewReplyOriginalReport

Quoted By: >>39904472 >>39904504 >>39904642 >>39904816 >>39904922 >>39905247
>>39905469 >>39905577 >>39905582 >>39905619 >>39905639 >>39905665 >>39905708
>>39905723 >>39905907 >>39906137 >>39906233 >>39906364 >>39906442 >>39906702
>>39906807 >>39906904 >>39907083 >>39907084 >>39907573 >>39907939 >>39908744
>>39908840 >>39909075 >>39909632 >>39909645 >>39910490 >>39910876 >>39913483
>>39914249 >>39915757 >>39916395 >>39917048 >>39919997

new to 4chan but i'll try green posting i'm only doing this to warn ppl of what's coming whether u believe me or not doesn't as long as i get this off my shoulders and not have my conscience guilt trip me in the future for not doing enough

>by july 16 2026 MJ12 will launch a fake alien invasion

>these ''aliens'' are biological android perfected by the mid 70s they have and on and an off switch the secret government calls them PLF's ''programmed life forms''

>they will pilot ARV's ''Alien Reproduction Vehicles'' these are the human back engineered ufos/alien scout crafts

>the will only launch 100s of these ARV's but they will use project blue beam which is run by nasa to make them appear as 100000 of ARV's through the use of holographic tech

>the invasion will last until September of 2027

but 2 months before that the UN will restore communications i.e internet radio and all to announce that WE NEED TO UNITE AS A ONE WORLD GOVERNMENT TO DEFEAT OUR COMMON ENEMY does that ring a bell bois

>during that announcement they will also bring the real aliens out and say that these are the good aliens who r going to help mean while they are the real aliens defeating the fake aliens controlled by MJ12

>the reason this has to happen is that we(by we i mean MJ12 who r the secret rulers of the world) made a contract with ETE1 after Roswell for tech but in exchange we will give them humans for their breeding/hybrid program the number is 25000 from the U.S.A alone let alone other countries >the contract lasted 70 years from 1954 till last year by September and because of that contract the gov(MJ12) couldn't disclose the alien presence for all those years >after the contract ends they planned to release everything to the public that was the original plan but luck wasn't on our(humanity) side unfortunately something would take place

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace b5b-429381742.jpg, 60KiB, 1024x544

The image is a digital illustration with a greenish hue, featuring a cartoon-style character in the foreground. The character appears to be a male with a bald head, wearing a white shirt and a pair of glasses. He is seated at a desk with a computer monitor in front of him. The monitor displays a circular logo with a smiling face and text, which is not fully legible due to the resolution and angle of the image. The character is making a distressed or panicked expression with his hands covering his face, and his eyes are wide open. The overall mood of the image is one of distress or fear.

Anonymous Sun 23 Feb 2025 23:35:25 No.39904472 Report

Quoted By: >>39904677 >>39908164

>>39904464

>namefag

>'new to 4chan'

>androids

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1709483885968258.gif, 785KiB, 460x360

Anonymous Sun 23 Feb 2025 23:38:59 No.39904486 Report

Quoted By: >>39904677

two more years bro

Anonymous Sun 23 Feb 2025 23:39:11 No.39904488 Report

Quoted By: >>39904671

How do you protect yourself?

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace IMG_1616.jpg, 151KiB, 904x1024

The image is a close-up photograph of a person's face, focusing on their eyes and the area around them. The person appears to be smoking a cigarette, as evidenced by the smoke rising from the cigarette. The individual has a beard and is wearing a patterned shirt with a mix of black and white designs. The background is dark and out of focus, with a hint of a curtain or drapery visible at the top. The lighting in the image is soft, casting a gentle glow on the person's face. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the photograph is realistic, capturing a candid moment.

Anonymous Sun 23 Feb 2025 23:44:10 No.39904500 Report

Quoted By: >>39906254 >>39908774

God I hope I'm in that 60%

Anonymous Sun 23 Feb 2025 23:46:18 No.39904504 Report

>>39904464

you wish schizoid

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1_dMF6_mh5QPUCGyxFgn-J0g.png, 1MiB, 1400x775

The image is a sepia-toned photograph featuring a group of twelve men, presumably military, arranged in a semi-circular formation against a dark background. The men are wearing various uniforms, including military hats, suits, and ties. The central figure is slightly taller than the others, and he is wearing a white naval hat with a black band. Above the group, the text "MAJESTIC 12" is prominently displayed in a large, bold font. The style of the image suggests it may be a commemorative or historical photograph, possibly related to a list or ranking of military personnel.

MJkiller Sun 23 Feb 2025 23:54:47 No.39904521 Report

Quoted By: >>39905723 >>39916456

op here let's continue first of the contract was 25000 humans PER YEAR in exchange for tech i made a mistake so anyway

>unfortunately something would take place in the 70s >jump to 1957 valiant thor lands (yes the story was real but the nickname was given to him by humans) he lands in Virginia in broad fucking day light by a ufo the police gets called he gets take to the pentagon in d.c by the sheriff the think he's crazy they interrogate him for almost 40 hours >after 40 hrs they military brass realize he ain't nuts that when they take him to Eisenhower but he basically was negotiating with the real rulers of the usa back then MJ2 >turns out he was an envoy from a galactic federation based in branch in our solar system on Venus underground he looked human just like us >his federation is called GFL short for galactic federation of light the real inspiration of star trek (yes star wars and trek and all those alien movies are part of the public acclimation prog made to condition u that aliens exist but they are going to invade) btw Spielberg runs that program he's in the know an MJ12 puppet

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 00:23:33 No.39904638 Report

Quoted By: >>39905666 >>39905723 >>39905890 >>39906233 >>39906375 >>39907665

I'LL REPLY WHEN I'M DONE WITH TYPING SORRY GUYS

>valiant thors offer was this u can bring your entire civilization into our federation and travel the stars with uson 2 conditions

>1- give up all your nuclear weapons

>2- become a one world government(because any planetary civ that still has borders and still act tribally is seen as immature to them

>the problem was that we are already under contract with ETE1 but if the contract ends we can join them by then >he tells them sure but time isn't on your side(on humans side)

>turns out that the real reason he's here and the real reason his home civ and other civs are part and founders of the GFL is because of a civilization known as trantaloids (the name was leaked a long time ago and the reagan briefing is legit)

>the trantaloids are basically what every evil alien civ in movies tv shows books depicts but more evil times 1 billion >turns out that the federation also protects primitive and immature planets even without their knowledge from these assholes cuz that's the whole reason the were formed >and thor tells us that if they leave the trantaloids will come regardless of the reptilians and the other ET's that share the plant with us the will invade if the GFL leaves

>MJ12 shits their pants they then spend 3 years negotiating about how to join

>thor leaves and becomes like a messenger between us and the GFL until shit hits the fan

>1971 there was an incursion a trantolid lands on earth (The USS Trepang "UFO" Incident the story is real but the pics leaked r fake)

>it gets captured and thor comes back tells them(that they caught one of them)

NOW MJ12 REALLY SHITS THEMSELVES

>thor said we can't bring you to the GFL unless we become a one world gov but we can join in secret >basically the space force was formed in that same year trump didn't create it he was the one to release it to the sheep >basically we've been a one world gov under the USA(MJ12) in secret since then

>now mj12 had a problem on their hands

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 00:24:34 No.39904642 Report

Quoted By: >>39904656

>>39904464

You're possessed by a demon and it influenced you to post this.

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 00:26:14 No.39904647 Report

Quoted By: >>39905723

>THE PROBLEM WAS HOW TO MAKE US BECOME A ONE WORLD GOVERNMENT IN PUBLIC AND THUS THEY MADE THIS PLAN NOW I'LL ANSWER EVERY QUESTION U GOT

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 00:28:35 No.39904656 Report

>>39904642

whatever u say july 16 next year u will find out i cleared my conscience at least

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 00:33:55 No.39904671 Report

Quoted By: >>39904788 >>39904842 >>39905192 >>39905687 >>39905723

>>39904488

>antarctica is off-limits to any human aggression including the fake alien invasion

>and cheyenne mountain complex is off-limits too

other than that ur best bet is to hide in caves or small town sewers cuz ALL MAJOR CITIES WILL BE DESTROYED so don't hide in those sewers

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 00:36:52 No.39904677 Report

>>39904486

>>39904472

at least read my advice on how to survive even if u think im full of shit or possessed by a demon

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 00:51:49 No.39904732 Report

Quoted By: >>39910989

LAST POST ASIDE FROM REPLIES

>IN THE FILES THEY PLANNED TO STAR WW3 AND A U.S CIVIL WAR TO FUCK US UP EVEN MORE IN ORDER TO BREAK IN THE PPL

>THEY PLANNED TO OCCURE LIKE A DOMINO EFFECT TO SIGNAL THE START OF THE FAKE ALIEN INVASION

>THESE STEPS WERE CALLED PRECURSERS IN THE FILES

THESE PRECURSERS ARE AS IT FOLLOWS:

> James Webb Telescope finding "biologics/biological signatures" in TRAPPIST 1/Alpha Mensae Star Systems in the files they call the JWST A an advanced space telescope

>a terrorist organization in possession of a nation either Syria or Afghanistan will ally itself with american in case of an upcoming war

>LAST BUT NOT LEASE THE DOME OF THE ROCK WILL BE DESTROYED TO MAKE 3 RELIGIONS FIGHT ON WHO GETS TO REBUILD IT AND USHER IN THIER BIBLICAL ABRAHMIC PROFECIES BUT IN REALITY THEY WILL USHER IN WW3

and that's it i hope all of u make it

View SameOCRGoogleiqlqdbSauceNA0Trace Walk in love.jpg, 69KiB, 800x420

The image is a digital graphic with a blue background and a white text overlay. The text is a quote attributed to Dr. William B. Reddaway, who is identified as a "Christian leader." The quote reads: "God don't want you to be frowning, God wants you to be happy. The human heart was made to be happy. Worry will cause cancer, Temper will cause cancer. Don't never be upset, just walk in His love." The author's name, "Dr. William B. Reddaway," is also included at the bottom of the quote. The image has a watermark that reads "ALL CHRISTIAN QUOTES" and a URL "allchristianquotes.org," indicating that the quote is from a collection of Christian quotes. The style of the image is informational and inspirational, designed to convey a message of hope and positivity.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 01:19:36 No.39904788 Report

>>39904671

>People will flee to caves in the rocks >and to holes in the ground >from the fearful presence of the Lord >and the splendor of his majesty, >when he rises to shake the earth.

>15 Then the kings of the earth, the princes, the generals, the rich, the mighty, and everyone else, both slave and free, hid in caves and among the rocks of the mountains. 16 They called to the mountains and the rocks, "Fall on us and hide us from the face of him who sits on the throne and from the wrath of the Lamb! 17 For the great day of their wrath has come, and who can withstand it?"

Yep, you either have a demon that understands we're entering a new Age with the Redeemer coming soon, or you are part of the fake revelation playing out before the real one happens a few years later.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 01:24:26 No.39904793 Report

Quoted By: >>39905229 >>39906515 >>39906535

So where does this info even come from. I don't mean the overall narrative about playing out the revelation, but where do the the details like the dates and names come from.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 01:38:16 No.39904816 Report

>>39904464

ooooooooo I'm gonna ontological shock!!! oo I'm ontological shocking aaahhh!!!

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 01:39:05 No.39904818 Report

Quoted By: >>39906254 >>39906535

next year? nah man you're wrong, THIS year

View SameGoogleIqdbSauceNAOTrace wasteland-with-crumbling-buildings.jpg, 75KiB, 626x351

The image depicts a post-apocalyptic urban landscape at sunset. The sky is painted with hues of orange and yellow, suggesting the sun is setting. The ground is strewn with rubble and debris, indicating a significant amount of destruction. In the foreground, there is a car that appears to be abandoned, with its hood and front end visible. The surrounding buildings, which are partially collapsed or destroyed, are in various states of disrepair. The overall mood of the image is somber and desolate, reflecting the aftermath of a catastrophic event. There are no discernible texts or countable objects in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the destruction and the aftermath of a disaster.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 01:43:06 No.39904824 Report

Quoted By: >>39904853

THE FINAL REDPILL:

The world's armies are preparing for a war... against Jesus.

Note: The X content only summarizes the material. To access the Reddit content, use the link in my pinned X thread.

>My pinned X thread:

<https://x.com/elitefeat/status/1742924942151438589>

>A summary of the destruction of Bozrah:

<https://x.com/elitefeat/status/1884236018796355903>

>A summary of the time difference:

<https://x.com/elitefeat/status/1884368301565837477>

>An outline of the material:

<https://x.com/elitefeat/status/1884227699541229844>

I can't tell you exactly when Jesus will arrive to destroy this planet (I can't even give you the year, let alone the month). But here's one thing I do know with 100% certainty: this planet is Bozrah, not Earth.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 01:54:16 No.39904842 Report

Quoted By: >>39906535

>>39904671

Are we gonna be destroyed for real or is it gonna be like that anon prophetic dream where you'll be kept alive indefinitely or be liquidized or be tortured for eternity?

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 01:59:45 No.39904853 Report

Quoted By: >>39906535

>>39904824

So what should we do? We refuse to get conscripted to go against Jesus? I do feel a strong sense of impending doom recently

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 02:33:53 No.39904922 Report

Quoted By: >>39906535 >>39907718

>>39904464

oh thank lord, can't they anticipate?

Anyway, nothing ever happens

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 04:05:36 No.39905192 Report

Quoted By: >>39906565

>>39904671

Why is some random mountain range in colorado off limits? What is there that makes it off limits?

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 04:14:22 No.39905215 Report

Quoted By: >>39906910

I had a dream last night where my dad came to me and said "do you know whats going on?...passports are all deactivated now...nobody can go anywhere"

Its strange because Ive never had a dream like that where it involves current affairs

I feel like something big could happen but idk.

Maybe dreams are just the farts of the brain

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 04:18:57 No.39905229 Report

Quoted By: >>39905846

>>39904793

Etymology of months, days/hours/years/season stated in the Bible, dates of important events and people's death/birth, all corrected with what the calendar date actually is.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 04:26:07 No.39905247 Report

>>39904464

lol

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 05:28:00 No.39905469 Report

>>39904464

Fake and gay.

Reddit-tier / Area52 worth grifting material.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 71626.jpg, 59KiB, 623x473

The image is a digital graphic with a dark background and a lighter foreground. At the top, there is a large, stylized text that reads "60% of humanity is going to die next year" in a bold, sans-serif font. Below this, there is a smaller text that states "by July 16, 2026 M112 will launch a fake alien invasion." The text is in a lighter, sans-serif font.

In the lower part of the image, there is a photograph of a large, metallic, spherical structure with three legs and a head. The structure appears to be a futuristic or alien-like design, with a sleek, metallic finish. The photograph is taken from a distance, and the structure is partially obscured by trees and foliage in the background. The sky is overcast, suggesting a cloudy day. The style of the image is informational and seems to be a promotional graphic for a future event or product.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 05:57:21 No.39905577 Report

>>39904464

Ok, it's in the calendar...

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 05:58:45 No.39905582 Report

Quoted By: >>39905603 >>39907718

>>39904464

>by july 16 2026

How many "two weeks" is that?

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace cover3.jpg, 71KiB, 1422x800

The image is a still from a film or television scene featuring a man in a dark, wet environment. The man has short, wet hair and is wearing a dark, possibly leather jacket. He is looking off to the side with a serious expression. The background is dimly lit with neon lights and blurred lights, suggesting an urban setting. The man's expression is intense, and his gaze is directed off to the side, indicating a sense of contemplation or focus. There are no discernible texts or other objects in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the actor's expression and the lighting.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 06:03:33 No.39905596 Report

Don't give me hope anon.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace advanced_data_analysis.jpg, 28KiB, 626x275

The image is a screenshot of a text conversation. At the top, there is a question in a larger font size that reads, "By July 16, 2026: How many 'two weeks' is that?" The conversation is displayed in a dark background, and the text is in a lighter color. Below the question, there is a response in a smaller font size that says, "It seems like I can't do more advanced data analysis right now. Please try again later. Let me know if you'd like me to help with anything else!" The text is in a standard font, and the conversation appears to be a casual exchange between two individuals. There are no other discernible elements in the image.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 06:05:15 No.39905603 Report

Quoted By: >>39916658

>>39905582

That's too advanced for GPT...

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 06:09:03 No.39905619 Report

Quoted By: >>39906515 >>39911159

>>39904464

source:

Secret Likedude Trustmebro documents

>whether u believe me or not doesn't

Then I won't. If your conscience is salved easily by throwing random shit without even trying to be convincing and putting any effort to prove your stuff to people so they can prepare, let's be honest - it means your conscience wasn't bothering you all that much.

Especially on a message board when we get random tards prophesize/warn about major cataclysm in near future every couple of days since many years and it never fucking happens. Not even once. Why anyone who's not retarded would think you're any different?

Either write more engaging and convincing LARP if you can or GTF0

Vaelion Mon 24 Feb 2025 06:15:30 No.39905639 Report

>>39904464

<https://galacticanthropology.org/2024/03/14/the-walking-stick-trantaloids-hav-from-epsilon-eridani/>

Here's the sauce incase anyone needs it

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace The_Final_Jubilee_and_an_Overvie (...).jpg, 533KiB, 2706x3051

The image is a screenshot of a document titled "The Final Judites & an Overview of World History." The document appears to be a table or chart that provides data on various historical events and their corresponding dates. The table is divided into two columns, labeled "Data Set" and "Jubilees Since Entry into Promised Land until 7/70."

The "Data Set" column lists dates and corresponding numbers, such as "2000," "2001," "2002," "2003," "2004," "2005," "2006," "2007," "2008," "2009," "2010," "2011," "2012," "2013," "2014," "2015," "2016," "2017," "2018," "2019," "2020," "2021," "2022," "2023," "2024," "2025," "2026," "2027," "2028," "2029," "2030," "2031," "2032," "2033," "2034," "2035," "2036," "2037," "2038," "2039," "2040," "2041," "2042," "2043," "2044," "2045," "2046," "2047," "2048," "2049," "2050," "2051," "2052," "2053," "2054," "2055," "2056," "2057," "2058," "2059," "2060," "2061," "2062," "2063," "2064," "2065," "2066," "2067," "2068," "2069," "2070," "2071," "2072," "2073," "2074," "2075," "2076," "2077," "2078," "2079," "2080," "2081," "2082," "2083," "2084," "2085," "2086," "2087," "2088," "2089," "2090," "2091," "2092," "2093," "2094," "2095," "2096," "2097," "2098," "2099," "2100," "2101," "2102," "2103," "2104," "2105," "2106," "2107," "2108," "2109," "2110," "2111," "2112," "2113," "2114," "2115," "2116," "2117," "2118," "2119," "2120," "2121," "2122," "2123," "2124," "2125," "2126," "2127," "2128," "2129," "2130," "2131," "2132," "2133," "2134," "2135," "2136," "2137," "2138," "2139," "2140," "2141," "2142," "2143," "2144," "2145," "2146," "2147," "2148," "2149," "2150," "2151," "2152," "2153," "2154," "215"

4-8-2025 Mon 24 Feb 2025 06:25:25 No.39905665 Report

Quoted By: >>39907718

>>39904464

The great tribulation starts on April 8th, 2025. The rapture will occur on or before that date. Many will die over the 7 year tribulation period that starts April 8th. No, it wasn't aliens. No, it wasn't glowies.

Starting from Israel's entry into the Promised Land (Leviticus 25:2-8) on Nissan 10, 1406 BC (Joshua 4:19), when the jubilee count began, adding 70 jubilees (3430 years) brings us to:

- Great Tribulation - Nissan 10 (April 8), 2025
- Abomination of Desolation - Tishri 10 (September 30), 2028
- 2nd Coming - Nissan 10 (March 22), 2032

1406 BC + 70 jubilees = 2025 AD

1406 BC +70 * 49 = 2025 AD

But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief.

1 Thessalonians 5:4

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 06:25:33 No.39905666 Report

Quoted By: >>39905704

>>39904638

You're a teenager without good writing ability to make decent LARP. Aside from typing like a tard, you make plenty of mistakes:

>valiant thors offer was this u can bring your entire civilization into our federation and travel the stars with us

And he's not suspicious at all how? One government? With how fucked humans are and how much of a globalist, totalitarian hellhole that would be? How much abuse it'd cause? Either that Thor guy doesn't understand humans at all or he's wants us to be easily controllable mess. I wouldn't trust the guy.

>the problem was that we are already under contract with ETE1 but if the contract ends we can join them by then

"Oh no, humanity's about to be doomed but we can't stop, CAUSE OF CONTRACT". And a contract terms which in no way prevent "the gov" (as if there'd ne only one group or government ruling things - proves how naive and clueless you are, OP) from doing what Thor guy would want us to, since the contract is about sending aliens humans, not making nukes.

>because of a civilization known as trantaloids

Shit name and clearly made up by humans.

>1971 there was an incursion a trantolid lands on earth

If they found us and went down and then there's no invasion fleet yet, they aren't caring that much to get here >basically the space force was formed in that same year trump didn't create it he was the one to release it to the sheep

The force Trump setup isn't some intergalactic military cooperation but a bunch of guys tracking spy satellites. So either he didn't release it or you have no idea what that force is.

>basically we've been a one world gov under the USA(MJ12) in secret since then Also bullshit. USA wouldn't be facing disruptive, tumultuous times, nor would be there disruptions in other parts of the world that make mess of things.

If shit happens, it won't be one you speak of, especially as we learn more about nature of extraterrestrials as more extradimensional and spiritual/occult than traditional aliens.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 06:35:34 No.39905687 Report

>>39904671

>antarctica is off-limits to any human aggression including the fake alien invasion

Cause what? Supposed end of humanity, real alien invasions, but those two locations won't be touched because someone said "pretty please"? Promised with backsies?

If those evil aliens come to fuck us up despite the strongest opponent of theirs - that supposed federation - being unable to stop them, then they have no reason to leave us alone wherever, everything's fair game.

Migga Biscuit !!CDuaeJTvR6Z Mon 24 Feb 2025 06:44:47 No.39905704 Report

Quoted By: >>39906598

>>39905666

>666

So sayeth Satan

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 06:46:58 No.39905708 Report

>>39904464

>by july 16 2026 MJ12 will launch a fake alien invasion

lmao I'm literally getting married the day after that. FFS

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 06:52:48 No.39905723 Report

>>39904464

>>39904521

>>39904638

>>39904647

>>39904671

Doesn't that mean humanity lives?

Desu still annoying that all these rich faggots and (zionist) jews will still be ruling

Hopefully they make up the majority of the dead and people wake up to how disgusting they are.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 07:44:51 No.39905846 Report

Quoted By: >>39906515 >>39906773

>>39905229

Yeah but wtf is with

>MJ12

>ARV

>ETE1

>25000

>GFL

>cheyenne mountain complex is off-limits

>Trantaloids

>JWST

Where did all this come from? I mean I do recognize MJ12 and GFL and shit but can we have sources or at least clips of people with the right credentials backing all of this up? Because that's where OP got all this right?

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 07:54:36 No.39905890 Report

Quoted By: >>39906207 >>39906567 >>39906804

>>39904638

This is a highly plausible scenario that indeed seems to check out with most other data. Tell us more about "trantaloids". Anything you know about them. What they look like, what ships they pilot, nature of their society, etc.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 07:58:50 No.39905907 Report

Quoted By: >>39906219 >>39906804

>>39904464

So the Galactic Federation is okay with directly aiding MJ12 in murdering 4-5 billion people? That's what they came up with as a solution to force a one world gov? They couldn't see any options that didn't require mass genocide??

Also, why the rush? If the Galactic Federation protects planets whether they're members or not, and we are already under their protection, then why worry at all about trantaloids? The GFL would protect us either way

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace IMG_9648.jpg, 678KiB, 1125x905

The image is a candid photograph of a person in an urban setting. The individual is wearing a red hoodie, a red beanie, and a gray t-shirt with the text "MUSIC BAND" printed in black. The person is holding a skateboard with a black deck featuring a design of a skull and crossbones, a red and white striped tail, and a small figure resembling a cartoon character. The person's expression is serious, and they are looking off to the side with a focused gaze. The background is blurred, suggesting movement and activity, but it is not clear enough to discern any specific details. The style of the image is informal and appears to be taken in a candid moment, possibly during a casual day out.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 09:00:42 No.39906137 Report

>>39904464

>Yoohoo fellow 4channers

Definitely not a glowfaggot

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 09:12:26 No.39906207 Report

Quoted By: >>39906567

>>39905890

>This is a highly plausible scenario that indeed seems to check out with most other data

Either you have less clue than you think or are intentionally encouraging bullshit of OPs posts, don't know which one. Perhaps both to a degree.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 09:13:52 No.39906219 Report

>>39905907

Because OP is definitely a faggot with no ability to write good LARP and his story doesn't hold itself together, as you and other anons pointed out many holes in it.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace Alien Psyop.jpg, 127KiB, 1002x573

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 09:15:39 No.39906233 Report

Quoted By: >>39906237 >>39911137 >>39911289

>>39904464

>>39904638

The Earth is flat and stationary with a dome.

Creators exists.

Aliens don't exist.

Space isn't real.

Gravity doesn't exist.

Never went to the moon.

Solar Flares are a meme.

Asteroids don't exist.

UFOs are a psyop.

Nukes don't exist.

Evolution is a lie.

Germ Theory is a lie.

The world is ruled by secret societies that worship the Demiurge.

Jews/Jesuits/Freemasons/Illuminati are Gnostics and Kabbalists. Masters at deception. One satanic philosophy is inverting reality.

They make you think you live on a spinning ball.

They make you think you're just an animal.
They make you think there's a deadly virus out there.
They make you think there are gay space niggers from outer space out there.
They make you think there are giant rocks hurtling through the vacuum heading towards our ball earth.
They make you think the sun is about to fart and eject some fake corona.
They make you think the poles are about to take a massive shit.
Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 09:17:20 No.39906237 Report

>>39906233

>op makes a retarded larp

>anon comes in with even more retarded bullshit

You're worth each other

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace fucked.jpg, 109KiB, 1293x1162

The image is a cartoon illustration featuring a young girl with red hair styled in braids. She has a concerned expression on her face and is looking downward. The girl is wearing a green and white checked dress with a red bow on the right side of her dress. There are two speech bubbles above her head, one of which contains the text "That's Fucked Arnold." The other speech bubble says "Just over so Fucked." The background is a solid gray color, and there are no other discernible objects or text in the image. The style of the image is cartoonish and seems to be a digital creation, possibly for a humorous or satirical purpose.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 09:21:54 No.39906254 Report

>>39904500 seconding this

>>39904818

seconding this too

In fact, if I could just be vaporized by a fake alien or whatever within about 10 seconds of posting this, that would be just super.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 09:40:37 No.39906364 Report

>>39904464

aliens aren't real dipshit

those are demons, you're not in contact with higher life forms from Roswell, you're contacting dark spirits.

Also that's just what they want to happen, it probably won't or it won't go accordingly, but you're gonna lose your soul anon.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 09:42:28 No.39906375 Report

>>39904638

I'm stealing your fanfic

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace ive got 8 diff glowie bosses .jpg, 143KiB, 1600x1213

The image is a photograph of a man sitting at a table. He is smiling and looking directly at the camera. The man is wearing a green and white checkered shirt and a dark-colored jacket. In front of him is a glass of water, and to his right is a black coffee maker. The background is a simple, neutral-colored wall with a framed picture hanging on it. The lighting in the room is soft, and there are no visible texts or distinctive markings on the image. The style of the image is candid and appears to be taken in a domestic setting.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 09:59:59 No.39906442 Report

>>39904464

Your writing indicates that DOGE is doing its job and the better writing glowies have been fired because they thought they could respond to Elon's emails and prove they actually did real work. Anyways, I enjoyed your creativity. Lurk moar and maybe you'll write something real cool.

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 10:00:37 No.39906445 Report yo i was asleep bois i'll start answering ur questions hang on

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 10:16:28 No.39906515 Report

Quoted By: >>39906557

>>39905619

>>39905846

>>39904793

All of OPs info is from this guy who claims he received 8 classified briefings from an AFOSI agent:

<https://x.com/truthtold24>

By OP's writing style he might well be the guy himself.

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 10:19:58 No.39906535 Report

Quoted By: >>39915617

>>39904793

>>39904818

>>39904842

>>39904853

>>39904922

This information comes from the Majic Eyes Only files. It contains the classification of all alien-related material, and even that classification is itself classified—so that's why you can't obtain it through FOIA.

"Majic" stands for Military and Joint Intelligence Committee. It is a committee of roughly 200 people who report to MJ-12. Each MJ-12 member, from MJ-2 to MJ-12, has their own compartment of 20 or more individuals reporting to them. All of them ultimately report to MJ-1, the leader of our planet. Currently, that position is held by Dick Cheney, who took over after George H.W. Bush.

Yes, we will all die. I'm planning to go either to Chile or Argentina, as far south as possible—the closest point to Antarctica—to maximize my chances of survival.

All religious people will die off naturally, even if they survive the initial events. This is because hybrids already exist—our children are already hybrids. Not in a freakish way, but in a way that makes our brains more peaceful, smarter, and, honestly, weaker. Hahaha. I swear to God, it's real.

The only way to stop this is by making people aware of the plan, staging worldwide riots, arresting MJ-12, and replacing them. But honestly, that's far-fetched.

Even if we somehow manage to do that, we would still have to establish a one-world government by September 2027, or the Galactic Federation will leave. If they leave, we are beyond FUCKED

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 10:23:50 No.39906557 Report

Quoted By: >>39906574

>>39906515

NO I SAW CHARLES TWITTER ACCOUNT BUT HE ISN'T THE ONLY ONE WHO SAW THE FILES AND HE'S POSTING ABOUT HIS GF AND ENGAGING PEOPLE IN FIGHTS OVER SILLY SHIT HE AIN'T GOING TO SPREAD THE WORD RIGHT

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 10:26:15 No.39906565 Report

>>39905192

CUZ IT'S THE HQ OF MJ12 cheyenne mountain complex

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 10:26:18 No.39906567 Report

Quoted By: >>39906593 >>39906804

>>39906207

>>39905890

Not this anon but I'd also like to hear more about these trantaloids. How exactly are they 1 billion times more evil than fictional evil sci-fi races? What do they do?

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 10:28:08 No.39906574 Report

Quoted By: >>39906824

>>39906557

Where and how did you see the files?

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 10:29:07 No.39906579 Report

Quoted By: >>39906836

I find it hard to believe that someone who writes like a remedial 6th grade student has access to any high level intelligence information.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 10:33:11 No.39906593 Report

>>39906567

>How exactly are they 1 billion times more evil than fictional evil sci-fi racers? What do they do?

Given how much evil they are, they probably make you pay extra taxes.

Spooky.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 10:34:15 No.39906597 Report

Quoted By: >>39906615

According to some Christians, the world ends every single fucking year. Every year of my life some asshole Christian schizo lies and says the world is going to end.

I will never listen to their nonsense. Its a delusional cult of schizophrenics. Never listen to Christians. They are all madmen and false prophets. Theyve been repeating the same lie for thousands of years. Never ever ever ever listen to Christ doomers. 2000 year old people dont know whats going on today and a 2000 year old book does not predict the future, EVER. They will always be wrong. Always. Do not listen to them, they are all insane. And most of their churches cover up child abuse. They thought the world would end 2000 years ago, they were false prophets 2000 years ago, and they are false prophets today. The irony is they claim to be against a one world religion but they want their religion to be all powerful. Most of them really genuinely believe everyone outside their cult will be tortured forever for not being in their cult, but as long as a murderer is in their cult, they go to heaven forever. They are evil. And none of them even agree with each other and have routinely through history murdered each other over the interpretation of a fucking book. Egomaniac delusion false cult. Nothing but 2000 years of lying cult leaders.

>my cults god is almighty

>but he lets evil secret cults rule the world instead of us

>the world is flat bc 2000 year old bronze age barbarians who killed women and children said so

Dont trust anyone quoting scripture. That book doesnt predict jack shit and is used to brainwash millions of slaves.

All end times prophecies have been proven false every single time through history. Do not listen to them! Reject the semitic mind cancer. They are mentally ill. That religion causes so much fear and suffering.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 10:35:15 No.39906598 Report

>>39905704

And so I bring light of reason to this shithole of a thread. Witness me.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 10:41:32 No.39906615 Report

>>39906597

In your anger you mix behavior of zealot/scamming individuals with doctrine of the church, ironically enough becoming more like them, with egomania and lack of balance, in result.

The church itself nor even Bible do not claim any particular date for end of the world. In fact, they warn against false prophets. You however, while agreeing with it, piss and shit all over yourself in indignation blaming church for people they warn against when you shouldn't.

Man is fallible and that the church recognizes as well, but you really push hard into that failing category. I am not much of a christian, but I learned about quite a few religions and can tell you most of the shit you complain about was never the official doctrine.

Now chill, you make yourself look dumb.

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 10:54:35 No.39906638 Report

Quoted By: >>39906657 >>39907665 >>39910473

39905582

Yeah, the Lue, Greer, and every other UFO grifter formula.

39905596

I hope we make it, but it's not likely.

39905619

By the time you realize this is real, it will already be too late to do anything. But at least from now until July next year, I want everyone to enjoy life to the fullest—be with your loved ones, confess to your crush, and do all the things you've been holding back on. That's all I can say to you, friend.

39905639

Yeah, no. That's 10% real shit mixed with bullshit. Linda believes only the blond, blue-eyed aliens are good, so nah.

39905666

All I have to say to that is good luck next year. By the way, English isn't my first language, so that's why I made so many mistakes.

39905687

I said it's a fake alien invasion by the government. If it were real, they would fuck up the whole world with no exceptions.

No, the Trantaloids won't invade. They've been here many times in the past, but only for scouting missions. They can't invade because the GFL has protected us for thousands of years.

Why is Antarctica off-limits? It's because that's where the aliens that share Earth with us live. Have you ever asked yourself why we've fought over resources everywhere else but never even thought about taking over that place?

39905708

Man, this is so sad. Try getting married in May—at least you'll get to spend more time with her.

39905723

All I can say about the world after 2027 is that it's heaven on Earth a million times over—but the path to get there is fucked up and sick. I have loved ones too.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:02:55 No.39906657 Report

>>39906638

>Have you ever asked yourself why we've fought over resources everywhere else but never even thought about taking over that place?

1. It's an inhospitable shithole.

2. There actually is squabbling over resources, especially with Russia and China hoping to get as much access as possible

3. But due to point 1 and the resources, while present and profitable being harder and much more expensive to exploit and transport, no one is really caring enough to get into serious conflict over it

Intuitis !10Wwbtc3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:15:27 No.39906702 Report

Quoted By: >>39906742 >>39914874

>>39904464

I can chime in with a bit of info:

Trantaloids primarily control the Cube's programming.

What's the cube?

Well, you didn't think we were in the "normal" universe did you?

We're in a quasi-artificial construct separated from Source universe.

Why was it built? Unsure. It was co-opted by Anunnaki, Pleadians, then later reptilians and trantaloids

Reptilians think they're in control but it's mostly trantaloids pulling important strings such as your Ego (yes your ego is entirely programmed by the cube)

So, why are we here?

We all violated free will somehow in Source universe and came here to relive that loop until we resolve the free will violation, realize what we did, and leave of our own volition.

This is a "prison" designed to trick you into thinking it's normal life, until you wake yourself up and leave.

I put "prison" in quotes because the door is always unlocked, the "prison gates" are the programmed ego most humans think is their self

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:22:05 No.39906728 Report

Quoted By: >>39906739

Fake and gay. Glowies want you to be permanently panicking over doomsday and keep you in a state of despair so you dont bother bettering yourself.

Remember OP

You will get what you deserve.

Intuitis !10Wwbtc3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:26:21 No.39906739 Report

Quoted By: >>39906758 >>39907011

>>39906728

This is more true than most think.

What OP describes will happen (in some timelines) but the overall point is moot.

No revelation, Armageddon, project blue beam etc etc matters. It's all a distraction of the cube to keep you in ego, fear, and give up your sovereignty to the programming.

Ignore distractions, seek inwards, and embody Christ consciousness regardless of whatever external illusion you're faced with

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:26:55 No.39906742 Report

Quoted By: >>39906805 >>39906814

>>39906702

you're just making shit up bro lamo

anyways i'll do another post later on how i got this info later cuz i have to go get a haircut in an hour

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:30:35 No.39906758 Report

>>39906739

No it's not you faggot. Losers like you live loser lives and want everyone to be dragged to your depths. Fuck off.

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:34:07 No.39906773 Report

>>39905846

ETE'S MEANS extra-terrestrial entities the number endicates the civilization of ET'S 1 trough 170 i think

ARV MEANS alien reproduction vehicle

GFL MEANS galactic federation of light

JWST MEANS James Webb Space Telescope

25000 IS NUMBER OF US CITIZENS THAT GET ABDUCTED EVERY YEARS FROM 1954 TILL LAST YEAR IN EXCHANGE FOR TECH

GOOGLE THE REST IT'S PUBLIC INFO

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:44:31 No.39906804 Report

Quoted By: >>39907083

>>39905890

>>39906567

IN MY NEXT POST I'LL EXPLAIN HOW I KNOW THIS STUFF BUT BASICALLY THEY GO FROM PLANET TO PLANET AND CONQUER AND KILL EVERYONE AND IF THEY DON'T KILL YOU THEY WILL MAKE YOU THEIR SLAVE

>>39905907

no MJ12 CAME UP WITH THIS FUCKED UP PLAN THE GFL OFFERED US TO JOIN IN 1957 BUT WE COULDN'T CUZ OF THE CONTRACT SO WE DID IT IN SECRET

YES THE GFL PROTECTS OTHER PLANTS THAT HAVE NOT REACHED THE TECH LEVEL OF SPACE TRAVEL AND THAT THEY HAVEN'T SENT AN ENVOY TO THEIR PLANT AFTER ROSWEL WE BECAME THAT SO THE GFL GAVE US THE CHANCE BUT IF WE NEVER HAD CONTACT WITH ALIENS THEY WOULD JUST CONTINUE JUST LIKE BEFORE BUT IF THEY SHOW UP WITH THE OFFER YOU EITHER ACCEPT OR THET LEAVE THEY SEE IT AS SINCE U CAN SPACE TRAVEL THEN UR MATURE ENOUGH TO HANDLE YOUR SELF IF YOU REFUSE US

AND BTW THE STAR TRECK PRIME DIRECTIVE IS REAL IT'S BASED ON THE REAL GFL NUMBER ON RULE

Intuitis !10Wwbtc3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:44:34 No.39906805 Report

Quoted By: >>39906847 >>39911326

>>39906742

No. You just don't have the full scope because MJ12 had always been co-opted by the "greys" (their controllers) pretending to know what's going on.

MJ12 is a pawn. Always has been. You've never had power except the illusion of civilization.

You're literally just part of the psyop but think you're above it

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:44:55 No.39906807 Report

Quoted By: >>39906865

>>39904464

Why only 60%/ If shit's so bad it's literally some sort of religious years of suffering and people will need to hide underground, shouldn't it be much more?

Intuitis !10Wwbtc3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:46:08 No.39906814 Report

Quoted By: >>39906875

>>39906742

Also lmao at Cheney being the leader

No one actually pulling strings is a public name. He's a pawn. Congrats.

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:47:21 No.39906824 Report

>>39906574

NEXT POST LATER TONIGHT I'LL GIVE YOU HOW I KNOW THE FILES GTG IN AN HOUR APPRO

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:49:03 No.39906836 Report

Quoted By: >>39907665

>>39906579

I'M NOT AMERICAN I'LL REVEAL HOW I KNOW THIS STUFF LATER TONIGHT IN THIS THREAD OR ANOTH IDK AND I'M SORRY FOR MY ENGLISH

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:52:12 No.39906847 Report

Quoted By: >>39906872

>>39906805

WHATEVER YOU SAY FRIEND GO BE WITH YOUR LOVED ONES JUST DO IT EVEN IF YOU THINK I'M FULL OF SHIT

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:55:42 No.39906865 Report

Quoted By: >>39907665

>>39906807

THEIR ORIGIAL PLAN WAS FINALIZED IN THE 70S BUT THE POPULATION INCREASED SINCE THEN THEY FIRST WANTED TO KILL100S OF MILLIONS NOW BILLIONS IT'S NOT ABOUT CONTROL IT'S ABOUT THAT IF WE GO APE SHIT FROM THE PTSD AFTER THE FAKE ALIEN INVASION THEY CAN RESTRAIN US EASIER

Intuitis !10Wwbtc3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:56:42 No.39906872 Report

Quoted By: >>39906880

>>39906847

It's not that you're full of shit, it's that the events you're talking about literally don't matter. It's all 3D distraction.

"Space travel" isn't real. It's consciousness/soul alignment. Any endeavour to do so in 3D is ego programming.

Ascension doesn't care about what political theatre is happening in 3D

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:56:59 No.39906875 Report

Quoted By: >>39906883

>>39906814

HE WAS MJ12 EVER SINCE THE 80S AND AFTER GEORGE H.W BUSH DIED HE BECAME MJ1

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:58:34 No.39906880 Report

>>39906872

HEY MAN AT LEAST I TRIED YOU HAVE ONE YEAR GO SPEND IT WITH SOMEONE YOU LOVE

Intuitis !10Wwbtc3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 11:58:45 No.39906883 Report

>>39906875

Again. MJ12 are pawns being told what to do (either consciously or subconsciously)

They control nothing but their own illusion of control for their masters

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 12:02:46 No.39906904 Report

Quoted By: >>39906924

>>39904464

First it will be asteroids, then UFOs. You're too early. 2029-2032 is the big asteroid scare event.

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 12:03:42 No.39906910 Report

Quoted By: >>39907665

>>39905215

CAN YOU ELABORATE FRIEND AND IF ANYONE HAS HAD THE SAME EXPIERIENCE PLEASE SHARE
View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace _0bd9d40a-8ed4-40a7-91be-b551132 (...).jpg,
178KiB, 1024x1024

The image is a digital illustration featuring a figure with a long white beard and a white robe, holding a large, hourglass-shaped object that appears to be filled with a golden liquid. The figure is surrounded by a cloud-like background with a gradient of colors from light to dark, suggesting a night sky. The figure is surrounded by small, colorful butterflies, and there are stars scattered throughout the image. The overall style of the image is fantasy-inspired, with a warm color palette and a dreamlike quality. The figure's expression is serious, and the image conveys a sense of time and the passage of events.

Dick Tripover Mon 24 Feb 2025 12:04:56 No.39906920 Report

Dear Bill Gates. When I hear the silence after death has taken the masses, I will hunt you down.

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 12:05:14 No.39906924 Report

>>39906904

NEXT YEAR YOU WILL FIND OUT THE ASTROID WILL NEVER TOUCH EARTH IF THE GFL DOESN'T DIVERT IT BEFORE IMPACT MJ12 WILL

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 12:21:04 No.39907011 Report

Quoted By: >>39907022

>>39906739

Were you able to see past the "illusion"?

Intuitis !10WwbtC3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 12:25:27 No.39907022 Report

Quoted By: >>39907048 >>39907665

>>39907011

There are varying degrees. I obviously still exist in 3D but my perspective is very "zoomed out"

I don't see evil vs good for example. Just confusion vs clarity.

Once you realize why you're here (what your free will violation was that your lives are all centred around here on earth), you immediately gain some freedom from the system.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 12:30:29 No.39907048 Report

Quoted By: >>39907416

>>39907022

I remember seeing you on the thread of "Zed". Talked about similar things. Do both of your "paths"/"knowledge" converge to the same truth/conclusion?

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace Screenshot 2025-02-12 5.11.43 PM.png,
710KiB, 771x553

The image is a digital artwork depicting a cityscape with a dramatic sky. In the foreground, there are several people standing on a rooftop, observing the scene below. The city is shown from a high vantage point, with tall buildings and a large explosion in the background. The sky is filled with dark clouds and lightning, suggesting a stormy atmosphere. The buildings are rendered in a realistic style, with detailed architecture and shadows. The overall color palette is dark, with shades of gray and black dominating the scene. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a comic book or graphic novel, with its exaggerated and dramatic elements.

Migga Biscuit !!CDuaeJTVr6Z Mon 24 Feb 2025 12:37:31 No.39907083 Report

Quoted By: >>39907281 >>39907665 >>39907718

>>39906804

>>39904464

So basically Gantz IRL:

<https://gantz.fandom.com/wiki/Katastrophe>

Massive black clouds emerge from nowhere all over the world, hiding unknown ships, that begin to attack all major cities. The largest most powerful military in the world, the American military, is obliterated, in mere hours.

Tokyo is shown being attacked by various types of aliens, both as humanoid or animal-insect like in appearance, all with black armor on them, with similar designs to the gantz suit. Some of these aliens have wrist watches or other items that show pictures of the Gantz hunters, which they are suppose to be killing. One alien in a flying vehicle, removes his helmet to show they look somewhat human, only with an extra eye to the side, and are much larger than humans.

Some animal like aliens herd humans into a large cage, that then lifts up on legs, part to a massive structure, that appears to be the mothership of the aliens. Many humans are shown lying about, dead, or injured, having pieces of them cut off by the aliens, around the streets of Tokyo.

The people that are herded in the cages are taken to a place where they are sprayed down with some dissolving agent that dissolves away their clothes and possibly kills any bacteria from them. They are then taken and hung upside down with their blood getting drained out, and then taken where they become food for the other aliens.

The few of them that escape this process and reach the surface, are being hunted for sport, adopted as pets, or simply killed like bugs.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 12:37:44 No.39907084 Report

Quoted By: >>39907718

>>39904464

>next year

Deagle says 2025 is the year

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 12:49:19 No.39907164 Report

i wish

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace 1610742052647.jpg, 305KiB, 955x678

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 13:01:50 No.39907248 Report

Reveal soon?

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace 855125948.png, 1MiB, 798x1200

The image is a black and white manga-style illustration featuring two characters in a dramatic confrontation. The character on the left is a male with spiky hair, wearing a black suit with multiple buttons and a visible belt. He has a serious expression and is looking at the character on the right, who is a large, muscular figure with a skull-like head and a jagged, exposed neck. The character on the right has a speech bubble that says "FUJI" and is also looking at the male character. The background is dark and somewhat chaotic, with a broken window and a metallic structure. The overall mood of the image is intense and dramatic.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 13:08:07 No.39907281 Report

Quoted By: >>39907665 >>39907718

>>39907083

>So basically Gantz IRL

Fucking grim.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 13:19:40 No.39907375 Report

Asia and Africa are like 80% of the world.

Intuitis !10WwbtC3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 13:27:25 No.39907416 Report

Quoted By: >>39907576 >>39907665

>>39907048

All Truth is the same Truth in different perspectives. Both of us had similar overlap, but not the same path

Remember: the exact same information presents itself differently depending on your own consciousness

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 13:59:45 No.39907573 Report

Quoted By: >>39907718

>>39904464

>2 more years

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 14:00:19 No.39907576 Report

Quoted By: >>39907852

>>39907416

But how did you know, you were on the right path?

> Christ Consciousness

I get what you mean by that and how to look inwards.

Beyond that, how did you come to see the prison?

You possible study many books, many stories, many ancient scriptures and come to a certain conclusion and that being your model of reality, but what gave you the feeling of being on the right track?

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1732393334279704.png, 509KiB, 1839x4727

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 14:20:33 No.39907665 Report

Quoted By: >>39907718

>>39907416

>>39907281

>>39907083

>>39907022

>>39906910

>>39906865

>>39906836

>>39906638

THANK YOU FOR REVEALING THIS SHIT.

>>39904638

Are trantaloids similar to picrel's prophecy?

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace food.jpg, 212KiB, 1456x1060

The image is a black and white manga panel, featuring a chaotic scene with multiple characters and objects. In the foreground, there is a large, round, dark object that appears to be a sink or a large basin. Inside this object, there are several people, some of whom are submerged in water, while others are partially visible. The water is dark, suggesting it might be a pool or a large body of water.

In the background, there are several other characters, some of whom are also submerged in water. They are wearing swimsuits and appear to be in a state of distress or shock. The setting suggests an outdoor location, possibly a public swimming pool or a large body of water.

On the right side of the image, there is a character with a surprised expression, looking towards the left side of the panel. This character is partially visible, with only the upper torso and head showing.

On the bottom left corner of the image, there is a character with a shocked expression, looking towards the right side of the panel. This character is also partially visible, with only the upper torso and head showing.

The image is divided into two panels, with the top panel showing the sink or basin with people inside, and the bottom panel showing the characters in the background. The style of the image is typical of manga, with a focus on action and emotion.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 14:27:17 No.39907718 Report

>>39907665

>>39907281

>>39907083

Indeed. Strengthen your spirit for the times to come. May not be in 2 years as MJKilla says, but part of bible prophecy must be fulfilled. The mark of the beast was foreshadowed with the covid vaccine and bitcoin, neuralink will allow it to fully manifest: "In those days people will seek death and will not find it; they will long to die, but death will flee from them." >>39905665

>>39907084

>>39907573

>>39905582

>>39904922

It's possible, but the exact dates are dubious. As I said before, all the building blocks are in place. I said 5 years before (when covid hit) that the world would max have 20-30 years left. Cashless society and social credit are required for the mark of the beast which coincides with the end times.

Intuitis !10WwbtC3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 14:47:56 No.39907852 Report

Quoted By: >>39907859 >>39907867

>>39907576

Combination.

But, the general process is ingesting as much information as I can that I come across from every aspect and source (there is no ultimate source of Truth in here), and "filtering" it through my higher self/intelligent infinity

I also have a mathematics framework that can adapt between Cube metaphysical geometry and main cosmos geometry that can fill in some gaps, but math and logic are egoistic in here so that's just a springboard, not ultimate Truth

But, if you're curious, this is the hierarchy:

Unknown race (some likely know, I do not)

Anunnaki (and pleadians, but their motivations were orthogonal and not the same as the Anunnaki)

Gave responsibility over the cube to:

Trantaloids and reptilians

Who manage

Greys

Trantaloids see themselves as more important than reptilians as they manage the "fabric" of our egoic programming whereas reptilians are more "boots on the ground" psyop at societal level

Greys are just biosynths and any "species" can pilot them, but they are primarily a "type" of Human

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 14:49:22 No.39907859 Report

Quoted By: >>39907870

>>39907852

How do I use the highest form of magic?

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 14:51:29 No.39907867 Report

Quoted By: >>39908435

>>39907852

You're on Zed's server. Whats your username

Intuitis !10WwbtC3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 14:52:22 No.39907870 Report

>>39907859

Not something I've delved into too much at this point. My current path is less about that and more about service and awakening. Though, at the end of the day most magick is simply intent + ritual + connection to intelligent energy through source

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:01:13 No.39907920 Report

Quoted By: >>39907939 >>39907947 >>39907948

39907083

39907281

>oh wow cool i always thought gantz was just a hentai like anime i'll check it out thanks

39907248

39907573 >not a reveal more like a global genocide but sure next year not 2 more years

39907375 >no they are going to kill people of all races indiscriminately

39907665 picrel's who ?

39907718

>u know that christianity and the old test was modeled after to different alien civilizations right and it most made up shit but good luck next year i guess

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:05:10 No.39907939 Report

Quoted By: >>39907980 >>39908021

>>39907920

>>39904464

OP if you a real one, tell me what MJ 12 knows about the upcoming magnetic pole shift:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ihwoIlxHI3Q>

>inb4 that doesn't matter

it does, it is already affecting every planet in the solar system and the sun, whatever fuels the ET vehicles would get affected by this too.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:08:54 No.39907947 Report

Quoted By: >>39908034

>>39907920

To make a quoted post linkable, it needs 2 chevrons in front of the post number. This can be automated by clicking the post number of any post you wish to quote. Also, text from a post can be quoted by highlighting the text prior to clicking the post number.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:09:08 No.39907948 Report

Quoted By: >>39908061

>>39907920

The picture's prophecy. Is it true? Is that what trantaloids act like and look like?

Intuitis !10Wwbtc3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:15:03 No.39907980 Report

Quoted By: >>39908065

>>39907939

Pole shift originally was meant for between 1998-2012 and was going to coincide with a massive solar flare cleansing the earth

This didn't happen due to the extension of the time lateral/cube

We're currently playing "catch up" on solar and magnetic activity, but in a way that's more "growing pains" than cataclysm

Fault lines will be a poor choice to live by, but there won't be a global crustal slide like there may otherwise have been.

However, this is just the physical mechanics of harvest/ascension. Because of this, different levels of vibration will experience different "events"

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:22:02 No.39908021 Report

Quoted By: >>39908064

>>39907939

it won't do shit last time the poles shifted was when planet bibiru(yes the anunaki stuff is real stitchin was right only in his book lost book of Enki is real word for word cuz he got leaked files from someone in the gov the rest of his books are bullshit that's why they are soo different) came too close to earth and shifted the pole drowned the majority of earth in water not all including Atlantis yes it was a real city in Antarctica most of it was destroyed but it is still a big active city under the ice it was made by the reptilians millions of years ago before our creators arrived but now houses some escaped nazis and their decedents the other base in antartica is made and controlled by the tall whites and the tall brown ET civs and other humanoids

>as for the magnetic pole affecting the spacecrafts that's bullshit if you want to know how they worked check out bob lazar's excerpts from the government's bible that's all true except the second half of the documentary

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:24:20 No.39908034 Report

>>39907947

YEAH TRIED THAT BUT IT SAYS THAT MY REPLY IS A SPAM WHEN I TRY TO POST IT BUT WHEN I REMOVE THE CHEVRONS IT GET POSTED I DON'T KNOW WHY SORRY THOUGH

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:26:31 No.39908042 Report

I'm not reading all this. Everyone knows it's 40% and in two weeks.

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:30:31 No.39908061 Report

Quoted By: >>39908791

>>39907948
EVERYTHING RICK DOTY SAYS IS TRUE BUT THE PIC IS WRONG
<https://x.com/ExiledEarthling/status/1617862709437169668>
Intuitis !10Wwbtc3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:31:51 No.39908064 Report
Quoted By: >>39908069
>>39908021
Holy shit all of this is psyop misinformation

Anunnaki predate Atlantis by a LONG time, and it wasn't in Antarctica lmao

Yeah OP is either a LARP or was fed disinfo by glowies to spread here
MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:32:52 No.39908065 Report
Quoted By: >>39908067
>>39907980

OK GUYS THIS DUDE IS JUST MAKING SHIT UP ABOUT CUBE AND SOME SHIT IF YOU WANT TO LISTEN TO I DON'T CARE ALL I CARE ABOUT IS GETTING THE WORD OUT TO TRY TO WARN AS MUCH PEOPLE AS POSSIBLE BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE
Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:34:00 No.39908067 Report
Quoted By: >>39908077
>>39908065

Warn us about what?
MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:34:23 No.39908069 Report
Quoted By: >>39908080
>>39908064

OK IF YOU SAY SO BRO GOOD LUCK NEXT YEAR
MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:36:28 No.39908077 Report
Quoted By: >>39908130
>>39908067

bro read my first posts the fake alien invasion if you don't act you and your family will all die SNH
Intuitis !10Wwbtc3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:37:06 No.39908080 Report
Quoted By: >>39908142
>>39908069

Brother I appreciate you attempting to share knowledge but you've been fed 30% truth with 70% deception to be an unwitting pawn.

Yes, 2026 will have a big event (most likely, could be another date/time) but the details you're describing are meticulously crafted for a narrative.

And yes, even MJ12 is being deceived. They aren't the handlers or controllers, just useful pawns who think they hold power.
Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:47:57 No.39908130 Report
Quoted By: >>39908147
>>39908077

Proof?
MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:51:38 No.39908142 Report
Quoted By: >>39908147 >>39908167 >>39908198
>>39908080

HEY LISTEN YOU ARE 100% BUT LIKE I SAID NEXT YEAR WILL FIND OUT MY INFO IS REAL AND IF YOU SOMEHOW SURVIVED YOU WILL SEE THE GFL AND GET TO LEAVE THIS PLANET BY THE END OF 2027 SO TIME IS ON MY SIDE ON THIS ONE AGAIN LIKE I SAID GOOD LUCK BTW I WON'T RESPOND TO YOU AGAIN AFTER THIS REPLY BUT I HOPE YOU MAKE BYE
MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:52:42 No.39908147 Report
Quoted By: >>39908159
>>39908130
>>39908142

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:55:07 No.39908159 Report
Quoted By: >>39908170
>>39908147

No

Proof now.

Also, learn to spell, no one will take you seriously while you're on a shitty trip and posting nonsense.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:56:10 No.39908164 Report

>>39904472

You're right and everyone here is already an alien this world should be smited telepathic demons run our world and are harvesting us

Intuitis !10WwbtC3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:57:53 No.39908167 Report

>>39908142

The GFL is not who you think. They are rather "neutral" and have both positive and negative intentions. Stop looking to false saviours. "Leaving earth" physically is not going to get you out of the cube. Ascension does

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 15:59:48 No.39908170 Report

Quoted By: >>39908184

>>39908159

I'M GOING TO WRITE MY POST ON WHY I'M CERTAIN ABOUT THIS INFO BEING REAL BTW I'M NOT AMERICAN AND ENGLISH ISN'T MY FIRST LANGUAGE OK NOW I'LL SEE YOU GUYS ON MY NEW THREAD ON HOW I KNOW ALL THIS STUFF

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 16:02:10 No.39908181 Report

Right I've read some of it and it's completely stupid. If there was some sort of shadow organisation like mj12 then there's far better ways for them to unite the world than whatever you're proposing and with the state the US is in now it's as if they're working counterproductively.. also, the world is bigger than the US.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 16:02:36 No.39908184 Report

Quoted By: >>39909152

>>39908170

>my new thread

This thread hasn't reached its bump limit (after 300 replies) yet.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 16:05:55 No.39908198 Report

Quoted By: >>39908319 >>39908900

>>39908142

>YOU WILL SEE THE GFL AND GET TO LEAVE THIS PLANET

I am not that anon, but this is how I know you're peddling disinfo or more likely, you're a clueless teen sharing random bullshit from all over the place lacking ability to discern truth from lies you've been fed (and yes, you type like a teen and I don't merely mean your grasp of English but attitude).

We know since so long that getting onto alien ships if/once they come will likely lead to suffering. Surprise surprise, now come you, with the spiel of federation which already is suspicious and now doubly so if they pushed for one government - and you urge us to do just that.

Intuitis !10WwbtC3T6 Mon 24 Feb 2025 16:32:16 No.39908319 Report

>>39908198

This anon knows.

All external saviours are ego traps

Look within. Stop looking without for help

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 16:55:06 No.39908435 Report

>>39907867

Igoon4poo

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 17:55:28 No.39908744 Report

>>39904464

>next year

Why that's only 2 more weeks away

Good thing you're not a tripfag fraud looking for attention

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 18:01:33 No.39908774 Report

>>39904500

Me too anon

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 18:05:12 No.39908791 Report

>>39908061

>trusting a glow nigger

Rick Doty psyoped a ufo researcher to the point that he committed suicide. You can't trust anything he says. He was a literal glow nigger who participated in psyops against the ufo community and he openly admitted it.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 18:12:15 No.39908832 Report

Quoted By: >>39911058

>some tard who can't use capitals or punctuation expects people to just believe he's privy to super secret knowledge Tiresome.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 18:13:28 No.39908840 Report
>>39904464

>WE NEED TO UNITE AS A ONE WORLD GOVERNMENT TO DEFEAT OUR COMMEN ENEMY does that ring a bell bois

anon we already live in nwo

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 18:27:09 No.39908900 Report
>>39908198

What the oldest dont get in the ship reference?

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 2024-10-21_06-57-12-898.jpg, 240KiB, 800x450

The image is a promotional graphic for a video series titled "LIVE FOREVER" by Indian Paranormal Ambassador. The graphic features a man with a beard and sunglasses, wearing a black shirt, and standing in front of a snowy background. He has a serious expression on his face. The background includes various elements such as a snowflake, a red rose, and a dragon-like creature. The text on the graphic includes the title "LIVE FOREVER" in large, bold letters, followed by "TITTUTE OUTLETS" in smaller text. Below this, there is a tagline that reads "START A NEW WORLD" in a larger font. The text is arranged in a way that draws attention to the central figure and the title. The overall style of the image is colorful and dynamic, with a focus on the theme of the video series.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 18:48:32 No.39909037 Report

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 18:54:32 No.39909075 Report
>>39904464

>60% of humanity is going to die next year
60% of the time, it works all the time.

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 19:08:38 No.39909152 Report

Quoted By: >>39909206

>>39908184

i don't really know how any of this works but i know that my fried told me that 4chan treads get deleted after 24hr and archived so that's why i'm doing a new thread check it out it's posted already

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 19:20:34 No.39909206 Report

Quoted By: >>39909361 >>39909372

>>39909152

>4chan threads get deleted after 24hrs

They don't usually get deleted, but archived. They don't get archived due to age, but whether they reach their bump limit or don't get bumped before falling off page 11. When a thread archives, it'll say at the top in red and also have a file cabinet icon in the OP.

>check it out

A followup thread can be linked in the current one.

>>39909083

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 19:46:48 No.39909361 Report

>>39909206

THANKS WANNA BECOME FRIENDS IRL?

BTW COME OVER TO THE OTHER THREAD BRO IF U WANT OFC

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 19:49:24 No.39909372 Report

>>39909206

OH SO DO YOU THINK I SHOULD POST MY PAR 2 HERE ASWELL ?

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1000_F_629600825_A19szJkj5M9MiUB (...).jpg,
438KiB, 1000x1000

The image depicts a futuristic cityscape under a night sky filled with numerous flying saucers. The city is densely populated with tall buildings, some of which are illuminated with lights, suggesting a bustling urban environment. The sky is dark, with a large, bright moon visible in the upper left corner. The city is situated on a hill, and the landscape is dotted with trees and rocks.

In the foreground, a person is standing on a ledge, gazing out at the city. They are facing away from the viewer, and their back is to the camera, giving a sense of solitude and contemplation. The person is wearing a dark jacket and a beanie, and their posture suggests a moment of quiet reflection.

The image is a digital artwork with a realistic style, and it is rendered in a way that emphasizes the surreal and otherworldly elements of the scene. The overall composition creates a sense of awe and wonder, as the viewer is drawn into the imagined world of the city and its inhabitants.

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:28:33 No.39909583 Report

Quoted By: >>39909586

SO HERE IT GOES MY ORIGIN STORY I GUESS ON HOW I KNOW ALL THIS STUFF

>be me a 15 y.o Tunisian dad just died in may 2016

>we live in a city close to the cost but we are going to bury my dad in our ancestral farmland

>my grandfathers farm is were i was mostly raised and grew up before we move into the city >at that point i haven't visited it in almost 3 years it's a very secluded area of north tunisia deep DEEP in the atlas mountains but super green and an unbelievably beautiful place with your average Mediterranean climate just perfect

>3 days after the funeral me my mom and our aunt who live in the same city discover that we have a new neighbor a new land owner to the farm right next to my grandpa's >and them most shocking of all he was an american at the time i thought it was cool cuz growing up my dad exposed me a lot to western media and culture and i knew english every well too >anyway during our 2 week stay there i only ever saw him 2 times always on a tractor with other workers with many other construction vehicles like backhoe loader cement mixer ect >grandpa tells us that rumors in the village say he's rich like super loaded

>he looked old like in his late 60s but built like a brick shithouse at least 1.95m at least and wide as a bull gray straight hair in a cool style >but with scary as fuck stare that pierces trough ur soul with his icy blue eyes >after we leave i never really thought about him except when grandpa or my uncle calls to check on us and mention him by passing the only thing that didn't make sense to me at the time was why did he leave america the 3rd biggest country on earth and come settle here his country has lots of land and a whole ass of topological and ecological systems from deserts to woods to mountains to tropical climates in florida and shit (i was always good in geography and history class) but i though maybe he's italian or just likes Mediterranean climate for some reason but at the time i couldn't care less about it desu

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:29:45 No.39909586 Report

Quoted By: >>39909598

>>39909583

>fast forward to 2018 I was 17 a highschool dropout a loser with no job always fighting with my mom she hates me and so do I

>by summer of that year I decide to leave home and stay at my grandpa's farm for at least the end of the summer >get over there first 3 days go by great the smell the air the views the heat everything is perfect over there couldn't be happier >day 4 we are (uncle grandpa and some of my aunts) hanging outside Infront of the house after iftar watching the stars eating kaak warka(for those who know it was cheap back then) and drinking juice living the best life I remember this date cuz it was Friday 2 day before Laylat al Qadr and 4 days before Ramadan ends and eid begins so it was June 8th

>cool uncle turns to my other uncle and says mark(not his real name) hasn't checked in for a while is he doing ok other unc say idk I look around confused asf and ask who the fuck is mark in my head I thought someone from the village was nicknamed mark cuz those type of nicknames are common here >they say no did u forget the American old man who u thought was cool his name is mark >turns out after 2 years of living there he became super close friends with my cool unc who lives there permanently with my grandfather u know his only neighbors

>I remembered him and everything I saw at the funeral and I say is he nice he seemed scary they tell me his super cool he ever learned Tunisian Arabic

>I was shocked that that scary mysterious old man would even talk to people other than those who work for him and turns out that this mf even fasted for a few days of Ramadan to see how hard can it be and to get closer to my senpai and broke his fast at our farm

>I was amazed desu not 30 mins later a big ass Isuzu D-Max truck rolls over in front of the house our main drive dirt-way and it's was pretty new to judging from it's shape and licence even back then they where expensive as fuck

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:31:07 No.39909598 Report

Quoted By: >>39909606

>>39909586

>old man gets out it's him mark he looks the exact fucking way like he did 2 years ago same haircut beard scruff and all >he opens his mouth and the first thing he says is "aslamu alykoum saha chribetkoum" I was like wtf is he muslim turns out later that he doesn't believe in anything he just assimilated really well for someone who has been here for just 2 years

>anyways night goes by I was too shy to start asking him questions about Hollywood and America and shit but maybe on sunday I will

>sunday night it's Laylat al Qadr all the family is gathered on the farm even my mom came the men go to the back by the barn and the women stay in the front this time he comes we hangout turns out he is super sweet for a guy with his looks

>I was too shy to ask but he did notice that and he started talking to me and when I tell you will be shocked on how good his Arabic was it's almost like he was from here he starts asking me how old am I what I do in life and all shit I lie and tell him i'm working but was taking a vacation but my unc turns to him and says im lying lol what an asshole anyways I get embarrassed but he didn't he told me so you don't have anything to do why not come by my house tomorrow and help me clean the bush and shit that's been growing infront of his house I tell him sorry but there's no way i'll work in the June heat in Ramadan while fasting he laughs his ass off and tell me ok after second day of eid come by then I agree

>6 days later I arrive to his house I knew the place even played there where I was little cuz the pervious owners were the family of grandpa's brother

>let me explain the land first before I continue my grandfathers land was directly facing the mountain on a small hill it's about a 120 hectares or so and directly under the mountain was mark's land almost 200 hectares it's huge guys but so beautiful too believe me like our land

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:33:24 No.39909606 Report

>>39909598

>virtually nothing has changed from what I remember it except the base of the mountain which starts directly behind his house which is like 17 meter far from his back door there was like a giant ass door like 6m by 6m in the fucking base of the fucking mountain >first I was shocked then asked myself wtf is that door is it a dead end or did he tunnel in the fucking mountain and the I remembered 2 yrs ago when he was with those workers and all the construction stuff it connected in my head by then but I didn't ask him about it

>anyways here's the thing summer went by fast we slowly became friends turns out mark was alone he had no kids or wife with him his son died in an accident and his wife from cancer 10 years before 2018 and he used to work in the us gov too I thought he was lying cuz of the american flags and shit and he has pictures with American gens in his office room

>he told me he was a D.I.A agent used to be stationed in Bolling AF base at the time in 2018 I didn't know shit about ufo's or any of that shit but I remember feeling disappointed that he wasn't fbi or cia or even nsa cuz back then we didn't know about the dia in here it was never in any movies or video games but whatever >jump forward to last week at my grandfathers farm I knew I was going to leave but I needed to but I wanted to know wtf was behind that big ass door my unc knew and grandpa too but they would never tell me and would always say u should ask him yourself maybe he'll tell u and the thing is this mother fucked brought his construction workers from another fucking state all the from sousse by the sea so whatever it was he was hiding something and I was dying to know

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:34:39 No.39909613 Report

>2 nights before I leave we are hanging outside the same spot in my grandfathers farm it's late 2 am old man still wants to stay and talk a little longer but unc says he's super tired and is going to sleep so it's just the two of us left we talk a little then I realize that this is my last chance to ask him about it I get quiet for a second the I look at him and say like an idiot what is behind that door mark?

>my questions startled cuz it was so sudden then he laughs he says that he knew I was going to ask him about it before I leave he looks at me and says do you want to see it right now at that point I was so excited my heart was beating 200 bpm from excitement he gives me his car keys and says how about you drive us there then I looked at him like this guy is the coolest father figure ever I knew how to drive I do it always with my grandpa's truck but never with his truck so plucked the keys from his hand started the car and drove

>I stop the car 2 meters away from his house he says to wait for me here and goes to get the door keys from his office >comes back opens it btw this gate has like 5 locks and he tells me they are imported opens the doors and immediately we are confronted by this dark big ass tunnel he goes to the wall on the right side of the tunnel entrance and and flips a switch now this is the crazy part this tunnel is 70 meters deep lights and cables are hanging above us like a mine and he has 10 big ass rooms one massive kitchen and a fucking well inside the tunnels in the middle of the mountain lmao this guy is nuts in a cool old man kinda way though

>I didn't tour the whole place but it was big each room had minimum decorations except from the "the living room" it had tv computer a fucking generator and he says he has 2 other back up gens also imported in the other rooms but other than that it looked pretty normal aside from the color of stone on the walls

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:36:37 No.39909624 Report

>after the reveals I look at him and ask him why the fuck spend all this money and do all this when he could live in the fucking house which was very big and beautiful that my relatives built during the colonization period of the country in French style

>he turns around and looks at me with the same look that he gave me back when I first saw him and says "this is his my dooms day bunker" in English and he knew I could understand him cuz we talked in eng before at that point I was a little creeped out and I said in my head no one is perfect after all and I kinda wated to leave it's like 3am or later in the night and i'm in a cave with this foreigner alone and he seems to be one of those conspiracy theorists American preppers but idk maybe I was freaking out without a reason back then anyways I tell him to leave but before that he puts his hand on my shoulders and tell me "don't make me regret trusting you ok " I tell him in Arabic "all you have is men" it's a saying in here that means you trusted a men and he gives me a ride back and that's it

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:38:15 No.39909631 Report

>after that the week is over and i'm back to my shitty life in my shitty city missing the outdoors like crazy but life goes on >so since then I got a job but I go back every summer sometimes 3 times a year and since 2019 my relationship with mark only grow closer and stronger he was like a father to me and so did he's relationship with my family over there >fast forward to summer of 2023 he leaves for the U.S for a month and tells me he needs someone to look out for his door but he tells I can only stay in his property by myself nobody else I agree he goes there comes back in late April

>this time with an old man same height as me 1.73m and his wife says that this is chris and sally(not their real names) an old DIA colleague of his and his wife tells he these 2 are going to be living with him for the long-term

>chris speaks a little bit of broken standard Arabic not Tunisian Arabic like mark his wife doesn't and she uses her phone to translate when talking to my family or other Tunisians though they rarely leave the farm but that same nice to me so all good >jump to December of that year I always kept up with mark by messenger we text and sometimes we facetime so I receive updates from him sometimes before my family from over there he tell me that my grandfather who was 92 that year is dying he has kidney failure he took him to the doctor with unc but they kept it a secret from the rest of the family and the doc says he doesn't have much time left months at most

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:38:16 No.39909632 Report

>>39904464

i reject this reality and replace it with something more fun, july 16 2026 there'll be a playboy mothership and itll be all alien hotties, and there'll be no invasion but a worldwide trend of alien babe or stud (depending what sorta alien u like) magazines and hopefully robot hotties too for robot enjoyers (me), and they'll be gnarly at cosplays, take care OP

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:39:33 No.39909639 Report

>I hang up start ballin like a little bitch and then tell my mom we go visit turns out mark took care of all his medication and doctor expenses by himself(great guy) when grandpa was short on money we all thank him and tell him ur one of us now like an uncle desu

>July 10 2024 grandpa finally dies he suffered too much but his last hours were peaceful mark contributed a lot to the funeral he loved my grandpa a lot he said he was like an uncle to him too I was thinking this American is weird asf cuz he acts more arab and less like an american desu

>after the funeral is done and after everybody has left it was only me cool unc and mak and chris in the same spot as the first time we met in 2018

>unc says he's going to sleep I tell him go ahead I'm staying with these guys a little longer

>10 minutes later mark looks at me and says I've been waiting to tell you this but now I have to cuz time is against us at first I thought he was going to tell me he has cancer and he's dying but before I start crying to the thought of loosing my unc my best friends he says everyone you know and love is going to die an you can't do anything about I looked at him like wtf are you talking about I thought it was some sick joke but nah

Zhan Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:39:55 No.39909645 Report

>>39904464

I'll smash it don't worry chill

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:41:40 No.39909662 Report

Quoted By: >>39911089

>basically says that when worked for the US gov he saw the files of a secret plan to kill off most humans alive

>he tells me everything I already posted the first time and he goes on how fucked the MJ12 fuckers are and that the bunker is his last hope it can house up to 60 ppl and he has guns and all this mean while his friend chris is looking at me like maybe he shouldn't tell me this but mark notices and says that i'm like his son by this point and then mark continues rambling on and on about this whole thing and how we don't need to kill all these people and on and on by this point I was a strong atheist and didn't really practice islam for a while I thought that there's life out there but always dismissed the ufo stuff

>desu at that moment something inside me told me that there's something wrong with this something doesn't feel right but at that night was exhausted and sad and all mainly angry that my grandpa died

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:42:48 No.39909671 Report

Quoted By: >>39911089

>he tell me that he already told my cool unc about this back in 2022 and was gonna tell my grandpa about it as well but my uncle's reaction was so bad because (my uncle too was built like a brick shithouse but not as tall as mar only 1.90m but bigger in mass and looked scarier then him) he was deeply devout muslim and doesn't even allow the idea of questioning his religion to even be debated Infront of him and threatened to cut him off from the family and even fist fight him(my unc did apologize later after seeing how mark helped grandpa with his illness in his last days and now considers him a brother for life)so mark knew to shut the fuck up about it and not bring it up to me even or gandpa

>I tell him I don't really care my current state is kinda fucked up and I wanted to enjoy the summer breeze and not think about anything but I did apologize to him say it's the sadness speaking anyways I stay there for a few days and each time we hangout he tries to info dump me with this stuff that already posted and he goes on and on about the alien contract and how it ends in September and how he's trying to save us cuz we are like family to him and all that shit and chris is always there to tell me that he's telling the truth and shit but whatever

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:44:13 No.39909680 Report

Quoted By: >>39911089

>UNTIL ONE DAY WHERE MY WHOLE WORLD CHANGED I SAW THAT RICK DOTY WAS LISTENING TO SPACE ON TWITTER AND THERE WAS THIS GUY REPTILE AND CHARLES AND HE'S IN PRISION AND HE CLAIMS TO HAVE HAD CLASSIFIED BREIFINGS BUT THE HE TALKS ABOUT THE CONTRACT THAT ENDS IN SEPTEMBER 2024 AND THE PLAN OF THE GFL AND MJ12 AND

2026 FAKE ALIEN INCASION AND 2027 WE BECOME PART OF THE GFL

>I LITREALLY ALMOST HAD A HEART ATTACK I SATRTED SCREAMING LIKE A CRAZY PERSON SCARED MY MOM AND THE NEIGHBORS AND I IMMEDITLY CALLED MARK AND TOLD HIM ABOUT THIS SHIT HE COULDN'T BELIEVE IT EITHER HE STARTED CRYING SAYING THAT THERE HOPE AND ALL THAT SHIT I HANG UP AND WENT TO HUG MY MOM FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE MY DAD DIED CRYING LIKE A LITTLE BITCH CUZ AT THAT MOMENT I REALIZED WE ARE FUCKED

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 20:45:22 No.39909683 Report

I HAVE TO GO SOMETHING CAME UP I'LL BE BACK THOUGH

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 22:55:51 No.39910345 Report

Quoted By: >>39910388

hey i'm back

>so after that happened I took public transport and went straight to mark >showed him Charles twitter acc he said he's 100% legit cuz of what he saw in the files

>I follow Charles for a few weeks to see if should talk to him turns out he's a complete fucking idiot who thinks he's the modern day mike Tyson

>even though he knows this real and saw the truth he decides to post meaningless shit like who his favorite rapper is and what his gf is doing and how pretty she and how life is and that stuff that has nothing to do with any of this he basically get frustrated really fast and blocks people on a whim >doesn't know how to convey the truth in a way that will make everyone list and give his words a shot me and mark debated reaching out to him but he in the end decided otherwise

>TURNS OUT MARK HAD HIS OWN SOMEWHAT SICK PLAN HE SAYS THAT UNLESS 10S OF MILLIONS OF AMERICANS TURN ON THEIR GOVERMENT MJ12 WILL WIN AND GO ON WITH THE PLAN

>TELL ME HE HAS THE EVIDENCE BUT IF HE RELEASES IT NOW IT WILL BASICALLY GET HIM KILLED CUZ HE SAYS THAT PEOPLE WILL SAY IT'S FAKE NO MATTER WHAT HE DOES

>HE'S PLAN IS TO WAIT OUT THE STORM DO NOTHING WHILE BILLIONS DIE

>EMEARGE FROM HIDING WHEN SEPTEMBER 2027 COMES PLAY ALONG AS IF HE KNOWS NOTHING THEN WHEN WE JOIN THE GFL EXOPSE EVERYTHING TO REMAINIG HUMANS

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 22:57:00 No.39910347 Report

Quoted By: >>39910388

>CUZ AFTER 2027 WE BECOME OFFICIALLY PART OF THE GFL SO MJ12 CAN'T DO THIS CLOACK AND DAGGER SHIT THEY CAN'T KILL PEOPLE WHO ARE ABOUT TO COME FORWARD CUZ THE GFL CAN INTERVENE IF YOU ARE A MEMBER OF IT

>BASICALLY HE COPIED THE EVIDENCE A TRILLION TIMES VISTED 27 OR 28 I KINDA FORGAT LOCATIONS WORLD WIDE AND HID IT IN PLACES THAT NO ONE WILL FIND OUT ABOUT EXCET HIM AND CHRIS

>HE WILL GIVE THE LOCATIONS IN CASE SOMETHING HAPPENS TO HIM AND SAME WITH CHRIS AND HIS WIFE

>so then I asked him why not go to Antarctica or stay in bumfuck nowhere in his country he told me he despises America and it has become(even though he has like at least 4 fucking flags medals and copies of the constitution but ok whatever) in the last 100 years is not the same country as the founders envisioned (sure whatever you say bud)

>he tells me he doesn't know exactly where the ET bases are in Antarctica plus he can't go in his age over there and drag supplies and walk around a barren frozen desert to find ET's so that's a no from him >as for America he says that MJ12 knows about those doomsday prepper cuz of the tv shows and shit online and will hit all cities and a lot of places in the Midwest and the south even military bases to make it look like they took losses

>he said 50% sub-Saharan Africa will be wiped out from the face of the earth also cuba Jamaica and Haiti and DR too will be taken out middle east is a big no and so is Japan and the rest of asia Europe this an even bigger NO MJ12 will destroy all of the major cites including wiping the whole of paris and rome(sick fucks all of that beautiful art just gone)

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace fwewumk3u7pd1.jpg, 130KiB, 947x1200

The image is a digital representation of a map with a title at the top that reads "TUNISIA" in bold, capitalized letters. Below the title, there is a subtitle that reads "By REFERENCE/REFLECTIONS, ORGANISATIONS, AND PROFESSIONALISM." The map is colored in a gradient of yellow and orange, with the majority of the map showing a yellow background and orange outlines.

The map is divided into different regions, each with a different color and outline, representing different areas of Tunisia. The regions are labeled with names such as "ALGERIA," "TUNISIA," "BELGIA," "MOROCCO," "TUNISIA," "ALGERIA," "LIBYIA," and "TUNISIA." Each region is marked with a different color, with the exception of "ALGERIA" which is colored in a shade of gray. The map is oriented with north at the top, and the map's scale is not visible in the image. The map appears to be a digital representation, possibly a visualization of population density or a similar concept, as suggested by the text at the top. The style of the image is modern and digital, with a focus on data visualization and geographical representation.

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 22:59:13 No.39910355 Report

Quoted By: >>39910388

>he says he always wanted to settle in either Italy or Greece but since he found out about the plan he changed his mind but stayed at Mediterranean his last choices were Tunisia and Algeria in the end he chose here cuz after living there for a while he realized that our citizens are more open about certain shit not as strictly Islamic as the rest of north Africa plus they hated strangers there especially non muslims in the country (btw i'm half Algerian I can confirm that if he did what he did over there they will drag him out of his hideout and kill him for the resources lamo)

>plus he said my country isn't as densely populated as let's say the uk cuz the uk is barely bigger than as by a little but they have 63 million ppl mean while we have 13 million people and most of them live around the coastline so they are fuck but he say that since my country wasn't on the total annihilation list they will only stick the coastline kill the majority like 8 or 9 million and leave the rest to survive plus most of our inland is somewhat empty check the pic related so he said he's pretty safe from the kill zone over here even if something happens we can go deep into his bunker (by November last year he made it 144 meters deep and it's dug in as to go somewhat down)

>he says if we pass the fake aliens kill zone our biggest worry will be humas that's also he wanted to get the fuck out of the usa cuz they all have like m16's or Idk and that in times of crisis ppl will only care about them self's at best their families but he says that we will turn on each other and many will become cannibals too he said the fake aliens controlled by MJ12 humans will most likely finish the job

AND NOW WE WAIT THAT'S IT THAT'S ALL I KNOW BOIS

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 23:06:45 No.39910388 Report

Quoted By: >>39910472

>>39910355

>>39910347

>>39910345

I wish you and your white unc luck.

<https://worldbuilding.stackexchange.com/questions/119650/what-foods-are-possible-for-an-underground-society>

Does he have a lot of food? I recommend having stores of food in-case the air goes bad or winter hits hard. Hardtack/rice, cheese wheels. Put some locks on it so nobody drunk or retarded fucks with the food.

Good luck man. May the lying tyrants die. Might visit you in astral projection, but be careful with any spirits that come to you wanting deals or information.

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 23:23:11 No.39910472 Report

>>39910388

thanks man u sound cool he's not related to me by blood but yeah love him to death i guess lol

>as for the food stuff this guy grows his own crops wheat barley tomato's potatos all that shit his land is massive and as for crops failure this mf was a military vet he has stacks and i mean STACKS of MRE's aside from the refrigerated stuff in 4 separate big ass fridges plus he has rooms where he stores for food he has back ups for the back ups of his back up lmao he's a fucking genius and he also dug another well and brought in another massive water tube from outside to the inside through the passage way under the door and another tube for his sceptic tank which takes the shit outside which i helped him dig and bury with cement a little while back even if that's fucked he has another septic tank inside too and he has gas masks oxygen tanks and all sort of medical stuff he bought or imported this guy is an s tier prepper no doubt about it

>as for the spirits stuff that's called para terrestrial charles mcneal is right about that stuff u wanna spook the blast arabic or latin and see what happens

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 23:23:13 No.39910473 Report

Quoted By: >>39910483 >>39910501 >>39910554

>>39906638

>sorry that's a nah

nothing personal brown boy, only Aryans can survive

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 23:24:31 No.39910483 Report

>>39910473

whatever you say

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 20250207_033723.jpg, 671KiB, 4160x3120

The image is a dark, blurry photograph with a predominantly black background. In the center of the image, there is a small, bright, red object that appears to be a light source or a camera flash. The light source is positioned slightly to the left of the center and is the only bright spot in the otherwise dark image. The photograph has a grainy texture, suggesting it may have been taken with a low-resolution camera or with a slow shutter speed. There are no discernible texts or other objects in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a nighttime photograph, with the bright red light source being the main focus.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 23:25:57 No.39910490 Report

Quoted By: >>39910714

>>39904464

No, no.

Something much much cooler than Gayliens is about to happen.

Stay tuned

;

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 20250204_215947.jpg, 3MiB, 4160x3120

The image shows a close-up view of a toilet bowl with a brownish-yellowish liquid, which appears to be a mixture of water and some substance, possibly a food residue or a chemical. The bowl is partially filled with water, and the water is stained with brownish-yellowish residue, suggesting that the toilet has not been flushed recently. There is a small, dark brown object floating in the water, which could be a piece of food or a small object that has been left in the water. The background of the image is not visible, focusing the viewer's attention solely on the toilet bowl and its contents. The image does not contain any text or discernible brands. The style of the image is a straightforward, unfiltered photograph of a common household item.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 23:28:58 No.39910501 Report

Quoted By: >>39910554

>>39910473

Stupid dustbunny.

Suck down my parasites.

Anonymous Mon 24 Feb 2025 23:33:28 No.39910524 Report

Quoted By: >>39910554

Cheney is a gigaracist. It's oger brown boy

MJkiller Mon 24 Feb 2025 23:41:53 No.39910554 Report

>>39910524

>>39910501

>>39910473

guess you hatred will catch up to u and blow back in your face my intentions where to warn people of all races but i wish u good luck next year

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 00:22:20 No.39910672 Report

anyway i'm going to sleep now see ya later bois

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 00:23:53 No.39910677 Report

Quoted By: >>39910682

MAYBE I'LL STICK AROUND A LITTLE BUT WE'LL SEE

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 00:26:00 No.39910682 Report

Quoted By: >>39910705

>>39910677

So the world will end in 2027?

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 00:33:41 No.39910705 Report

Quoted By: >>39910709

>>39910682

what no bro BAKA just read my posts and replies nothing is ending by 2027 we will become part of the GFL we will get everything we wish for btw how we get there is the fucked up part

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 00:34:47 No.39910709 Report

>>39910705

SORRY MEANT TO SAY BAKA NOT BAKA WTF LAMO

Vaelion Tue 25 Feb 2025 00:35:21 No.39910714 Report

Quoted By: >>39910871

>>39910490

Actual Gayliens, part of the Andromeda Council. Enjoy the video and the journey of self discovery javascript:quote('39907210');

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 01:48:22 No.39910871 Report

Quoted By: >>39910960

>>39910714

WTF IS THAT AND HOW DO I WATCH IT?

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 01:51:13 No.39910876 Report

Quoted By: >>39910897

>>39904464

End it all

Jesus Christ the of robots and ai that will enslave us is 100% real and even if we don't experience it or even our children won't experience.

Our grandchildren 100% will live in chains.

I am already starting to see them set up the cages that will enslave us all.

The age of robots, universal basic income, ai, and social credit.

You will be have your every need chartered to in this future but you will be dead in everything but the flesh.

Look how every place now is a brutal semi automated dystopian shithole

Now imagine when ai and robots take over by at the latest year 2040

We have 15 years till this nightmare with a 100% certainty.

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 02:08:47 No.39910897 Report

>>39910876

NOT REALLY EVERY ALIEN CIV THAT IS IN CONTACT WITH US USES AI AND ROBOTS IT NEVER TURNED ON THE BUT HUMANS ARE A SPECIAL BREED OF STUPID BUT EVEN THEN MJ12 AND THE GFL WONT LET THAT HAPPEN SO RELAX BRO WORRY ABOUT NEXT YEAR BECOME A PREPPER SPEND MORE TIME WITH YOUR LOVED ONES TOO GOOD LUCK

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 02:10:22 No.39910903 Report

Quoted By: >>39910965

now i really have to go to sleep later

Vaelion Tue 25 Feb 2025 02:37:07 No.39910960 Report

>>39910871

Lemme require the original post but feel free to come to /RWH/ to post as well, I've been datadumping.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-50MEYR37aQ> [Open]

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Gdfb3RS3Ae4&t=1085s> [Open]

>Now I am starting to believe that while the nonemotional members of the Andromeda Council are the Satanic aspect, the Antarens, otherwise known as Antarians in this video, are a part of the Luciferian component of the Andromeda Council and Bekee Lame's rise to power.

>In this video, a male member of their species, known as "lucia" is incarnate as a woman - basically roleplaying as a woman while a man in outer space under the supervision of his superiors "Annaniel" and "Hanie" - do not be fooled by the names, these people are doing so for "understanding" of the opposite sex and gender.

However, how is it fair that gender dysmorphia, homosexuality, and transsexuality are imposed on this populace? The species on Terra is a developing consciousness reaching 5th and 7th densities of human emotional, unified, and cohesive consciousness. So alongside the non-gendered and non-binary larping Arcturans, these species are degrading the masculine and feminine polarities of this species, skewing our normal and rational evolution.

The species is in an imposed lower-density matrix with self-serving "higher density" entities who are either confused about gender or are larping. This also includes etorthan nonemotional who may be taking people's bodies as avatars, imposing a hive mind alongside the arcturans imposing another hive mind.

> Tl: Dr we have extraterrestrial groups on terra imposing homosexuality, transsexuality, body dysmorphia, hive-minds, and force resonance with personal desire on this species.

Either Terrans are farmed for Lush by regressive entities forcing us to suffer for their next meal, or we are farmed for experience and the suffering stemming from imposed duality on this planet by the Andromeda Council.

Vaelion Tue 25 Feb 2025 02:38:45 No.39910965 Report

>>39910903

I also posted names of the original MJ12 and their connections according to Bill William Cooper - got super spicy for a second allon rwh.

Now I gotta go back to research but let me know if you have anything else to add this thread is pretty damn accurate.

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 02:41:15 No.39910972 Report

Maybe stop gooning and start doing Semen Retention /srg will help ya. Atleast your fictional writing quality will improve. I have been doing this for a week and have finally started writing a sci-fi novel myself.

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 02:47:58 No.39910986 Report

Circumstantial evidence proves Nations/Countries aren't real and haven't been for a long time. We have a one world government. That's why they all acted in lockstep with the covid scam and vaccines.

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 02:49:08 No.39910989 Report

Quoted By: >>39913085

>>39904732

WW3 starts Oct 31 2027 according to that guy who is in contact with Azurian aliens. Aliens will then come in to "stop ww3" at that time.

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace DEAGEL_USA.jpg, 275KiB, 563x580

The image is a screenshot of a webpage with a yellow background and white text.

At the top, there is a logo that reads "beagle.com" in white letters. Below the logo, the text "United States of America" is written in white capital letters.

The main content of the image is a table with various data points related to the United States of America.

[illegible]

crimea but didn't say it was like ww3

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 04:26:02 No.39911199 Report

Quoted By: >>39913114

I don't believe any of these invasion theories because they are all too conveniently lethal. I am not lucky enough to die in an alien invasion.

Satan Tue 25 Feb 2025 04:58:49 No.39911289 Report

>>39906233

THERE YOU GO SPOILING THE GAME AGAIN!!!!!!

IF YOU REALLY BELIEVED IN AN INFINITE CREATOR YOU WOULD TRUST IN SALVATION EVEN WITHIN THE LIE.

OH YE OF LITTLE FAITH!!!!!!

{AREN'T MY LETTERS SCARY!??}

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 05:10:35 No.39911326 Report

>>39906805

Will JC Denton save us all?

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 06:23:02 No.39911560 Report

Quoted By: >>39913361

>>39911159

The issue with these predictions is that there's so many of them that by very statistical chance some are nearly guaranteed to nail it.

I don't put much stock in such unless they come with actual actionable, precise info. Vague "bad shit will happen, hide" doesn't do much because bad shit to happen one may want to hide from is nearly guaranteed to happen to someone/many/most/all sometime in the future.

It's when you get precise dates, with verifiable info leading to them - that's when things are of value. But OP didn't really share much of that, just piles of tidbits from various sources, stories on aliens etc put together into one unactionable mess. Even if there's some truth in there, it's there by accident and mixed well with lies, to the point OP doesn't really makes any difference.

If he'd really care like he claims and has the top secret info, it wouldn't be random doomsaying, he'd be providing times, locations and names for people to investigate, contact, cooperate and organize. So far his stuff is of not much worth, with some interesting, but generally questionable tidbits - anons ITT indeed questioned, often getting no good answer.

Hell, even the very premise is suspicious. If it's really global extinction event, with all major cities expected to get razed and anyone not hiding underground being at risk as well, 40% of humanity surviving long enough to matter is not very believable.

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 13:17:29 No.39913085 Report

>>39910989

>wow never heard of that but by oct 2027 we will be part of THE GFL and all is good but that a cool find

>>39911054

>sorry bro but only majic eyes only clearance can see this stuff not secret or even top secret but yess it's not the whole southern hemisphere that's going to be safe nah only parts of Brazil and south parts of chile and Argentina plus some places in Australia and new Zealand but u can't know where the closer you are to

Antarctica the safer you are

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 13:19:03 No.39913093 Report

>>39911089

I CAN BE YOU FAMILY BRO ALL PEOPLE ARE WELCOME IN MY HOME

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 13:19:04 No.39913094 Report

>>39911159

Interesting. Can you show us the thread in the archives? Around what year was it?

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 13:22:22 No.39913108 Report

>>39911127

OK THEN POKE THE HOLES IN MY STORY

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 13:24:59 No.39913114 Report

>>39911199

a FAKE alien invasion read the story bro

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 13:32:12 No.39913135 Report

Quoted By: >>39913150 >>39913352

>>39911159

I remember one anon who was very accurate, he wasn't a timetravel anon, he was an "Illuminati insider" anon.

I bring it up often, asking here if anyone remembers him, because his shit was so accurate.

He's not in the archives, in fact, the archives are cut off right before the times that this anon was posting.

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 13:35:16 No.39913150 Report

>>39913135

Did anybody send screens of his stuff? Did he ever talk after?

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace qjjz5h5m4epc1.jpg, 243KiB, 1800x1189

The image is a candid photograph of a group of men gathered in a room. The men are dressed in formal attire, with some wearing suits and others in dress shirts and ties. They appear to be in a celebratory mood, as indicated by their smiles and laughter. The room has a formal decor, with a chandelier hanging from the ceiling and a framed portrait on the wall. The lighting in the room is warm, suggesting it might be evening or a special occasion. The men are standing close to each other, engaging in conversation, and some are holding wine glasses, indicating a social gathering. The image does not contain any discernible text.

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 14:14:27 No.39913352 Report

>>39913135

Illuminati is all bullshit they and the masons and the other so called "secret" society that everyone and their mother knows about don't run shit the gov never bothered debunking them but when it came to MJ12 it wrote a whole ass bogus word on every page and even now if u search MJ12 to see the documents u will get the fbi link debunking their existence so nah they take the blame and mj12 looks at humans and laugh at us

>And then I said 'I care about the working class!'" picture for reference

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 14:16:56 No.39913361 Report

>>39911560

>YEAH SO WHEN JULY 16 HAPPENS AND SHIT HITS THE FAN YOU'RE SAYING IT'S RANDOM LUCK HUH OK LAMO

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace world-nuclear-landscape-1200pxup (...).jpg, 674KiB, 1200x1438

The world's nuclear reactor landscape

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 14:24:09 No.39913397 Report

>>39911054

>HEY I JUST GOT BACK FROM TALKING TO MARK HE SAYS HE READ IN THE FILES THAT MJ12 WILL NOT TOUCH ANY NUCLEAR REACTORS BUT HIS COLLEAGUE SAYS HE SAW THAT THEY WILL FUCK WITH SOME NOT ALL REACTOR THEY ARE BOTH INDIFFERENT ABOUT THIS BUT IDK SO JUST WATCH OUT IF YOU LIVE ANYWHERE NEAR ON

in this picture u will now that if you live anywhere near these places you are fuck if they go off

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 14:34:07 No.39913449 Report

>>39911137

>this just shows how retarded u are and how stupid your religion is the earth isn't fucking flat bro you're just a dumb mf that's it

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace 93972233486.jpg, 1MiB, 676x5637

The text is a list of 10 points.

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 14:40:18 No.39913483 Report

Quoted By: >>39913516 >>39913584

>>39904464

What more to say.

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 14:46:09 No.39913516 Report

>>39913483

>wow and i said this plan was finalized in the 70s but was first drafted in the 60s it's as if chatgpt saw the files holy fuck everything that was said is true not word for word but the whole layout it's like he's an MJ12 member WTF

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 15:00:02 No.39913584 Report

Quoted By: >>39913609

>>39913483

GUYS THERE'S A WAY TO STOP ALL OF THIS IS THAT OF WE TAKE AT LEAST 5000 PEOPLE INTO THE AREAS THAT ARE CLOSED OFF TO THE PUBLIC FIND EITHER THE REPTILIAN BASE OR THE THE OTHER TALL WHITE AND OTHER HUMANOIDS JOINT BASE LIVESTREAM IT AND DOCUMENT IT THAT THE ONLY WAY OTHER THAN THAT WE ARE FUCKED

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 15:05:00 No.39913609 Report

Quoted By: >>39913622

>>39913584

LOOK UP ATLANTIS TV CREW ANTARCTICA EVERYTHING THIS MF SAYS IN THE VIDEO IS REAL DO YOUR OWN RESEARCH

<https://www.youtube.com/shorts/3tSNgKPYSwA>

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 15:06:36 No.39913622 Report

Quoted By: >>39914142

>>39913609

PART 2 OF VID

https://www.tiktok.com/@nightgod333/video/6998342758637358342?

is_from_webapp=1&sender_device=pc&web_id=7087927367506626054

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 16:47:07 No.39914142 Report

>>39913622

what happened to all the so called believers and truth seekers where did they go when you give them the full truth are they full of shit in the end BAKA

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 17:06:49 No.39914249 Report

Quoted By: >>39914307

>>39904464

ya kho chofli placa neji netkhaba m3akom

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 17:20:53 No.39914307 Report

Quoted By: >>39914317 >>39914331

>>39914249

hahahahahahaha bro mark will be bringing 2 more people plus my senpai so we are pretty full but if you go to the mountains in the middle of the country with less dense population centers u will live though btw u got discord wanna talk?

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 17:23:00 No.39914317 Report

>>39914307

i meant to say my family not senpai sorry 4chan is bugging out

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 17:26:23 No.39914331 Report

Quoted By: >>39914353

>>39914307

yeah sure its dettlaff8987

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 17:30:17 No.39914353 Report

>>39914331

COOL BRO I GOT IT U SHOULD PROBABLY DELETE IT BEFORE SOME MFS DECIDE TO HACK U

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 19:14:47 No.39914873 Report

Quoted By: >>39914891

2,5% (about 200million) are not 60% tho

/herbalistics

View SameGoogleiQdbSauceNAOTrace william-riker-and-data-1.jpg, 33KiB, 825x433

The image is a still from a film or television show featuring two men in Star Trek uniforms. The man on the left is wearing a red and black uniform with a white star emblem on the left chest, and the man on the right is in a similar uniform with a black and red color scheme and a white star emblem on the right chest. Both men are smiling and looking directly at the camera. In the background, there are other individuals, but they are blurred and not the main focus of the image. The setting appears to be a Star Trek-themed room with a curved ceiling and a large window. The lighting is bright, suggesting an indoor environment. There are no visible texts or distinctive logos that provide additional context. The style of the image is a standard, high-resolution photograph with a focus on the characters and their attire.

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 19:14:50 No.39914874 Report

Quoted By: >>39915115

>>39906702

That star trek episode was cool, I saw it this past weekend.

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 19:16:48 No.39914891 Report

>>39914873

where did you get that percentage from bro

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 19:55:13 No.39915115 Report

>>39914874

that guy is making shit up about a cube and shit

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 20:10:16 No.39915169 Report

Quoted By: >>39915539

Shitty larp. Dude can't even spell pilot

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 21:33:30 No.39915539 Report

>>39915169

what part of english isn't my first language don't u understand BAKA i'm just trying to warn people and you all think i'm larping

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 21:51:57 No.39915617 Report

Quoted By: >>39915625

>>39906535

Swear on your eternal soul anon, and I'll believe you. Say that "to whatever higher power may exist beyond this life or simulation, I promise ny honesty in this account to the best of my ability in reason, and I hereby both consign myself to and plead for nonretractable eternal punishment should I be lying."

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 21:54:27 No.39915625 Report

Quoted By: >>39915648 >>39916957

>>39915617

>sure i swear to whatever higher power may exist beyond this life or simulation, I promise ny honesty in this account to the best of my ability in reason, and I hereby both consign myself to and plead for nonretractable eternal punishment should I be lying that the fake alien invasion will happen next year and that i'm trying my hardest to warn u assholes before it's tooooo late

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 21:56:51 No.39915632 Report

>WAKE THE FUCK UP PEOPLE UR GOING TO DIE IF YOU DON'T DO ANYTHING PLEASE JUST LISTEN PLEASEEEEEEE FUCK

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 22:00:00 No.39915648 Report

Quoted By: >>39915766

>>39915625

Good 'nough for me, appreciate the warning. When you say major cities wiped out, what are we talking here? Nuclear? Bioweapons? Door to door? Will the military be involved in either side of this situation? Would a beach town be safe or endangered? Would a boat anchored offshore be a viable method of avoiding the worst of it, or would it be an obvious target?

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 22:15:06 No.39915757 Report

Quoted By: >>39915772

>>39904464

i believe something will happen, but not this

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 22:16:19 No.39915766 Report

Quoted By: >>39915800

>>39915648

>BRO WHAT EVER U DO DO NOT AND I'M SAYING DO NOT GO TO THE SEA U WILL DIE tsunamis will form from the ARV's weapons impact site acoustical and laser weapons and way more shit stay the fuck out from the nuclear reactors and for fuck's sake don't trust the military the higher ups will hide in sub terranean bases and the soldiers will think that those are real alien piloting ufo and will be sent to take them down by jets they will sacrifice their soldiers and will recruit more patriotic dumb fucks like maga tards who will say they want to serve to kill the aliens and save the world only to get thrown to their deaths SPREAD THE WORD BRO PLEASE BILLIONS WILL DIE BILLIONS PLEASE MAN WAKE THE FUCK UP PEOPLE WAKE UPPPPPPPPPP

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 22:17:53 No.39915772 Report

>>39915757

BRO I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO ANYMORE IT'S KILLING ME TO SEE U ACTING LIKE THIS I'M BEGGING YOU PLEASE LISTEN FOR YOUR OWN SAKE'S PLEASE

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 22:22:28 No.39915800 Report

Quoted By: >>39915826

>>39915766

I'm on the gulf side of FL I'm surrounded by water lol. Sounds like I'm fucked. I always figured if shit got real bad I'd make for the everglades, although it looks like more nuclear reactors are down that way. Is that my best bet or am I just fucked if I'm home when the news drops?

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 22:26:19 No.39915826 Report

Quoted By: >>39915880

>>39915800

U GOT DISCORD I WANT TO TELL U SOMETHING PRIVATLY

as for if you are fucked go to middle america or even better go to chile or argentina if you can but only the most southern parts there's always hope bro

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 22:34:29 No.39915880 Report

Quoted By: >>39915920 >>39915987 >>39916172

>>39915826

Yeah I got it I'm not fluent with it though. You'd have to instruct. It'd be a tough journey staying on land, wrapping around the coast. But if shit starts happening like you say it will then hey I won't argue. At least I'd have a direction, and maybe not die in a Florisa swamp like I always envisioned I would.

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 22:40:10 No.39915920 Report

>>39915880

BAKA BRO HAVE SOME HOPE HOW OLD ARE U MUST BE FIT ENOUGH FOR THIS RIGHT?

as for discord give me your username then i'll send you an invite the you will accept that invite after that we can chat and remember delete your user name after 1 minute unless u want some creeps to message u from here lol

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 22:53:20 No.39915987 Report

>>39915880

bro u alive?

MJkiller Tue 25 Feb 2025 23:32:45 No.39916172 Report

>>39915880

well i hope you are doing alright i guess stay safe and good luck man

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace e1f3f0fb1b102949be56bfb1c29ccdb2.jpg, 98KiB, 735x955

The image is a painting depicting Jesus Christ, the central figure, standing in a doorway. He is wearing a white robe with a golden belt, and his hair is long and flowing. His expression is serious, and he is looking directly at the viewer. The background is a light beige color, and there is a small window or opening on the wall behind him. To the right of the painting, there is a small plant with white flowers. The style of the painting is realistic with a focus on the subject, and it appears to be a religious or spiritual artwork. There are no visible texts on the image.

Anonymous Tue 25 Feb 2025 23:48:22 No.39916228 Report

Quoted By: >>39916321 >>39916830

i have nothing to fear from death, i know where im going

let them come

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:01:01 No.39916298 Report

Quoted By: >>39916331 >>39916359

<https://thepeoplesvoice.tv/remains-of-ancient-city-found-in-antarctica/>

OP post a photo of the the door to marks underground plesure complex. If you don't post it then you are confirming what everyone already thinks.

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:05:23 No.39916321 Report

Quoted By: >>39916351 >>39916830

>>39916228

yeah you either reincarnate as a human and forget everything or reincarnate as an ET on another planet and remember everything mark told me that MJ12 the secret global gov met with a human who died in pax Romana period they never stated the exact year when he was born or when he died in the files but he was reincarnated as an insectoid and now has a life span of millions of years and has been around and remembers everything from his past human life

so when you die those are your only options not ur little jesus guy in heaven that's a made up religion bro but believe what you want i guess good luck next year

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:07:13 No.39916331 Report

Quoted By: >>39916340

>>39916298

><https://thepeoplesvoice.tv/remains-of-ancient-city-found-in-antarctica/>

bro what in the fuck are you talking about hahahahaha

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:09:42 No.39916340 Report

Quoted By: >>39916369

>>39916331

provide proof of your stupid story

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:11:01 No.39916351 Report

Quoted By: >>39916369 >>39916830

>>39916321

take your meds schizo

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:13:08 No.39916359 Report

Quoted By: >>39916370 >>39916460

>>39916298

BRO IF YOU THINK I'M DUMB ENOUGH TO JEPRODIZE THE MAN WHO IS MY FAMILY'S ONLY HOPE OF SURVIVAL THEN U R ONE DUMB MF PLUS HE HAS THE EVIDENCE TO TAKE THEM DOWN AFTER 2027 WHEN WE JOIN THE GFL

>u can be an MJ12 bitch and use that pic to track it down cuz make no mistake they can do that or if u r just a regular dude MJ12 could see it since they monitor 4chan and post fake stories like the egg one so sorry but no good try though

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:15:02 No.39916369 Report

>>39916351

NEXT YEAR U WILL FIND OUT TIME IS ON MY SIDE ON THIS ONE SO YEAH

>>39916340

I JUST TOLD YOU WHY I CAN'T SHOW THE DOOR READ MY REPLY

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:15:03 No.39916370 Report

Quoted By: >>39916378

>>39916359

Keep talking in all caps, it really suits you.

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:16:16 No.39916378 Report

>>39916370

i replied in both caps and min bro

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:16:32 No.39916380 Report

Quoted By: >>39916394 >>39916447 >>39916462

Hey OP cool story. What can we do? Do you have an proof of anything?

I'm legit scared.

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:18:17 No.39916394 Report

>>39916380

>proof of anything >on /x/

zozzle

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:18:23 No.39916395 Report

Quoted By: >>39916455

>>39904464

I hope you are not the token black guy in this story OP. Fuck... do you know what that means???

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:28:20 No.39916447 Report

>>39916380

well i get what you mean for me i know 100% he's telling the truth and that this story is true but for you guys since you are not in my shoes and don't share the same experience as me will find it hard to believe and since i can't prove anything u think i'm some sort of a fraud that's very valid and i'm sorry about that but i wont post the mountain that looms over our farms let alone the door that's a big NO

>but as for making you scared that's kinda a good thing now you at least know that you should get off your ass and get to work become a prepper learn how to be a survivalist spend more time with the people you love confess to your crush literally do anything that might give you a better chance for survival

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:29:30 No.39916455 Report

Quoted By: >>39916508

>>39916395

NO IDEA

i'm arab north african though

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNA0Trace soyjak schizo.png, 373KiB, 600x784

The image is a cartoon-style illustration featuring a character seated in a green armchair. The character is a man with a bald head, wearing glasses, a white shirt, and dark pants. He has a beard and is smiling. In his left hand, he holds a remote control, and his right hand is resting on his lap. The character is wearing a belt with a gold buckle. The background is a solid light blue color. At the bottom of the image, there is a text that reads "Aww, sweet! A schizo thread!" The text is in black and is placed in a smaller font size compared to the main text. The overall style of the image is simple and cartoonish, with a focus on the character's expression and the text.

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:30:00 No.39916456 Report

Quoted By: >>39916519

>>39904521

>btw Spielberg runs that program he's in the know an MJ12 puppet

100% pure raw uncut Colombia schizo

I love it

bump

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:30:48 No.39916460 Report

Quoted By: >>39916519 >>39916601

>>39916359

Um OP do you know how easy it will be to find your american senpai living on 200 hectares of farmland in Tunisia?

You should watch your mouth and pray that Marky will be merciful on your family when he sees you've posted all this trash about him on 4chan.

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:30:50 No.39916462 Report

Quoted By: >>39916482

>>39916380

can you tell me where do you live maybe i can help u plan better incase ur stuck or some shit

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:34:37 No.39916482 Report

Quoted By: >>39916601

>>39916462

Can you ask Mark for some proof to help us out a little bit?

You are starting to sound unhinged, so I think mark will take pity and be understanding of your prediament. You are trying to help anon, afterall.

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:35:17 No.39916488 Report

Quoted By: >>39916601

OP talk in all caps. It's more realistic.

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:38:59 No.39916508 Report

Quoted By: >>39916516 >>39916601

>>39916455

That could be even worse.

He is a full blooded American... with a plan to survive. what are you to him but tools? he needs you now, but he is just using you.

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:40:20 No.39916516 Report

Quoted By: >>39916612

>>39916508

OP is low iq, he is not going to understand. or he would already have realised the trap.

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:41:11 No.39916519 Report

Quoted By: >>39916600

>>39916456

GOOD LUCK NEXT YEAR I'M TRYING AND BEGGING PEOPLE AND THEY EITHER THINK I'M LYING OR CRAZY U CAN'T TELL ME I DIDN'T TRY AT LEAST

>>39916460

HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA bro the farms wasn't bought under his name a tunisian owns it he has some sort of deal with him and like i told you he brought the construction workers from a state so far the fuck away plus he knows about my post cuz i'm not dumb enough to to right anything before getting his permission >and b he will never do shit like that in ur dreams bro he's part of us now we are more close now than we have ever been plus we outnumber him her and we(like

17 ppl in the family) know about his secret cave so nah he won't do shit like that he's very kind hearted he even fasts with us in ramadan and goes to the mosque with us after iftar and on eid to watch us pray he's fascinated by us as a family and people from a different culture so cope lamo

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:56:48 No.39916600 Report

Quoted By: >>39916612

>>39916519

that's it keep spitting facts. we will find you and gigachad marky mark. he will thank us for uncovering your deception.

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:57:10 No.39916601 Report

>>39916460

>>39916488

>>39916508

>>39916482

yeah already tried that but as i said he will never reveal anything before september of 2027 i already tried a million times he won't show the evidence to me do you know how many times he said insiders were going to blow the lid on it and made zero and only 1 was in the know and got public attention but he was mislead to as that the gov didn't know how the ufos worked and was fed a bunch of lies mixed with truth plus he was never cleared to see the fake alien invasion stuff that was bob lazar

MARK SAID IF YOU WANNA POST ON HERE OR REDDIT OR TWITTER GO AHEAD BUT HE WILL NEVER PROVIDE SHIT BEFORE THAT DATE BECAUSE BEST CASE SENARIO HE GETS CAUGHT WORST CASE MJ12 SPEEDS UP THE FAKE ALIEN INVASION BEFORE THE EVIDENCE GETS WIDE SPREAD TO THE PEOPLE OF THE WORLD BECAUSE REMEMBER THE CONTRACT WITH THE ETE 1 AND 4 ENDED LAST YEAR SO NOW THEY ACN DO THAT THEY CAN START EVEN TOMORROW IF THEY FEEL THAT SOMETHING WILL THREATEN THEM >and btw he hasn't even let me see this evidence let alone give u guys some btw here's a little fun thing i found watching midnight broad cast about x treads

check the last story in the video and you will see what i mean it starts at 23:52 showed it to mark and he was sad that they probably killed that dude and this was from a thread in 2014 so it confirms my story even more there u go

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xMJxiL3NNsE>

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 00:59:13 No.39916612 Report

>>39916516

WHATEVER YOU SAY U WON'T MAKE TURN ON HIM SO RELAX LAMO

>>39916600

IF YOU THINK I'M LYING COOL BUT I WISH YOU GOOD LUCK NEXT YEAR TRULY

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 01:01:55 No.39916623 Report

Quoted By: >>39916836 >>39916918

btw here's a little fun thing i found watching midnight broad cast about x treads

check the last story in the video and you will see what i mean it starts at 23:52 showed it to mark and he was sad that they probably killed that dude and this was from a thread in 2014 so it confirms my story even more there u go

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xMJxiL3NNsE>

>PROOF MY OF MY STORY THIS WAS FROM 2014 WAY BEFORE MARK TOLD ME ABOUT THIS SHIT LIKE 10 YEARS BEFORE LOL

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 01:10:09 No.39916658 Report

Quoted By: >>39916679

>>39905603

52 weeks/2

26 sets of 2 weeks later per year

Is AI lazy or retarded?

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 01:17:54 No.39916679 Report

Quoted By: >>39916943

>>39916658

good luck i guess at least i tried

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 01:56:27 No.39916830 Report

Quoted By: >>39916836 >>39916918 >>39919314

>>39916351

>>39916321

>>39916228

proof that corroborates what i revealed that happens after death this child will remember many things about her last life but after the age of 5-7 they will forget everything and never remember it again and they can't see paranormal stuff too after that age unless they are about to die and old mark said it relates to brain development

https://www.tiktok.com/@dailyaveragemom/video/7380806478883540266?is_from_webapp=1&sender_device=pc&web_id=7087927367506626054M

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 01:57:47 No.39916836 Report

>>39916623

>>39916830

THESE ARE TOO SEPERATE SOURECES THAT CORROBORATE MY STORY

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:17:37 No.39916918 Report

>>39916830

>>39916623

C'MON NOW U ASKED FOR PROOF BOIS WHERE R U AT THEN ?

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:22:04 No.39916943 Report

Quoted By: >>39916965 >>39916995

>>39916679

Are you still here, please drop your discord? I need to message you. I know roughly what you are saying but I'd like to exchange more details

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:24:38 No.39916957 Report

Quoted By: >>39916971

>>39915625

>>39915625

Well I am certain they have a big war planned, their overt actions make that pretty obvious.

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:26:19 No.39916965 Report

Quoted By: >>39916997

>>39916943

HERE U GO IT'S disabledacc3rd666

BUT I'LL DELETE THIS REPLY AFTER MINUTES SO TELL ME WHEN U READ IT SO I CAN KNOW

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:27:33 No.39916971 Report

Quoted By: >>39916983

>>39916957

NAH NO WARS JUST THEATRICALS

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:30:33 No.39916983 Report

Quoted By: >>39916995

>>39916971

Tell that to all the dead men in Ukraine.

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:32:08 No.39916995 Report

>>39916943

WHERE R U AT ?

>>39916983

BRO I'M TALKING ABOUT WHAT HAPPENS NEXT YEAR BAKA

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:32:28 No.39916997 Report

>>39916965

added

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:34:32 No.39917008 Report

Quoted By: >>39917026

The new captcha system is bad

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:36:32 No.39917025 Report

Quoted By: >>39917037 >>39917353

I just want to say that if this happens, there's nothing we can do.

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:36:33 No.39917026 Report

>>39917008

I THOUGHT SO TOO AT FIRST BUT NOW O FEEL IT'S BETTER LIKE THIS MAYBE IT'S JUST ME THOUGH

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:38:26 No.39917037 Report

Quoted By: >>39917066

>>39917025

WOW REALLY BRO I GAVE LIKE 2 OR 3 DIFFERENT WAYS WE CAN STOP IT AND UR ALREADY LOOSING HOPE BRO

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=B7qRzM_0DQ

BTW GUYS CHECH THIS COOL VID I FOUND

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:39:44 No.39917048 Report

Quoted By: >>39917062 >>39917142

>>39904464

praying that you will be among them, loser

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:41:38 No.39917062 Report

>>39917048

WOW THANKS I GUESS THAT'S MY REWARD FOR TRYING TO WARN U PPL BUT EVEN THOUGH UR FULL OF HATE I HOPE U MAKE U MUST HAVE LOVED ONES U DON'T WANNA

GOOD LUCK NEXT YEAR I GUESS

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:42:23 No.39917066 Report

Quoted By: >>39917105 >>39917148

>>39917037

But you're not the one pulling the levers.

Although, as an option, you can survive and then testify against everyone who is somehow connected with the "former" government or the elite.

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:51:11 No.39917105 Report

Quoted By: >>39917134 >>39917149

>>39917066

BRO HERE ARE SOME WAYS WE CAN STOP THEM EVEN THOUGH MARK THINKS IT WILL NEVER WORK BUT I DISAGREE WITH HIM ON THAT

>make this story so popular around the world force the public to march on the pentagon or some shit even if nothing happens everyone will know that those "aliens" are fakes PLF's and won't play along and drag those assholes during the event out of their underground bases and make them stop it cuz there is an off switch believe it or not

>2nd way go to Antarctica with at least 5000 people live stream the event and film everything look for one of 2 ET bases and tell the world that MJ12 is real and that they plan on killing us with fake aliens

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:56:31 No.39917134 Report

Quoted By: >>39917166

>>39917105 answer truthfully, are you on drugs right now?

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:57:52 No.39917142 Report

Quoted By: >>39917166

>>39917048

That's Markchad's plan. this mutha will be the first to go.

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:58:34 No.39917148 Report

Quoted By: >>39917169

>>39917066

NOT JUST ME NOW WHEN IT HAPPENS AND THE ONES WHO SAW MY THREAD AND LIVED TO SEE THIS THING THROUGH WILL TESTIFY TOO I'M NOT ALONE CUZ U SEE LOVE ME OR HATE I JUST MADE YOU INVOLVED IN THIS LIKE IT OR NOT AND IF YOU LIVE IT'S UP TO YOUR CONSCIENCE WHETHER YOU COME PUBLIC WITH IS INFO

>sike this was my plan before i even typed my first info dump sorry not sorry though

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 02:58:46 No.39917149 Report

Quoted By: >>39917166

>>39917105

>make this story so popular around the world fo never happens somebody can save it for a future "post creepy greentext" thats all, people overflooded with "doom"

I personally aware of a few upcoming doom programs thats looks legit and serious for now that is outside "mainstream schizo vocabulary box" and I just... meh, "I am tired chief".

>go to Antarctica with at least 5000 people li

Impossible at many ways.

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:01:52 No.39917166 Report

Quoted By: >>39917188

>>39917134

no bro i swear on everything that's dear to me i'm telling the truth

>>39917142

HAHAHAHAHAHA

>>39917149

well u just made impossible before u even tried great start son BAKA

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:02:13 No.39917169 Report

Quoted By: >>39917229

>>39917148

Well, it's obvious to me personally, because in my opinion our "Elites" failed the power test.

With everything at hand and the ability to do more, they concentrated on the hedonism of sodomy and degeneration, while stubbornly trying to live as long as possible.

And they also rob everyone else , literally being a reverse Midas (turning everything into poo)

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:05:35 No.39917188 Report

Quoted By: >>39917252 >>39917296

>>39917166

Visits to Antarctica are strictly regulated

You don't know what to look for and where there's nothing but ice for thousands of kilometers

, you can't pack up for a year's worth of research.

You won't be allowed to go anywhere you want.

Your name will be on the liquidation list.

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:11:46 No.39917229 Report

Quoted By: >>39917337

>>39917169

NO UR WRONG ON THAT PART BRO

this is exactly part of their plan MJ12 are not degenerates not even by a long shot they keep the smartest and healthiest of humans in their subterranean bases 1.5 mile underground under AF BASES like balling AF BASE and have tunnels so long mark said they have massive cities under the us soil connect underground and bread humans in there and told them that there's no one that lives at the surface of the earth and that's all fake and btw they had in their plan written that they need to divide people by race class and religion and other aspects of our society from the 70s onward and mark told me they started the whole george floyed thing to start a civil war but the people busted that plan they are now trying for ww3 but whether the civil war and ww3 happens or not doesn't matter cuz the real main event is the fake alien invasion and that will happens unless we wake the fuck up

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:15:11 No.39917252 Report

Quoted By: >>39917351

>>39917188

TRUE BUT NOT IF 5000 PEOPLE GO ON A SHIP AT SECRET AND SPEND 10 MONTHS LOOKING FOR THESE BASES WHICH MARK SAYS ARE NOT THAT DIFFICULT TO FIND CUZ THE DOORWAY IS A BIG ASS OPENING IN THE ICE

btw admiral bird's story is a 100000% fact

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:17:34 No.39917262 Report

CAN'T WAIT FOR SAKAMOTO DAYS LEAKS GUYS ONLY 17 HOURS TO GO

MID PEICE ALWAYS COMES OUT FIRST THOUGH KINDA WISH OTHER MANGA HAD THAT PRIVILEGE

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:22:05 No.39917284 Report

BTW WHAT HAPPENS WHEN WE REACH BUMP LIMIT ARE WE COOKED WILL THIS GO TO ARCHIVES AND WE CAN NEVER REPLY AGAIN AND CHAT OR WHAT

what do we do guys?????????

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:24:09 No.39917296 Report

Quoted By: >>39917355

>>39917188

ARE U AMERICAN BTW?

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:30:02 No.39917337 Report

Quoted By: >>39917404

>>39917229

Pay attention to one thing that no one is looking at.
MORALITY

and you will understand that I am right and that all these tunnels and bases and other built nonsense have nothing behind them but degenerate creatures behind them. The bastards.

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:31:43 No.39917351 Report

Quoted By: >>39917404

>>39917252

And the admiral of the military flag will get on the head.

5k tourists disappear even at the stage of preparing an expedition, as you are not able to hide such a thing in the age of social media and people who do not know how to keep their mouths shut

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:32:20 No.39917353 Report

Quoted By: >>39917404

>>39917025

>we can do

Learn survival skills and live out our lives out in the wilderness. The more the merrier, and the elites would be fucked without chips in our brains then. But most of the work would be done by actual robots.

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:32:51 No.39917355 Report

Quoted By: >>39917475

>>39917296

resident of central asia

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:39:20 No.39917389 Report

Quoted By: >>39917447 >>39917506 >>39917547

So according to your larp, we can't really blame MJ12, It's either one world government and joining the galactic federation or we are taken over by Trantaloids?

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:42:36 No.39917404 Report

>>39917337

NO THE GFL IS MORAL BEYOND BELIF THAT'S WHY AFTER WE JOIN THEM ONLY THEM WE CAN TAKE MJ12 DOWN

>>39917351

THE RIGHT PEOPLE WILL I WILL NEVER LOSE HOPE DESU I GUESS THAT'S JUST ME

>>39917353

BRO NO THE GFL WON'T ALLOW CHIPS SHIT CUZ THEY HAVE A RULE AGAINST TAKING OVER SOMEONE'S CONSCIENCE AND FREE WILL PLUS I'M TRAINING TO BECOME A SURVIVALIST SINCE LATE NOVEMBER LAST YEAR BY THIS SUMMER I'LL BE ABLE TO GO LIVE IN THE MOUNTAIN FOR AT LEAST 1 MONTH LIVING OFF THE LAND PLUS I CAN SURVIVE FOR A 11 DAYS THAT'S THE LONGEST I SPENT THERE

>PLUS WE ONLY NEED TO WAIT IT OUT AND SURVIVE FOR A YEAR

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:46:23 No.39917418 Report

Quoted By: >>39917475

Prepare the tinfoil hats and avoid detection. Take off your headphones and turn off wifi.

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:50:34 No.39917447 Report

Quoted By: >>39917455

>>39917389

NAH U CAN MOST DEF BLAME THESE BITCHES

>first off the GFL told them there are better ways to do it like come out to the public after the contract ends and tell them it's either this or become ashes and slaves for the trabta fuckers and gave them many other options but no these assholes for SOME RETARDED FUCKING REASON UNDER MJ1 BUSH SENIOR AT THE TIME said nah we just need to make the public scared so that these no way that they will think twice about obeying us when we come together as a one world gov check out this dipshit reagan and his speeches he was in the know on the plan it was finalized during his presidency

here are 3 sperate FUCKING SPEECHES ABOUT THE SO CALLED THREAT FROM OUTSIDE THIS MF IS EVIL AND KNOWS

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uD2186Yh0Uc>

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:51:39 No.39917455 Report

>>39917447

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uD2186Yh0Uc>

MORE PROOF OF MY STORY

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:54:55 No.39917475 Report

>>39917418

THAT WON'T DO SHIT THE POWER WILL GO DOWN WORLD WIDE BY JULY NEXT YEAR NO INTERNET NO ELECTRICITY NOTHING TOTAL DARKNESS UNLESS YOU'RE RICH AND HAVE BACKUP GENERATORS THEN THAT'S ANOTHER STORY LOL

>>39917355
>stay away from dense population centers and nuclear reactors go to caves bro
Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:58:41 No.39917503 Report
Quoted By: >>39917512
Mjnj

This happens on islands n shit

We all going to beaches here
MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:58:52 No.39917506 Report
Quoted By: >>39918625
>>39917389

where are you from bro?
MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 03:59:54 No.39917512 Report
Quoted By: >>39917576 >>39917584 >>39917590
>>39917503

are u trolling or what please explain?
MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:05:32 No.39917547 Report
Quoted By: >>39918625
>>39917389

check my replies to ur post bro
Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:11:27 No.39917576 Report
Quoted By: >>39917588
>>39917512

I'm your mate from b4

>>39917512
It's psychiatry who does it to you all they take past court but I fucking have to I sign y'all down to it and we have discrimination laws still and go doctors with healers

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:12:30 No.39917584 Report
It's called disclosure it's when good make mistakes it's rough >>39917512

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:14:38 No.39917588 Report
Quoted By: >>39917601
>>39917576

i have not fucking clue what you are going on about good luck next year i guess hope u make it too

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:14:58 No.39917590 Report
Quoted By: >>39917598 >>39918614
>>39917512

Good make mistakes all day like breed bugs that go on ya ass and make ya cum they are dumb do you wanna save it. There is no way, who can stop a good guy doing stupid like making ya blind because ya missus cheated it sucks so you don't see her face

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:16:37 No.39917598 Report
Quoted By: >>39917606
>>39917590

good for you bud okay
Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:16:52 No.39917601 Report
>>39917588

They burn ya house cause a cop sees where you live, they grow you antennas because you picked up an ant

They wrong!!!

It's called good
Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:18:03 No.39917606 Report
>>39917598

Bro I hear ya, "you could be manifesting it"" it's called good!! It's the end

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:18:13 No.39917608 Report
Quoted By: >>39917658 >>39917663

Going all caps makes you look like a sperg, OP.

Also,

>YOU WILL SEE NEXT YEAR I AM RIGHT

This thread won't be here next year so I will tell you now - the stuff you've learned/say is maybe just a tiny bit of truth mixed with a whole lot of bullshit. Some unique things may happen but if they do, they won't happen like you say it, they won't happen because of what you've said (some of that alien lore stuff is bullshit, I'd think twice about getting on any "Federation" ships) and will either be of lesser effect or far worse than what you imagine (even in the scenario you describe, there's no way a disruption on that scale would kill only 60% of population - it'd be more, even if many dying not in immediate attack but days that follow).

Read more on theories regarding aliens having occult/spiritual/extradimensional origins. It's not just "angels" and "demons" either. There are many entities and groups out there.

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:33:44 No.39917658 Report
>>39917608

Mate it's good goes wrong it's disclosure it's true they think they are helping us they do crap

I see his point I know this behaviour it is care x 100
MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:34:55 No.39917663 Report
Quoted By: >>39917667
>>39917608

WHAT WILL YOU DO WHEN IT HAPPENS JUST LIKE SAID LOL GOOD LUCK ANYWAYS

>A- MJ12 won't ever exceed 60% they have the tech to protect the rest cuz more than 60% like 65% or 70% that would be counted as deliberate genocide by the GFL and according to the rule on it that they have that's the only other time the will interfere to stop a civilization from destroying themselves so nah bro i'm sorry but u r wrong on this one

>B- MJ12 already encounter and classified these so called
'occult/spiritual/extradimensional' as paraterrestrials that don't come from space like ET's but from other dimensions the can't handle being exposed to arabic/latin/ancient hebrew/aramaic and more that's why my people always exorcise these so called jinns by speaking in arabic and chanting and your people do that in latin and it works in both culture it's either one works and the other fails or both don't but if both do that means either islam and christianity are true which doesn't make sense or the true answer that MJ12 already figured it in 80s

>if you want proof try using these languages on someone who has been possessed and it'll work every single time with every other language listed above and that proves me right again

but then again u don't have to believe me on shit u do u next will what i said mark my words and good luck friend hope u make with ur senpai

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:36:08 No.39917667 Report
>>39917663

MEANT TO SAY FAMILY NOT SENPAI IT'S 4CHAN AGAIN SORRY

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:40:06 No.39917688 Report
Quoted By: >>39917692 >>39917698 >>39917703 >>39917760

WHY DO THEY ALWAYS LEAVE WHEN I REPLY THEN COME BACK I'M LIKE OUTSIDE OR ASLEEP HELLO GUYS U THERE ?

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:41:21 No.39917692 Report
>>39917688

Bro the good guys fuck up bad and they are aliens lol it's true the mistake is to be made

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:42:22 No.39917698 Report
>>39917688

Are you understanding? They are criminal and good at heart but they do shit arse

We get hurt

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:43:27 No.39917703 Report
>>39917688

Bro they do poor to us by accident they mean well

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:48:17 No.39917724 Report
Quoted By: >>39917846

i think i'm going to sleep see ya later guys and fuck that one troll spammer

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 04:55:19 No.39917760 Report

>>39917688

because we have shit to do

gratz with understanding of Cassandra

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 05:18:01 No.39917846 Report

>>39917724

Just tell em I said your spoken for

To save it, assshoe

View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 35568486-5E8E-4E0D-9176-ECFF3D20 (...).jpg, 453KiB, 880x1315

The image is a black and white photograph with a text-based content. The text appears to be a narrative or a story, and it is written in a mix of English and what seems to be a non-Latin script. The text is dense and filled with complex ideas and concepts, suggesting a philosophical or scientific discussion.

The text is divided into paragraphs, and the first paragraph begins with "The Sun was expanding and spewing off huge exo-planets." This sets the stage for the narrative, indicating a discussion about celestial phenomena. The second paragraph continues with "more than it has ever done in its past, and the Sun's mass was growing." This part of the text seems to be describing a phenomenon or event related to the Sun's expansion and mass.

The third paragraph discusses the Sun's expansion and its impact on the Earth, mentioning "the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down," and "the Sun's mass was growing." This part of the text seems to be discussing the effects of the Sun's expansion on Earth's rotation and its mass.

The fourth paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The fifth paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The sixth paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The seventh paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The eighth paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The ninth paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The tenth paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The eleventh paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The twelfth paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The thirteenth paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The fourteenth paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The fifteenth paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The sixteenth paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The seventeenth paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The eighteenth paragraph continues with "the Sun's mass was growing, and the Earth's rotation speed was slowing down." This part of the text seems to be describing the progression of the Sun's expansion and its effects on Earth's rotation.

The nineteenth

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 05:44:57 No.39917941 Report

Quoted By: >>39918044 >>39918249 >>39918291 >>39919601 >>39920254

<https://m.youtube.com/watch?v=24JBZ2R4bGw>

I BELIEVE YOU OP

>but here's why that's a good thing

<https://m.youtube.com/watch?v=ToIhnLNBLFk>

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 06:03:48 No.39918044 Report

Quoted By: >>39918254 >>39920263

Damn, I just read this whole fucking thread.

>>39917941

Same, OP is right, 2013 Illuminati insider anon corroborates this.

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 06:35:13 No.39918207 Report

Quoted By: >>39918249 >>39918299 >>39920245

cool story

Galactic federation has been controlling earth for while now.

There is no love and light in galactic federation. The aliens in control of gf are emotionless and have no empathy. They claim prime directive but have been breaking their own law and denying it.

Their organisation is total bogus.

They are working together with earth cabal and control everything. They deny it but have bases in antarctica where they regularly meet with earth leaders.

Valiant thor was a traitor from taygeta.

Galactic federation have their agenda but there are positive races that see through their lies and have made their own alliances.

Earth cabal has been trying to invade other galaxies and planets with the help of galactic federation but havent succeeded. Earth is the core of the problem of many alien races.

It is not accidental that the Queen of Taygeta and King of Feline Urmah race are both with their spaceships on earth orbit.

They are close to the problem.

Galactic federation is no match for The Urmah and are scared of the cosmic cats.

Nothing bad will happen.

Relax

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 06:43:41 No.39918249 Report

Quoted By: >>39918289 >>39919314

>>39917941

i'll check that out when i wake up bro thanks

>>39918207

not true they are mor human than us i'll explain after i wake up take care for now bro

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 06:44:42 No.39918254 Report
>>39918044

GOT MORE INFO ON THAT ?

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 06:48:05 No.39918262 Report
Wow

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 06:52:36 No.39918285 Report
Quoted By: >>39919581

A lot of crazy mfs are larping in this thread yo

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 06:53:16 No.39918289 Report
Quoted By: >>39918293 >>39920287

>>39918249

yes there are 400 000 different species of human in the universe.

But the ones in charge of galactic federation at the moment are alfreantans, who are big grey-like beings with no emotions and empathy

Have a good sleep :)

cheers

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 06:53:49 No.39918291 Report
Quoted By: >>39919213

>>39917941

Is that guy a remote viewer?

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 06:54:59 No.39918293 Report
Quoted By: >>39918304

>>39918289

Source

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 06:56:21 No.39918299 Report
>>39918207

The nothing ever happens motherfuckers always lurking

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 06:57:04 No.39918304 Report
Quoted By: >>39918597

>>39918293

<https://www.youtube.com/@SwaruuOficial/videos>

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 08:11:44 No.39918595 Report
Quoted By: >>39920304

bro... you're just crazy or a glowie. i dont care either way i'm dead.

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 08:12:03 No.39918597 Report
Quoted By: >>39918742

>>39918304

Soo many fucking bait thumbnails with pretty girls unrelated completely to the topic its hilarious.

Guy's desperate to milk those views, huh?

View SameOCRGoogleIqdbSauceNA0Trace jokesonyouimintothatshit.jpg, 80KiB, 1280x720

The image is a still from a video, featuring a character from the animated series "He-Man and the Masters of the Universe." The character is a muscular man with a blue and purple costume, wearing a hooded cloak and a skull-like helmet. He is pointing to the left with his right hand, and his left hand is extended outward. The character's expression is serious, and he is looking directly at the viewer.

Overlaying the image is a text that reads, "Joke's on you I'm into that shit."

The text is in white and is placed at the bottom of the image, just below the character's outstretched hand. The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a humorous meme, with the text adding a humorous element to the image. The overall tone of the image is serious and serious-minded, with the humorous text providing a contrast.

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 08:16:42 No.39918614 Report >>39917590

>breed bugs that go on ya ass and make ya cum

But only if they reach around and fellate my cock too

Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 08:19:32 No.39918625 Report
Quoted By: >>39920304

>>39917547

I checked
>>39917506
Why does it matter?
Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 08:53:20 No.39918742 Report >>39918597
you are funny :)

Bees don't waste their time explaining to flies that honey is better than shit

Good luck
Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 10:58:49 No.39919213 Report
Quoted By: >>39920304
>>39918291
picrel is an NDE experiencers
<https://loufamoso.tripod.com/index.html>
Vidrel is an NDE-cum-seer. He became acquainted with his guide/guru during an NDE and now they work together
Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 11:15:31 No.39919314 Report
Quoted By: >>39920161 >>39920317
>>39918249 part 2 briefly mentions ayy contact https://m.youtube.com/watch?v=bfbkE_nMqac
I'm honestly excited. Like the guy in the vid says, I don't believe in death, so I'm not upset about the mass killings. It's going to be like the whole of humanity collectively letting out all the pain that's slowly been pent up over hundreds of years so we can finally move on and move up.
This is the way I see it.
It was always the two guys at school who got into real dirty fist fights who ended up the closest friends. It's an intimate ordeal. After that what have they got to hide from each other? They already kicked each other's ass.
Nowadays society is so sterile. Like an ssri, you get rid of the lows and the highs are numbed as well. We need to get the lows out of the way.
>>39916830 like this girl says, it's sad but we'll be back with a new body and different name
Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 12:04:13 No.39919581 Report
>>39918285
Yeah but i think there really is a big giant war coming and these people are a bit more sensitive to the waves of impending doom all over the astral plane or whatever. I know it's coming because of strategic moves made by governments preparing for war. It doesn't have to be an alien invasion to kill 60% of the human race either, a nuclear war will do it, although most people will die of starvation or violence in the aftermath, not from the bombs. South America should be a pretty good place to survive.
Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 12:07:44 No.39919601 Report
Quoted By: >>39920147
>>39917941
You know, there's a chance that Betelgeuse, a star in the constellation Orion, may have gone supernova and we will see it next month. This fella could be onto something.
Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 13:23:46 No.39919997 Report
Quoted By: >>39920138
>>39904464
Whenever /pol/ gets completely boring I look at /x/ and if there's some interesting threads here it usually means a happening is about to happen. Seriously. Dead boring /pol/ + unusually interesting /x/ equals happening.
Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 13:50:34 No.39920138 Report
>>39919997
Yeah I don't think this is made up desu
Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 13:51:36 No.39920147 Report
>>39919601
That would be cool to witness ngl man
Anonymous Wed 26 Feb 2025 13:53:19 No.39920161 Report
>>39919314

Not not really I don't want to die and lose the people that are dear to me
MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 14:07:16 No.39920245 Report

>>39918207

the GFL is governed by the Council of 6 six different civs from the milky way galaxy with 2000+ planets thor was from altair and is no traitor

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 14:08:25 No.39920254 Report

>>39917941

BRO NO OFFENSE BUT NAH THERE'S NOTHING GOOD ABOUT THIS

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 14:09:32 No.39920263 Report

>>39918044

THE ILLUMINATI DON'T KNOW SHIT ALL OF THAT IS FAKE

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 14:12:52 No.39920287 Report

>>39918289

THANKS THOUGH BUT NO THERE'S MILLIONS OF HUMAN SPECIES IN OUR GALAXY ALONE LE ALONE THE UNIVERSE

NO THE GFL IS CONTROLLED BY Council of six

NO THE ET'S FROM ALTAIR ARE HUMANS TOO

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 14:15:33 No.39920304 Report

>>39918595

ALWAYS DOOMING ON HERE THERE'S ALWAYS HOPE BRO

>>39918625

I COULD HELP U OUT TO FIND SOMEWHERE FOR YOU TO HIDE >>39919213

HE MAY KNOW THE FUTURE BUT THAT DOESN'T MEAN WE SHOULD LISTEN TO EVERYTHING HE SAYS

MJkiller Wed 26 Feb 2025 14:18:23 No.39920317 Report

>>39919314

YEAH NO

after 2027 and after we join the gfl the population will always be kept under 1 billion all the other survivors will be let to die of old age because they are deemed undesirables so nah u won't be coming back any time soo bro unless it's a 30 million years in the future

FoolFuuka Imageboard 2.2.0 - Asagi FetcherChange Theme Transparency - FAQ - Credits & Links - 4plebs on X - Legal

Don't miss what's happening

People on X are the first to know.

Post

See new posts

Conversation

WHISTLEBLOWER

@truthtold24

I WILL NOW RELEASE THE CLASSIFIED TRUTH BEHIND THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN F. KENNEDY:

(This is a re-release, I first released this when I had 34 followers about a month and a half ago)

Now the only reason I even know this is because it's actually related to the subject of extraterrestrials and no one knows it. If it wasn't connected I wouldn't know about it. So here goes;

When President Kennedy became Commander & Chief, he was brought up to speed about the Majestic 12 group and how they were supposed to be answering to the office of the President of the United States. (Read some of my other posts and replies if you don't know who the Majestic 12 group is) President Kennedy attempted to exert control back over this out of control group of men that made all the decisions extra terrestrial related, including technologically. In order to do this, he created his own intelligence agency connected to the @DeptofDefense Along with his secretary of defense Robert McNamara. They created the Defense Intelligence Agency. The DIA would be a rival to the @CIA

which at the time, their director was a member of MJ-12.

The DIA became official on October 1st of 1961. By March of 1962 a proposed exchange program between the extraterrestrial species that crashed at Roswell and the Majestic 12 group was agreed upon. So to appease President Kennedy, they briefed him and asked for his approval for the program knowing he would give it. He did. With one condition though; that his DIA lead the project. The Majestic 12 group reluctantly agreed to this condition.

By the spring of 1963 President Kennedy told the Majestic 12 group, specifically their leader MJ-1, that they were to televise The exchange on national television so all the citizens could know the truth. He also instructed MJ-12 that they would be turning over EVERYTHING we had on the Extraterrestrial subject to the Soviet Union and in return would receive everything that they had on the subject.

MJ-12 said ABSOLUTELY NOT to both orders. JFK informed them they had no choice, that they answered to HIM, not the other way around.

MJ-12 disregarded this and brushed him off in hopes he would get the hint. He did not..

He was relentless with his efforts and by October of 1963 a Classified Cable that was typed in the basement of the Pentagon by either MJ-11 or 12. (12 members) This was sent to MJ-1. I read the UNBURNT copy of it and the response. In the 1st cable MJ-1 was being told that "LANCER" (JFK's Secret Service Codename) was relentlessly looking into their activities and needed to possibly be made "WET" (Killed) if his inquiries and persistence didn't cease. There was also talk of the Soviet Union.

In his response, MJ-1 used the Soviet Union jargon as an excuse to green light the Assassination of a sitting US President, due to Him attempting to force them to televise the Extraterrestrial exchange program to the ppl and to share Extraterrestrial knowledge with the Soviet Union.

Weeks after JFK was greenlit he was brutally murdered in front of the whole world and made an example out of.

Doubt me?

Give Bill Clinton a polygraph test and ask him if he said there was nothing to the #alien subject because he was terrified to end up like President Kennedy.

#FactsMatter

12:47 AM · Sep 23, 2024

.

133.1K

Views

Read 49 replies

New to X?

Sign up now to get your own personalized timeline!

By signing up, you agree to the Terms of Service and Privacy Policy, including Cookie Use.

Trending now

What's happening

Trending in France

Téhéran

30.7K posts

Trending in France

Ebony

67.2K posts

Trending in France

Lara Fabian

Trending in France

B.B.

845K posts

Show more

Terms of Service

|

Privacy Policy

|

Cookie Policy

|

Accessibility

|
Ads info
|

More

© 2025 X Corp.

EVENTSCONFIGURATIONEVENT DETAILSOBSERVATION PLANNERC2A ADD-INMORE ADD-INSTROUBLESHOOTINGDOWNLOAD

OccultWatcher 5.0

OccultWatcher is a Windows program that helps astronomical occultation observers to stay tuned with the incoming events by tracking the asteroidal occultation predictions published and regularly updated in various sources called feeds. OccultWatcher searches the feeds you have subscribed for, for events that match your specified distance, star magnitude, event duration and other filter criterias. It allows you to announce your intentions to observe an event to all other observers around the world and helps the coordination in a global scale. At the time of the release of version 3.2 there are more than 400 registered accounts (of people that announce their observing intentions) and more than 1500 known installations. The account registration and usage as well as the OccultWatcher software are absolutely free.

The following prediction feeds are currently available for subscription:

Feed Name	Description
-----------	-------------

IOTA Updates	Steve Preston's predictions from www.asteroidoccultation.com . The published predictions are for higher probability events and are computed using recent highly accurate astrometric data. They are generally with very good accuracy, higher probability and small error.
--------------	---

OZNZ	OZNZ (pronounced oz-noz) Extras are published by Dave Gault. These are low probability small asteroid events for the South-East Australia and New Zealand regions.
------	--

NAMer	North America low probability asteroid occultations calculated using Occult C# by Brad Timerson.
-------	--

E.A.O.N.	The E.A.O.N. low probability events for the Europe region are maintained by Emmanuel Thienpont and formerly by Jean Schwaenen.
----------	--

NALowMag	North America events of 50km+ asteroids with combined stellar and asteroid magnitudes of near 11 to not less than 12.9. Many of these have a magnitude drop <1. Maintained by Steve Messner.
----------	--

TT14	Trans-Tasman events involving asteroids bigger than 50km, magnitude drop larger than 0.2 sec, duration longer than 10 sec, stars up to mag 14. Maintained by Dave Gault, Australia.
------	---

TNO	TNO Extras is a list of asteroid predictions involving Trans Neptunian Objects and stars brighter than mag 15. The search is conducted using OccultV4, the latest astorb and NOMAD. Since May 2010 the feed also includes predictions computed by Bruno Sicardi and the Rio Team. The feed is maintained by Dave Gault, Australia
-----	---

SatWatcher	SatWatcher is a list of occultations and eclipses involving the satellites of Jupiter, Saturn and Uranus. The feed is maintained by Hristo Pavlov, Australia.
------------	---

With the release of version 3.2 there is one new feed called "Planned Observations". This feed contains all events that someone has already announced a station for. This way even if you are not particularly interested in the events of an existing feed, if there is an event that comes close to you and matches your filter criterias and if there is at least one announced station for it, OW will show it as "Planned Observation". This way events that are going to be attempted by an observer could get more observations.

With its enhanced alerts and reminders OccultWatcher can be also very helpful for tracking your personal asteroidal occultation predictions generated using prediction software such as Occult and LinOccult. It provides extra and very detailed information for all predictions including parameters of the star and asteroid, information about double asteroids, historical observations data and others. The software comes with a function to draw star charts using the free planetarium program C2A developed by Philippe Devechere in France and which supports the star catalogues: Hypparcos, Tycho2, UCAC2, NOMAD. OccultWatcher also provides ability to be extended by your own Add-ins written using Microsoft.NET

If you are new to asteroidal occultations here are some online resources you would find most useful:

IOTA - International Occultation Timing Association

IOTA Yahoo Group

Euraster - a website for Asteroidal Occultation Observers in Europe

RASNZ OccSec - Australia/New Zealand Occultation Observers Information

Occult - Software for Windows for predictions of asteroidal occultations and many other astronomical phenomenas by Dave Herald

LinOccult - Software for Linux for asteroidal occultation predictions by Andrey Plekhanov

IOTA Updates - High accuracy asteroidal occultation predictions by Steve Preston. Those are also available in OccultWatcher as a prediction feed

Software Requirements for running OccultWatcher:

Windows 98 or later. Works best on Windows XP Professional and Windows Vista (32 or 64 bit)

Microsoft.NET Framework 2.0 or later

Hardware Requirements: Anything that can run the required software.

Internet Connection Requirements: In order to receive information about the predictions from the online feeds you need an internet connection. There is no particular requirement for the speed of your connection, but as a general rule OccultWatcher will do well so long as your connection allows you to view maps using GoogleMaps without too much delays.

Military.com Logo

News

Benefits

Veteran Jobs

Military Life

Discounts

Join the Military

Login

Sign up

HistoryMilitary Trivia GameVeterans DayArmy BirthdayNavy BirthdayMarine Corps Birthday

More

American Military History

The Coven of Witches That Fought the Nazis During World War II

Gerald Gardner, known as "The Father of Witchcraft," led his coven in a spell that targeted Adolf Hitler in 1940.

Military.com | By Blake Stilwell

Published September 28, 2023

Share

These weren't the "double, double toil and trouble" kind of witches Shakespeare wrote about in "Macbeth." They were Wiccans, led by Gerald Gardner, the man whose writings would revive the pagan belief system to the modern era. In 1940s Britain, his beliefs were far from the mainstream, but like the rest of the country, he knew he might soon find himself under Nazi domination.

Gardner may have been 55 years old and leading a coven of witches, but he was still a patriotic Briton with a stiff upper lip. So the man who would be remembered as "The Father of Witchcraft" and his followers were going to do their part to defend the island, casting a spell that would target Adolf Hitler personally and end the threat of a Nazi invasion.

Gardner grew up in a wealthy English family that ran a timber company for the British Empire. He was a sickly boy who spent more time with his nursemaid than his parents. He spent much of his young life traveling and educating himself, eventually gaining a keen interest in spirituality, religious rituals and the occult. He would return to Britain as an older man, still sickly, but took up a career as a civil servant and amateur archeologist. Meanwhile, his interest in the occult only grew.

After Britain declared war on Germany in 1939, Gardner settled in Highcliffe-on-Sea and joined the New Forest Coven, a group of pagan witches in southern England that he believed were continuing a pre-Christian religious order that had been kept secret for centuries. As 1939 turned to 1940, Gardner's affection for his coven grew, as did the coven itself. They practiced folk magic in tune with their beliefs and he began writing books that would later form the foundation for the brand of Wicca that still bears Gardner's name.

Meanwhile, in Europe, things weren't going quite as well for the British Expeditionary Force. Nazi Germany had captured its objectives in Poland, and had already conquered Denmark, Norway, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. As the German Army pushed farther into France in May 1940, hundreds of thousands of Allied soldiers had to be evacuated from the beaches of Dunkirk. Paris was captured in June 1940, and France was forced to capitulate.

The Battle of Britain was about to begin. And when Prime Minister Winston Churchill ordered Britons to "therefore brace ourselves to our duties," the aged Gardner and his band of witches dutifully complied. Gardner himself became an air raid warden and his home a headquarters for Air Raid Precautions, a civil defense organization. He also joined the local Home Guard as an armorer, providing locals with weapons from his own collection of firearms and preparing molotov cocktails for use in combat.

But Gardner wanted to do more, and believed he had the magical ability to take the fight to the Nazis. The lore of the New Forest Coven included a ritual that had been used twice to defend the British Isles from the threat of an invasion. By creating a "Cone of Power," he and his coven could affect real-world events from the security of the New Forest. British witches had purportedly used the Cone of Power in 1588 to help fight off the Spanish Armada and in 1805 to end Napoleon's threat to England. They were going to use it once more in 1940.

The Cone of Power would be directed toward Hitler's brain to cloud his judgment, weaken his resolve and hasten his downfall. It was Aug. 1, 1940, and Lammas Eve, an important harvest festival in the Wicca religion, when Gardner and his coven met in New Forest. Just north of Highcliffe, they met around an ancient hangman's tree called The Naked Man. From there, the coven walked to Ferny Knapp Inclosure, a wooded area where the ritual would take place.

Instead of the traditional bonfire, the witches used a shuttered lantern (Gardner was still an air raid warden, after all) and danced in a spiral around it while naked (or "skyclad," in the Wiccan vernacular) to generate the magical energy needed to form the cone. As the coven chanted and danced, Gardner invoked the words of the spell and the assault on Hitler's brain began.

We only know the Cone of Power ritual actually happened because Gardner would write about it himself in one of the three books he wrote on witchcraft in the 1950s. J.L. Bracelin, a high priest of Gardnerian Wicca and a contemporary of Gardner's, also wrote about it in his book, "Gerald Gardner, Witch." But did the Cone of Power affect Hitler's brain?

Before August 1940, the Nazi war machine was virtually unstoppable, making few mistakes along the way. Hitler controlled or otherwise dominated most of Western Europe, and those not under Berlin's direct control (aside from Britain) were either too weak or too fearful to make any meaningful resistance. Roughly six weeks after the Cone of Power, Hitler abruptly canceled Operation Sea Lion, the proposed invasion of Britain, in favor of Operation Barbarossa, the invasion of the Soviet Union.

Less than a year later, Hitler would invade the USSR and declare war on the United States, neither of which he was bound to do. These were two critical miscalculations on the German leader's part that would have disastrous consequences for his regime. To Gerald Gardner and the New Forest Coven, it was proof positive that the Cone of Power had once again saved Britain.

-- Blake Stilwell can be reached at blake.stilwell@military.com. He can also be found on Facebook, Twitter, or on LinkedIn.

Want to Learn More About Military Life?

Whether you're thinking of joining the military, looking for post-military careers or keeping up with military life and benefits, Military.com has you covered. Subscribe to Military.com to have military news, updates and resources delivered directly to your inbox.

Share

Related Topics: Military History World War II

Blake Stilwell, Military.com

By Blake Stilwell

Blake Stilwell is an associate editor covering military entertainment, veteran employment and entrepreneurship and military history.

Read Full Bio

© Copyright 2025 Military.com. All rights reserved. This article may not be republished, rebroadcast, rewritten or otherwise distributed without written permission. To reprint or license this article or any content from Military.com, please submit your request here.

You May Also Like

How a US War Crime Against a German Rescue Mission Helped Exonerate a Nazi Admiral at Nuremberg

Werner Hartenstein pulled drowning British troops from the Atlantic Ocean in September 1942. The German U-boat commander was...

Minnesota Remains Discovered in 2015 Belong to WWII Veteran

Remains discovered in 2015 have been identified as Luis Gilberto Robledo, a World War II veteran.

Trump Announces New Class of Battleships Despite Century of Evidence Proving the Large Warships Are Obsolete

The ship will displace more than 35,000 tons and be capable of speeds exceeding 30 knots, according to the Navy. The...

Remains of WWII Medal of Honor Recipient, Killed as a POW, Finally Comes Home

After more than 80 years, Army veteran Willibald Bianchi was properly identified using advanced forensic science. Next May...

More History Topics

US Military History

Battle of Iwo Jima

Black History Month

D-Day

Flag Day
Independence Day
Memorial Day
Patriot Day: 9/11 Remembrance
Pearl Harbor: Day of Infamy
POW/MIA Recognition Day
USS Cole Sinking
Veterans Day
VJ Day
Women's History Month

Daily Military Trivia
Select Service
Army
Marines
Navy
Air Force
National Guard
Coast Guard
Space Force
Spouse
Login

Latest Military News
Russia Putin
Putin Hardens Stance in Call With Trump Over Ukraine Peace Talks
Trump Ukraine
Trump Indicates the US 'Hit' a Facility That He Tied to Alleged Drug Boats
Veterans in matching orange shirts attend a meeting.
Veterans Often Overlook These VA Disability Claims: Secondary Conditions Explained

Zelenskyy Asked Trump for 50-Year Security Guarantee for Ukraine
APTOPIX Israel Palestinians Gaza
Trump and Netanyahu Are to Meet in Florida at a Crucial Moment for the US-Backed Gaza Ceasefire
China Military
China Stages Military Drills Around Taiwan to Warn 'External Forces' After US, Japan Tensions
Famous Veterans
U.S. Army Gen. Ann E. Dunwoody, former commanding general of the Army Materiel Command, salutes during the playing of the national anthem at her retirement ceremony on Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall, Va., Aug. 15, 2012. (U.S. Army photo/Teddy Wade)
Seven Famous Female Veterans

Famous Veteran: Morgan Freeman
Chuck Norris Famous Military Veteran
Famous Veterans: Chuck Norris
Mr. T
Famous Veteran: Mr. T
Bob Ross with a completed painting
Famous Veteran: Bob Ross
Search Military.com

GO search arrow
News
News Home
Army
Navy
Air Force
Marine Corps
Coast Guard
Space Force

Military Podcasts Opinion
Videos
Benefits
Benefits Home
Military Pay and Money
GI Bill
Veteran Health Care
Tricare
VA Loans
Insurance
Retirement
VA eBenefits
Veteran Jobs
Veteran Job Search
Upload Your Resume
Veteran Employment Project
Vet Friendly Employers
Career Advice
Military Life
Military Life Home
Money
Off Duty
Fitness
Military Trivia Game
Veterans Day
Spouse & Family
Deployment
Military History
Discounts
Discounts Home
Featured Discounts
Veterans Day Restaurant Discounts
Dining
Travel
Retail
Insurance
Services
Auto
Electronics
Join the Military
Join the Military Home
ASVAB
Contact a Recruiter
Military Fitness
Benefits
Military.com icon
Military.com Network
Air Force
Army
Coast Guard
Marine Corps
National Guard
Navy
Space Force
About Military.com
About Us & Press Room
RSS
Advertise with Us
Reprints & Permissions
Subscriptions
User Agreement
Privacy Policy
Your Privacy Choices

Site Map

Military & Veteran Journalism Fund

Need customer support?

Visit our Customer Support center for solutions or to contact us.

Customer Support

© 2025 Military Advantage

FacebookXPinterestEmailShare

8 ads blocked

15% space saved!

Our Philosophy

Explore

About

What is Anacyclosis?

The theory of anacyclosis (ἀνακύκλωσις in Greek) represents the culmination of ancient Greek political thought on the evolution of political communities. It is a "unified theory" of political history in that it attempts to explain the evolution and dissolution of all regime types, including democracy. The theory is most clearly and succinctly expressed in the writings of the historian Polybius, though many aspects of the theory were described by earlier thinkers such as Plato and Aristotle. Recognized by Machiavelli for its explanatory power, Polybius' model was studied by the Founding Fathers of the United States and profoundly influenced their vision of the republic they were founding.

The word anacyclosis has been variously translated as "the cycle of political revolution" and "the cycle of the constitutions." In short, the theory states that the six regime archetypes that the Greeks identified and which we still use today (monarchy, tyranny, aristocracy, oligarchy, democracy, and ochlocracy or mob-rule) each represent different stages of one long process of political evolution. There is good reason to think that Polybius and his predecessors arrived at this theory empirically. After observing the rise and fall of many hundreds of city-states, most of which cycled through several of the governmental forms mentioned above, Greek political thinkers concluded that these transitions from one form to another were not random. Rather, they seemed to follow simple and recognizable patterns. For example, tyrants were frequently overthrown by groups of aristocrats, while popular revolutions frequently overthrew oligarchies and ushered in democratic rule. Interestingly, the reverse of these trends (aristocracies being overthrown by tyrants or democracies turning into oligarchies) were statistically less likely to occur.

Through such observations, Polybius extrapolated the likely complete course of political evolution for an independent state whose lifecycle is not cut short by war or disaster. According to our interpretation of his model, the cycle proceeds as follows. Political communities are first ruled by kings. Kingship is eventually corrupted into tyranny. The last tyrant is deposed or forced to share power with an aristocracy. Aristocracy degenerates into an oppressive oligarchy. Occasionally, an independent middle economic stratum - a middle class - emerges; hoi mesoi in Aristotelian terms. If this middle class is entrenched, democracy emerges. In time, however, a plutocracy emerges, stratifying society between opulent and dependent. The hopes of the dependent masses fuel an intensifying competition among their political patrons, transforming democracy into mob-rule, perhaps better described as rule by demagogues. This tournament of demagogues rages among a narrowing field of popular leaders until a single champion arises victorious, dragging political society back to some form of monarchy, thus completing the cycle.

At the Anacyclosis Institute, we believe that this ancient model contains much truth. We also believe that the astonishing longevity of the US Constitution, specifically designed to resist the Polybian cycle, speaks to the validity of many aspects of the theory. Nevertheless, while inspired by the anacyclosis model, we do not believe that human history rigidly follows any fixed evolutionary sequence. What we do believe is that a careful study of history can tell us a lot about where we are and where we are headed. We now have many more tools at our disposal than Polybius had for the study of historical patterns, including archaeology, economics, demographic models, and complexity theory. One of our objectives is to use these tools to develop a more comprehensive model of political change. Pending the completion of that task, however, a revised version of the ancient narrative provides a convenient template against which to chart the general outline of political evolution. The Anacyclosis Institute is committed to encouraging and supporting all new research that attempts to understand the trends, forces, and patterns of history for the benefit of humanity.

About Us

The Anacyclosis Institute: Understanding the future of democracy.

The Anacyclosis Institute is a 501(c)(3) tax-exempt nonprofit organization.

ferguson@anacyclosis.org

Recent Posts

What does Kurt Vonnegut's master's thesis and Anacyclosis have in common?

September 30, 2023

An Allusion to Anacyclosis in The Federalist Papers

July 31, 2023

Democracy Wars

January 31, 2023

Donation

Your Donation Amount:

5.00

Your total amount is : 5.00 (Currency: USD)

© 2019 Anacyclosis Institute. All rights reserved.

Skip to content

Hellenion

Home

About

Membership

Calendar

Practice

Website Support

Orphic Hymn to Aphrodite

Orphic Hymn to Aphrodite \(#55\)

Heavenly, smiling Aphrodite, praised in many hymns, sea-born, revered goddess of generation, you like the nightlong revel and you couple lovers at night, O scheming mother of Necessity.
Everything comes from you; you have yoked the world, and you control all three realms. You give birth to all,
to everything in heaven, upon the fruitful earth and in the depths of the sea, O venerable companion of Bacchos.
You delight in festivities, O bridelike mother of the Erotes, O Persuasion whose joy is in the bed of love, secretive, giver of grace, visible and invisible, lovely-tressed daughter of a noble father, bridal feast companion of the gods, sceptered she-wolf, beloved and man-loving giver of birth and of life,
with your maddening love-charms you yoke mortals and the many races of beasts to unbridled passion.
Come, O goddess born in Cyprus, whether you are on Olympos, O queen, exulting in the beauty of your face,
or you wander in Syria, country of fine frankincense, or, yet, driving your golden chariot in the plain,
you lord it over Egypt's fertile river bed.

Come, whether you ride your swan-drawn chariot over the sea's billows, joying in the creatures of the deep as they dance in circles, or you delight in the company of the dark-faced nymphs on land,
(as, light-footed, they frisk over the sandy beaches).
Come, lady, even if you are in Cyprus that cherishes you, where fair maidens and chaste nymphs throughout the year
sing of you, O blessed one, and of immortal, pure Adonis.
Come, O beautiful and comely goddess;
I summon you with holy words and pious soul.

Translation by A. Athanassakis

Search for:

Search ...

Recent Posts

May 2025 Calendar

April 2025 Calendar

December 2022 Calendar

New Mailing Address

Hellenion's 2023 Calendar

Recent Comments

Archives

May 2025

April 2025

December 2022

June 2022

May 2021

March 2021

February 2021

December 2020

October 2020

September 2020

August 2020

July 2020

May 2020

April 2020

March 2020

February 2020

January 2020

December 2019

October 2019

September 2019

August 2019

July 2019

June 2019

May 2019

April 2019

March 2019

February 2019

January 2019

December 2018

November 2018

October 2018

September 2018

August 2018

July 2018

June 2018

May 2018

April 2018

March 2018

February 2018

January 2018

December 2017

November 2017

October 2017
September 2017
August 2017
July 2017
June 2017
May 2017
April 2017
March 2017
January 2017
December 2016
November 2016
October 2016
September 2016
August 2016
June 2016
April 2016
Categories
Calendar
Events
Local / regional National announcements
Uncategorized
Meta
Log in Entries feed
Comments feed
WordPress.org
Hellenion www.hellenion.org
Home
About Mission
Officers and Clergy
Demoi
Volunteer
Hestia Fund
Membership
Join
Renew
Calendar
Practice
Worship
Hymnodia
Education
Website Support
© 2025 Hellenion. Proudly powered by Sydney

<https://www.thestargoddess.net/qna.htm>
17 captures
08 Jul 2001 - 08 Oct 2024
Jun Jul Aug
08
2000 2001 2002

About this capture
Liber QNA --- by Fr. Achad (Charles Stansfield Jones)

Liber QNA vel Namen Dei

sub figura CLI
Frater Achad

1. In the Beginning, created, ALHIM, the Essence of the Heavens and the Essence of the Earth.
2. Thus the first Name given in the Book of Genesis is that of The Elehim, the Creative Gods.
3. And the Numeration thereof is 86. Many and great are its mysteries.
4. Then, in the Second Creation Story, is made mention of IHVH = JaHVeH, the Tetragrammaton or Name-of-the-Four-letters, whose numeration is 26.
5. And this name was throughout the Second Story combined with that of the First, as it is written IHVH ALHIM, whose numeration is 112.
6. And the Name-of-the-Four-letters, IHVH, was considered by the Jews too sacred to be pronounced, save only once a year by the High Priest in the Holy of Holies, amid the blare of trumpets, and thus, in reading aloud, there was substituted the name ADNI, Adonai, which being translated is "Lord." And the numeration thereof is 65.
7. But unto Abraham and unto Isaac and unto Jacob, with whom God made His first Covenant, His Name IHVH was not revealed, for by them was He known by His name AL (God) Shaddai, that is to say: GOD Almighty. And the numeration of AL is 31 (many and great are its mysteries); and the full numeration of AL ShDI, is 345, which is also that of the mysterious word HShM, Ha Shema, which meaneth The NAME.
8. But only unto the Prophet MShH, Moses, the numeration of whose name is 345, was revealed by God His Highest Name, that is by numeration 543, the numerical Temurah of 345, which name is AHIH ASHR AHIH, Ehieh Ashur Ehieh, which meaneth "Existence IS Existence" -- the NAME of the Highest GOD.
9. Even as it is written in Exodus 3.13: "And Moses said to God, 'Behold, when I come to the children of Israel, and say to them, The God of your fathers hath sent me to you; and they shall say to me, What is his name? What shall I say to them?' And God said to Moses, 'I AM THAT I AM.' And he said 'Thus shalt thou say to the children of Israel; I AM (AHIH) hath sent me to you.'"
10. And the numeration of AHIH is 21, many and great are its mysteries.
11. "And God said moreover to Moses, "Thus shalt thou say to the children of Israel; IHVH, (JaHVeH) the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob hath sent me to you; this is my name for ever, and this is my memorial to generations of generations".
12. And again in Exodus 6.2: "And God spake unto Moses, and said to him, 'I AM IHVH (JaHVeH). And I appeared to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, as AL (or God) Almighty, but by my name IHVH was I not known to them. And I also established my covenant with them to give them the land of Canaan, the land of their sojournings wherein they sojourned!'"
13. And the numeration of AHIH IHVH, I AM JaHVeH, is 47, but by the Qabalists these Names (of Macroprosopus and Microprosopus) have been coalesced into the most mysterious name AHIHVH, the numeration of which is 32.
14. Thus did God reveal His name to Moses as of the Vast Countenance AHIH and of the Lesser Countenance IHVH, and both these Holy Names have been held most sacred.
15. But in the whole of Judaism and its sacred literature there is nothing that is so holy as the sentence known as the Shema, Ha Shema, which is to say "The NAME" -- "Hear, O Israel: IHVH ALHIM IHVH AChD, JaHVeH our God JaHVeH is

ACHAD: Achad meaning ONE -- UNITY. (And this Shema occurs in the Book of Deuteronomy Chapter VI verse 4.)

16. And these words of the Shema are immediately followed by the Command: "And thou shalt love IHVH thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. And these words I command thee this day, shall be in thy heart; and thou shalt press them upon thy children, and shall talk of them when thou sittest in thy house, and down, and when thou risest up. And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thy hand, and they shall be as frontlets between thine eyes. And thou shalt write upon the door-post of thy house, and on the city gates.

17. This, then is the Commandment which IShVH (Jesus) later referred to as "The whole of the Law and the Prophets."

18. And the numeration of AchD (Unity) is 13. Likewise is the numeration of AHBH, Ahebah, LOVE, 13. And together Unity and Love are 26, which is the numeration of IHVH, which implieth that the One God is Love, and as such most worthy of the whole love of His chosen people -- first and foremost and always.

19. After which First Commandment cometh the love of the neighbour and of one another, and of all creatures for His sake.

20. And what of this Love (AHBH) when extended, or as the Qabalists say, spelt in full? Spelt in full AHBH (13) becomes ALP HH BITH HH the numeration of which is 543 the equivalent of AHIH ASHR AHIM -- I AM THAT I AM -- The NAME of the Highest GOD.

21. ACHAD is AHEBAH -- God is Love.

22. But there is a further great Mystery of the name of God which was also revealed unto Moses (345) but of which word is indeed seldom spoken, yet which when known and revered unlocks many secret gates.

23. This Holy name is QNA whose numeration is 151.

24. What meaneth this?

25. When Moses having broken the First tablets of the law received from God on Mount Sinai, returned again with other tablets that the Lord might write again thereon (See Exodus Ch 34 V.1) God made a further covenant with him (verse 10) and disclosed a third name to Moses (verse 14) as follows: "For thou shalt worship no other God; for IHVH whose Name is JEALOUS (QNA) is a jealous God."

26. Now the primary meaning of this word JEALOUS is: Eager to uphold, solicitous for, guarding watchfully. Its secondary meaning as applied to the Commandment of God is: Requiring whole-hearted worship and service. And only in its tertiary and further meanings does it have reference to: Apprehension of being supplanted, outdone by a rival in love; or in the favour of another etc. But it does also mean: Zealously vigilant. Thus its root is in "Zeal": Intense enthusiasm; ardour, fervour.

27. It is this intense enthusiasm, this ardour, this fervour that QNA is in Himself and demand of others: Thou shalt LOVE Me with thy whole heart, thy whole soul, thy whole mind and thy whole strength for I AM LOVE Itself and I AM JEALOUS, because passionate Love in its very nature implies the possibility of Jealousy.

28. And how does this Great Name of God give us the key to our choice of a Number most adequate to represent Him?

29. The Numeration of QNA is 151.

30. The Numeration of AHIH (I AM) spelt in full (ALPh HH IVD HH) is 151.

31. The Numeration of IHVH ALHIM IHVH AChD (JaHVeH our GOD JaHVeH is ONE) is 151.

32. This shows in one combination or another the original ALHIM (Our God) of the First Creation Story, AHIH the highest Name given to Moses, IHVH the Ineffable name of Four Letters, AChD, the true Unity, are all through the Number 151 equivalent to this Holy Name QNA which has been "rejected".

33. That it does represent the Stone that the Builders rejected is shown as follows: Tradition has it that the Original Law was written upon a Sapphire Stone. Moses broke and discarded the original Tablet of the Law. And QNA being written in full becomes QOPH NVN ALPh which is 403 which number is that of the words ABN SPHIR, that is to say the Sapphire Stone.

34. Now as for the sound of this Holy Name QNA it is CANA. And this surely suggests the land of CANAan, the promised land flowing with milk and honey. It is also significant that the first miracle performed by IShVH took place at CANA of Galilee in connection with a marriage, or love feast, where Water was changed into Wine, and whereat Jesus first signified the Kingdom of Heaven which is within every man as leaven is within three measurea of meal.

35. But finally there is a more than possible connection with certain prophecies in Liber Legis, which is called the Book of the Law in the New Aeon. Mention is made therein of a word not known: and this was once explained (after the discovery of the key AL) as a word NOT known.

36. But there is towards the end of this Book -- Chapter III verse 72 -- a certain mysterious word which may have reference to the "not known" of Chapter III verse 2.

"I am the Lord of the Double Wand of Power:
the wand of the force of Coph Nia -- etc."

37. Now there is, as has been shown elsewhere, a most interesting correspondence between the words "Coph Nia" and The Book of the Law, their Hebrew equivalents having the same numeration.

38. But in the Commentary on Liber Legis written by 666 there occurs these words "Coph Nia": the original MS has -- left incomplete as not properly heard. The present text was filled in later in her own hand by the Scarlet Woman."

38. Now there was another word not rightly heard when the original MS was made: thus the title of first editions appeared as Liber L. vel Legis, and only after the discovery of the Key to the book did this get changed to the proper title: Liber AL vel Legis.

39. It is here suggested then, that the word "Coph was given (or put down) for the Hebrew letter "Qoph" and that the Intelligence dictating Liber Legis gave this separate letter Qoph as the first letter of a word, but pronounced it apart specially to distinguish it from "Kaph". It is further suggested that what was written as "NIA" was intended to be the rest of the Word, viz: NA, so that the word should read QNA or CANA, or KANA by sound. Had, however, the whole word been pronounced thus it would surely have been written down with an initial letter of either C or K, and to avoid this the first sound given was "Coph" or "Qoph". This led (as JEALOUSLY does) to a misunderstanding. May not the word JEALOUS (QNA) be the "word not known" which has caused the "Divisionhither homewards" of Chapter III.2.?

40. The further correspondences of this Number 151 are also worthy of note.

41. There is the word QVMH which means: A standing upright, and "stature".

42. There is also the sacred word MQVH which appears in Jer.XVII.13, where it is written:

12. "A glorious throne on high from the beginning hath been the place of our Sanctuary.

13. "O IHVH, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee shall be ashamed.

"They that drew back from me shall be written on earth, because they have forsaken IHVH, "THE FOUNTAIN OF LIVING WATERS." (MQVH = 151)

43. Let us then not forget "to rejoice" (GIL = 43) to

THE END

Written down by Frater Achad this twenty third day of April in the year Nineteen hundred and thirtysix at "Tall Timbers" Deep Water, B.C., Canada

-0-

<https://sacreduniverse.com/>

154 captures

02 Feb 2001 - 19 May 2025

Nov DEC Jan

17

2002 2003 2004

About this capture

Mysteries of the Sacred Universe

The Cosmology of the Bhagavata Purana

Richard L. Thompson

"Gripping, scholarly, and groundbreaking, Mysteries of the Sacred Universe deserves to be widely read and discussed."

—Robert G. Bauval, coauthor of both The Orion Mystery and The Message of the Sphinx

From the flat earth to the sun's chariot, traditional spiritual texts often seem wedded to outmoded cosmologies that show, at best, the scientific limitations of their authors. The Bhagavata Purana, one of the classical scriptures of Hinduism, seems, at first glance, to be no exception. However, a closer examination of this text reveals unexpected depths of knowledge in ancient cosmology. Mysteries of the Sacred Universe shows that the cosmology of the Bhagavata Purana is a sophisticated system, with multiple levels of meaning that encode at least four different astronomical, geographical, and spiritual world models.

By viewing the text in the light of modern astronomy, Richard Thompson shows how ancient scientists expressed exact knowledge in apparently mythological terms. Comparison with the ancient traditions of Egypt and the Near East shows early cultural connections between India and these regions—including a surprisingly advanced science. However, quantitative science is only part of the picture. Mysteries of the Sacred Universe also offers a clear understanding of how the spiritual dimension was integrated into ancient Indian cosmology.

paperback, 375 pages, 104 illustrations, 51 tables, glossary, bibliography, and index

ISBN 0-9635309-3-3

About the Author | Overview | Table of Contents | Reviews | Interviews | Links | Order Via Secure Server

See Mysteries of the Sacred Universe Interactive CD and Mysteries of the Sacred Universe Video!

Order your book, interactive CD, or video today via our secure server!

Add Me!SubmitFree: Submit to 25+ Search Engines for free !!!!

Govardhan Hill Publishing
P.O. Box 1920
Alachua, FL 32616-1920
(386) 462-0466 / fax (386) 462-0463 / e-mail: ghi@nersp.nerdc.ufl.edu
Last updated on June 26, 2002.

© 2002 Govardhan Hill Publishing
Poetry and Magic
© Ann Skea

First published in Moulin, J. (Ed.) Ted Hughes: Alternative Horizons, Routledge, London, 2004.

This paper is the first chapter of a detailed analysis of Ted Hughes' poetic sequence, Birthday Letters. It explores Hughes' use of Cabbala and Tarot in structuring Birthday Letters and examines each poem in the sequence from this perspective. Useful background reading on Tarot and Cabbala is widely available on the internet but Colin Low's Notes on Kabbala is especially helpful.

Starting The Journey
'Fulbright Scholars', 'Caryatids (1)', 'Caryatids' (2).

"Is there any significance", a correspondent asked me, "in the fact that there are eighty-eight poems in Birthday Letters?". "None of which I am aware", I replied, "But, since Ted does structure his poetic sequences very carefully, I would not rule it out".

I thought no more about this, because I was preoccupied with the idea that the Birthday Letters were Ted's Eroici Furori – a sequence of passionate love poems such as were considered to be the crowning achievement of a Renaissance magus like Giordano Bruno, with whose work Ted was very familiar. Love, for Renaissance Hermeticists and for Platonic Neoplatonists like Bruno, was "the living virtue in all things, which the magician intercepts and which leads him from the lower things to the supercelestial realm by divine furor¹. It was a means of understanding, ordering and, ultimately, influencing things in our world. Bruno published De gli Eroici Furori in England in 1586, but it is a cryptic text full of magical symbolism, and very different to Birthday Letters. It was dedicated to Sir Philip Sidney, whose English love poetry is, however, similar in some ways to Ted's and has itself been attributed (although contentiously) to the inspiration of divine furor.

Ted's belief in the primacy of the imagination as an instrument for reaching the truth was exactly that of Sidney and the other members of the so-called "Areopagus" who befriended Bruno on his visit to England. And his preface to By Heart: 101 Poems to Remember (Faber, 1997) sets out exactly the sort of mnemonic techniques for training the imagination that they had learned from the work of Renaissance Hermeticists like Marsilio Ficino. His belief in poetry as "magical" and as "one way of making things happen the way you want them to happen"²; his knowledge of the work of Renaissance figures like Bruno, Marsilio Ficino, Pico della Mirandola (as evidenced in Shakespeare and the Goddess of Complete Being, (Faber, 1992); his sustained, careful and detailed use of the techniques, processes and beliefs of alchemy in Cave Birds, Remains of Elmet and River; and his acknowledged use of meditation and astrology, all point to his lifelong interest in using magic in his work. None of this, however, threw any light on Birthday Letters until I read about the way in which poets like Sidney, Fulke Greville, Marlow, Milton, Donne and, later, even Dryden, adopted Cabbalistic number theory in the structure and content of their poems. The work by Alastair Fowler in revealing this kind of structuring has been of major importance, and it was whilst reading his work on Spencer³ that I suddenly realised the possible relationship between Cabbala and the eighty-eight poems in Birthday Letters.

Cabbala, in its ancient and traditional form, is the knowledge of occult number theory in the Bible. It is also a mystical and magical discipline by means of which the Cabbalist may understand our world and all its energies and use them to reintegrate disparate elements – to create harmony and heal ills. This is the Great Work, and the individual seeking to undertake this work must begin with the self.

Cabbala is based on the twenty-two letters of the Hebrew alphabet. Sephirith picture These letters are arranged on interconnecting pathways on a Sephirothic Tree (a tree of life) on which there are ten Sephiroth – ten points at which the divine energies enter our world, transmitted as a lightning flash from the Divine Source. And, in Ted's own words: "Everything in the universe, attached to its symbol, can be given its proper place on the Tree... So the Tree becomes a means of ordering the psyche by internalizing the knowable universe as a stairway to God" (SGCB 20-1).

Trees on Sephirith picture Those who seek to order the psyche and climb the stairway to God in this way, follow The Path of Wisdom (also known as "The Path of the Serpent") along the Tree's twenty-two interconnected pathways, through four overlapping worlds: Atziluth (the World of emanation, archetypes and (in Jungian terms) the psyche; Briah, the World of the intellect, the possibility of creation, the collective subconscious; Yetzirah, the World of synthesis, formation, the individual subconscious; and Assiah, the world of making, the earthy, material world of consciousness. William Blake's four worlds of Eden, Beulah, Generation and Ulro "derive from the same tradition"⁴. The twenty-two letters of the Cabbalistic alphabet in these four worlds make eighty-eight pathways along which the Cabbalist makes the questing journey. And, from the time of the Renaissance, the cards of the Tarot pack (especially the twenty-two cards of the Major Arcana) have been used as a mnemonic for the pathways of this Cabbalistic quest.

If all this seems to be a long way from poetry, then I can only say that magic is an art, and it is an art in which Ted was very interested. He often described poetry as a magical shamanic journey undertaken to obtain some healing energies needed in our world, and he constantly sought ways to use the imagination to reintegrate our inner and outer worlds. One might also apply to Ted some of his own observations about Shakespeare: "Without assuming that [he] was a devout Occult Neoplatonist [or Cabbalist]...one can suppose that out of this vast complex of archaic, magical, religious ideas and methods, the following items caught his attention: ...The idea of a syncretic mythology...The idea of these images as internally structured, precisely folded, multiple meanings...The idea of meditation as a conjuring by ritual magic of hallucinatory figures – with whom conversations can be held" (SGCB 32-3). All of these ideas are very relevant to Birthday Letters.

The question then, for me, was whether Ted did use Cabbala, and in particular the imagery of the Tarot, to structure the sequence of poems in Birthday Letters and, if so, whether this offers us a different perspective on the work. I began my investigation of these questions sceptically, knowing the richness and range of Ted's imagination and very aware that I might easily impose the structure for which I was searching. But, for many reasons, not least the closeness and consistency with which the poems match the cards and embody the Sephirothic emanations, I now have no doubt that such a structure exists. (See Table 1 for a full list of these correspondences).

Each episode of the story – "Your story. My story" – in Birthday Letters is a stage on the path at which something – some pattern from the past – is (often quite literally) captured in a photograph, film, picture or mental image and brought into the present to be meditated on, questioned, illuminated and re-created in a poem. For Ted, who believed in the magical power of poetry and the summoning power of symbols, this was a dangerous process, as well as being psychologically harrowing. Cabbala, if nothing else, provided him with a protective structure within which to negotiate with the energies and to conjure into being the people and events of his past.

The Cabbalistic journey begins with the first manifestation of form, the point, in which every potential exists. It is everything and nothing; the closed and endless circle; zero; the aleph of the Hebrew alphabet. For the neophyte Cabbalist or magician, it is the image of The Fool in the Tarot pack. Fool card Here is the "imbecile innocent" of Cave Birds ('In these fading moments... ' CB 20), stepping off blindly on his journey towards knowledge and enlightenment with the baggage of his past life on his back and the dog of materialism and worldly convention snapping at his heels. The very title of the first poem in Birthday Letters embodies all these things ('Fulbright Scholars' BL 3). Here are "Scholars", Sylvia amongst them, about to embark on the search for knowledge in a strange land. The accumulated Alphas of their past lives have earned them a place on this path, and they are "Ful - bright" like the zero of the sun. They have their luggage with them, literally and metaphorically. In the photograph, as in the first manifestation of matter, everything is still possible.

Ted, too, is an innocent, "dumbfounded" by his "ignorance of the simplest things" and confessing (like the neophyte magician making the ritual negative confession at the start of the journey) that he lacks memory, knowledge and direction. In Cabbalistic terms, at the apex of the Tree is Kether, the Crown, the Monad, the number 1, the planted seed from which all else grows. This is also the Garden of Eden, and just as Adam's bite of the apple from the Tree of Knowledge brought him knowledge of his nakedness, so Ted's first taste of a fresh peach brings self-consciousness.

Consciousness, Force and Form, the first three Sephiroth on the Tree, are the fundamental aspects of the divine as manifest in all creation and from them comes all change in the natural world and in the inner world of the Cabbalist. Temple picture Chokmah, Sephira number 2, and Binah, Sephira number 3, form the base of this triangle of supernal energies. Chokmah and Binah each occupy the summit of one of the two pillars of Mercy and Justice on and between which all ten Sephiroth of the Tree are positioned. Chokmah, on the right-hand pillar of Mercy, is also known as Abba, the All Father, Raw Energy; Binah, on the left-hand pillar of Justice, is known as Aima, the All Mother, Capacity to take form.

Given this graphic arrangement, it is interesting to note that the title of both the second and third poems in Birthday Letters (BL 4-6) is 'Caryatids' (the name of carved female figures which form pillars supporting the portico of a Greek temple) and that in both the hardback and the paperback editions of the book these poems, perhaps fortuitously, stand side-by-side, pillar-like, on opposing pages.

Priestess card Also, the poem on the left embodies female energies: the caryatids are "friable" and "frail-looking" ("each body" in Sylvia's poem, to which Ted refers, is "a virgin vase"), yet they are strong enough to bear a "falling heaven of granite". In the Tarot, the related card is that of The High Priestess, who represents Artemis, the huntress, (caryatids are named after the women of Caryae who worshipped Artemis) and also Isis, Diana and other moon-goddesses of potential fertility. Which suggests not only a literal answer to Ted's opening question in 'Caryatids (1)', "What were those caryatids bearing?", but also that they are bearers of the omen which he failed to see.

'Caryatids (2)', the poem on the right, embodies raw male energies, "frivolous as faithless", "stupid with confidence", "careless", carousing and destructive, focussed only on the present, the "real world and self". Just such energies belong to The Magician, The Juggler, Hermes/Mercury, whose Tarot card is associated with the duad Chokmah. Magus cardHe can be dexterous and cunning, creative and destructive, magus or trickster. He, too, like the protagonist of Ted's poem, wears "playclothes", "tests every role for laughs", yet is able to spark connections "through bustling atmospherics".

Sylvia's caryatid poem was meant to catch the attention of Ted and his poet friends, which it did. But they thought it exemplified form without energy (just as Binah does) and disliked it. In Ted's view it was "thin and brittle", "cold", "like the theorem of a trap, a deadfall". The irony of this was that the trap caught both Ted and Sylvia.

In these first three poems, as nowhere else in Birthday Letters, Ted deals directly with the Sephiroth rather than with the paths between them. This is appropriate, because at this level – that of the first three divine emanations in the highest, Atziluthic, world – the energies are nearest to the Source and are of equal importance. It is also appropriate, because in all the rituals associated with Cabbalistic journeys, such as those of the Order of The Golden Dawn (of which Yeats was once a prominent member), the Neophyte is brought to the 'Pillars of Solomon/Hermes/Seth' beyond which lies the gate to 'The Hall of Truth'. At this stage in Birthday Letters, Ted has brought himself and Sylvia to this gateway. Together they will begin the journey but, until their marriage, their paths run parallel and are joined only at times, as fate decrees.

The Path of the The Hanged Man – Mem
Mem pathHanged Man card
Tarot card 12. Tree path 13.
Joining Sephira 5 (Gevurah)and 8 (Hod)

'Fidelity', 'Astringency', 'The Rag Rug', 'The Ventriloquist'

Clearly, it is not possible for me to trace the Cabbalistic pattern of this journey poem by poem through Birthday Letters in this short paper. What I will do, instead, is look at four poems which represent the same path in each of the four overlapping Worlds. The path I have chosen is that of the thirteenth letter of the Hebrew alphabet, Mem, which is symbolised by water and is represented in the Tarot by card 12, The Hanged Man. For the sake of simplicity, too, I will concentrate on the Tarot, which is, as I have already mentioned, a mnemonic device for remembering the complex theory of Cabbala, and, as such, it relies on vivid images and rich mythological associations.

The image on the card of The Hanged Man was identified in Frazer's The Golden Bough⁵ as Attis, the Dying God on the Tree of Life. It is a symbol of sacrifice, death and rebirth, an overturning of the world, a time for radical change on the path. Mem, described by Cabbalists as "between the Waters above and the Waters beneath", is also a path of transition.

The Birthday Letters poem related to the path of Mem and The Hanged Man in the first, Atziluthic, world of archetypes and first emanations is 'Fidelity' (BL 28), and almost its first words are – "I was just hanging around". Here is Ted, "afloat on the morning tide", "gutted", "free", suspended:

...I think of it

As a kind of time that cannot pass.

That I have never used, so still possess.

At this stage of the Cabbalistic journey, worldly things have been left behind and the aspirant is in a state of suspension and must prove him or herself worthy of continuing along the path. Like the Grail-quest Knight, some trial must be passed, some choice or sacrifice made.

Only a short time earlier, Ted was "playing at friendship", "frivolous as faithless". The old life had to end, just as Dionysus had to perish to be reborn as Iaccus. Already Ted has left behind the baggage of his first twenty-five years. All he has is "a bare mattress, on bare boards, in a bare room" and his notebook. Now, every night in this bare, top room, he encounters "a lovely girl" and, just as the Grail-quest Knight (Gawain, in particular) was tested in his encounters with the amorous lady in the mysterious castle, so Ted's "fidelity" to Sylvia is tested. Images of "knighthood", "holy law", "a priestess", "nakedness" and chaste "sisterly comforting" all reinforce this parallel. Ted makes a choice, and even the second, "wilder", "shameless gap-tooth", plump and pretty girl does not break his chivalrous resolve to "keep the meaning of my words / Solid with the world we were making".

Significantly, it was the breaking of faith which was the issue here not sexual gratification, for in Cabbala sex is not a sin. So, each girl – one naked and sisterly, the other naked in her desire to get him "inside her" – is sacrificed, "laid", like a "sinless child", under the threshold of Ted's and Sylvia's future.

The second poem on the path of Mem and The Hanged Man is 'Astringency' (BL 80). Now, Ted's and Sylvia's paths are combined. They are no longer in the Atziluthic world of archetypes but in the lower, watery, mutable World of Briah, the world of intellect and abstract creation.

In 'Astringency', the natural energies, like the River Charles, seem frozen and everything is suspended. Ted strolls "slackly", and he and Sylvia are "Together, silent, thinking of nothing". The word 'astringency' was for years, as Ted tells us, a cant, insincere, catchword but it also means "the drawing together of organic tissues" (OED), a process by which healing is promoted. In the poem, which is full of images of sickness and distress, Ted draws together fragments of free, healthy energy (like the goldfish) and the "toxic" world of "Agrochemicals", air polluted by iron-smelting, and "Lit.Crit" – all the result of intellectual intervention in a natural, creative process. He and Sylvia are "Right there on the edge" of this world, standing "on" America, rather than immersed in it's culture, watching the "lariat" noose of "each small, tired wave" wash over "a nipple of rock", as if these murky, poisoned waters are threatening their own mother.

In their lives at this time, too, they were on the edge. They had left behind the rational, predictable path of jobs and academia and they were not yet committed to the literary life of Boston. "A life of doing nothing is death", Sylvia wrote in her journal on August 2nd, 1958, and she swung between elation and depression: "the strangling noose of worry, of hysteria, paralysis..."⁶ was ever present. In the true spirit of Briah they were "writing, consolidating our splayed selves"⁷: discovering identity and voice.

Amongst the other organic energies brought together in the poem, are the human energies, rational and instinctive. In Sylvia, if not in Ted, rationality is "the censor", "the night hands", "the snare" which silences her instinctive energies and traps "all that teeming population" of imaginative metaphors, to hang them, tortured, in her poems (another image of suspension). Only once does Ted hear an instinctive metaphor escape in her speech. But, like the goldfish, this "Brainstorm of the odds" shows that the situation is not hopeless, the natural energies are still strong and "frisky" and choice still exists.

No sacrifices are mentioned in the poem, but the choice Ted and Sylvia make (as the very next poem in Birthday Letters shows) is to follow instinct, rather than logic, and to keep faith with the trust each has placed in poetry and its paramount importance in their shared future.

Below the World of Briah, but connected to it, is the World of Yetzirah, a world of syntheses and formation in which poetry, music, literature, art, law and all other real but intangible patterns exist and are shaped by the individual subconscious.

'The Rag Rug' (BL 135), (which is the poem on the Hanged Man path in this Yetziratic World) does not, on first reading seem to be about suspension, choice or sacrifice, as the other poems were. But it is full of Cabbalistic symbolism, especially in the snake energies which coil and sway and pour through the poem. Sylvia's "motley viper", a serpent which seems "to pull something out of [her] like some tapeworm of the psyche" and is dragged, like her own "entrails, out through [her] navel", and Ted's great golden snake, shaken awake by an inversion of Ted's dream world and lifting "its head from a well in the middle of the house", are both superb images of subconscious energies. They are also energies which are as dangerous and mysterious as The Path of Wisdom (which is itself The Path of the Serpent) is for those who travel it. And they are linked in the poem with some deep "knowledge" which will alter Sylvia's "blood" and Ted's "nerves and brain" and lie "coiled between" them like the rag rug, dividing them from each other.

Hanged Man imagery is there in the poem, too. It is there in the doubleness which Ted himself weaves into the poem so that the rag rug becomes a symbolic interface between two worlds, the earth world of "venous blood", "the grave", malediction and death, and the sky world of the "serpent's jumbled rainbow", of "lightnings", sunny "daffodil yellow", happiness and birth. At this interface, Ted and Sylvia are "lifted", "freed" by the physical act of creation. Sylvia, plaiting the rug and "creating the serpent" soothes Ted with her calm industry, and Ted, lulls her with his voice, "like a snake-charmer", reading books which are, themselves, about interfaces where dark, subconscious energies enter the world.

The mood of suspension, of "breath-held camera moments", of shared beauty and happiness is strong in the poem, but so, too, is the fragility of this world, the sense of impending, irreversible, division and change. And the poem lies at a moment of change in the Birthday Letters sequence and in the story which it tells.

In my reading of the poem, the creation of the rag rug is a metaphor for the creative gestation which was going on in Sylvia in the early months of 1962, a process in which Ted, himself was "pushed out and away". Until then, in spite of all their differences, Ted and Sylvia had worked together. But at the heart of this poem, following the moment of suspension and beauty, are Sylvia's "furies" ("bled into the rug" and "confided to whoever" in her diary), followed by Ted's images of birth and separation. Sylvia seems driven by this new knowledge she has "unearthed" to separate herself from Ted - to do what she had described once in her journal in a burst of fury at Ted: "... I won't bother showing him the story of Sweetie Pie I've done, keep the viper out of the household and send it out on its own"⁸. It is not clear whether the viper, at the time of that particular entry, was Ted or the story she had written.

In April 1962, according to Ted in 'Sylvia Plath and her Journals'⁹, Sylvia achieved "this cool, light, very beautiful moment of mastery, that enabled her to take the next step... [then] she started on a poem about a giant wych elm that overshadowed the yard of her home... And at once the Ariel voice emerged in full, out of the tree.". The poem to which Ted refers is 'Elm'¹⁰. And the poem immediately after 'The Rag Rug', which represents the next step on the journey in Birthday Letters, describes how Sylvia divined new inspiration for her writing "in the elm", although here it is the elm table Ted made for her ('The Table' BL 138)¹¹.

And there are sacrifices here, too. 'The Rag Rug' ends with an image of the end of Ted's and Sylvia's shared Eden. The rag rug itself, and the inspiration and knowledge which the process of gestation and birth achieved, survived this ending but, from this point on, Sylvia followed her path alone and Ted "sleepwalked" ('The Table', BL 138) after her.

In 'The Ventriloquist' (BL 181), the poem on The Hanged Man path in the World of Assiah, sacrifice is total. Assiah is the world of making, where all that has been prepared for and formed in the other Worlds becomes real and present. It is the lowest, earth-bound World, furthest from the Source and nearest to the dark Underworld. 'The Ventriloquist' is full of doubleness, it encapsulates all that has happened so far in the journey and it ends with Sylvia's most terrible choice and sacrifice – her death.

In my reading of this poem, Sylvia is the ventriloquist of the poem's title, and Ariel is her "doll". Ariel was a magnificent and terrifying creation, strong, angry and destructive, beautiful but flawed like everything in the World of Assiah. It was Ariel's voice that Sylvia had worked so hard to find and which spoke so clearly in the poems she wrote in the last months of her life.

And Ariel has accompanied Ted and Sylvia on their journey through Birthday Letters. Ariel was the "humanoid, raggedy shadow" which appeared in the portrait painted of Sylvia at Yaddo ('Portraits', BL 104) but she has now grown strong and independent. Hers was the voice "which cried out in [your] sleep" in 'Fairy Tale' (BL 159) and which Sylvia did not recognise as her own. And Ariel was the "prisoner in the dungeon" who Sylvia fed "through the keyhole" in 'The Blackbird' (BL 162), and the "Guardian Angel" into whose bosom Sylvia "crept for safety" but who turned out to be her "Demon Slave", and "devoured" her.

'The Ventriloquist' begins with the bodily fall into sex, love and marriage which, in Birthday Letters was also Ted's and Sylvia's fall into the Abyss from the top of the Sephirothic Tree at the start of their questing journey. Whilst Sylvia wept and clung to Ted through the "thorny wood" and the "river's freeze" of the journey which was also their marriage, her other, destructive, self put "Mummy" on show as "The Kraken" in The Bell Jar and screamed in her poems that "Daddy was no good" and that Ted "was with a whore". Finally, it is this second self, which Sylvia had sought out and nurtured, which kills her.

This was the ultimate self-sacrifice, the ultimate destructive revenge by the "doll" on the stars which had guided Sylvia towards her creation. In Cabbalistic terms, it was not "Justice" (note the capital given to this word in the poem) but the result of an unbalanced use of the severe energies of the Pillar of Justice, which should have been tempered by those of the Pillar of Mercy. As Portia so rightly tells Shylock in The Merchant of Venice, "earthly powers do then show likest God's when mercy seasons justice".

For Sylvia, this was the end of her journey. The re-birth which, in Cabbalistic terms, should have followed her sacrifice was no longer possible. Ted's world, too, was overturned. In spirit, he too was plunged into darkness and it was a long time before he began, again, his journey towards the Source.

But Birthday Letters does not end with 'The Ventriloquist'. Cabbala, like alchemy, works at three levels: the conscious, story-telling, level; the metaphorical level at which images and symbols work on the subconscious and the spiritual message is understood; and the practical level of applied processes and rituals. In the remaining Birthday Letters poems, Ted completes the new journey which he began when he started the imaginative processes and rituals needed to conjure past events and re-create them in his work. The final poems are all aspects of life after death, which is also the title of the poem following 'The Ventriloquist'. They tell of the effects of Sylvia's death on Ted and her children; of the myths and stories which Ted created because of it; and of the industry which grew up around her story and her work. They tell, too, of the characteristics and skills Frieda and Nicholas inherited from her and of Ted's memories of her, which, like the "flawless crystal" of her "seer's vision-stone", encompass both ecstasy and horror.

In 'The Dogs are Eating your Mother' (BL 195), Sylvia's children and we, the readers of the poem, are told to imagine her journey out of the underworld and on towards the sun, to "think her better". And in the final poem, 'Red' (BL 197) Ted lays to rest the ghost of Sylvia which he has conjured back into life in the poems by recombining the red and the blue colours which reflected her blood and her spirit, and sealing this journey's end with the symbol of kindly caresses which he has used in the poem – a blue jewel.

AFTERWORD

For Ted, Birthday Letters brought, he said, “a sense of inner liberation, a huge sudden possibility of new inner experience. Quite strange.”¹². His wife, Carol, wrote¹³ that “he was renewed after publishing them”. For me, following Ted’s footsteps through Birthday Letters along some well-trodden Cabbalistic pathways has been an enlightening and magical experience. But it is the nature of Cabbala that every person must make the journey for themselves. Although we may follow the same paths, what I learn on my journey is likely to be quite different to what you would learn on yours. So, in the end, all anyone can offer as a guide are a few unsteady footprints in the mud and the suggestion of sights you might see along the way.

REFERENCES AND NOTES

1. Frances Yates, Giordano Bruno and the Hermetic Tradition, University of Chicago Press, Chicago, 1991, 272.
2. Ted Hughes + R.S.Thomas read and discuss selections of their own poems, Norwich Tapes Ltd, London: The Critical Forum, 1978
3. Alistair Fowler, Spencer and the Numbers of Time, Routledge and Kegan Paul, London, 1964.
4. Kathleen Raine, Yeats, the Tarot and The Golden Dawn, Dolmen Press, Dublin, 1972, 6.
5. J.G. Frazer, The Golden Bough, Macmillan, London, 1974
6. Ted Hughes and Frances McCullough, The Journals of Sylvia Plath, Ballantyne, NY, 1982, July 27, 1958.
7. The Journals of Sylvia Plath, Sept. 27, 1958.
8. The Journals of Sylvia Plath, May 20, 1959. This particular entry is amongst others made in 1959 (January 27, 28, May 18, 20, 31) which record Sylvia’s first experiences with rug-braiding. On Jan.27, she records her intention that the rug will be something to help her to assert her will: “I will begin to make a rug today. To step on”. On Jan. 28, she describes her “immense pleasure” in making something by hand; and on May 20, after a fight with Ted, she records her use of rug-braiding to release her anger: “It will not be a prayer rug but an anger rug”. It is interesting to note that the colours Sylvia describes using in 1959 are not those which Ted describes in the poem. Either Sylvia was making another rug in 1961, or Ted has transposed the rug-braiding activity and altered the details for this poem.
9. Ted Hughes, Winter Pollen: Occasional Prose, Faber and Faber, London, 1994, 187-8.
10. Sylvia Plath: Collected Poems, Faber and Faber, London, 1981, 192-3.
11. At the time of the events in the poem, Ted and Sylvia were living in Devon in the house with the well “beneath its slab in the middle” and the worn threshold. It was 1962, Nicholas had been born in January and Sylvia’s mother had visited them from late June to mid August. But the table which Ted describes in ‘The Table’, the poem which follows ‘The Rag Rug’ in Birthday Letters, had been made for Sylvia in September the previous year (Letters Home, Sept. 15, 27, 1961). Sylvia’s poem ‘Elm’, in which Ted suggests the Ariel voice first appeared, was written in April 1962. So, the chronology of the poems does not follow that of actual events here but is consistent with the order of the pathways on the Sephirothic Tree

12. Ted Hughes' letter read at the Whitbread Book of the Year Awards Jan. 1999

13. Carol Hughes in a letter to AS. Dec. 1999.

Poetry and Magic, text and illustrations © Ann Skea 2004. For permission to quote any part of this document contact Dr Ann Skea at ann@skea.com

Go to the next chapter - The Path of The Fool - Aleph

Return to The Ted Hughes Homepage for more options

Go to Ann Skea's Homepage

Valid XHTML 1.0 TransitionalSkip to main content

Open menu

r/Physics

Search in r/Physics

Log In

Expand user menu

Go to Physics

r/Physics

•

16y ago

dbqpdb

What are the best intro to quantum books you know of?

I have a very strong math background(theoretical math, MIT), so I don't need anything that sugar coats the mathematical complexity. But I also don't really just want formulas thrown at me. I'd like to see the expemental justification and the processes by which the ideas had evolved. Any recomendations?

23

•

37

Comments Section

Primey

•

16y ago

Well, I would recommend Griffiths to anyone, regardless of background, since it contains a good mix of conceptual and mathematical explanations, and is written in a pleasant, engaging tone.

18

u/acousticcoupler avatar

acousticcoupler

•

16y ago

Griffiths DJ - Introduction to Quantum Mechanics 2ed (incl. Solutions)

<magnet:?xt=urn:btih:PKJJT4FMZLLBEL2ZVXKTYAW2DPTCYMIV&tr=http://tracker.openbittorrent.com/announce>

Edit: Please help seed for a little while if you grab it. Thanks.

3

u/dbqpdb avatar

dbqpdb

OP

•

16y ago

Thanks. But I haven't quite figured out what deal with these magnet torrents are yet. I'm still a bit fond of the viscerality of physical books, so I'll probably just hunt it down soon.

2

3 more replies
u/djimbob avatar
djimbob

•

16y ago

I would agree Griffiths is "written in a pleasant engaging tone". I enjoyed it when used as my undergrad QM1 and 2 book. However, I do not think I got a good preparation for higher-level quantum courses from it. He tries to avoid the standard bra ket notation throughout most of the book. His coverage of addition of angular momenta is only 3 pages long (and he introducing C-G coefs and they aren't stressed or used in any problems) compared to say Shankar (24 page chapter). He doesn't go into symmetries or group theory at all. Propagators are avoided. Generators are avoided. Path integral formation is avoided. Anything but the Schrodinger interp is avoided. Besides maybe one problem, he never uses functions of operators. He focuses on integrating things out, when often other standard tricks are more appropriate. Basic results are often frequently left as problems (which is annoying to use as a reference).

I would heartily recommend Shankar as a comprehensive introductory text over Griffiths QM. I never really used C-T though it does have a lot of worked examples. Landau QM (Vol 3) is brilliant, but typeset is old-school and its a slow read as there's lots going on. Sakurai is a bit more advanced, but also a very good book.

I also disagreeing with the disparaging of his Griffiths EM -- that actually is a great book that well prepares you for a Jackson level course (and is often a better reference in a Jackson level course than Jackson is; though Landau CToF is better than both for Jackson courses).

3

Primey

•

16y ago

Agreed. I still think Griffiths is the best place to delve into the topic if you are mostly interested in the concepts, with some mathematical groundwork. If you want to get into the gritty details, or wish to use it as a stepping stone to more advanced topics I would recommend the first 3/4 of Sakurai, and some other good textbook for scattering theory and second-quantization topics. My grad school uses the pretty good Gottfried & Yan for these subjects.

1

1 more reply
u/dbqpdb avatar
dbqpdb
OP

•

16y ago

From some of the reviews online I've read, it seems like quality.

1

5 more replies
u/chowriit avatar
chowriit

•

16y ago

I personally think that no book is as good a teacher as actually being taught it by a good lecturer. Now, I'm assuming you can't easily go to an Introduction to QM course, or you would have, so might I recommend going off and listening to the Feynmann lectures instead?

1 u/icrouch avatar
icrouch

•
16y ago
Trying to learn from the feynman lectures is equivalent to never going to class, having a friend audio record it for you, and trying to learn from that afterwards. With no help from your friend (bastard).

1
1 more reply
[deleted]

•
16y ago
Quantum Physics by Alastair IM Rae is pretty good, might be a bit basic for you though.

1 u/mercury97 avatar
mercury97

•
16y ago
I personally like "The New Quantum Universe" by Tony Hey and Patrick Walters, Gives a good introduction to the subject tbut may not be deep enough depending on your needs...

From reviews of the first edition: 'The Quantum Universe has a quotation from me in every chapter - but it's a damn good book anyway.' Richard P. Feynman

1
[deleted]

•
16y ago
18 pounds... Does that even get into the math? Wave mechanics, Dirac notation?

EDIT: Oh ok, after looking through the preview on amazon.com I have concluded that this is definitely not what the OP is looking for

EDIT2: After rereading his post I have no Idea if what he is looking for even exists.

1
[deleted]

•
16y ago
Introductory Quantum Mechanics by V. Rojansky. A little old but still the best introduction to the subject, in my opinion.

2 u/nicksauce avatar
nicksauce

•
16y ago
Shankar.

2 u/Cheetta66 avatar

Cheetta66

•

16y ago

Agreed--- for someone who wants to actually understand QM. But for someone looking just to learn it quickly and/or get a basic understanding without stepping up to the graduate level, there are probably easier books out there.

(fyi, my personal favorite recipe is a combination of Shankar and Sakurai, and not only for pedagogical reasons-- they match too!)

1 u/dicey avatar

dicey

•

16y ago

Liboff is good for an introduction, I've seen it used in both upper division and grad courses.

1

u/dbqpdb avatar
dbqpdb
OP

•

16y ago

Interesting. I think an introductory grad book might be a bit more what I'm looking for, as long as its not just jammed full of formulas and offers background.

1 u/Cheetta66 avatar

Cheetta66

•

16y ago

Hey from a fellow MIT-er ('04, course 8, with a good deal of 18-theory). If you're looking more for an intro grad-level book, I'd definitely go with a combination of Shankar and Sakurai. Sakurai is a little more condensed and gets right to the heart of it. Shankar, on the other hand, goes through it a little more from the ground up, not necessarily assuming a background in the math but not straying away from it either. He's also a good deal more verbose, but I've found that's more of a good thing than bad when it comes to really understanding how QM works.

Anyway if I were learning it again, I'd start with the first couple (4) chapters of Shankar, then step to Sakurai and read the first two chapters of that. From there it's pretty easy to mix-and-match: stuff that Sakurai covers in passing Shankar tends to devote more space to, so it's easy to cross-reference the two.

I wouldn't recommend Griffiths like everyone else here if you're really looking to understand it- it's good for a quick read or to use if you get stuck on a problem, but for me it doesn't get to the heart of QM like the two above.

1

3 more replies
u/tkdfreak avatar
tkdfreak

•

16y ago

Well, My Prof prefers Quantum Mechanics: An Accessible Introduction by Robert Sherrer. I think its alright, my classmates love it though (they can't understand professor, I do, so I don't have to read the text.) I haven't tried any other books though, so there might be better out there.

EDIT: and the math is pretty low level too. Although because of that it might do a better job with explanations, but probably not. With your math background, it may not be what you want

2 u/positron98 avatar
positron98
•
16y ago
Cohen-Tannoudji and Shankar

2 u/acousticcoupler avatar
acousticcoupler
•
16y ago
Principles of Quantum Mechanics 2nd ed. - R. Shankar.pdf

magnet:?xt=urn:btih:AKGD6I7BON3D2ZU0SW45B573IHSIXTAY&tr=http:// tracker.openbittorrent.com/announce

3 u/Ma8e avatar
Ma8e
•
16y ago
Intro? I don't think so!

2 u/positron98 avatar
positron98
•
16y ago
I used Cohen-Tannoudji as an undergraduate. Shankar is a introductory text as long as you have a good math background, which the OP claims to have. Sakurai, on the other hand, I would recommend for graduate level text.

1 u/NotSpartacus avatar
NotSpartacus
•
16y ago
Your username is awesome. That's all.

1 u/dbqpdb avatar
dbqpdb
OP
•
16y ago
Hey thanks a lot guys.

3
More posts you may like Best intro books for physics
r/Physics
•
6mo ago
Best intro books for physics
25 upvotes · 31 comments

What is the best book to study quantum mechanics as a student?

r/PhysicsStudents icon

r/PhysicsStudents

•

1y ago

What is the best book to study quantum mechanics as a student?

55 upvotes · 48 comments

Any good books on quantum physics for someone starting out looking to get into the field?

r/quantum icon

r/quantum

•

4mo ago

Any good books on quantum physics for someone starting out looking to get into the field?

10 upvotes · 6 comments

Best book of Quantum Mecchanics

r/Physics

•

27d ago

Best book of Quantum Mecchanics

r/Physics - Best book of Quantum Mecchanics

184 upvotes · 49 comments

Recommendations for books to start studying/self studying quantum mechanics

r/AskPhysics

•

10mo ago

Recommendations for books to start studying/self studying quantum mechanics

5 upvotes · 10 comments

Books recommendation for Quantum Mechanics

r/PhysicsStudents icon

r/PhysicsStudents

•

18d ago

Books recommendation for Quantum Mechanics

15 upvotes · 17 comments

Any recommendations for books to learn Quantum Mechanics that isnt Griffiths?

r/PhysicsStudents icon

r/PhysicsStudents

•

1y ago

Any recommendations for books to learn Quantum Mechanics that isnt Griffiths?

65 upvotes · 53 comments

Good book for particle physics

r/Physics

•

1mo ago

Good book for particle physics

5 upvotes · 32 comments

Do you think humans will ever truly understand quantum mechanics?

r/Physics

•

2mo ago

Do you think humans will ever truly understand quantum mechanics?

14 comments

Your Preferred Interpretation of Quantum Mechanics

r/Physics

•

10mo ago

Your Preferred Interpretation of Quantum Mechanics

6 upvotes · 40 comments

Good books about a single theorem or result (pedagogical, not popsci)

r/Physics

•

8mo ago

Good books about a single theorem or result (pedagogical, not popsci)

35 upvotes · 8 comments

My undergrad bookshelf (post your own!)

r/Physics

•

15y ago

My undergrad bookshelf (post your own!)

r/Physics - My undergrad bookshelf (post your own!)

119 upvotes · 141 comments

Book recommendations for people who don't understand physics?

r/Physics

•

2mo ago

Book recommendations for people who don't understand physics?

12 upvotes · 22 comments

Introduction to quantum mechanics

r/quantum icon

r/quantum

•

1mo ago

Introduction to quantum mechanics

41 upvotes · 20 comments

Just discovered that Oxford do a fantastic full length video lecture series on Solid State Physics (undergrad level), complete with an online textbook, totally for free!

r/Physics

•

10y ago

Just discovered that Oxford do a fantastic full length video lecture series on Solid State Physics (undergrad level), complete with an online textbook, totally for free!

r/Physics - Just discovered that Oxford do a fantastic full length video lecture series on Solid State Physics (undergrad level), complete with an online textbook, totally for free!

ac

777 upvotes · 73 comments

Physicists disagree wildly on what quantum mechanics says about reality, Nature survey shows

r/Physics

•

5mo ago

Physicists disagree wildly on what quantum mechanics says about reality, Nature survey shows

r/Physics - Physicists disagree wildly on what quantum mechanics says about reality, Nature survey shows

nature

270 upvotes · 85 comments

What are some books that have the maths necessary for physics?

r/Physics

•

4d ago

What are some books that have the maths necessary for physics?

37 upvotes · 18 comments

I'm looking for a physics book that not only starts from scratch, but also shows how theories were discovered, explains how formulas are proved, and describes the experiments physicists performed

r/Physics

•

1mo ago

I'm looking for a physics book that not only starts from scratch, but also shows how theories were discovered, explains how formulas are proved, and describes the experiments physicists performed

73 upvotes · 57 comments

When did quantum formalism become ontology? A historical question
r/Physics

•

4d ago

When did quantum formalism become ontology? A historical question

73 upvotes · 27 comments

Is a physics degree (possibly with a speciality in quantum mechanics) necessary to become good at quantum computing?

r/Physics

•

5mo ago

Is a physics degree (possibly with a speciality in quantum mechanics) necessary to become good at quantum computing?

11 upvotes · 35 comments

Popular science books about physics?

r/Physics

•

5mo ago

Popular science books about physics?

3 upvotes · 28 comments

Good physics question books or websites for a beginner / without calculus?

r/Physics

•

5mo ago

Good physics question books or websites for a beginner / without calculus?

4 upvotes · 25 comments

Quantum physics + Neuroscience

r/Physics

•

21d ago

Quantum physics + Neuroscience

8 comments

A beginner friendly way to get into physics?

r/Physics

•

3mo ago

A beginner friendly way to get into physics?

33 upvotes · 26 comments

Quantum physic question

r/Physics

•

2mo ago

Quantum physic question

26 upvotes · 27 comments

View Post in

繁體中文

简体中文

Français

Top Posts

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of December 2, 2009

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of December 2009

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of 2009

Reddit Rules

Privacy Policy

User Agreement

Your Privacy Choices

Accessibility

Reddit, Inc. © 2025. All rights reserved.

24 ads blocked

36% space saved!Skip to main content

Open menu

r/Physics
Search in r/Physics
Log In

Expand user menu
Go to Physics
r/Physics

•

16y ago
dbqpdb

What are the best intro to quantum books you know of?
I have a very strong math background(theoretical math, MIT), so I don't need anything that sugar coats the mathematical complexity. But I also don't really just want formulas thrown at me. I'd like to see the expemental justification and the processes by which the ideas had evolved. Any recomendations?

23

•

37
Comments Section
Primey

•

16y ago

Well, I would recommend Griffiths to anyone, regardless of background, since it contains a good mix of conceptual and mathematical explanations, and is written in a pleasant, engaging tone.

18

u/acousticcoupler avatar
acousticcoupler

•

16y ago

Griffiths DJ - Introduction to Quantum Mechanics 2ed (incl. Solutions)

magnet:?xt=urn:btih:PKJJT4FMZLLBEL2ZVXKTYAW2DPTCYMIV&tr=http:// tracker.openbittorrent.com/announce

Edit: Please help seed for a little while if you grab it. Thanks.

3

u/dbqpdb avatar
dbqpdb
OP

•

16y ago

Thanks. But I haven't quite figured out what deal with these magnet torrents are yet. I'm still a bit fond of the viscosity of physical books, so I'll probably just hunt it down soon.

2

3 more replies
u/djimbob avatar
djimbob

•

16y ago

I would agree Griffiths is "written in a pleasant engaging tone". I enjoyed it when used as my undergrad QM1 and 2 book. However, I do not think I got a good preparation for higher-level quantum courses from it. He tries to avoid the standard bra ket notation throughout most of the book. His coverage of addition of angular momenta is only 3 pages long (and he introducing C-G coefs and they aren't stressed or used in any problems) compared to say Shankar (24 page chapter). He doesn't go into symmetries or group theory at all. Propagators are avoided. Generators are avoided. Path integral formation is avoided. Anything but the Schrodinger interp is avoided. Besides maybe one problem, he never uses functions of operators. He focuses on integrating things out, when often other standard tricks are more appropriate. Basic results are often frequently left as problems (which is annoying to use as a reference).

I would heartily recommend Shankar as a comprehensive introductory text over Griffiths QM. I never really used C-T though it does have a lot of worked examples. Landau QM (Vol 3) is brilliant, but typeset is old-school and its a slow read as there's lots going on. Sakurai is a bit more advanced, but also a very good book.

I also disagreeing with the disparaging of his Griffiths EM -- that actually is a great book that well prepares you for a Jackson level course (and is often a better reference in a Jackson level course than Jackson is; though Landau CToF is better than both for Jackson courses).

3

Primey

•

16y ago

Agreed. I still think Griffiths is the best place to delve into the topic if you are mostly interested in the concepts, with some mathematical groundwork. If you want to get into the gritty details, or wish to use it as a stepping stone to more advanced topics I would recommend the first 3/4 of Sakurai, and some other good textbook for scattering theory and second-quantization topics. My grad school uses the pretty good Gottfried & Yan for these subjects.

1

1 more reply

u/dbqpdb avatar

dbqpdb

OP

•

16y ago

From some of the reviews online I've read, it seems like quality.

1

5 more replies

u/chowriit avatar

chowriit

•

16y ago

I personally think that no book is as good a teacher as actually being taught it by a good lecturer. Now, I'm assuming you can't easily go to an Introduction to QM course, or you would have, so might I recommend going off and listening to the Feynmann lectures instead?

1 u/icrouch avatar

icrouch

•

16y ago

Trying to learn from the feynman lectures is equivalent to never going to class, having a friend audio record it for you, and trying to learn from that afterwards. With no help from your friend (bastard).

1

1 more reply

[deleted]

•

16y ago

Quantum Physics by Alastair IM Rae is pretty good, might be a bit basic for you though.

1 u/mercury97 avatar

mercury97

•

16y ago

I personally like "The New Quantum Universe" by Tony Hey and Patrick Walters, Gives a good introduction to the subject tbut may not be deep enough depending on your needs...

From reviews of the first edition: 'The Quantum Universe has a quotation from me in every chapter - but it's a damn good book anyway.' Richard P. Feynman

1

[deleted]

•

16y ago

18 pounds... Does that even get into the math? Wave mechanics, Dirac notation?

EDIT: Oh ok, after looking through the preview on amazon.com I have concluded that this is definitely not what the OP is looking for

EDIT2: After rereading his post I have no Idea if what he is looking for even exists.

1

[deleted]

•

16y ago

Introductory Quantum Mechanics by V. Rojansky. A little old but still the best introduction to the subject, in my opinion.

2 u/nicksauce avatar

nicksauce

•

16y ago

Shankar.

2 u/Cheetta66 avatar

Cheetta66

•

16y ago

Agreed--- for someone who wants to actually understand QM. But for someone looking just to learn it quickly and/or get a basic understanding without stepping up to the graduate level, there are probably easier books out there.

(fyi, my personal favorite recipe is a combination of Shankar and Sakurai, and not only for pedagogical reasons-- they match too!)

1 u/dicey avatar

dicey

•

16y ago

Liboff is good for an introduction, I've seen it used in both upper division and grad courses.

1

u/dbqpdb avatar

dbqpdb

OP

•

16y ago

Interesting. I think an introductory grad book might be a bit more what I'm looking for, as long as its not just jammed full of formulas and offers background.

1 u/Cheetta66 avatar

Cheetta66

•

16y ago

Hey from a fellow MIT-er ('04, course 8, with a good deal of 18-theory). If you're looking more for an intro grad-level book, I'd definitely go with a combination of Shankar and Sakurai. Sakurai is a little more condensed and gets right to the heart of it. Shankar, on the other hand, goes through it a little more from the ground up, not necessarily assuming a background in the math but not straying away from it either. He's also a good deal more verbose, but I've found that's more of a good thing than bad when it comes to really understanding how QM works.

Anyway if I were learning it again, I'd start with the first couple (4) chapters of Shankar, then step to Sakurai and read the first two chapters of that. From there it's pretty easy to mix-and-match: stuff that Sakurai covers in passing Shankar tends to devote more space to, so it's easy to cross-reference the two.

I wouldn't recommend Griffiths like everyone else here if you're really looking to understand it- it's good for a quick read or to use if you get stuck on a problem, but for me it doesn't get to the heart of QM like the two above.

1

3 more replies

u/tkdfreak avatar

tkdfreak

•

16y ago

Well, My Prof prefers Quantum Mechanics: An Accessible Introduction by Robert Sherrer. I think its alright, my classmates love it though (they can't understand professor, I do, so I don't have to read the text.) I haven't tried any other books though, so there might be better out there.

EDIT: and the math is pretty low level too. Although because of that it might do a better job with explanations, but probably not. With your math background, it may not be what you want

2

u/positron98 avatar

positron98

•

16y ago

Cohen-Tannoudji and Shankar

2 u/acousticcoupler avatar

acousticcoupler

•

16y ago

Principles of Quantum Mechanics 2nd ed. - R. Shankar.pdf

magnet:?xt=urn:btih:AKGD6I7BON3D2ZUOSW45B573IHSIXTAY&tr=http:// tracker.openbittorrent.com/announce

3 u/Ma8e avatar

Ma8e

•

16y ago

Intro? I don't think so!

2 u/positron98 avatar

positron98

•

16y ago

I used Cohen-Tannoudji as an undergraduate. Shankar is a introductory text as long as you have a good math background, which the OP claims to have. Sakurai, on the other hand, I would recommend for graduate level text.

1

u/NotSpartacus avatar

NotSpartacus

•

16y ago

Your username is awesome. That's all.

1

u/dbqpdb avatar

dbqpdb

OP

•

16y ago

Hey thanks a lot guys.

3

[deleted]

More posts you may like

Best intro books for physics

r/Physics

•

6mo ago

Best intro books for physics

25 upvotes · 31 comments

What is the best book to study quantum mechanics as a student?

r/PhysicsStudents icon

r/PhysicsStudents

•

1y ago

What is the best book to study quantum mechanics as a student?

55 upvotes · 48 comments

Any good books on quantum physics for someone starting out looking to get into the field?

r/quantum icon

r/quantum

•

4mo ago

Any good books on quantum physics for someone starting out looking to get into the field?

10 upvotes · 6 comments
Best book of Quantum Mecchanics
r/Physics
•
27d ago
Best book of Quantum Mecchanics
r/Physics - Best book of Quantum Mecchanics
184 upvotes · 49 comments
Recommendations for books to start studying/self studying quantum mechanics
r/AskPhysics
•
10mo ago
Recommendations for books to start studying/self studying quantum mechanics
5 upvotes · 10 comments
Books recommendation for Quantum Mechanics
r/PhysicsStudents icon
r/PhysicsStudents
•
18d ago
Books recommendation for Quantum Mechanics
15 upvotes · 17 comments
Any recommendations for books to learn Quantum Mechanics that isnt Griffiths?
r/PhysicsStudents icon
r/PhysicsStudents
•
1y ago
Any recommendations for books to learn Quantum Mechanics that isnt Griffiths?
65 upvotes · 53 comments
Good book for particle physics
r/Physics
•
1mo ago
Good book for particle physics
5 upvotes · 32 comments
Do you think humans will ever truly understand quantum mechanics?
r/Physics
•
2mo ago
Do you think humans will ever truly understand quantum mechanics?
14 comments
Your Preferred Interpretation of Quantum Mechanics
r/Physics
•
10mo ago
Your Preferred Interpretation of Quantum Mechanics
6 upvotes · 40 comments
Good books about a single theorem or result (pedagogical, not popsci)
r/Physics
•
8mo ago
Good books about a single theorem or result (pedagogical, not popsci)
35 upvotes · 8 comments
My undergrad bookshelf (post your own!)
r/Physics
•
15y ago
My undergrad bookshelf (post your own!)
r/Physics - My undergrad bookshelf (post your own!)
119 upvotes · 141 comments
Book recommendations for people who don't understand physics?
r/Physics
•
2mo ago

Book recommendations for people who don't understand physics?

12 upvotes · 22 comments

Introduction to quantum mechanics

r/quantum icon

r/quantum

•

1mo ago

Introduction to quantum mechanics

41 upvotes · 20 comments

Just discovered that Oxford do a fantastic full length video lecture series on Solid State Physics (undergrad level), complete with an online textbook, totally for free!

r/Physics

•

10y ago

Just discovered that Oxford do a fantastic full length video lecture series on Solid State Physics (undergrad level), complete with an online textbook, totally for free!

r/Physics - Just discovered that Oxford do a fantastic full length video lecture series on Solid State Physics (undergrad level), complete with an online textbook, totally for free!

ac

777 upvotes · 73 comments

Physicists disagree wildly on what quantum mechanics says about reality, Nature survey shows

r/Physics

•

5mo ago

Physicists disagree wildly on what quantum mechanics says about reality, Nature survey shows

r/Physics - Physicists disagree wildly on what quantum mechanics says about reality, Nature survey shows

nature

270 upvotes · 85 comments

What are some books that have the maths necessary for physics?

r/Physics

•

4d ago

What are some books that have the maths necessary for physics?

37 upvotes · 18 comments

I'm looking for a physics book that not only starts from scratch, but also shows how theories were discovered, explains how formulas are proved, and describes the experiments physicists performed

r/Physics

•

1mo ago

I'm looking for a physics book that not only starts from scratch, but also shows how theories were discovered, explains how formulas are proved, and describes the experiments physicists performed

73 upvotes · 57 comments

When did quantum formalism become ontology? A historical question

r/Physics

•

4d ago

When did quantum formalism become ontology? A historical question

73 upvotes · 27 comments

Is a physics degree (possibly with a speciality in quantum mechanics) necessary to become good at quantum computing?

r/Physics

•

5mo ago

Is a physics degree (possibly with a speciality in quantum mechanics) necessary to become good at quantum computing?

11 upvotes · 35 comments

Popular science books about physics?

r/Physics

•

5mo ago

Popular science books about physics?

3 upvotes · 28 comments

Good physics question books or websites for a beginner / without calculus?

r/Physics

•

5mo ago

Good physics question books or websites for a beginner / without calculus?

4 upvotes · 25 comments

Quantum physics + Neuroscience

r/Physics

•

21d ago

Quantum physics + Neuroscience

8 comments

A beginner friendly way to get into physics?

r/Physics

•

3mo ago

A beginner friendly way to get into physics?

33 upvotes · 26 comments

Quantum physic question

r/Physics

•

2mo ago

Quantum physic question

26 upvotes · 27 comments

View Post in

繁體中文

简体中文

Français

Top Posts

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of December 2, 2009

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of December 2009

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of 2009

Reddit Rules

Privacy Policy

User Agreement

Your Privacy Choices

Accessibility

Reddit, Inc. © 2025. All rights reserved. Skip to main content

Open menu

r/spirituality

Search in r/spirituality

Log In

Expand user menu

r/spirituality icon

Go to spirituality

r/spirituality

•

4y ago

hobbit_lamp

Anyone here familiar with John Paolucci and his Universal Line stuff?

r/SoulNexus

•

4 yr. ago

Anyone here familiar with John Paolucci and his Universal Line stuff?
I've recently been reading John Paolucci's Universal Line material and I'm really blown away. It seems like something that resonates with me even more than Neville, Dispenza, Troward and others who I also admire.

Weirdly though, I am also far more confused by it. I feel like it might be a situation where the closer I get to fully "getting" it, the more "foreign" it seems, which I will take as a more or less good thing. Regardless of that, it's still something that I'm struggling with and would love to feel more solid in my understanding or perhaps at least know that I'm on the right track.

I understand that Mr Paolucci has made himself very available to the community and I love that about him. He has a Reddit community r/universalline, a discord community and he includes his email address on all of his material which is free to the public. I even saw a post on the reddit sub where he said you can contact him and he will give you his number to speak over the phone with him if that is more helpful for you. This man is incredibly legit and everything that I would expect of someone who really gets this stuff. He doesn't charge for his writings or his advice, while also being straight forward in that he isn't a guru. He wants people to understand this stuff in their own way, he just provides some guidance and I have the utmost respect for him.

That said, I am also rather intimidated by it all. I don't feel that I have a firm enough grasp of the basics to even formulate a decent question. When I browse the sub for questions asked by others, I barely understand the question, let alone his response. I will happily take advantage of his resources when I feel I am ready but I don't think I'm there yet.

Basically, I'm wondering if anyone here is familiar with his stuff and could give their "explanation" of it, in hopes that maybe a different perspective will click with my brain?

or If anyone here is familiar with his stuff and is intrigued by it but also just as confused?

also, I really would recommend to anyone interested in LoA, LoO, manifesting. or general spirituality to look into his stuff. It is truly fascinating and unlike any other perspective I've seen. I think his ideas about "simplicity" are what really make the most sense to me. Also, I'm probably ironically making it more complicated and that is likely where my confusion is coming from!

11 upvotes

4

•

1

Comments Section

More posts you may like

Rage is sacred. Avoiding painful emotions to arrive at "forgiveness" and "love" only keeps one in the loop

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

2d ago

NSFW

Rage is sacred. Avoiding painful emotions to arrive at "forgiveness" and "love" only keeps one in the loop

245 upvotes · 84 comments

Are we in a prison planet?

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

4d ago

Are we in a prison planet?

133 upvotes · 156 comments

Waking up from Christianity. It hurts...

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

1d ago

Waking up from Christianity. It hurts...

127 upvotes · 125 comments

The "Liminal Gap" Reset: Why your house feels "heavy" right now (and how to fix it).

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

2d ago

The "Liminal Gap" Reset: Why your house feels "heavy" right now (and how to fix it).

113 upvotes · 10 comments

Do you think being playful in life can help on one's spiritual journey?

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

3d ago

Do you think being playful in life can help on one's spiritual journey?

106 upvotes · 28 comments

anyone else talk to trees?

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

2d ago

anyone else talk to trees?

90 upvotes · 55 comments

A quiet moment during volunteering that stuck with me

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

3d ago

A quiet moment during volunteering that stuck with me

71 upvotes · 8 comments

What is it called when you just believe in God but not any religion?

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

5d ago

What is it called when you just believe in God but not any religion?

70 upvotes · 89 comments

What is the spiritual significance of Christmas?

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

5d ago

What is the spiritual significance of Christmas?

67 upvotes · 33 comments

If you are heavy, if you are broken, come to me. Let me be the person you need.

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

2d ago

If you are heavy, if you are broken, come to me. Let me be the person you need.

59 upvotes · 56 comments

Spirituality vs. Astrology

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

3d ago

Spirituality vs. Astrology

55 upvotes · 41 comments

How my expectations affected me in the Samyama silence program.

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

2d ago

How my expectations affected me in the Samyama silence program.

37 upvotes · 2 comments

Why is nature designed to be cruel and/or uncaring?

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

6d ago

Why is nature designed to be cruel and/or uncaring?

35 upvotes · 87 comments

In your practice, how does one achieve higher consciousness?

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

1d ago

In your practice, how does one achieve higher consciousness?

34 upvotes · 44 comments

i need to find another religion

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

4d ago

i need to find another religion

34 upvotes · 50 comments

ADHD medication or raw dogging life?

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

5d ago

ADHD medication or raw dogging life?

34 upvotes · 55 comments

My wife has had spirits come to her asking for help and she doesn't know what to do

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

5d ago

My wife has had spirits come to her asking for help and she doesn't know what to do

30 upvotes · 56 comments

What makes you believe that there's a higher being?

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

6d ago

What makes you believe that there's a higher being?

29 upvotes · 95 comments

If we live multiple lifetimes

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

7d ago

If we live multiple lifetimes

28 upvotes · 49 comments

Dead Ex-BF told me he isn't dead.

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

4d ago

Dead Ex-BF told me he isn't dead.

27 upvotes · 11 comments

Jesus...

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

2d ago

Jesus...

25 upvotes · 39 comments

Gratitude is the secret to contentment

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

4d ago

Gratitude is the secret to contentment

23 upvotes · 6 comments

I just turned 26 and am looking for advice on how to not feel sad and anxious about aging

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

7d ago

I just turned 26 and am looking for advice on how to not feel sad and anxious about aging

22 upvotes · 42 comments

Should spirituality and awakening, unconditional love and goodness necessarily be focussed on others and the collective?

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

3d ago

Should spirituality and awakening, unconditional love and goodness necessarily be focussed on others and the collective?

20 upvotes · 23 comments

do you think an afterlife exists??

r/spirituality icon

r/spirituality

•

4d ago

do you think an afterlife exists??

19 upvotes · 40 comments

Top Posts

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of June 26, 2022

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of June 2022

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of 2022

Reddit Rules

Privacy Policy

User Agreement

Your Privacy Choices

Accessibility

Reddit, Inc. © 2025. All rights reserved.

How to worship her?

There's adoration, prayers, hymns, offerings, libation, sacred masturbation, sacred sex and many other ways.

How to pray to her?

You can use your own words or recite long prayers, many can be found online.

Take a look at the "Innana - Queen of Heaven (Her hymns and stories from Sumer)" book on /omg/ library and on "Babylonian Penitential Psalms".
It's advised to kneel but not bow or prostrate in front of her, neither look behind you. Raise your hands to pray or keep them together.
End your prayers with "Ishtar za-mi!" (Ishtar be praised!) or "Kug Ishtar zamizu dugakam!" (Holy Ishtar, it is sweet to praise you!).

How to make offerings

Always light incense in an altar for offerings, a candle is optional but encouraged.

A common offering is unleavened cakes shaped in the form of a female figure or in the Star of Ishtar, accompanied by wine or milk. Other kinds of food may be offered, but avoid junk food. After some time the food must be consumed, and the liquids poured on the ground or a sink. Offering semen or other sexual fluids is controversial.

How to make an altar?

Have a clean space to dedicated to her, and be clean when interacting with it. Use a statue, figurine or image, raised on an elevated platform that serves as a dais.

Have a votive statue representing yourself in position of worship.

Beautiful live plants, gold, silver, carnelian and lapis lazuli objects, especially lapis lazuli is encouraged, having a bowl of water can also increase ritual purity.

Doing prayers and offerings naked is encouraged, but if you decide to offer sexual fluids (a bit controversial), don't cum on the statue/figurine on the altar, do it in a bowl.

How to do sacred masturbation/sex

Pray to Ishtar and ask for her blessings. Allow yourself to be engulfed by passion and love, focus on the beauty of your material/partner and thank Ishtar for it/her/him/them. Avoid depreciation, self-depreciation and sexual competition completely; don't allow your ego to taint your pure and holy lust. Further steps can be taken based on Mantak Chia's Multi-Orgasmic Man, which also has instructions for women and couples' cultivation, in spite of the title.

Is she the "Whore of Babylon"?

No, the Whore of Babylon on the christian bible refers to a city, as seen on Revelations 17:18. Ishtar is seen on the bible as Astarte, the Canaanite goddess that people baked cakes for, such as Jeremiah 7:18. However, she bears the title Hierodule of Heaven, as she's the matron of sacred prostitution.

Is she Astaroth?

Maybe. In The True Grimoire, Jake Stratton-Kent discusses how there is a clear line of historical currents that leads from the ancient Inanna to the medieval Astaroth, and how the grimoire technologies are themselves descended from those that would've been used by ancient magicians. If this is true, Goetia may have the best preserved techniques for working directly with the Queen of Heaven in her chthonic (underworld) form.

Is she Lilith?

No, Lilith is a malevolent spirit that appears in the Huluppu tree story and was defeated by Gilgamesh. In fact, it is likely that there was originally not just one Lilith, but a class of animal-like spirits called lillins. Recommend Esoterica's video series on the subject for a historical discussion on Lilith: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=n1EKccz4fS0>

What other names for her?

Aphrodite and Venus are probably Ishtar; Aphrodite Urania also bears the Queen of Heaven title. The Virgin Mary, Isis, and Hekate also have many historical similarities, and are likely adjacent entities.

Why did she send the Bull of Heaven against Gilgamesh after he helped her so many times?

When Ishtar was interested in him, instead of inventing an excuse he rudely reminded her of every single wrongdoing on her life, disrespecting and angering her. Enkidu is killed after throwing the meat of the dead bull against the goddess.

Pub: 23 Mar 2023 12:27 UTC

Edit: 20 Apr 2023 09:21 UTC

Views: 815

new· what· how· langs· contacts· loginCode of the Ring

The Covert War of the 19th- and 20th- Century, and the Great Ring Code
Code of the Ring

Apr 29, 2022

Deciphering this narrative-imbedded code requires finding the exact historical context and conversation, and verifying it with a timeline of events. This is what we have endeavored to do.

Part of this account of covert events and plans was hidden by Tolkien within certain of his writings. Tolkien was a Signals Officer in WWI, and he developed code that he used privately while in the military. He was informed that he had been set aside as a code breaker before WWII, and was asked to serve in the Foreign Office's cryptographic department, in the event of a national emergency. He created several of his own languages. Tolkien was also part of what we call, 'the covert world'.

If you are new to the covert world, welcome. Prepare to be shocked.

A narrative code does not necessarily line up with standard usages of a word or symbol. Code is meant to symbolize something different than its symbol. For instance, if you are told, "On the word 'zebra', run quick as you can!", does the word 'zebra' have anything to do with you running? No, not really, but that is the signal/symbol which was decided on. A code symbol simply has to do with the meaning applied to it.

We will start with the meaning of a "ring". Historically, rings have indicated status and rank; the most powerful being that of a king, as it contained his seal. Behind the approval of a king's seal rested his whole army and government.

After the Battle of Waterloo, the Rothschilds manipulated the stock market and thereby put England in debt to them. In 1832, the Rothschilds made a loan to the Holy See. With this newly acquired financial leverage, they became the rulers of the 666.

The 666 is the covert satanic cult – other names for this group include "the Eye", "Deep State", "Globalists", and "Illuminati".

"6" has historically been the number of "baseness" and "evil"; not because it is evil, but because it is the number which represents mankind, and mankind is corruptible.

"666" is a trinity of man – man trying to take the place of God.

The Rothschilds may be of Jewish origin, but covertly, they are no friend of the Jewish people. It is important to understand that this has nothing to do with Jews, or any religion, group, or people; the 666 has infiltrated every religion and organization.

You may wonder why monarchs didn't simply order the assassination of the Rothschilds. That is because in the covert world, these people would already have had their own assassins, and some may have already been planted within a monarch's staff – there's a high likelihood that an assassination attempt would have backfired. Plus, even if they were to have killed someone, the deceased individual's wealth would not have simply returned to the crown.

Using blackmail, and financial power, the Rothschilds formed a "ring".

In 1869, President Grant and others tried gaining leverage against the 666. By buying up large sums of gold and also by having access to insider government information, James Fisk, Jay Gould, and Abel Corbin, started cornering the gold market. On September 22nd, 1869, King Ludwig II sent a coded message to President Grant via the premiere of the Das Rheingold opera from Wagner's Ring Cycle. (Wagner, unaware of the hidden reason for this performance, was against the premiering of this opera.) The opera is about a cursed gold ring – it was used to send the message that the 666 knew what President Grant was trying to do, and a warning not to interfere with their "gold ring".

A day after that premiere, on September 23rd, President Grant decided to break the "Gold Ring". On September 24th, the "Gold Ring" was gone. If they had not ended it, President Grant and others would have been assassinated just as Lincoln had been.

Fast forward to 1937, and we have the publication of The Hobbit, by Tolkien. On the surface, the story is about dwarves taking back their home from a dragon. It also involves the finding of a magic ring, a creature named Gollum, and a jewel called the Arkenstone. Unlike Wagner's depiction of dwarves as nasty little evil creatures, Tolkien portrays them as good people, overall. There's a reason for this difference in portrayal; Wagner was highly antisemitic, whereas Tolkien admired the Jewish people. Dwarves, in both of these stories, represent Jews. Tolkien clearly admits that in the following interview:

<https://tolkienlibrary.com/press/804-Tolkien-1971-BBC-Interview.php>

"The dwarves of course are quite obviously, couldn't you say that in many ways they remind you of the Jews? Their words are Semitic obviously, constructed to be Semitic."

The Hobbit is partly about the events of WWI in Palestine. Tolkien didn't like allegories, but this isn't an allegory; it's literal information, hidden in narrative code.

Dragon = Ottoman Empire

Battle of Five Armies = Battle of Megiddo (There were five main forces involved – British, French, and Italian vs. German and Ottoman – and it was the final battle of the Sinai and Palestine campaign.)

Lonely Mountain = Temple Mount, Mount Sinai, Mount Megiddo, or Mount Carmel

Bilbo = Likely a certain person or group of people belonging to British military intelligence

Arkenstone = Ark (probably not referring to the actual Ark of the Covenant, but using "Ark" [the Jews' most prized possession] as code for something else).

The part about the magic ring which Bilbo acquires from Gollum, is reference to how the 666 lost certain damaging information and power.

"Gollum" means "Golem"; Tolkien just uses spelling ambiguity. A golem is a Jewish mythical figure that's brought to life by magic. Gollum represents the 666's machinations for Israel. Sometime during the British military's ventures in Ottoman Palestine, someone came across information that would be damaging to the Rothschilds. What the Rothschilds were doing in Ottoman Palestine, and planning, is not yet declassified, but whatever it was, their "Golem/Gollum" ended up compromising them.

The "Ring" was later transferred to those in the covert world who oppose the cult.

In 1954, we have the first two books of LotR published together under one title: The Fellowship of the Ring. (Interestingly, it was published on the anniversary of the first day shots were fired in WWI, on July 29th.)

The beginning of the book reveals what the magic ring from The Hobbit is: it is the Ring of Power forged by Lord Sauron. The Ring is given to Frodo to take care of. Frodo and Sam represent the relationship between an officer and his loyal adjutant (aristocrat and gardener). Notice, Frodo turns 33 years of age (the coming of age for hobbits) when Bilbo turns 111. "33" is code for "structure" or an "organization". Simply put, Frodo would represent something akin to military intelligence. "111", or as Bilbo said, "eleventy-one", is also code, but that will be explained later as it is not integral to this part. Oddly enough, their birthdays are on September 22nd, which is also the date Das Rheingold was premiered, and one day after the anniversary of the publication of The Hobbit – a possible harkening back to those events. (The Hobbit publication also lines up with the anniversary of the Lodge-Fish Resolution of 1922, a joint resolution legally endorsing plans for the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people.)

Tolkien did state that Wagner's Ring Cycle had nothing in common with his writing, and as stories, that is correct, although as code, there is a commonality. The commonality, however, is only due to the fact that Wagner's Das Rheingold was utilized to send a coded message – the opera in itself did not necessarily contain coded messages. As Tolkien put it, "both rings were round, and there the resemblance ceases" – the rings may have something in common, but the stories, and the coded messages, couldn't be more different.

Near the beginning of the first book, there's also some history on the Ring. The Ring was first taken from Sauron after Isildur defeated him, but instead of destroying it, Isildur kept the Ring, not knowing that Sauron's spirit was tied to it. Isildur was shortly thereafter killed by orcs, and the Ring was lost in a river, for some time.

Certain sections of historical content, such as that one, represent actual historical events, but most of LotR is actually a blueprint for destroying the 666.

Many people have thought that LotR is about WWII, but that doesn't make sense for three reasons: 1. Tolkien said it wasn't about the world wars. 2. All of the main coded messages in LotR are about covert actions, not overt struggles. 3. LotR ends with the destruction of the "Ring", and the end to the evil power structure, which did not happen after WWII – if anything, the 666 became stronger.

A quick rundown of some of the pieces of narrative code in LotR:

Ring = Power (money/gold, blackmail strings, threats, etc.)

Sauron = Lord Rothschild LotR = L.R.

^Another person who seemingly figured this out is Elon Musk:

Elon Musk
@elonmusk
@teslaownersSV LotR
5:38 AM · Oct 13, 2020
168 Reposts · 6.64K Likes

(Musk grew up within part of the covert world.) Rather than using "lotr", or "Lotr", Musk used "LotR", likely indicating "Lord Rothschild", when responding to an earlier post about "Illuminaughty".

Nazgul = Most likely originally based off of the nine kings at Edward the VII's funeral, as they all would probably have had allegiance to the cult, or been in some form of debt. "Ring Wraiths"/"Nazgul" simply represent any ruling power (government, corporation, royalty) under the 666's control.

Interestingly, Musk also knows this:

Elon Musk
@elonmusk
Nine rings for mortal men
8:42 PM · Aug 23, 2021
1.08K Reposts · 25K Likes

Saruman = Pope (Tolkien would've known about the infiltration and corruption within the Vatican. Notice that the wizard robes and ranking are much like the robes and ranking in the Catholic Church. The White Wizard (Saruman) is meant to be good, but sides with darkness – the top of any large organization is always the most infiltrated and controlled. The White Hand of Isengard might be about the irony that the hand that is raised in blessing, is sometimes the hand causing evil.)

Isengard = Vatican ("Isengard" is an old English word for "iron enclosure", which potentially references the previous iron fence at St. Peter's Basilica.)

Frodo and Sam = certain people within military intelligence

Hobbits, in general = normal people unaware of the corrupt covert world

Mount Doom = Volcano ("Volcanos" represent "evidence/testimony", etc.)
Reasons: Exposed heat. Eruption can be damaging.

The "volcano" signal is still used to communicate, to this very day. For example:

March 16, 2022:

King Salmon outpost lost data contact with several volcanos.

Same day, King Salman leaves hospital after medical procedure and tests.

^Meaning: King Salman is cooperating and damaging information will not be released.

November 28, 2021:

"Six new vents tear open on erupting Canary Islands volcano..."

Canary = singing like a bird, i.e. canary trap

November 29, 2021:

First day of the Ghislaine Maxwell trial.

(There's also a related connotation to "volcanos" which I won't mention, but I'm sure many of you will guess.)

Gold = Wealth

Forged in a volcano = Blackmail

Tolkien reportedly compared Mount Stromboli, a volcano on the Mediterranean, to Mount Doom.

Side note: Saturn is nicknamed "Lord of the Rings", and on its moon "Titan", there's a mountain (likely an ice volcano), called Doom Mons, named after Mount Doom.

Middle-earth = Mediterranean = Body of water

"Mediterranean" is derived from the Latin words medi (middle), and terra (earth).

Water = Information

"Plant" is another word for a "spy". Plants need water, and spies need information. There are also a few common sayings that relate water to information:

"That argument doesn't hold water."

"That idea muddies the water."

"The mind is like a sponge."

The battle for Middle-earth is partially a battle for control of information. The Two Towers, Isengard and Minas Morgul, are about the control of religion and government. If someone can control both the information coming from the pulpit, and from the media/propaganda, then they can brainwash most of the world – and that's basically what's been happening, especially for the last sixty years.

Which is a good segue into another bit of code:

Two Towers, and "11". The Two Towers was published on Nov. 11 (11/11). WWI officially ended on Nov. 11, at 11 o'clock. The meaning behind "eleven/11" basically has to do with a clock; 11 is moving towards midnight. Essentially, it means "the end of one thing, and the beginning of the next". The Doomsday Clock has a similar meaning: "the last possible moment to reverse course". For additional examples, here are two films that play off of that meaning:

https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/11/11/11_\(film\))

https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/11-11-11_\(film\))

^Two different films/links, although the links look the same.

The Two Towers represent a gateway to darkness and the end of Middle-earth.

The movie puts it well when Saruman says:

"The world is changing. Who now has the strength to stand against armies of Isengard and Mordor? To stand against the might of Sauron and Saruman, and the union of the two towers. Together, my lord Sauron, we shall rule this middle-earth. The old world will burn in the fires of industry. The forests will fall. A new order will rise. We will drive the machine of war with the sword and the spear and the iron fist of the orc."

Additional examples include the Freemason symbolic use of the Boaz and Jachin pillars, and also the Pillars of Hercules, with the inscription: "Non plus ultra" (Nothing further beyond).

LotR is about freeing Middle-earth from the 666's army and the Eye, and destroying the "Ring" where it was formed.

The Eye of Sauron being able to see anyone who puts on the Ring, has to do with the eye of the 666 being aware of anyone who tries to use the 666's own system as leverage against them – as soon as you try to covertly control the 666, you become a visible target to them.

The invisibility aspect is much the same; if you want to use their own "Ring" (system of blackmail, etc.) to control them, then you can't disclose it. Normal people can't see the "wearer" of the "Ring" because the "Ring" is covert, and one's normal allies cannot "see" and thus cannot help the "wearer", because the "Ring" cannot be harnessed overtly.

Because one cannot harness the 666's covert means against them openly, one is forced to play their covert game.

Consequently, the only option to take away power from the 666 is to destroy the "Ring". The reason it has to be destroyed in Mount Doom (the mountain of fire) is because public exposure and declassification is the only way it weakens. The 'Ring' was partially 'wrought' by the blackmail of evidence (volcano), and it will be made 'unwrought', by evidence. Since the 666 has controlled the media, there are other battles than just the immediate exposure. Even if someone revealed proof of the crimes, the media can spin public opinion. The reason Gollum falls into Mount Doom is because the Rothschilds' "Golem" (their crimes in Israel) is tied to the "Ring".

Now, to go back to the account of the battle where Sauron lost the Ring to Isildur. Isildur represents both Lincoln and Grant... America being one of the only places where people were pushing back against the 666. The whole Civil War was started as a means for Britain to take over part of America. Lincoln, of course, did want to end slavery, and he was able to achieve ending that form of slavery (although, sex trafficking and other forms of slavery remain). Obviously, the 666 was not happy that Lincoln ended slavery, but what they were really interested in was taking over America.

Side note: Over 99% of the people fighting in the Civil War would not have known anything about Britain's covert involvement. Most were fighting because they were either for or against the Union, or they were for or against slavery.

Grant, overtly, and Lincoln somewhat covertly, led the Union to victory. However, rather than exposing the 666 afterwards, Lincoln probably thought it wisest to keep the "Ring", and he was therefore assassinated (shot by a 666 asset, an "orc").

The U.S. was in a lot of debt because of the war, and that, plus Lincoln's death, caused them to lose hold of some of the leverage they had previously acquired against the 666. As mentioned at the beginning, President Grant tried to gain financial power against the 666, but was quickly threatened.

The sword "Narsil" being broken has to do with the debt of the U.S., and hence the foreign ownership of the U.S. Corporation. The problem was not that there was a U.S. corporation (the Corporation had already existed prior to any of this) – the real problem was that rather than being under the Government, the Government and the Constitution became subject to the Corporation.

Even though the Constitution is meant to be the law of the land, notice how often it's been disregarded within the last one hundred years. Some people think the Act of 1871 turned the U.S. into a corporation, which it didn't; that act simply gave a physical place for the corporation to later be run from. President Grant was the last true president of the U.S.. Stewards of Gondor represent all presidents that have followed.

Only with the repossessing of the Corporation, and by the reestablishment of the Constitution and Government above the Corporation, is the sword reforged: "Andúril, Flame of the West".

The good news is that this has already happened. In a brilliant move with the signing of E013848, the previous administration made way for the U.S. Government to take ownership of the corporation. They knew ahead of time that the 666 would attempt foreign interference in the election, and E013848 makes it such that any foreign-owned asset within the U.S., connected to election interference, becomes property of the U.S. There were more than just security reasons to cage up D.C.; it was also a message that the 666's property was forfeit. Biden is only president of a somewhat defunct, and now U.S.-owned corporation. His "stewardship" is somewhat of a show while other ops take place.

A quick rundown on some other narrative code:

Dwarves' map compasses have East in place of North, likely since Jews pray facing east towards Jerusalem.

The Hobbit, Chapter 11, "On the Doorstep", just so happens to be about the dwarves reaching the secret door to the lonely mountain.

Sword reforged: Historically, the symbol of a sword has been about rightful heir and power, i.e. the legend of Excalibur.

The Seven Stars on the flag of Gondor is a Biblical type of symbol. "Seven" has to do with "completion", i.e. there are seven days in a week.

The reason for the seven dwarves' rings is likely for reinforcing the Jewish connection.

Ents likely represent people who are of higher status and power, but who have been unaware of the depth of the corruption. They are "plants" that are asleep. Once they are made aware, they can use their leverage to help remove 666 assets. The way to houseclean the Vatican would be to inform good people within the Vatican, of the infiltration. What has already been covertly done there, has not yet been revealed.

Nazgul's fear of water is a fear of information that could harm them. The Witch King of Angmar not being able to be killed by the hand of a man, is reference to Shakespeare's play, Macbeth. Macbeth had the same type of prophesy made about him, and he was made a king by witches. The idea of "making a deal with the devil" is connected to both characters.

(Names of the original nine Ring Wraiths: King Haakon VII of Norway, King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, King Manuel II of Portugal, Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany, King George I of Greece, King Albert I of Belgium, King Alfonso XIII of Spain, King Frederick of Denmark, and King George V of Britain.)

Elves represent people that live within the covert world. "Magic" has to do with things that are done behind the scenes/covert abilities.

Tolkien may also be alluding to "eleven", as certain "elven"/"eleven" information will lose its purpose, especially when the "Ring" is destroyed; hence, why the elves and Ring-bearers sail away.

"Eleven" information = information that would cause a "doomsday"

Though not actually related, some of the roots of "eleven" are foreign words spelt, "elf". (<https://www.etymonline.com/word/Eleven>)

There are obviously more coded messages contained in these books than what we have brought up; this is only a basic outline of what Tolkien was trying to convey.

We are coming up to the gates of Mordor. As foreseen by Tolkien, and many others, this world as we know it has reached a reckoning, but the Ring has been carried to the Cracks of Doom, and those who have it are prepared to release it into the heat.

It will get dark before the destruction of the Ring, but this is not a war of bloodshed and weapons, but a war of minds, for the control or freedom of mankind.

Discussion about this post
Write a comment...
HomeslicegQ
May 2, 2022

This is well thought out! Thanks for putting all this together and I think a lot of the conclusions make sense.

Reply
Share
Elizabeth P Dove
Dec 18, 2022

This is so cool. I love this. Nice dig.

Reply
Share
Ready for more?
Type your email...
Subscribe

© 2025 Code of the Ring · Privacy · Terms · Collection notice
Start your Substack
Get the app

Substack is the home for great cultureEVENTSCONFIGURATIONEVENT
DETAILSOBSERVATION PLANNERC2A ADD-INMORE ADD-INSTRUBLESHOOTINGDOWNLOAD
OccultWatcher 5.0

OccultWatcher is a Windows program that helps astronomical occultation observers to stay tuned with the incoming events by tracking the asteroidal occultation predictions published and regularly updated in various sources called feeds. OccultWatcher searches the feeds you have subscribed for, for events that match your specified distance, star magnitude, event duration and other filter criterias. It allows you to announce your intentions to observe an event to all other observers around the world and helps the coordination in a global scale. At the time of the release of version 3.2 there are more than 400 registered accounts (of people that announce their observing intentions) and more than 1500 known installations. The account registration and usage as well as the OccultWatcher software are absolutely free.

The following prediction feeds are currently available for subscription:

Feed Name	Description
-----------	-------------

IOTA Updates	Steve Preston's predictions from www.asteroidoccultation.com . The published predictions are for higher probability events and are computed using recent highly accurate astrometric data. They are generally with very good accuracy, higher probability and small error.
--------------	---

OZNZ	OZNZ (pronounced oz-noz) Extras are published by Dave Gault. These are low probability small asteroid events for the South-East Australia and New Zealand regions.
------	--

NAMer	North America low probability asteroid occultations calculated using Occult C# by Brad Timerson.
-------	--

E.A.O.N.	The E.A.O.N. low probability events for the Europe region are maintained by Emmanuel Thienpont and formerly by Jean Schwaenen.
----------	--

NALowMag	North America events of 50km+ asteroids with combined stellar and asteroid magnitudes of near 11 to not less than 12.9. Many of these have a magnitude drop <1 . Maintained by Steve Messner.
----------	---

TT14 Trans-Tasman events involving asteroids bigger than 50km, magnitude drop larger than 0.2 sec, duration longer than 10 sec, stars up to mag 14. Maintained by Dave Gault, Australia.

TNO TNO Extras is a list of asteroid predictions involving Trans Neptunian Objects and stars brighter than mag 15. The search is conducted using OccultV4, the latest astorb and NOMAD. Since May 2010 the feed also includes predictions computed by Bruno Sicardi and the Rio Team. The feed is maintained by Dave Gault, Australia

SatWatcher SatWatcher is a list of occultations and eclipses involving the satellites of Jupiter, Saturn and Uranus. The feed is maintained by Hristo Pavlov, Australia.

With the release of version 3.2 there is one new feed called "Planned Observations". This feed contains all events that someone has already announced a station for. This way even if you are not particularly interested in the events of an existing feed, if there is an event that comes close to you and matches your filter criterias and if there is at least one announced station for it, OW will show it as "Planned Observation". This way events that are going to be attempted by an observer could get more observations.

With its enhanced alerts and reminders OccultWatcher can be also very helpful for tracking your personal asteroidal occultation predictions generated using prediction software such as Occult and LinOccult. It provides extra and very detailed information for all predictions including parameters of the star and asteroid, information about double asteroids, historical observations data and others. The software comes with a function to draw star charts using the free planetarium program C2A developed by Philippe Deveschere in France and which supports the star catalogues: Hypparcos, Tycho2, UCAC2, NOMAD. OccultWatcher also provides ability to be extended by your own Add-ins written using Microsoft.NET

If you are new to asteroidal occultations here are some online resources you would find most useful:

IOTA - International Occultation Timing Association

IOTA Yahoo Group

Euraster - a website for Asteroidal Occultation Observers in Europe

RASNZ OccSec - Australia/New Zealand Occultation Observers Information

Occult - Software for Windows for predictions of asteroidal occultations and many other astronomical phenomenas by Dave Herald

LinOccult - Software for Linux for asteroidal occultation predictions by Andrey Plekhanov

IOTA Updates - High accuracy asteroidal occultation predictions by Steve Preston. Those are also available in OccultWatcher as a prediction feed

Software Requirements for running OccultWatcher:

Windows 98 or later. Works best on Windows XP Professional and Windows Vista (32 or 64 bit)

Microsoft.NET Framework 2.0 or later

Hardware Requirements: Anything that can run the required software.

Internet Connection Requirements: In order to receive information about the predictions from the online feeds you need an internet connection. There is no particular requirement for the speed of your connection, but as a general rule OccultWatcher will do well so long as your connection allows you to view maps using GoogleMaps without too much delays.

Skip to main content

Open menu

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

Search in r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

Log In

Expand user menu

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

Go to Glitch_in_the_Matrix

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

6y ago

Momomia16

Has anybody traveled to another dimension?

I'm starting to wonder if the fabric of this world has frayed enough to open holes between our world and the multiverse. Criptid/paranormal activity seems to be getting more active, so I wonder if this means people are just going to fall through and never come back? Or if they do comeback they'll be considerably different/aged. I wonder if its possible to go to another world and stay there, if the teather to this plane/universe could be permanently severed?

653

.

366

Comments Section

Lake_Lahontan

•

6y ago

I don't know if this counts exactly, but I've had multiple astral projection experiences. One in particular may fit the bill.

I was visiting a friend for a few days. He was going to move to another place in a couple months (this is relevant). One night I went to sleep on an air mattress in his living room, he was asleep on the couch.

I woke up and it was moving day. He and his family were carrying boxes out the door, and everything was in boxes. I knew I was having an OBE. I walked out the front door and it was daytime, and the sidewalk/area was the same as always. As I went down the sidewalk the scene changed so that I was in a strip mall of some kind, now with people roaming around. One woman caught my attention, though I was behind her and didn't see if I knew her in RL or not. I followed her into a store. Everything was vivid, nothing looked out of place, but everything had a sepia sort of sheen to it.

That's pretty much the extent of the possible "other dimension" experience, from here it gets... intense.

She went up to the customer service counter, and as I was approaching her, something grabbed me from behind. Having had multiple other OBE's before, and knowing the possible dangers associated with them, I knew I had to get back to my body ASAP. I thought "body" and teleported back to the living room where my body lay. I could see my body, the mattress, the couch and my friend. Whatever had hold of me still had me, and the thought that even if I could get back into my body it may accompany me, but I also knew that if I didn't get back I was in real trouble.

My body was face up and I sort of fell down onto my body. I didn't sync up and the thing still had a grip on my back. I rolled over to try and match up to my physical body's position, but it didn't work. At that point I started flailing and screaming for my friend to help, and after a few moments I woke up in my body and did not feel that the entity was with me.

I waited until morning to talk to him about it, and I've never felt that whatever the thing was that grabbed me has lingered in any way.

I like to think that whatever time-space I was in, with the store and that woman, that there was some negative energy or bad thing there, and that I unwittingly removed it from that dimension with my spirit body.

7
[deleted]

•
6y ago
When I was a kid we had a circular clothing store in our mall that had a pathway around all the different sections (essentially a huge circle) . At the center of the store was the check out. And the store was pretty big. While my parents were shopping i used to run around this circle pretending i was an Olympic athlete (lol)

Once while I was running i noticed there was another pathway through the center of the store. Which was odd because the checkout waa usually in the center. I ran through it thinking it was new or something and bumped into a pane of glass. I was suddenly in the window of the store by the manequine display looking out onto a mall. I say A mall because it was different from the mall i was in. This one had bright purple tiles which attracted me and our mall had beige tiles.

People were starting at me so i ran back to the outer circle in embarrassment. I found my mom and dragged her to go see the new purple mall but i never found any path besides the outer circle path that was always there.

For years it bothered me and everytime i went into this store i would look for this path. Or anything i could have mistaken for a path. And to this day i still try to think of some rational explanation to explain what i saw.

But sometimes i think maybe i just went to a mall in another universe for a second

149 u/Momomia16 avatar
Momomia16
OP

•
6y ago
Odd! Good story.

Did the people look similar or different to us? Was the architecture different in any way?

38

1 more reply

[deleted]

•
6y ago

1 more reply
u/undeadexile752 avatar
undeadexile752

•
6y ago

I believe that fabric has frayed in all kinds of ways. Me personally experience this through dreams. When i was young i would have a dream that actually happened atleast twice a week. It would sometimes be less frequent but still i would have those dreams atleast once a month. This happened my entire life until the last 4-5 years, for reference im 30 y.o. Now in place of those dreams my nights are occupied by other peoples lives. Every time i dream seems to be me living but with a different world, people, and events. Sometimes i will see a mirror and look to see my own reflection but normally i can just tell from the thoughts, feelings, and actions. Sometimes i will have the same scars and othertimes i will have different scars. Still even though i know its me i am living a completely different life in a different world. It bleeds through into day dreams as well. One particular dream ended with a truck accident where the person i was riding with went off the road and down a gully with the truck landing on the roof. Later that day i had a waking visions type day dream where i was in a hospital bed being told i had a broken leg, several broken ribs, and a fractured bone in my arm. I experienced extreme pain in my leg and my ribs for several days afterward. It effected me so bad that i had remorse for the driver who died moreso than i had for my grandfather when he passed. I believe that this is different dimensions bleeding into our own, its the same thing that causes the mandela effect. I havent heard of anyone else experiencing this, if any of you have i would love to hear your input and experiences.

61

u/camillepoliquin avatar camillepoliquin

•

6y ago

Sounds like you could also be reviving your past lives. Very vivid dreams were you can see yourself or your hands are often linked to past lives.

10

17 more replies

u/Anon-R avatar

Anon-R

•

6y ago

I have chinese roots. I am not chinese, but am from a sub group from the region. That is just my people's history.

I preface with that to give you context to the tldr version of my dream.

I spoke perfect mandarin chinese, I was fighting some kind of war for what seemed to be a few days. The dream kept skipping scenes, but it was all one continuous story.

I was on horse back, I could not understand what I was saying, but my concious mind knew I couldn't speak mandarin. I felt like I was trapped inside someones body, but as the words left my mouth, it was like I was the one saying it. I felt the words leave my mouth, I felt the lip shapes, I felt my voice resonate my throat like i was actually speaking chinese.

But my concious mind knew i couldnt speak chinese. I was aware that i was in a dream, at least at the time i thought it HAD to be a dream because I could still remember that I only took chinese in high school in real life.

and at the end, it was cold and drizzling. It was a gray overcast day and I could feel a light breeze.

By this point I figured it must be near the end, and I would wake up soon. There was 1 dirt path leading into the mountains and into the horizon, and on both sides of me were 2 fenced off areas packed full of what I assume were refugees from the war that I was freeing throughout.

In my mind, I thought to myself that i would give my shawl to someone since it was so cold. I got off of my horse, took my shawl off and walked up to the right ride of the fenced area and offered my shawl to an old grandma.

But instead of speaking chinese, I spoke my native tongue, (the language I speak in real life). I offered her my shawl and told her Grandma, (in my language the word can be translated into grandma, but is also used as a term to address an elder respectfully) it is cold, and I am getting ready to leave for a long journey back home so please take my shawl. She only stared at me somewhat blankly. Nobody said a word. Ever.

My eyes dart to the right, sort of over her shoulder and a green portal opens, I was insanely amazed, by this point I was very conscious in my dream. I even debated in my mind whether or not I wanted to run the risk of jumping through the portal to see where it went. As soon as I decided not to, and hesitated for a moment because I then changed my mind and wanted to jump the Fence to gp through, a tall woman who wore a black dress, probably 6 feet came from the crowd of women and children refugees and said,

"This portal is not for you, it is not your time yet."

The way this woman carried herself, her stride and her chin held high immeted total confidence and total strength. That is what I felt when I looked at her.

When I looked back to the old lady, her eyes glowed a bright green, and the energy trailed from her eyes as her head moved. (They were normal before the portal opened) . And she just stared at me. The tall woman ushered the grandmas and young female children into the portal and that was it.

I woke up after that.

Edit- my honest and only logical explanation I can come up with is that I may have just relived a past experience. Or that I lived through the eyes of an old ancestor , because in my history, or what is left of it - my clan is one of many who decided to assimilate into chinese culture.

Edit- my people had total war with the chinese. And a few of the original clans were promised a seat at the emporors side as advisors should they assimilate.

26

6 more replies
castawayley723

•

6y ago

It's about consciousness. I've heard it explained that the consciousness is what traverses different plains of existence into different bodies not the bodies themselves. The body is the avatar of the conscience or spirit of people.

50

2 more replies
ankona89

•

6y ago

On dmt lol but seriously paranormal stuff started happening..wierd synchronicities right before I started smoking weed. Then when I started doing hallucinogens they ramped up. I've had so many instances of paranormal occurrences with witness to almost every one that it's been ruled out as coincidence. I believe those substances open the door to the subconscious which is the key to being aware of multiple dimensions. Perhaps not actively..but it can turn you into a "lightning rod" for things to latch onto. You're like an anchor between dimensions. Perhaps that's what mediums were and people learned to control it. Plenty of very smart people said they could channel and speak to other entities. Tesla being one.

34

[deleted]

•

6y ago

4 more replies

u/edenpararurex avatar

edenpararurex

•

6y ago

My boyfriend and I did one night in 2013. That's the only explanation I have for what happened. One day I will type it all out again. Everytime I do it disappears. Even when I wrote it out in a notebook it disappeared. It's weird.

12

1 more reply

[deleted]

•

6y ago

u/datonebrownguy avatar

datonebrownguy

•

6y ago

any time someone falls asleep and dreams occur, they literally enter another dimension.

11

DeviantDahlia

•

6y ago

Pretty sure I left my glasses in another dimension last month :/

9

2 more replies

u/RustyHelmet1453 avatar

RustyHelmet1453

•

6y ago

I have never told anybody this. But I think it might help somebody out there. I am still looking for answers too. If you guys upvote this it might help bring us together. I hope this works. I'm even going to leave my Instagram handle for you guys to connect with me If anything like this has ever happened to you before.

I know it's weird to say, but I've always felt that I am a little bit different from other people. A few days ago, I was told to put my head to a mirror. I am still not sure who told me to do it but whoever it was had me write it down on this note pad I carry around with me. I touched my head to the mirror.. and that's where things get a little crazy.

You know those permeable forcefields in starwars? I crossed some sort of layer. I don't know what it was, a dimension, a portal, a wormhole? I don't know what it was I'm just going to call it a layer. I was too scared to go all the way through. I just stuck my head out to see what was on the other side.

The other side was dark and dusty. The lights were off in this old wooden attic.

There was a few people dressed in black hiding up here. I could tell they were scared and panicking. Some of them were on their computers scrambling to get something done. I want to say it had something to do with the opening of the layer I went through.

There was a group of - I want to say police - trying to break into the attic to find these people. They were tromping up there stairs and yelling. I could tell the people hiding in the attic were in trouble. There were dogs barking and flashlights shining all over through the doorframe trying to get in.

I got freaked out. I didn't know what to do. Should I have gone through and helped them? Should I have brought them back into my world ? If anyone else knows anything about this, or has something similar happened to them Please send me a message. Please upvote it might help me understand what this all meant. My Instagram is @playdow Don't hesitate to reach out.

8

3 more replies

QuinnKinn

•

6y ago

No, but I swear sometimes it feels like im outta place, but im not.

7

1 more reply

u/Go-Away-Sun avatar

Go-Away-Sun

•

6y ago

Sinbad was in a genie movie god dammit!

7

u/AlbertaKid avatar

AlbertaKid

•

6y ago

This is a somewhat popular theory/explanation within the Mandela effect community. Essentially that people travel to and from different "timelines" or "dimensions" have an experience in said alternative dimension then return to the current one where that particular event never happened

224

QuinnKinn

•

6y ago

I think this is true.

54

80 more replies

Arriwyn

•

6y ago

I dreamed I had traveled to another dimension five days ago. It happened early morning right around dawn. I had a spotty night sleep so I was pretty tired but my mind wouldn't settle down, my sleep was light all night. Usually my dreams are odd collections of things from my life past or present or what I have seen somewhere else, like a movie. These dreams are usually quite hazy/fuzzy and I only remember bits and pieces of anything at all.

This dream was different however, I was completely lucid. In this dream I was someone else but it was still me just a different body. I knew because I could see my surroundings through her eyes. For reference I am female in this reality as well. I automatically knew I lived in a small dinky town in Montana and I had a daughter, she had the same name as my daughter in this reality but was a different age in the other dimension. The other dimension was also a different time because I remember the tv being on in our house and my father in-law (my real father in-law is been dead for 11 years in this reality btw) was watching President Obama giving a speech and he was complaining about how he didn't like Obama for what he did. So it must of been 2009/2010.

I also see and interact with another man who I assume is my longtime partner, and also the father of my child but he looks nothing like my current partner, he is tan, with dark hair, average height and build with kind eyes, a quiet personality. We have been together for many years. He is of Native American origin and a very calm and caring person. He works really hard in mining but then I see an oil drill in the far distance when he leaves to work so he works in oil drilling. I remember as he goes off to work we say our goodbyes and I feel really guilty in the back of my mind, like I am cheating on him with my current partner but I know that's silly because this guy, is my guy in the dimension I am visiting. The scene changes and I am walking my daughter to preschool. We are walking up this path to a small white wood sided house with green trim and mature trees, that is the preschool. The only preschool in town with a sign in the front lawn. I meet my friend as she drops off her daughter and we start chatting. Fast forward to the next scene...I am signing my name on a card but my name is a different spelling the card is to celebrate our anniversary. Then in another scene I am getting ready for our date night to celebrate our anniversary and he texts me on my flip phone to see if I am ready yet. He is waiting for me outside in the truck. I text back I am not ready yet because I am still blow drying my hair in the bathroom. I see my hair and it is black and long and I have tan long and slender arms. During our dinner date we talk about places to visit on our upcoming vacation road trip. I blurt out the "West Coast" I can hear the words clearly coming from my mouth...thinking "California", He gives me an odd look, like you never wanted to go to California before. And the next thing you know we are in the Pacific Northwest since we must of compromised something a little closer to home. And we are in Seattle exploring a Japanese garden.

So this is some of my dream. I wrote all the details in my journal as soon as I woke up because I didn't want to forget, it was that vivid. The people in my life were familiar but different and I was different but familiar. I could see mountains as the backdrop of this little town lived in and I could tell I was content in this other life. I must have never been to the West Coast in that life, though live on the West Coast in this life. I visit the Pacific Northwest there but I have never visited it yet here. So my conclusion is it must have been a dream where I was able to have a peak at another version of myself in a different dimension. The fact that I have also been setting my intentions to my higher conscious to reveal a "past life" for several days must have worked or I am just super imaginative and my subconscious made it all up. But it felt super real.

7

1 more reply
BoyMariner

•

6y ago

When I took LSD for my first time, I felt like I could shift through different dimensions. I know it's easy to just say that I was on a drug and that's the explanation and it's fine, I just wanna share my experience. I could feel the different dimensions and could talk to my friends from other dimensions/realities. It's actually pretty common to feel this as there's levels to an acid trip.

6

3 more replies
u/ElSancho0093 avatar
ElSancho0093

•

6y ago

There used to be a Famous Dave's next to my house. It was literally in the street on the next block over and had a huge sign. It was impossible to get to my house without passing by it. One day we were going to go over and when we got there...it was a Denny's. Both my mother and I were astounded that we never saw anything and that the huge sign had changed. We chalked it up to us being scatterbrained and walked in since we were already there. The internal layout had changed completely. We asked one of the waiters and he said they'd been open for a month and under remodeling for another two. That was the last straw. There is no possible way for us to have missed the Famous Dave's not being there for three months. Quite literally impossible. Both my mom and I remember it having been there just a day or two ago. We don't always look but we pass by it every day. The color palette is completely different so it wouldn't just blend into "background noise." I am 100% convinced it was some timeline/dementional shenanigans

6

1 more reply
u/trudytude avatar
trudytude

•

6y ago

People do that all the time. Gods are constantly vieing over territory and the people within those lands. The corona outbreak is one way they are being removed. But yes we can walk from one place to another and we do this on a constant basis. Have you ever gone to a place that gives you the creeps. This is just you noticing the difference between the energies. Same goes for places that you feel at home in.

6

10 more replies
u/StrangeSpookyStuff avatar
StrangeSpookyStuff

•

6y ago

Yeah, at least I believe so. Posted the tale on this sub a while back. I was pouring a glass of milk, got a sudden rush of what was like vertigo, and suddenly what was in my hands was a gallon of sweet tea.

6

BananaStranger

•

6y ago

Hear me out. I'm not drunk. I'm not high. There's no carbon monoxide in my room (such a reddit thing to state and if someone tells me this just once more...). I have told this before, right after my discovery.

I have died in the summer of 2013. I fell one story deep, right on my forehead, onto marble stairs. And seemingly walked away from it with a gash not too big on my noggin. Weirdly, I had trouble walking for a week even though I landed on my head. Now, this was not a plunge you'd walk away from. My "friends" told me they screamed "He's dead!" in unison. I'd imagine if you were a well-trained professional MMA-fighter who regularly strengthens his neck muscles, you might get "lucky" and end up in a wheelchair. All that, I was not. In much better shape, yes, but far from any place where I'd survive such an impact.

I woke up in a tiny dark room, not knowing where I was, what brought me there. I had an IV in my arm that I ripped off and stumbled around in pain in search of a door and found one. I found myself in a small hospital, far away from any other patient rooms, on the ground floor, looked back and it really felt like I just crawled out of the janitor's closet. A nurse basically asked me right away what I was still doing there and shoo'd me right out. I knew now I had fallen, and bad. But there was no bandage on the gash, no dressing, not even a fat band-aid. I doubt they even cleaned it! I took a cab home, called my boss the next morning and took the week off. I just could not walk. I lived off a few grainola bars, some peanuts and cookies and what was left in canned soups. It was close, but I made it.

It started with people just being off, just not themselves. I would run into the same group of strangers every day, no matter where or what time of day. Two of them spent an entire day each in their cars in front of my apartment window. Just staring straight ahead mostly. One girl of the group started making comments about me and my behaviour when they passed me every day, not even shy about it. She would later stand a few steps from my window and warn her two companions whenever I went to look what the heck was going on there. Apparently she saw me coming through blinds and a thick curtain. Every. Single. Time!!!

I started getting the most evil grin from people or full on get laughed at. Quite a few gave me the stink eye and mumbled something I assume not too positive. Someone spray painted weird symbols I've never seen on the ground right in front of my window. I'd wake up to folks making a strange loud noise at like four a.m. like little kids who figure out what noises they can make when thrashing their tongues around wildly. A day later I sit at a bar, some dude walks up to me, looks me dead in the eye - and makes exactly that noise. Then walks away. At this point I was going through every day of the past weeks, I went through every moment, every darn minute of every day, desperately trying to remember where I must have pissed somebody or better several people off who now play a cruel game of payback. But there was nothing. I started wishing there would've been...

For 37 years, I had no reason to believe in the paranormal, ghosts, demons, an invisible man in the sky above us who holds our fate and has the most evil of all enemies and an army of demons against him. He'll, I saw a pair of UFOs one night long ago and though my mind was blown by the way they moved, it seemed to make sense we're not alone, I wasn't even excited enough to bother to tell someone about it. Everything else? Non-existent in mind. Nope, no experiences, no strange happenings, nothing at all in all these decades, I was very much set in my beliefs - or the ones I didn't have.

But this one afternoon when I was in the midst of cleaning my apartment, I ran the vacuum cleaner over the couch to get rid of crumbs and it got stuck like it got caught up in something, next thing you know something that's best described as an orb the colour of dead yellowing skin and big enough to fear for my well being appears from next to the couch and instantly releases some kind of swarm of red eyes on me and I instantly thought about frogs because of the shape and movement, but you could only see what I took for pairs of red eyes, but I was already running for the door and as I made my escape, the distinct feel of like tentacles slithering over the back of my shaved(!) head and neck.

I spent a few hours trying to collect myself, make sense of it, breath calmly, but when night time came around, I knew I'd have to go back or sleep in the streets of a pretty darn shady neighbourhood. So I went and the moment I approached the door, that very same distinct feel of tentacles on my head and neck returned. My apartment was empty. But for many days to come, whenever I sat in the backyard to smoke and if it was after dark, something seemingly huge, massive but simply invisible, if course, came crashing through the bushes and trees, then silence for a few moments, then the feeling of tentacles again, always on the back of my head and down my neck. I sat through it calmly everytime. What else was I to do!?

By that time, the whole neighbourhood, the entire friggin' city seemed to have gone off the rails and beyond nuts. People would loudly cite whatever last thought I had. A kid that couldn't be older than eight walked past my window, stopped and screamed from the top of his lungs "WE'RE GONNA GET YOU!!!" into my room in the most hateful way I've ever heard from any kid anywhere. Needless to say, at one point, I packed a few necessities into a backpack and flew home to my parents (who suddenly acted like shabby made copies of themselves - but so did the entire town!!! People weren't recognisable anymore, seemed to have lost all their character traits!), but not before the weirdo security officer gave me the weirdest line of how he has never seen a dead man fly before...

I could write a whole book. I left a lot out, of course. Parents made me stay at a psych ward for a few weeks and swallow all kinds of strange pills, of course to no avail. I f*cking knew all along I wasn't crazy!! To make a long story short, after years of racking my brain every single moment of what in the world was going on, it all clicked one night when a long submerged memory resurfaced of an art installation my ex-wife did at the time for, you gonna love this, a Days of the Dead-art exhibition we usually had worked on together each year and I remember IT DID catch me off guard, because it was so off her usual approaches, a very quiet, beautiful and intimate piece that addressed me directly and dealt with the loss of me and the stages of it and since she's such a stone cold hard-ass all the time, I REMEMBER CLEARLY thinking "My God, it sounds like I have died already...", totally surprised. Years later when it hit me like a ton of bricks that night, I suddenly remembered this piece that I could simply not understand at the time, what with all the extremes in my life back then. But that night, I worded stuff differently: I thought "Yeah, that was totally a...requiem...for me..." And BOOM!!! Mind blown and things started clicking so fast, I got dizzy and my blood was rushing. It all made sense suddenly. The pictures of her of that time, always the puffy, teary eyes, the overly elegant dark clothes down to the black lady gloves, always that deep pain in her face, in her eyes. So not her. So unexplainable. Then.

So here we are, one story deeper and wouldn't you know how I can suddenly believe in forces good and bad (a little too late and have fun in eternity, says the bible...) and spooks and monsters and what have you. Somehow I soldier on.

But that moment I realised in silent terror that entire process of my parents hearing about my passing, the overwhelming pain, getting my corpse home, my few friends gathering in front of the cemetery (I hope) and that they lost me at 37 and have no idea where I'm stuck. I have never before shaken so uncontrollably whilst crying so painfully hard.

No bueno. All of it.

25

5 more replies

MzOpinion8d

•

6y ago

I feel like I have been living in another dimension for about the last 9 months. I'm ready to go back to my home dimension.

5 u/DaDruid avatar

DaDruid

•

6y ago

It is certainly possible. Your body is an anchor, while you have it you will be unable to help coming back so don't worry too much!

However it is important to know dark places and evil entities exist. It is possible to get a little fucked up mentally.

5

Cryso_L

•

6y ago

You should watch Castle Rock tv series on Netflix. The entire show is what your question is asking.

5 ladyofthelathe

•

6y ago

Pretty sure I dosed off Election Night 2016 and woke up in an alternate reality.

I say it jokingly, but there are times I seriously wonder. A. it's not like me to dose off until actual bed time, yet about 7 pm, I was OUT... woke up and asked how bad Hillary won... Imagine my surprise? B. I have had an overwhelming feeling of something being 'wrong' ever since, but I can't pinpoint it. Obviously since March it has intensified. This weekend, it's become almost too much. I'm very close to a mental shut down. I'm going to start by limiting my time on social media.

Yeah, I joke about it, but there's this nagging little voice in my head that tells me this is like a Donnie Darko situation or something.

5

u/Patio_in_Paradise avatar

Patio_in_Paradise

•

6y ago

Do you think it's social media, or do you think it's the television/mainstream media?

1 ladyofthelathe

•

6y ago

I think it's some of both.

2

3 more replies

spacecatJ

•

6y ago

u/abducoadamo avatar

abducoadamo

•

6y ago

I for one, can not say I am in another dimension. But I have died before and came back with a heightened consciousness (enlightenment you may or may not say). But I believe that something in my brain or conscious was turned off (I don't recall anything during my death) , and now that it has re started I have a new understanding. It hurts sometimes because I get these pains in my head from over thinking and I faint due to heart damage. but it is a blessing, and a curse. It is hard to find meaning when I have never met anyone who has my understanding, everyone is so driven by their emotions. But it is also a blessing because I am very socially and professionally smart, and I don't get scared easily. The fabric of my world is distant from others, physically and emotionally, and it is very hard to explain Edit: I was actually rescued by a shamen cult somehow and they did some ritual on me because of my Near Death Experience, they say I am from another world, too wise...

12

therankin

•

6y ago

There's another NDE.. I wonder how many of us have had a NDE

4

Arriwyn

•

6y ago

NDEs always change people. I never had an NDE persé but I have this memory where I fell down a very tall mall escalator and I could see I was going to hit the bottom while tumbling down, I was a little kid mind you 4 or 5: and knew I was going to probably die but out of nowhere a pair of hands grabbed me in mid air and pulled me back, it was this man and my mom was at the bottom of the escalator waiting for me like nothing even happened! It is where my fear of escalators came from as a kid and when I ask my mom if she ever remembered WHY I was afraid of going down the escalator she says she doesn't have a clue where I got that fear from even after I recount my memory about what happened with me almost falling down a tall escalator. I am nearly 40 and I still remember this incident.

1

2 more replies

Carma-Erynna

•

6y ago

The closest thing happened just recently. My current ol' man and I have been called communists lately by Trump supporters, but we always rebut with, "we're not communists, we're Carlinists!" Now this might seem insignificant, but about 3 days ago we were watching some of George Carlin's videos on YouTube and I Googled him because I couldn't remember when he passed away. I "knew" he had passed away when I was in high school in the early 2000's, before my ex husband and I met in 2004, because I remember the conversation repeatedly coming up between us talking about how it was sad that he had passed away, and he always brought up how he had picked him up in his cab one night not too long before he died. Well, that Google search turned up a death date for George Carlin in November 2007! Even weirder, i just Googled it again to put the fact date, and now it's giving a death date of June 22, 2008! Maybe it was more of a Mandela Effect thing, but that has me thoroughly weirded out and it's obviously very fresh in my mind!

4

[deleted]

•

6y ago

He had terminal cancer before he died so maybe you are remembering when that news broke and your brain is applying his death to that earlier time period. Idk about the two different Googles tho.

2

kiwii_x

•

6y ago

Sometimes i feel like I jumped into a reality that i wasn't suppose to be in. I messed up my timeline. Am i happy? I think so, but at what cost to my other self?

4 u/nathar1 avatar

nathar1

•

6y ago

If there are other dimensions, we live and move in them every day.

4

[deleted]

•

6y ago

I know this is a Mandela type of thing and that has its own page but this thread seems to be just a lot of people talking about a lot of weird stuff that isn't necessarily a glitch so I'll add mine. I hope the mods leave this thread up as I think we need it right now. And I posted this on the actual Mandela page but it was ignored, so. Anyway, Tito's Vodka. Until a couple weeks ago, it was 100% Uncle Tito's Vodka for me. My computer actually auto-filled it that way when I typed it into Drizzly, the liquor delivery. I can picture the label with the word "uncle" being just on top of "Tito's" in the same font and taking up the same amount of space. I was so surprised when the Drizzly only showed Tito's that I actually asked my friends if they knew when it changed. And I would think that I just imagined it all, I guess, but there are a few, a very few, instances online of other people calling it Uncle Tito's. A blog with homemade extract recipes. A post about someone's visit to some kind of festival and the Uncle Tito's tent. But it's always just been Tito's.

4

u/ReflexEight avatar

ReflexEight

•

6y ago

When I blacked out for 8 hours from too much LSD I traveled to Saturn so possibly, lol

9 u/Momomia16 avatar

Momomia16

OP

•

6y ago

TELL, please

3

5 more replies

[deleted]

•

6y ago

Hey, i like this sub/the subjects that get discussed here, it's always interesting to read about extraordinary things and wonder if they're real. Most everyone has a strange experience in their lifetime, I've heard lots of firsthand accounts from people i know who aren't lunatics...but u have to take it with a grain of salt.

Most every kid pokes their head at the sound of subjects like bloody mary, bigfoot, an ouija board, theories about aliens. It's a common interest to see the unknown. People sometimes sensationalize stories as well

So, in other words i wouldnt worry about it.

3

u/Momomia16 avatar

Momomia16

OP

•

6y ago

Aye, but my curiosity is insatiable. It's like sitting next to a box and being told not to open it even though something amazing could be inside

2

1 more reply

tacovacay

•

6y ago

I feel like that's what I do when I have dreams.

3 u/marshall_dragon_1994 avatar marshall_dragon_1994

•

6y ago

I may have had a Mandela effect type event happen last year. I was watching F1's "Biggest crashes of 2018" when it gets to the part when a Sauber/Alfa Romeo spins into the wall under braking at Monza due to DRS failure. It said it happened to Marcus Ericsson but I could have sworn when I first saw it in 2018 it was Charles Leclerc.

3 u/supermspitifre avatar

supermspitifre

•

6y ago

Will Byers has

3

[deleted]

•

6y ago

Yes, on dmt. It changes your consciousness frequency and you can escape the matrix. After breaking through on dmt I became convinced we live in a matrix.

3 u/astralrocker2001 avatar

astralrocker2001

•

6y ago

I also projected into a Parallel Earth and stood at a huge outdoor campaign celebrating that Richard Nixon had defeated JFK for the presidency in 1960.

This of course never happened in our reality. It is also interesting because I was not even alive when that election happened.

3

u/Momomia16 avatar

Momomia16

OP

•

6y ago

How did you get back?

3

2 more replies

Dustin_McReviss

•

6y ago

Years ago, while on a paranormal investigation, a friend and I accidentally walked into another version of this plane. We were standing at the top of a staircase that was filled with people in real life, and then everyone disappeared. The way I felt was... really bizarre. Like, I recognized that I should be terrified, but the true weirdness of what happened didn't sink in until months later. To this day, I wonder where I went, and what changed because I went there.

3
dprijadi

•

6y ago
that just charm / ilusion casted on you , or you suddenly peek at the place's spiritual snapshot of past era..

1 u/solargaze3 avatar solargaze3

•

6y ago
There's a supernatural influence that created the riots and Coronavirus. I am not lying either, it is not natural or normal.

Edit: Why am I being downvoted? It's obvious there is a presence not native to Earth manipulating things. It's not bound by physical reality and can alter dimensions and timelines. You guys realize human life is only one perspective of this entire existence? I am not talking about aliens, but multidimensional beings with advanced consciousness that can view a variety of perspectives without temporal limitation or distortion. If you can prove without a shadow of doubt that I am 100% wrong, then downvote me. If not, comment on why you may think I am not accurate.

Message me for a discussion as well.

Edit 2: Here's a brief overview on how this process works for your soul (1-10 dimensions) through multiple perspectives:
<https://www.spirit-evolving.com/oversoul>

Highest form that I am aware of is the Oversoul (10 Dimensional Self that is like the CEO of all your parallel selves and perspectives throughout the multiverse).

23 putnamto

•

6y ago
The thing is, burdon of truth lies in the hands of the claimant, not the denier.

7

2 more replies
Life_Is_A_Spiral

•

6y ago
Most of us 4th dimensional beings don't understand. I'm still trying to figure it all out. But I agree with some of your points. It feels like my 5th dimensional self is screaming at me to make the correct decisions in life in order to manifest my destiny by choosing the correct path forward. It's hard to describe but I've had multiple psychedelic trips where I felt this universal harmony, and was able to cause certain physical effects around me based on what I was feeling. It felt and looked mechanical, there's no possible way to fully describe this through text.

13

4 more replies
thesaddestpanda

•

6y ago

I would love to hear more about this sincerely. Please post your thoughts on this. Thank you!

5

OGck33

•

6y ago

very interesting take. the idea of having the ability to simultaneously maintain multiple consciousnesses and/or perspectives is something that i believe an entity out there is able to do (not humans). i feel like this is the true "enlightenment" that we as humans won't be able to do for a long ass time

5

3 more replies
freedomforg

•

6y ago

I was at a protest in NYC on Friday. As soon as one of our marching groups got to Manhattan criminal court is rained just enough to cool people off from walking 20 blocks. And all of a sudden it got super bright and stoped raining. Later on when we were near times square the police split us up and arrested and assumed a few of us. Then a big thunderstorm came in to the area we were in. It stoped once the daddy wagon they put the arrested protesters in drove away.

I don't know if I'm just reading to much into this but mother nature thinks we are on the right side of history.

9

[deleted]

•

6y ago

EstreaSagitarri

•

6y ago

The Oversoul is the name of a highly advanced, mechanical God in an Orson Scott Card novel... I've often wondered if these multidimensional beings are actually machines that are so technologically advanced we couldn't even begin to comprehend...

I still think they are most likely spiritual in nature, but it's interesting to think about...

I also believe that there is a big picture reason for this crazy year, but it's a religious thing I'm assuming no one wants to hear

2

1 more reply
JohnnyBosco3

•

6y ago

The virus? The riots? I'm in St. Paul...I knew things were gonna go bad when this happened... But the amount of disaster was on another level (taking over pd precincts, all the looting especially all the completely burned out buildings that were left to burn as FD could not respond as they were fighting so many other fires... This was effin shit heads who used this man's horrible death as an excuse to act like assholes and ruin their own hoods although I know there were some small groups not from here doing the same but I will not put that on people from other places but it was people who did this and acted this way... The virus...Christ... also it's people but this can get funny and political so... Either way we all have our own beliefs... And are free to believe them. Just don't stuff them down others throats or call someone else's beliefs wrong or stupid...because if you do the your stuiiiipid! 🙄

4

1 more reply
u/prodiguezzz avatar prodiguezzz

•

6y ago
Prove it? Maybe?

1 ricenbeanzz

•

6y ago
Is there like an article about this or 1

1 more reply
u/panini-51 avatar
panini-51

•

6y ago
Not a dimension. But I made a realm in my lucid dreams. And I did not wake up for 5 says straight.

2
[deleted]

•

6y ago
So like were you in a coma-like state?

3

4 more replies
u/Momomia16 avatar
Momomia16
OP

•

6y ago
What happened in the dream? Where did you go? Did you see anyone else? Was it our world or something completely diffrent?

3

1 more reply
MyBluntBroke

•

6y ago
We all do when we dream

2 u/lillyambel avatar lillyambel

•

6y ago
it is possible here is how
<https://drive.google.com/file/d/1fbPfZ4Vjute0pB5vqxQfYgQPxSQcAUMI/view?usp=drivesdk>

2 u/agree-with-you avatar agree-with-you

•
6y ago
I agree, this does seem possible.

4

1 more reply
_babycheeses

•
6y ago
I've travelled with the 5th Dimension.

2

[deleted]

•
6y ago
MylifeasAllison

•
6y ago
Astral projection is possible as long as you stay attached to your body. So your astral body and mind can travel to different dimensions.

2

dprijadi

•
6y ago
one cannot measure soul / spirit travel by physical distance.. the soul / spirit stay close to body and can travel anywhere without moving away. Silver cord is invisible unless you intentionally seek to see it.

1

[deleted]

•
6y ago
margocon

•
6y ago
It would explain every sci-fi story and effectively make it disclosure...

2

[deleted]

•
6y ago
Have you just done acid?

2 u/Thislonelysadunicorn avatar Thislonelysadunicorn

•
6y ago
Try shifting, and look up shifting subliminals. They may give more information. As shifting is jumping from one reality to another.

2 u/Momomia16 avatar

Momomia16

OP

•

6y ago

So you know how far I could shift? I'd like to dip from this reality/timeline/world completely.

1

1 more reply

acyiz

•

6y ago

yeah i think this has happened to me because i went to a target like a few months before then like a month ago there is a giant hotel

2 u/Momomia16 avatar

Momomia16

OP

•

6y ago

Weird

1

[deleted]

•

6y ago

I believe we all move between very similar parallels constantly. I have read of some people here jumping pretty far - suddenly they had different jobs and relationships. The easiest way to experience other worlds (not parallels) is through astral projection. Here's an amazing account by a person who did his entire life:

https://www.reddit.com/r/AstralProjection/comments/aks5v6/veteran_astral_projector_of_57_years/?utm_source=share&utm_medium=ios_app&utm_name=iossmf

2 u/isquirttequila avatar

isquirttequila

•

6y ago

I believe I go through others in my dreams whether it's at night or while day dreaming. I can see what my life will look like up to an extent depending on what choice(s) and every time I make that certain choice in those dreams it happens in real life. In other instances things I dream actually happen. I've learned to stop doubting myself because I used to think they were just coincidences but it happens far too often to be. The times I dream are 75% just this me seeing into my future and other times I can't remember dreaming or I'll have nightmares.

2

dprijadi

•

6y ago

theres always material and spiritual world that coexists since before mankind ..

living beings cant live in spiritual realm and vice versa.

however human soul / spirit can be influenced by spiriutal entities , aka charmed or illusioned into seeing non existent sights. Plenty of spirits charm human with visions of godliness , mighty castles , beautiful maidens.. it is all illusion casted on human spiritual eye temporarily this has been going on for centuries since men exist on earth.. the spiritual entities are here far longer than human and know how to lie and tweak human into believing such illusions.. and they mold their illusion to what the human belief for the era (faeries in irish lore , Alien UFO in modern materialistic world)

Ivan Sanderson and his wife was charmed for a while in haiti during their car breakdown.. walking to the nearest town and tired they saw european style town and cobblestone in front of them , puzzled they sat on a bench marveling how such town existed in middle of haiti wilderness.. then their chaffeur friend came back from town and tap ivan on his shoulder , everything vanished and ivan and his wife was sitting in the middle of nowhere..

2 u/Pablo_Soapbar avatar
Pablo_Soapbar

•
6y ago
I think I'm in one

2 dprijadi
•
6y ago
Yes , plenty of ppl got suckered into entering such illusionary "dimension"

<http://www.ufobc.ca/Reports/StrangeAnomaly.htm>

North West Territory , West of Coppermine river , near burnt creek

Leaving the tree he walked toward the fog column. He could not find any evidence of moisture or evidence of a hole in the ground that may be venting an old underground mining shaft or tunnel. He decided to walk into the fog column. As he entered only a few steps everything changed: He saw a grassy field that extended straight ahead for as far as he could see, at this point the grass was about 12" high. The further he went into the mist the higher the grass got, about 36" tall and it was a brown colour, there was a wind blowing the grass in a direction away from him. His vision was limited from side to side which made him even more cautious, he turned around and got out of the mist. He could not remember the colour of the sky that was inside the mist, he thought it may have been grey, but did remember that the grass was a brownish/beige colour.

He decided to go back into the fog to be sure of what he had just experienced, and cautioned himself not to walk into the grass, he felt that walking into the grass would be dangerous but did not know why he felt that way. He re-entered the mist and went in a little further than he had the first time and the grass was even higher, about 48", and his side to side vision got better. Far off to his right there was what looked like an oasis with medium sized trees forming a circle and two palm trees growing in the centre of the circle of trees. To his left was more grass as far as he could see, it was still a brown/beige colour and the sky was as he thought a pale grey colour. The sky was clear and not overcast.

Exiting the fog he found himself on his hands and knees, looking down at the ground. He felt mentally fatigued.

2 u/Josette22 avatar
Josette22

•
6y ago

Hi Momomia, I've heard the curtain between dimensions is getting thinner in this Age of Aquarius. Also, people have already fallen though and were never to be seen again. Well, there are two possibilities. When asport occurs, either the human will disappear and reappear later OR they will disappear, never to be seen again.

2 u/astralrocker2001 avatar
astralrocker2001

•
6y ago
Recently during an extended Astral Projection session I crossed into another dimension and visited a planet very similar to ours called "Pi".

I was fortunate enough to actually come back into our dimension, get out of bed and drink some water, and actually return to "Pi" again that same day. During this adventure I met a beautiful young woman named Susan.

We spent hours together and made an incredible connection. She asked me why I left the first time and asked me to stay there with her.

I have not been able to make it back again and wonder if I will ever see her again :(

2 dprijadi

•
6y ago
just dont invite her to come with you IRL

you will get possessed and you wont like her real form

1
SICphilly

•
6y ago
Did you find out where Pi was? Like what universe or galaxy it exists in? Did the people in Pi know of Earth? What were thr physical differences between planets?

1 drekkiss

•
6y ago
r/dimensionaljumping

1 DestinyWitness

•
6y ago
In dreams yes

1 Braedon1998

•
6y ago
Recently I had phone that i lost before I moved out and someone who moved in I knew found it give it someone else I know give it to me mind you before I moved it was no where to be found

1 ysalien

•

6y ago

Reminds me of into the spider verse. Multiple dimensions and reality 🤔

1 jaypinky69

•

6y ago

Yep

1

[deleted]

•

6y ago

Yes!! I've been feeling way wayyyy more 'jumpy' lately - jumpy as in I feel like I'm jumping/glitching through.... idk.... space(s)?

If anyone has an explanation at all, that'd be epic

1

SinJinQLB

•

6y ago

Yeah.

1 u/TheSingularityWithin avatar

TheSingularityWithin

•

6y ago

5D several times.

1

radrax

•

6y ago

Try DMT

1

[deleted]

•

6y ago

Nice try, Rogan.

2 u/StefQuiznos avatar

StefQuiznos

•

6y ago

I've drank two bottles of grape delsym before so yeah basically. It was like lucid dreaming but better. everytime i closed my eyes there was a vr headset from 200 years in the future plopped on my head and everything was outlined in neon and racing by me. I can only imagine what would have happened if i had drank the orange flavor instead. probably died

1 miotalee

•

6y ago

I haven't traveled or anything but I'm trying really hard to open up my spiritual self. There has been two or three instances in the last year or so that I've felt an immense spiritual type of passage. The first time it happened I thought I was tripping, but then it happened again and again. I didn't know what was happening, I felt like I was dying, especially the last time... But after that last time I started having weird -let's call them inclinations- that something was different. The dreams and the deja vu I have are more potent and longer lasting as if they're memories from a different iteration of me. The very last surge of memories that come back to me was what I can only interpret as a parallel reality where I was abused as a child and died because of it.

Either that or I'm having a psychosis which could very well be the case.

1

RaZvAn15

•

6y ago

I mean I say I travel to other dimensions all the time whenever I see something that didn't exist till the respective day. Like today, when I look to buy a new computer monitor, and I see this weird brand ViewSonic. I have never in my life heard about this company, yet today everybody knows what it is, except me. Maybe I'm losing it.

1

miss_wicks

•

6y ago

Yes... after taking a 10 strip of pure lsd... lol

1 u/Havenita avatar

Havenita

•

6y ago

I have. I saw a different version of myself (which I have written about before on Reddit, recently) in a clothing store. I also took a walk a couple of years ago in my neighbourhood, but didn't realize until much later on that the streets during that walk were configured totally differently than they are here. I did not question it at all at the time, but was mind-blown when I finally realized, remembering the walk. I also once worked freelance at a location that is no longer there; literally the streets and businesses are different here than I recall them being there; there is no evidence here of that place ever having existed, but I worked there modeling for an art class one night several years ago. I cannot dismiss such incidents. It would be ignorant of me to do so. I think about it all the time, trying to understand it all. I actually really like it. I think it's cool. I love whenever it happens.

1 u/HonnieGoLightly avatar

HonnieGoLightly

•

6y ago

If you try, you will end up in the booby hatch because our highest social order that conveniently governs us fucking hates us. Achoo.

1

ilijuanaa

•

6y ago

The only odd experience I had that I thought of when I read this was while I was lucid dreaming.

I woke up in my lucid dream..normal. Then fell asleep in that dream world and traveled to like a parallel universe of that dream world.

It got scary though. People were surrounding me laughing saying it was impossible for me to leave. I remember screaming, hitting my head on the wall, anything to wake up. Finally when I "woke up" I was in my original dream state.

There was such an odd feeling and chill I get thinking of that parallel. It seemed so real & a different tone than the original dream.

But who knows. Could've just been funky dreaming stuff

1 u/whatswithsnoo avatar whatswithsnoo

•

6y ago

I think I'm currently experiencing this but im not sure what to do, im not sure if i even really want to do anything about it, either way i think I'm stuck here, what's weird is i always missed my friends and family so much when i couldnt see them, but i feel a weird sort of peace here which is nice, my "sister" is different and that hurts, but she has some sort of connection with this me and it makes me feel strangely nice but i feel so sad and wrong being here and when she looks at me i feel like she isnt looking at me. I cant really explain it. Even this website, my best friend and i would stay up for hours on google lite playing stupid games and reading reddit posts. She has no idea who i am. And the logo is a very realistic robot back there. It's unsettling to say the least and i have goosebumps almost constantly. I also have a lot less energy like, i feel like i aged a lot. Or like its very draining to live here, but its so green too and i love that, i just feel so out of place. But it really is okay here. If anyone else is experiencing this please reply to this it'd be really comforting to hear what youre going through. All this started happening about 3 weeks ago, i have a lot more details if anyone cares to reach out.

1

Euphoric-Delirium

•

6y ago

You would love Stephen King's novel 11/22/63 ..(I have never seen the Netflix series.. or was that one a movie?..) I have only read the novel and it's a trip 😊

1 u/Saucebossgenetics56 avatar

Saucebossgenetics56

•

2y ago

I can tell you u know this all humans can see up to 11 dimensions. The only time we're able to do this was as little kids and right when we die. We have a gland in our Brain called the pineal gland the reason why you can see after a certain age after a few years of drinking tap water eating processed food your pineal gland which is a crystal clasifes and then it can't vibrate anymore to see further then the 3rd dimension. The only way to change that is eat healthy no drinking no drugs. Meditation and speaking to ur concentionish you will declassified your pineal gland and be able to see multiple dimension thru meditation or deep rem sleep which all activities the pineal glad the produces minuscule amount of dmt. If u wanna see all dimension at once you gotta smoke a bark of a tree which is called dmt and then you can send of to other planets for 15 mins. If u don't have dmt you can do same with shroons on super high doses and lsd

1 u/Sea_Paleontologist79 avatar

Sea_Paleontologist79

•

2y ago

Did anyone wake up to the star color changing? What color?

1 u/Rare_Anywhere2717 avatar

Rare_Anywhere2717

•

2y ago

Last night I coulda sworn I was in another universe. I was in my room at 11:15 PM, and I couldn't sleep, so I turned all the lights off. There was this eerie blue glow, and voices could be heard that were unintelligible and everything was bluish. It looked real though. It was somewhat eerie, but I thought it was more cool than anything and am studying multiverse theory to try and get back to it, because I knew once I transported there that this wasn't just another timeline, this place was another universe altogether, a strange shadow of our reality, possibly with slightly different physics, and I could tell that this place, though maybe a bit scary, contained such wonders, such knowledge, knowledge that could change our world altogether!! I am wondering if I could build a car that can travel between the worlds at will, and I will research that. So yeah, I have been to another universe, and they are out there.

1

[deleted]

•

2y ago

iv'e been waiting for someone to ask this, yes fucking yes! I'm slipping in and out of multiple dimensions and it's stressing me the fuck out! sometimes it's simple little changes you can barely notice. then there are times that a lot has changed like major things for example my best friend of 22 years all of the sudden has a kid, that one was the first big one that really got me noticing and now it's gotten to the point that things change in front of my eyes it's exhausting

1 u/WerewolfWonder avatar

WerewolfWonder

•

2y ago

I have been pulled into other dimensions quite often and would gladly offer my services to take other people there if anyone is around Kalamazoo Michigan

1 u/AshamedJuice773 avatar

AshamedJuice773

•

2y ago

I'm so happy I just found this... First of all I'm using my text to speak while driving so if words or punctuation are wrong I apologize

I recently had an experience where I believe I also either travel to another dimension or slipped behind the curtain of this one I'm still not certain

But the fact that it's been 3 weeks and I remember every detail every smell every feeling like it was yesterday tells me it was not a dream

In a quick nutshell basically I was on a fractal pattern almost chest board type of place but I was made aware that it only appeared that way because it was away for me to be able to understand it

I then heard in my mind not not actually audibly but in my mind multiple voices but all as one talking to themselves but about me saying first they said I don't deserve to be there and I would never understand what I was seeing

There was a game that I was thrust into and I didn't know the rules and it appeared kind of like chess baseball and like kind of it was weird it was like a match three very strange and I was fumbling around trying to figure out what to do

And then the voice is said that I would never figure it out that I didn't deserve to see the reality of what was happening but when I then made a specific move they were surprised and got excited and said maybe he does deserve to be here

After 20 more minutes of me getting the hang of what was happening they started chanting together they love my mind they love my mind they love my mind as the experience was ending and I felt myself lifting out of this space and then again to get there and to leave I was going through multiple fractal like portals it's hard to explain

The voices I felt this gravity pulling me back down towards that place while the voices were saying that they wanted to keep me there and then I didn't that I shouldn't leave they wanted to keep me there and then I popped out and I know how this sounds there weren't drugs involved I have done multiple you know hallucinogenics in my youth but this was something different I am still really really affected by it well that's my two cents

1
EstreaSagitarri

•
1y ago
Oh yes and I believe that the typical idea of Heaven is all around us in a different dimension, similar as it can be with our level of communication

1 RequirementQuick2856

•
1y ago
My trip to the other world happened three times. I washed the dishes all three times. The first transition I remember washing the dishes and listening to my favorite music when I moved into the world of Szva. It was late autumn on an amazingly beautiful street, there were leaves up to my knees on the road, and I was walking with a person whose face I could not see, only his body, and I experienced the greatest pleasure from being close to this person. We spoke in a non-earthly language, the smell of this street and everything was divine.

1 MagzalaAstrallis

•
1y ago
Yes and have done so with other people

1 u/A_Pathetic_Olive avatar
A_Pathetic_Olive

•
6y ago
I mean I personally haven't but my pen has...

I had this pen that I may ør may have nøt stølen frøm my grandad and it had been missing før I think 3 mønths and tødøy, like just a few høre agø, I was cleaning my røøm when it drøpped øntø my lap and I was sitting døwn sørtng stuff øn the grøund sø I didn't knøck it øff my desk ør sømething and me being a child still (I guess I am :D) I believe it went thrøugh a løøp whøle frøm øne dìmention back tø øurs.

-1
putnamto

•
6y ago
0oo look at me, I type with empty set instead of 0.

Fyi that symbol would replace zero not 0

3

11 more replies

u/aye-its-this-guy avatar

aye-its-this-guy

•

6y ago

One time a tennis ball bounced past me and disappeared. We never found it

1 u/Patio_in_Paradise avatar

Patio_in_Paradise

•

6y ago

That's cool how you use lower-case zero's instead of o's. How do you do that.

1 u/ThePinkySuavo avatar

ThePinkySuavo

•

6y ago

Paranormal activity is getting more active? Any source of that information? Oh, your ass, right?

0 u/JackJack1184 avatar

JackJack1184

•

6y ago

DM me

0 u/Ariel303 avatar

Ariel303

•

6y ago

Hmmm.... not sure if this counts... but.... I was traveling alone through/near the Crow Reservation, which I had never been to, I had been experiencing weird, almost paranormal or ghost like thoughts and feels. Almost like I could sense a presence or entity. Anyway, I take a mental note and continue working until bedtime. I go to bed and begin lucid dreaming. Not completely unheard of, but in this dream, I was standing in the dame room I was currently asleep in. Only in the dream, I'm not alone. After being scared by a man sitting faced away from me, writing at the desk just feet away from the foot of the bed. I ask him to turn around, he wont, eventually I convince him to, and he turns. And where his face should be is just, space.... like... galaxies, stars, the works. Frightened, I go to get away, as I turn and grab the doorknob, it turns and I pull open to ☆Whiteout ☆ then slowly color gradually reveals that I'm now standing in the crowded lobby of the hotel. I begin to ask where I am, what's happening, the person I'm asking reassures that I know where I am. Confused, at first, then it hits me, "the collective unconscious?" I ask. With a nod to the affirmative, he confirms. I want to seize this opportunity and ask the meaningful, serious questions, "why are we here, what is 'here's, what's the meaning of it all? And so on... Alas, before any questions are posed, it's gone. The dream has left. Although I felt like I truly saw something real, legit, something connected.

12

slinque

•

6y ago

I believe the world I see in my dreams is truly another dimension.

8

u/Patio_in_Paradise avatar

Patio_in_Paradise

•

6y ago

It is.

1

EstreaSagitarri

•

6y ago

I personally believe that we are heading towards a sort of apocalypse, but the time frame could be anywhere between tomorrow and 100 years from now. Definitely not much more than 100 years...

One effect caused by our current reality breaking down is the thinning of the fabric of our reality. It is becoming easier and easier to "slip" into another dimension. That also means that dark or evil spirits are sneaking in and making people crazy. It's also setting off natural phenomenon.

Whenever I research the paranormal, or natural phenomenon it seems like a lot of it started in the 1970s. Maybe it had something to do with the big hike in the number of people taking hallucinogens, I don't know, but something started happening then and it's still happening.

Once reality has completely broken down, we will all notice the difference in dimensions, and the fight between good and evil entities will really come home and involve each and every one of us. Then the world will become something new and different. More evolved spiritually and physically.

I know I sound nuts, but it's all happening 12 u/Mcasim01 avatar

Mcasim01

•

6y ago

This is probably the best explanation I've seen at to what's been happening during this crazy year. We're all in agreement that there's a "shift", but what exactly the shift is the question. This entire year has been crazy, and my friends had been calling it a "period of conflict." My father was recently murdered the day before Coronavirus started to get everything in the U.S. shut down. I was high from smoking at the time, and I intuitively knew he was going to pass away somehow. Since 2020 started, every time I get really high from weed, I start to feel auras and see how reality is a sort of "matrix." So suffice to say, it's been apparent to me that things are different, and shit is starting to go down, but I haven't really been able to pinpoint what it is.

I've started to have dreams about apocalyptic scenarios. Tornadoes, alien invasions, etc. I had a dream twice that I was visited deceased father and he was super confused and unable to intelligibly speak English both times, and another dream about a succubus shortly after my father passed (imagine my confusion.) So yeah, reality has been pretty fucking weird lately. lol. Your explanation makes complete sense actually.

2

5 more replies

Liz_kq

•

2y ago

Your theory is very interesting. I want to know more

2

2 more replies

1 more reply

u/Jimmy_Hovits avatar

Jimmy_Hovits

•

4y ago

It's the work of Steve, a demon who lives in South Carolina.

1

Commercial_Okra_5008

•

4y ago

I met a lady who told me that she was walking sure homeless by the way and she came across a building in the middle of nowhere. And she said there was an elevator so she want to test it to see if it works. She said the next thing she knew the elevator opened up and she was in the mall. She said the people look weird human but not really human and the stuff they were selling we're crazy like weird looking animals not from Earth kids and the food they're eating looked horrible and disgusting. I didn't get much details but I hope to Meetup with her again and get more details but she said she left because she was scared out of her mind got back on the elevator and ran.

1 u/onevacancy avatar

onevacancy

•

4y ago

xfdm.m

Mmm .

.

Muy 6296724&gclid 7u777

1 u/HotnSpicyMasala avatar

HotnSpicyMasala

•

1y ago

Thats what DeJa'Vu is. We are intertwined with infinite dimensions and sometimes recall memories from some of those dimensions.

1

Xikkiwikk

•

2y ago

Yes when I visited Japan with two friends we traveled to another dimension parallel to this one. We decided to go to Starbucks and when we entered the building the whole thing was empty. The lights were off and there were NO people inside, the couches and counters were caked in dust and despite calling out, no one was there.

I touched one of the leather couches and the dust was so thick that it felt almost spongy. All three of us were weirded out because the outside of the building looked new. So we decided to leave. Once we exited we all heard people behind us IN the Starbucks. The doors opened again for someone walking out. So we cautiously walked back in and saw the building FULL of people and business was booming. The lights were on and the place was lively. When I asked my friends if they wanted to order anything they both said no because they were freaked out. We all left confused and scared and to this day still have memory of that alternate universe.

2

[deleted]

•

1y ago

The Mandela Effect is the government, media, and big Tech/AI manipulating and gas lighting people. They scrubbed the internet and changed a few things just slightly to make us think we are crazy (fyi the actual definition of gas lighting). This was just phase one.

1

[deleted]

•

1y ago

It's a social experiment.

1

lo3446

•

10mo ago

I've always had dreams where I would travel to different dimension and it's always with trains or something including speed, well I've recently dreamt about elevators I truly believe it has something to do with it, I dreamt I was going with my two friends to this school and so I got into this skinny elevator and every-time I pressed a button and went up and go out I was a new person!! Or a new language, so I told my friends come with me because you will be who you want if you do but you don't know what circumstance you will be, so we just kept riding up I remember I spoke this language like native, or I was blonde in one, I was known in another and all this happened everytime I went up but I had to go back down to go to the normal starting point, and I remember I woke up and realized what if elevators are portals because every level there's something different about it, just a cool thought, my dreams are always so vivid and I've had really cool experiences! I lucid dream easily and have seen visions and heard also they always taught me something new and made me more of an open minded person :) and all my dreams since I was little were always me going into different destinations and just refreshing my dreams they were truly like little portals I know it sounds crazy, it's like if a house was the same in each side and if I wanted a result Ill just take a tumble in the basement to reach the other side to be in a different circumstance like a clean slate :)

1

SensitiveBuilder452

•

10mo ago

I have this universe i accidentally went to and I BARELY visit it. I always have these going to other universes in dreams. Tonight i visited the universe again and its actually comforting because its basically just my family in another universe. But they only felt happy emotions. The first part of my dream was me on my laptop at night while my grandma slept next to me. it made me feel a bit scared though.. it was weird because i only saw my siblings and dad in the second part of the dream and it was outside. suddenly when we were back home, they disappeared. when i gained awareness of the dream, i tried to punch the wall but it stopped my arm. i tried to punch my mom next and stopped me again. so when i fully realize its a dream, i confessed it to my mom and she just comforted me. i told her i would visit her again but i dont know why i said that. after that i woke up. i like my other universe mom but she felt odd. i shouldve never said im visiting again.

1 u/Royal_Elderberry avatar

Royal_Elderberry

•

9mo ago

I took a heroic trip of mushrooms one time and I truly convinced myself that I was talking to another conversion of myself on the telephone. Might have just been the mushrooms but I was convinced it was another dimension

1

More posts you may like

I went to another dimension?

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

4mo ago

I went to another dimension?

387 upvotes · 26 comments

Saw a person vanish before my eyes

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

2mo ago

Saw a person vanish before my eyes

164 upvotes · 47 comments

Something happened today that I still can't explain... I've got chills 😬

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

1mo ago

Something happened today that I still can't explain... I've got chills 😬

322 upvotes · 50 comments

Disappear right in front of me

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

3mo ago

Disappear right in front of me

172 upvotes · 36 comments

A small glitch...but so puzzling

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

1mo ago

A small glitch...but so puzzling

92 upvotes · 18 comments

Was this a glitch in the matrix, a reality shift, or just me losing my mind?

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

6mo ago

Was this a glitch in the matrix, a reality shift, or just me losing my mind?

111 upvotes · 39 comments

Did I jump timelines or into a slightly alternate universe?

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

10mo ago

Did I jump timelines or into a slightly alternate universe?

32 upvotes · 11 comments

I think I died and am now living in a parallel universe

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

4mo ago

I think I died and am now living in a parallel universe

364 upvotes · 90 comments

Very weird and unexplainable thing happened yesterday (?)

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon
r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

4mo ago

Very weird and unexplainable thing happened yesterday (?)

350 upvotes · 98 comments

Was this a death timeline shift?

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

6mo ago

Was this a death timeline shift?

151 upvotes · 13 comments

A fucking glitch in the matrix or divine intervention?

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

22d ago

A fucking glitch in the matrix or divine intervention?

44 upvotes · 18 comments

I don't know if this fits here, but I need to share it because it was so weird.

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

3mo ago

I don't know if this fits here, but I need to share it because it was so weird.

322 upvotes · 83 comments

A very boring but real glitch that I cannot stop thinking about

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

2mo ago

A very boring but real glitch that I cannot stop thinking about

92 upvotes · 24 comments

Was it a glitch?

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

3mo ago

Was it a glitch?

81 upvotes · 40 comments

Did i walk into the future?..

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

7mo ago

Did i walk into the future?..

394 upvotes · 44 comments

Friends seemingly teleported?? Or were never there?

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

6mo ago

Friends seemingly teleported?? Or were never there?

84 upvotes · 13 comments

I'll tell you about my glitch today

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

2mo ago

I'll tell you about my glitch today

87 upvotes · 11 comments

I think I'm losing my mind

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

8mo ago

I think I'm losing my mind

54 upvotes · 7 comments

Something weird happened this week that I can't explain

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

5mo ago

Something weird happened this week that I can't explain

39 upvotes · 9 comments

Hoping someone can help explain this!

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

4mo ago

Hoping someone can help explain this!

79 upvotes · 41 comments

Time oddity

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

3mo ago

Time oddity

55 upvotes · 21 comments

This may sound simple.. but how?

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix icon

r/Glitch_in_the_Matrix

•

3mo ago

This may sound simple.. but how?

466 upvotes · 116 comments

View Post in

Tiếng Việt

Français

हिन्दी

Top Posts

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of June 1, 2020

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of June 2020

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of 2020

Reddit Rules

Privacy Policy

User Agreement

Your Privacy Choices

Accessibility

Reddit, Inc. © 2025. All rights reserved.Skip to main content

Veteran Astral Projector of 57 Years! : r/AstralProjection

Open menu

r/AstralProjection

Search in r/AstralProjection

Log In

Expand user menu

r/AstralProjection icon

Go to AstralProjection

r/AstralProjection

•

7y ago
Morgoth37

Veteran Astral Projector of 57 Years!
I've astral projected my whole life since childhood. In that time I've had thousands of experiences including travels into the past and future and outer space.

If anyone has any questions I'd be glad to do my best to answer them.

Check out my Astral Club YouTube Channel! <https://youtu.be/kyEDpB-y0ZE>

1.3K

.

1.9K

Comments Section

u/Morgoth37 avatar

Morgoth37

OP

•

7y ago

I've had this astral-physical experience with my wife, daughter, and brother.

It's more difficult to achieve this goal than you'd think. Unless the person you're meeting is an expert astral projector, they'll end up forgetting the nighttime experience like most people forget their nightly dreams.

My wife loves hearing about my experiences, but she has no special interest in APing. My daughter just had her first solo AP experience that she couldn't wait to relate to me over the phone.

Unfortunately, there are comparatively few expert APers in the world. Most of the People I see are nubes and what I call "sleep walkers" in the astral. Sleep walkers are folks who are projecting, but they're doing so most unconsciously, as a result they remember virtually nothing in the morning. Nubes usually bounce around the astral like young children learning to walk.

My mission in this life is to increase the number of APers in the world, working their way up to expert status so it won't be so lonely on the old astral plane.

I've started up a new Channel on YouTube, Astral Club <https://youtu.be/kyEDpB-y0ZE>

I'll be discussing astral projection topics, answering questions, talking about my experiences in Time & Space, and helping people to join the astral projection club!

275

u/weCRe8 avatar

weCRe8

•

7y ago

Humm, I've had a few APs in the past that I found interesting, but I always preferred shamanic journeying to APing. On second thought...after reading Morgoth37's post, I think it might be a good idea to become a regular practicing APer so that I can spend more time traveling with my beloved hubby!

34

11 more replies

u/Morgoth37 avatar

Morgoth37

OP

•

7y ago

I POSSESSED MY ALTERNATE & FUTURE SELVES!

I have two experiences that you may find interesting:

Alternate universe

After astral projecting I thought I had returned to my body. I got out of bed but I felt a distinctly unpleasant electrical field around my body. I thought nothing of it and went downstairs. There I found my wife and two young ladies at the breakfast table. One of which I recognized as my daughter in this lifetime and universe, the other I did not. The younger girl got up and hugged me. She must've sensed something was wrong because I became very uncomfortable and rigid.

"Who are you, I asked?" I started to sway as the unpleasant energy worsened, and fell into an empty chair.

The young girl look puzzled and worried. "Daddy, it's me, Lenay!"

I fell out of the chair and slumped to the floor. I felt my Astral self leave the body. After a moment of unconsciousness, I awoke in my home physical self.

I believe I had mistakenly returned to an alternate self of mine that had two daughters. The soul matrix energy was close enough to enable me to operate the physical body for a short while, but eventually forced me out.

Future Self

I projected into my future self as a much older version of me returned home. I dove into my older self, and fought to gain control. Once I felt in command, I looked around my future house and located my wife.

In the house I saw pictures of a beautiful young lady. I asked my wife who she was. She looked at me strangely and said she'd been waiting a long time to see me. Evidently my self from the past had warned her that I would one day visit this future. She said our infant daughter would grow into this young lady and become a talented and happy Physician's Assistant. I asked her a few more personal family questions before another version of that annoying electric field forced me to flee this future. I bid my future wife goodbye and returned to home time/space.

In this experience I learned that the protective electric field that normally assures one soul per body will reject even the same soul matrix if the time coordinates are not a match.

I've started up a new Channel on YouTube, Astral Club <https://youtu.be/kyEDpB-y0ZE> I'll be discussing astral projection topics, answering questions, talking about my experiences in Time & Space, and helping people to join the astral projection club!

227

33 more replies

u/Morgoth37 avatar

Morgoth37

OP

•

7y ago

Astral Journey to the End of the Earth Part 2

505 Million Years AD With a renewed sense of purpose, I aimed for One Billion AD or bust! Good intention, but a few million years into the further future a blackness covering the Earth jerked my focus from me. A mountain in space had collided with the Earth, kicking up and choking the land, ocean, and air with blackness. I slowed my progression down to a more moderate pace. As millennia went by, I exchanged my barren Earth for a frozen one.

The icy landscape crunched under my footprints in loud greeting as I touched down. No crass graffiti for me this time, however. The mile high glaciers were blue, white, and exuded an aura of solemnity, grace, and sacredness. I trod the valleys and spires with the same respect and awe that a young child feels when entering a great cathedral. For long reconnaissance flights I looked for signs of volcanism and breaks in the ice. I found none until the sixty first day of my total journey. Everywhere I had traveled the sky had been clear and cold.

Suddenly snow and ice crystals rained down upon my hovering astral form. Like a missile, I dove into the exposed ice to find the source of the erupted water that had frozen to form the falling snow. Deep under the ice I swam through lively, lovely, boiling water. It was a true miracle! I looked carefully for signs of what I'd been searching for all these weeks. In minutes, I knew I would not be disappointed. Clinging tenaciously to icy, mineralized crags feeding off the main geyser, I found them. My brown-green algae Abels were still alive, resurrected by a just Universe!

1 Billion Years AD

It was time to redirect to one billion AD. This time I arrived on target without delay. With a deep astral breath, I surveyed yet another version of our fickle Mother Earth. The surface oceans were gone. I assumed some water may have retreated into the deep interior of this brave, new Earth. However, it was the rolling thick clouds above that reminded me of the dense atmosphere I'd surveyed on a buzz-by Venus I had made previously. The air itself was mottled by heat waves that made the Sahara at noon look positively chilly by comparison. I saw no point to any search for life in this sterile and oppressive landscape.

1 - 7 Billion Years AD

I'd served my time in hell, I thought, so it was time to move on. I pushed forward blindly now, letting the billions of years roll by freely. I stopped at a random time/place for a check. The thick clouds had vanished and I suspect most of the Earth's atmosphere as well. There was no breeze, no movement. All was the silence and deep permanence of the grave. I could see innumerable stars in the sky now, day and night, but they had lost their twinkle. For me, though, they had lost much more - their magic.

The sun was smaller and dimmer in the sky, keeping its distance from the now barren and lifeless satellite. I don't normally wax anthropomorphic, but it seemed to me that Mother Earth deserved better than to die alone after being a fertile home for so many life forms over its long history.

For the next 30 days (my subjective experience), I gradually, slowly, moved forward in time billions more years. The Earth didn't change greatly now as I traveled in time, but the moon shrank by a third in the sky above. Our sun went through a series of violent convulsions as I progressed forward closer and closer to the end time. I didn't become overly concerned about the periodic solar fluctuations, though, until I witnessed old Sol growing steadily larger, redder, and angrier in the sky. Every astral bone in my body cried out for me to flee and escape the oncoming apocalypse. It was only my innate pigheaded nature and my sense of what was right that enabled to me to stay with the planet.

In a flash of searing light, the surrounding Earth was torn asunder, burnt, and destroyed utterly. Only I, the astral wanderer, remained as a silent witness to the end of the late, great, planet Earth.

Mercifully, a remote signal pops up on my long unused astral radar screen. I latch onto the beam as tightly as a drowning man clutches a thrown life preserver.

Good 'ole 21st Century AD

I awoke at home in the 21st century in bed. My alarm clock told me exactly 11 minutes and 11 seconds had transpired since I left on my 92-day journey of distant time discovery.

Peering out my back window I survey a suburban development in early Spring. Surely, there is nothing special here to comment upon after my epic journey, I muse silently. I open the window a crack to smell the clean, sharp air rushing inside. I detect a hint of ozone from a recently ended, misting rain. The birds chirp contentedly in the neighborhood trees.

I stayed by the window longer than I have for some time.

I've started up a new Channel on YouTube, Astral Club <https://youtu.be/kyEDpB-y0ZE> I'll be discussing astral projection topics, answering questions, talking about my experiences in Time & Space, and helping people to join the astral projection club!

103

22 more replies

LordJor_Py

•

7y ago

The first and most important. How do you do it?. How do you "surpass" the fear? (at least for me the fear is the force that prevents APing).

96

24 more replies

[deleted]

•

7y ago

Please tell me about The Park (Focus 27), more specifically The Akashic Records (The Library),

Is the place very populated? Is anyone allowed there?

Thanks, and happy travels :)

54

u/Morgoth37 avatar

Morgoth37

OP

•

7y ago

I've never sought out these places. If you go let me know.

36

11 more replies

u/Morgoth37 avatar

Morgoth37

OP

•

7y ago

Re: The many years I spent in the distant future with my tribe of humans.

When I returned to my physical body in the present no more than 25 minutes had actually transpired!

My wife recalls how "out of it" I was for days after that. On the morning I returned to the present I sat in my car in the garage for about 15 minutes going over the controls in my car to re-familiarize myself with its operation. Keep in mind that I'd had the car for about 3 years at that time!

For weeks afterwards I suffered emotionally thinking about the close attachment with my friends... and more in that distant future.

Note: I've never tried to return to that time/place as the emotional scaring is still too painful even after all these years later.

I've started up a new Channel on YouTube, Astral Club <https://youtu.be/kyEDpB-y0ZE> I'll be discussing astral projection topics, answering questions, talking about my experiences in Time & Space, and helping people to join the astral projection club!

74

21 more replies
u/ReesNotRice avatar
ReesNotRice

•

7y ago
Something we see often on this sub is people not knowing if they astral projected or not.

What are some tell tale signs you have APed and it is not a lucid dream?

Thank you for taking time out of your day to answer our questions. We hope to hear from you soon!

64 u/Morgoth37 avatar
Morgoth37
OP

•

7y ago
Excellent Question!

Ordinary dreams - we've all had them. You find yourself in school and you forgot your locker combination and your clothes! You wake up relieved.

Lucid Dreams - in these dreams you are the master of your universe. You can change the scenery and characters at will because you're conscious of the illusion you're inhabiting.

Astral Projection - you are fully conscious and can see through you hands. Your vision is 360 degrees and you're as conscious as you are in your waking life. However, this world has a reality apart from you. You can travel through it, but you cannot change it at will like in LD.

I've started up a new Channel on YouTube, Astral Club <https://youtu.be/kyEDpB-y0ZE> I'll be discussing astral projection topics, answering questions, talking about my experiences in Time & Space, and helping people to join the astral projection club!

165

2 more replies

1 more reply
u/allyfox099 avatar

allyfox099

•

7y ago

Have you ever accidentally slipped into some place you were NOT supposed to go in?

58

u/Morgoth37 avatar

Morgoth37

OP

•

7y ago

Do secret military bases count?

90

41 more replies

u/johannthegoatman avatar

johannthegoatman

•

7y ago

have you ever done or seen anything that was verified by someone else?

is there anything you've learned about love you could teach us?

Have you ever used the astral to manipulate/manifest real life events?

What's your biggest life advice for people?

What do you think about tarot cards or other divination tools?

Thanks for making this post!

56

16 more replies

psychgamer2014

•

7y ago

I'm not sure quite how to word this, but have you had any experiences that physically "validate" AP for you, such as being able to move or manipulate something within the physical world from the astral?

83

u/Morgoth37 avatar

Morgoth37

OP

•

7y ago

Yes. I spent 6 months once trying to win a 4-digit lottery number. I wasted a lot of AP's pursuing this before I finally obtained the number I needed to bet and win. Quite frankly the money wasn't worth the investment of time and energy, but it was a physical validation. Another time my wife was watching a soap opera when I left my body and tried to get her attention. When I returned to my body she told me she saw a cloud that blocked her view and caused her to miss an important scene in the show!

Note: Astral vision is 360 degrees and remarkably sharp. But reading and viewing numbers is extremely difficult. It's like astral sight isn't designed for these tasks.

I've started up a new Channel on YouTube, Astral Club <https://youtu.be/kyEDpB-> y0ZE I'll be discussing astral projection topics, answering questions, talking about my experiences in Time & Space, and helping people to join the astral projection club!

193

33 more replies

1 more reply

u/ilovemyhiddenself avatar ilovemyhiddenself

•

7y ago

Thank you for taking the time to answer our questions. I thoroughly enjoyed reading them!

51

u/Morgoth37 avatar
Morgoth37

OP

•

7y ago

My pleasure!

41 u/WaveMonkey avatar

WaveMonkey

•

7y ago

You should start a youtube channel if your haven't already. You would probably get a lot of subscribers.

50

u/Morgoth37 avatar
Morgoth37

OP

•

7y ago

I have thought about that. I was uncertain if anyone would be interested, though. It seems they might!

I've started up a new Channel on YouTube, Astral Club <https://youtu.be/kyEDpB-y0ZE> I'll be discussing astral projection topics, answering questions, talking about my experiences in Time & Space, and helping people to join the astral projection club!

101

7 more replies

[deleted]

•

7y ago

How far into the future have you gone, and what have you seen?

42

31 more replies

u/adm0ni avatar adm0ni

•

7y ago

What is your best way to control yourself just after you first start projecting?

36

u/Morgoth37 avatar

Morgoth37

OP

•

7y ago

Highly focused will. It's like learning to walk in the physical. In my early days I would bounce against my ceiling or head in the opposite direction that I had intended. Practice makes perfected control in both the astral and physical.

I've started up a new Channel on YouTube, Astral Club <https://youtu.be/kyEDpB-y0ZE> I'll be discussing astral projection topics, answering questions, talking about my experiences in Time & Space, and helping people to join the astral projection club!

50

4 more replies

SwordWife

•

7y ago

Do you meet up with other entities regularly to the point you would consider them acquaintances or friends? If so, any unique appearances/personalities you've come across that you're willing to share?

39

3 more replies

u/WaveMonkey avatar

WaveMonkey

•

7y ago

Wow you must have seen some crazy stuff. I've only been astral projecting for four years and already I've seen a lot crazy stuff. What are your thoughts on the white light and the idea that reincarnation is a trap. I've actually seen the light a dozen times so I know what it really is but I'd like to get your opinion on it. Have you ever run into the greys? I have. They're the only entities that actually freak me out. Also do you ever have entities haunt your house because you have a lot of OBEs? This is a really big annoyance for me. And what's your take on the difference between dreams and OBEs. I've had dreams turn into obes a bunch of times. I know that's a lot of questions. Sorry about that.

38

14 more replies

u/Morgoth37 avatar

Morgoth37

OP

•

7y ago

And that's why traveling into the future is challenging mentally. You end up seeing that everything around you is temporary. It's only an illusion of permanence. On the plus side it helps me to appreciate beauty when I see it because I know it won't last forever.

39

More posts you may like

Experienced Astral Projectors: Do you think that there is a Heaven and Hell?

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

14d ago

Experienced Astral Projectors: Do you think that there is a Heaven and Hell?

44 upvotes · 38 comments

I met another astral projector who said he knows about this subreddit! :-)

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

4mo ago

I met another astral projector who said he knows about this subreddit! :-)

333 upvotes · 57 comments

For the projectors that are convinced that this is an objective experience, what led you to this realization and what can a newbie projector do to verify the same?

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

3mo ago

For the projectors that are convinced that this is an objective experience, what led you to this realization and what can a newbie projector do to verify the same?

26 upvotes · 14 comments

For all the experienced Astral projectors out there, how do you cope with reality when you have experienced the astral realm?

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

1y ago

For all the experienced Astral projectors out there, how do you cope with reality when you have experienced the astral realm?

180 upvotes · 62 comments

JUST A QUESTION If astral projection is real, why don't people have stories of them finding out things by spying on people?

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

5d ago

JUST A QUESTION If astral projection is real, why don't people have stories of them finding out things by spying on people?

163 upvotes · 126 comments

Has any Astral Projector experienced memories of their past lives while in the astral plane ?

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

2y ago

Has any Astral Projector experienced memories of their past lives while in the astral plane ?

4 upvotes · 6 comments

My early Astral Projection Experiences ~48 years ago.

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

2mo ago

My early Astral Projection Experiences ~48 years ago.

28 upvotes · 7 comments

To all the lurkers and wannabe projectors, hope this motivates like it did for me

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

9mo ago

To all the lurkers and wannabe projectors, hope this motivates like it did for me

r/AstralProjection - To all the lurkers and wannabe projectors, hope this motivates like it did for me

238 upvotes · 28 comments

My Astral Projection Journey (and what I've learned so far) AMA

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

4mo ago

My Astral Projection Journey (and what I've learned so far) AMA

118 upvotes · 85 comments

Anecdotal proof of spirits from a retired astral projector

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

2y ago

Anecdotal proof of spirits from a retired astral projector

65 upvotes · 41 comments

Can someone prove astral projection to me? (Please read)

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

26d ago

Can someone prove astral projection to me? (Please read)

21 comments

I had my first 100% without a doubt astral projection this morning, completely unintentionally.

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

6mo ago

I had my first 100% without a doubt astral projection this morning, completely unintentionally.

53 upvotes · 9 comments

What surprised you the most during astral projection?

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

8mo ago

What surprised you the most during astral projection?

55 upvotes · 59 comments

My best experience yet

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

2mo ago

My best experience yet

53 upvotes · 13 comments

My three-year journey in astral projection

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

1y ago

My three-year journey in astral projection

37 upvotes · 26 comments

I successfully astral projected yesterday & multiple times throughout this year

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

5mo ago

I successfully astral projected yesterday & multiple times throughout this year

39 upvotes · 7 comments

I did it!

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

4mo ago

I did it!

106 upvotes · 67 comments

Ongoing Disinformation about Astral Projection.

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

3mo ago

Ongoing Disinformation about Astral Projection.

81 upvotes · 37 comments

My first experience trying astral projection - I'm mind-blown but not sure what I experienced

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

20d ago

My first experience trying astral projection - I'm mind-blown but not sure what I experienced

57 upvotes · 12 comments

Anyone seen UFO/aliens in Astral?

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

9d ago

Anyone seen UFO/aliens in Astral?

42 upvotes · 46 comments

I finally did it

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

5mo ago

I finally did it

135 upvotes · 79 comments

I finally did it

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

2mo ago

I finally did it

65 upvotes · 18 comments

Finally succeeded!!

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

2mo ago

Finally succeeded!!

33 upvotes · 18 comments

First time astral projecting, an entity immediately warned me and stopped me from doing it

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

4mo ago

First time astral projecting, an entity immediately warned me and stopped me from doing it

98 upvotes · 76 comments

My way to astral project (from a 21 year old)

r/AstralProjection icon

r/AstralProjection

•

4mo ago

My way to astral project (from a 21 year old)

40 upvotes · 17 comments

View Post in

日本語

हिन्दी

Top Posts

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of January 28, 2019

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of January 2019

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of 2019

Reddit Rules

Privacy Policy

User Agreement

Your Privacy Choices

Accessibility

Reddit, Inc. © 2025. All rights reserved.

30 ads blocked

36% space saved!

Strange Anomaly

by Alex M. (written by his brother Bill M.)

June 1968

On June 9th, 2010, UFO*BC received a email from "Bill M.", in which he describes some very strange events that happened to his brother, "Alex". In August 2010, two UFO*BC Directors, Steve Adair and Dave Pengilly, met with Alex and discussed the story. Basically, he confirmed the events, as described by his brother, were correct. The strange events took place in 1968, while Alex was prospecting in the Canadian Northwest Territories. Below, Bill gives an introduction before relating his brother's story.

To whoever may be interested?

Before I write about the intended message of this letter I am giving a short background of myself.

I am 58 years old male and still employed and I have been working as an instructor at a College since 1990. Before this time I have worked in a wide variety of construction work. I think of myself as a reasonable person and open minded up to a point. I do not believe in the here after, parallel universes, angels or aliens. I believe that humans are responsible for all things bad and all things good that happen to us. I do not believe aliens have built the pyramids or any other structures on earth. I am telling you these things to let you know that I am not predisposed to believe aliens are visiting earth, I do feel that I am open to listening and would change my views if I saw reasonable reasons to do so.

My oldest brother, who is 76 years old, was/is a miner-pro prospector. Many times in the last 30 years he has said to me that some day he will tell me a story of something that he had happen to him, and that he hoped that I would not think he was crazy. I believe him to be a very level headed person and not taken to having flights of fancy telling strange stories. This past winter I received a letter from him highlighting what I can only describe as a very strange story, a story that does not fit the man I have known all my life. I felt quite concerned and telephoned him to see if he was ok.

During the telephone conversation he told me even more about his experience and that he feels a need to tell the whole story. He came to visit me a few days later, armed with topographical maps. After a couple of days of listening to what, he said, was the whole story and looking at maps, I realised that he is the same level headed thinking man I have always known. He firmly believes all that he told me. He was very nervous telling the story and seemed relieved to be able to tell the whole story to somebody who would listen non-judgementally. It is my understanding that people who have had unexplainable things happen to them are reluctant to tell their story for obvious reasons. The experience he described to me happened in 1968.

Watching BBC world news recently I saw a short blurb about Steven Hawking and his beliefs concerning aliens. I was very surprised to hear that he would believe such things. This made me recall the story my brother told me.

I am going to make an attempt to relay his story to you, my brother asked for my help in sending out this information.

If you feel that I am wasting your time, please accept my sincerest apologies.

Bill M.

In June 1968, as part of a larger group, my brother Alex and his partner (Boogie) Veino Heimonen were hired by a Vancouver based mining company to do prospecting from Yellowknife N.W.T to the Arctic Ocean. Alex and Boogie are not Professional geologists and were hired to bang rocks, looking for ore deposits.

The group set up the main camp at a large lake while Alex and Boogie were set up in a satellite camp approximately 10 miles away. The satellite camp did not have radio contact or helicopter service to the main camp. Apparently in those days 10 miles was not far enough away to warrant radio contact. If they had a need to replenish supplies they had to walk to the main camp to get supplies, which was an all day trek.

Due to the isolation and the long daylight hours they spent a great deal of each day prospecting. The only vices they each had with them were cigarettes for Boogie and smokeless tobacco for Alex. When Alex was telling me the story I questioned their access to alcohol while they were there, he reassured me that all their camps were dry camps.

Their time in the satellite camp was supervised by a geologist from the company head office. The company geologist did not stay at the satellite camp but did put in an appearance periodically, approximately 1 or 2 times a month. On one of his trips the company geologist told about a strange rock he had found west of their camp and if they would investigate. The geologist explained how to locate the area where he found the rocks; it was not a great distance from the satellite camp. The geologist thought that the rocks were a remnant of a meteorite or part of a deep seated intrusion brought to its present location by lava flows, but could not put the rock in a known geological category (U.R.T.: Unknown Rock Type).

Because the URT was not a great distance from their camp they investigated that same day. The larger rocks were approximately 3 feet long and 1 1/2 feet in diameter. They were shaped similar to a banana. The rock was silver in colour and made up of smaller oddly shaped rocks, See Figure1.

The smaller rocks were laminated in various different directions. Alex described them as being translucent, similar to looking at frog's eggs having the appearance of one egg below the other egg in a matrix. The rock in Figure 1 was easy to see when looking at a side view. When turned to look at an edge view it seem to have a thickness of a cigarette paper or less, more like no thickness, very difficult to see.

Alex and Boogie brought several samples back to camp; each sample was about the size of a medium potato and were made up of the smaller rocks as in Figure 1. Alex said that neither he nor Boogie could explain the rock type nor have they seen anything like this before.

U.R.T.: Unknown Rock Type

- All U.R.T.'s are identical in shape and size.
- U.R.T.'s are laminated together, bonded together by a matrix of some type that is not evident by looking at it.
- U.R.T.'s appear to be somewhat translucent
- U.R.T.'s are silvery in color

↑FIGURE 1↑

That evening they made a fire using wood from an old, large tripod that was left behind by a diamond drilling camp. The tripod had enough wood to allow them a fire for six or seven evenings. One evening while sitting around the fire Alex was looking at the URT rocks, he threw a smaller piece (about 8 cubic inches) into the fire. The following morning Alex scraped through the ashes of the fire in order to see how the heat may have affected the URT. He could not find the rock but did find what appeared to be clear volcanic glass having a rounded teardrop shape with a burnt copper colour stain on the small end, see Figure 2, the teardrop shape was about 3/4 the size of the sample he threw in the fire the night before.

↑FIGURE 2↑

SEE FIGURE 3: The drawing is not to scale and is drawn by me as I understand it to be.

In the late 70's or early 80's Alex wrote a letter to Dr. Sinclair, Geology Department, UBC, describing the rock as described above, in hopes of getting help to identify the rock. Dr. Sinclair responded to the letter about a year later explaining that it takes about a year to do the research to classify a new rock type, but based on the description as given to him he could not match it to any known rock on the planet. Apparently Dr. Sinclair is now retired but still alive.

On August 31, the day was clear with excellent visibility. Boogie headed south to prospect while Alex headed north to prospect. In the early afternoon Alex saw two humps to the north west of his position. They appeared to have a shape like a half egg;  they seemed out of place in relation to the surrounding area. Alex headed to the two humps to investigate. When he got there he discovered the humps were two large rocks with smooth rounded surfaces, they were about 8 to 10 feet tall with bases of 12 to 14 feet.

The two humps were near the edge of a cliff, off to his left there was a gouge in the cliff that was about 4 feet by 4 feet, the gouge went down to the bottom of the cliff to a flat gully. From his vantage point on top of the cliff he could see what looked like a fog column (bank), it was very still with no movement.

Alex went down the gouge to the gully below. A great deal of the gully bottom was covered with moss and lichen. He started to walk south down the gully with the fog column on his left, he then noticed what looked like a large pile of rocks off to his right, approximately 20 tons. After some digging he found 6 or more of those rounded teardrop glass shapes and a lot of slag that you would find in an assay lab or a smelter, man made.

After investigating the smelted rocks he walked toward the fog column, slightly to his left he noticed what appeared to be an old dead tree lying on the ground. He walked over to get a better look. It had a trunk that was about 18 to 20 inches in diameter (56" to 63" in circumference) and about 8 feet long. The tree had no bark on it. There were so many roots at the base of the tree that the trunk was not touching the ground while lying there. The area was mostly rock and did not look like it could support a tree with such an extensive amount of roots.

Leaving the tree he walked toward the fog column. He could not find any evidence of moisture or evidence of a hole in the ground that may be venting an old underground mining shaft or tunnel. He decided to walk into the fog column. As he entered only a few steps everything changed: He saw a grassy field that extended straight ahead for as far as he could see, at this point the grass was about 12" high. The further he went into the mist the higher the grass got, about 36" tall and it was a brown colour, there was a wind blowing the grass in a direction away from him. His vision was limited from side to side which made him even more cautious, he turned around and got out of the mist. He could not remember the colour of the sky that was inside the mist, he thought it may have been grey, but did remember that the grass was a brownish/beige colour.

He decided to go back into the fog to be sure of what he had just experienced, and cautioned himself not to walk into the grass, he felt that walking into the grass would be dangerous but did not know why he felt that way. He re-entered the mist and went in a little further than he had the first time and the grass was even higher, about 48", and his side to side vision got better. Far off to his right there was what looked like an oasis with medium sized trees forming a circle and two palm trees growing in the centre of the circle of trees. To his left was more grass as far as he could see, it was still a brown/beige colour and the sky was as he thought a pale grey colour. The sky was clear and not overcast.

Exiting the fog he found himself on his hands and knees, looking down at the ground. He felt mentally fatigued. He looked up at the mist and saw two men looking at him, they were standing side by side at the edge of the fog and about 3 feet off the ground. They appeared to be about 6 feet tall plus, had long hair and long beards, salt & pepper colour (more salt colour). They appeared to be about 40 or so years old. They looked Caucasian having facial features like ours but could not see any eyeballs. They looked like identical twins. They were wearing pale coloured pants and robes that extended down midway between the knee and ankle and a belt around their middle, both were wearing sandals. He looked back down at the ground then back up at the two men in the mist, now one is off to one side in the mist and behind the front man. The man in the front was still standing while the man in the back seem to be sitting on a chair that was not there, it was a lot more difficult to see him in the mist. The man in the back reminded him of the statue called "The Thinker". Neither of them said anything, they only watched him. Alex said that at this point he was feeling quite shaken, and decided to get back to camp.

He went up the sloped bank to the west of where he was. He looked back at the fog and the one man continued watching him until he was about half way up the slope. At the top of the hill there was a body of water that was close to the edge of a cliff. He walked to his right to go around the base of the hill then went partway down the hill going south; he noticed that he was close to his line of travel between camps. He could see small bodies of water on the top of the hill; he decided to go up the hill to investigate. The bodies of water were sloping down both sides of the hill. The surface of the water followed the slope; in other words the surface of the water was on an angle (not flat) the water was contained by walls of grass. The grass was about 12 to 18 inches high by 4 inches wide and about ¼" thick, shiny green in colour and had a waxy texture. The grass was holding the water in place. The water was very calm and about 3 feet from the edge of a 30 foot cliff as shown in the diagram Figure 3. There was no debris floating in the water. (See Figure 3 and Figure 4)

Leaving the two bodies of water he went back down the hill heading to his line of travel pathway with the intent to go back to camp. On his way to camp he noticed a large outcropping of different looking rock. He went to the outcropping to investigate and discovered it to be a vast amount of the type of rock that the geologist could not identify, he estimated there to be about 20,000,000 tons visible to the eye. Most of it was covered with overburden, moss and lichen. After investigating the outcropping for a short time, he went back to camp. He told no one at camp the story he told me.

After the experience Alex described to me, he seems to question the validity of the Bible. As he put it, would the Bible be written today? He seems to think this is an important question.

The following day they moved both camps to another area for a further two weeks of prospecting. He did not find anything out of the ordinary in the new area.

Apparently I am the second person he confided in since 1968.

NOTE:

All of what I am relaying to you is from memory based on information given to me by Alex and letters sent to me by Alex, there is probably more that I do not remember or misunderstood. To the best of my knowledge the above is accurate.

↑FIGURE 3↑

Please see Figure 4 for further details

For an enlargement of Figure 3, click HERE.

The leaves surrounding the water (A to E) and (E to C) are about 1/4" thick x 4" wide and about 12" tall, the leaves going from D to E are the same but 18" tall. The leaves are growing together very tightly and have a waxy feel to them. The leaves seem to be holding back the water, although this does not explain why the water is on a slant.

A to B = is about 40 feet
B to C = is about 40 feet
B to D = is about 7 feet
D to E = is about 60 feet

↑FIGURE 4↑

RETURN TO REPORTS

Skip to main content

Open menu

r/aliens

Search in r/aliens

Log In

Expand user menu

r/aliens icon

Go to aliens

r/aliens

•

1y ago

ThaerHwity

So the 4chan leak is real ?

Things are getting close to what he said way back RIP

Edit : post

1.5K

•

576

Comments Section

AutoModerator

MOD

•

1y ago

SparkehWhaaaaat

•

1y ago

"Q" started as a guy with "inside knowledge" and it was just somebody making shit up. It was also posted on 4chan. Maybe this needs to be read with a literal truckload of salt.

85

15 more replies

u/restecpa88 avatar

restecpa88

•

1y ago

Lue is the 4chan leaker 😂

84

2 more replies

Elicsan

•

1y ago

The only thing that bothers me is, that he exposes too much information about himself.

- Age (?)
- 5.8 height
- stopped about 2 years ago
- married
- in Treatment for liver cancer
- job description

It would take less than a day for someone in the government to find out who he is.

81 u/marwandaou avatar marwandaou

•

1y ago

IF any of this is real I would imagine he purposely gave out the wrong info and repeated it such as the cancer and stopping working there 2 years ago

51

2 more replies

10 more replies

SkywardEL

•

1y ago

Joe Rogan #2194 - Luiz Elizondo (ex head of the UAP program at the pentagon)

I think he was alluding to this leak being real in this episode, but clearly it's classified.

When he spoke about a UAP deep underwater the size of an oil rig traveling at 400knots, I think he was talking about one of these bases.

656 u/Landr3w avatar

Landr3w

•

1y ago

Whenever I read the 4chan whistleblower underwater base story I always imagine either Lou or Grusch sitting at the keyboard on 4chan lol.

393

Claim_Alternative

•

1y ago

Imagine Lou and Grusch unknowingly calling each other glowies and f-slurs lmao

28

Used_Soda

•

1y ago

If one of them it would have to be Grusch. Lou maintains he is still religious.

111

105 more replies

9 more replies

10 more replies

u/xiacexi avatar xiacexi

•

1y ago

What makes it real? All you did was link a 4chan post

218 u/lemonylol avatar lemonylol

•

1y ago

I first read this post like just after the Congressional hearing. I don't know any new information that has confirmed anything in this post that has come out since.

41

10 more replies

31 more replies

Adventurous-Sky9359

•

1y ago

How can I read this without all the ads

193

GSVSleeperService

•

1y ago

<https://imgur.com/a/4chan-whistleblower-NXjWQaN>

287

[deleted]

•

1y ago

5 more replies

u/ThatDudeFromFinland avatar

ThatDudeFromFinland

•

1y ago

Here are all the links without so many ads:

Reddit thread:

https://www.reddit.com/r/aliens/comments/13gjlo4/4chan_whistleblowers_all_answers_to_this_day/

Answers only: <https://imgur.com/a/NXjWQaN>

Full posts:

Part 1: <https://archive.4plebs.org/x/thread/34629564/>

Part 2: <https://archive.4plebs.org/x/thread/34704869/>

Possible update: <https://imgur.com/a/78XW4gA>

Answers on PDF:

https://drive.google.com/file/d/10ya32kauND3CckQ_llmiUI3xev-8ahN-/view?usp=drivesdk

128

1 more reply

[deleted]

•

1y ago

Disclosure ain't cheap, yo

86

5 more replies

FupaLowd

•

1y ago

This guys has cancer and is dying. In his posts he mentions disinformation being fed to the public and I doubt that the higher up's haven't given disinformation to their own subordinates because the alternative is not good operational security. I highly doubt they would just give a lower subordinate the full picture and let a loose end run their mouth like that. I think this is at best half true.

36

2 more replies

[deleted]

•

1y ago

Dive to the bottom of the ocean and let us know!

84

15 more replies

u/kjs420 avatar

kjs420

•

1y ago

After reading half the comments, I completely forgot the topic....

11

[deleted]

•

1y ago

this website gave me cancer

36

1 more reply

u/JackC1126 avatar

JackC1126

•

1y ago

Elaborate?

64

u/rectifiedmix avatar

rectifiedmix

•

1y ago

4chan guy says there's an alien base in the Atlantic Ocean. Danny Sheehan says there's an alien base in the Pacific Ocean. Similar but not the same.

123 u/upf50shirt avatar

upf50shirt

•

1y ago

Also, I believe the 4chan whistleblower indicated that they were only assigned to monitor the activity of the base in the Atlantic and acknowledged that their could be other underwater bases elsewhere.

70

6 more replies
deadxguero

•

1y ago

I'm like 90% sure in the 4 Chan post he alludes that there are other bases around the world but he only interacted with the program when regarding the Atlantic Ocean one

52

SpicynSavvy

•

1y ago

Leaker also claims there are talks of more underwater bases than the one he worked on in the Atlantic. Also Shellenberger's whistleblower claims the Navy plays a major role in crash recovery.

16

3 more replies

25 more replies

1 more reply

nichnotnick

•

1y ago

Seems legit: source - trust me broh

19

NYCgypsy

•

1y ago

My takeaway is always the same. UFOs are real. Every government agency and military branch knows of their existence. every major world power knows about them. It's an arms race to utilize the phenomenon against everyday people across the world.

9

LP_Link

•

1y ago

Yes, they can't hold the truth anymore. Disclosure is getting faster.

52

[deleted]

•

1y ago

Lets also keep in mind possible blue beam fake invasion type scenario as well.

11

SnooSongs8951

•

1y ago

And when it finally happened, lots of people will have to say sorry and lots of victim's names should be said, discussed and honored.

25

7 more replies

19 more replies

[deleted]

•

1y ago

This is wild and my first time seeing it.

6

Gonzale1978

•

1y ago

I read somewhere that there was an alien base near Puerto Rico. But in the north near the trench.

9

Junior-Bookkeeper218

•

1y ago

I'm interested in the Chinese mining laser technology. I wonder if there is any available information on recent mining advancements in China.

He also states the mobile construction unit is "easy to spot" so perhaps there must be some kind of photo of this thing somewhere.

I really want some kind of physical evidence its driving me nuts wondering about the legitimacy of these claims

5 medieval-kenny

•

1y ago

If this is true, is simply impossible to prove, we must start taking it as an axiom, there exist this mobile factory somewhere in the ocean, we must think of why, when, what instead of ifs

8 u/reddit_is_geh avatar

reddit_is_geh

•

1y ago

The leak was just a collection of common UFO lore... Dunno why you guys put so much credit towards it.

17

3 more replies

View more comments

More posts you may like

found a supposed leak going around on 4chan (SPOILERS?)

r/Pikmin icon

r/Pikmin

•

3y ago

SPOILER

found a supposed leak going around on 4chan (SPOILERS?)

r/Pikmin - found a supposed leak going around on 4chan (SPOILERS?)

173 upvotes · 46 comments

Remember the 4chan leak?

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

4y ago

Remember the 4chan leak?

r/aliens - Remember the 4chan leak?

348 upvotes · 301 comments

Reminder: The 4chan leaks were confirmed fakers - it is looking VERY likely they had access to press info and made up the rest

r/Mortalkombatleaks icon

r/Mortalkombatleaks

•

2y ago

Reminder: The 4chan leaks were confirmed fakers - it is looking VERY likely they had access to press info and made up the rest

110 upvotes · 33 comments

It's amazing how a short 4chan post from an anonymous user spawn something that would become so big.

r/SCP icon

r/SCP

•

2y ago

It's amazing how a short 4chan post from an anonymous user spawn something that would become so big.

r/SCP - It's amazing how a short 4chan post from an anonymous user spawn something that would become so big.

1.6K upvotes · 77 comments

Revisiting the 4chan UFO "Whistleblower" Thread (Archived)

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

12d ago

Revisiting the 4chan UFO "Whistleblower" Thread (Archived)

215 upvotes · 44 comments

Has the 4chan leaker been proven wrong about anything they mentioned?

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

2y ago

Has the 4chan leaker been proven wrong about anything they mentioned?

373 upvotes · 273 comments

I found It on 4chan, I hope this is fake because It would be the worst case scenario.

r/PokeLeaks icon

r/PokeLeaks

•

2y ago

I found It on 4chan, I hope this is fake because It would be the worst case scenario.

r/PokeLeaks - I found It on 4chan, I hope this is fake because It would be the worst case scenario.

999 upvotes · 336 comments

How does this community feel about the "4chan whistleblower" now that some time has passed.

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

1y ago

How does this community feel about the "4chan whistleblower" now that some time has passed.

r/aliens - How does this community feel about the "4chan whistleblower" now that some time has passed.

imgur

989 upvotes · 375 comments

4chan hates tattoos

r/4chan icon

r/4chan

•

7mo ago

4chan hates tattoos

r/4chan - 4chan hates tattoos

4

972 upvotes · 291 comments

Final Post: Video Evidence and the 4Chan UFO Leak

r/ufo icon

r/ufo

•

1y ago

Final Post: Video Evidence and the 4Chan UFO Leak

1.8K upvotes · 533 comments

[serious]Any first hand witnesses to the original 4chan alien?

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

4mo ago

[serious]Any first hand witnesses to the original 4chan alien?

r/aliens - [serious]Any first hand witnesses to the original 4chan alien?

447 upvotes · 302 comments

(Serious) Is this the infamous "4Chan Alien"?

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

2mo ago

(Serious) Is this the infamous "4Chan Alien"?

r/aliens - (Serious) Is this the infamous "4Chan Alien"?

4

31 comments

4chan whistleblowers all answers to this day

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

3y ago

4chan whistleblowers all answers to this day

r/aliens - 4chan whistleblowers all answers to this day

4.7K upvotes · 1.8K comments

Sounds alot like what the 4chan leaker mentioned - see statement

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

1y ago

Sounds alot like what the 4chan leaker mentioned - see statement

r/UFOs - Sounds alot like what the 4chan leaker mentioned - see statement

1.4K upvotes · 373 comments

4chan leaker references hammers

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

2mo ago

4chan leaker references hammers

r/aliens - 4chan leaker references hammers

2.5K upvotes · 253 comments

Anyone seen the newest 4chan whistleblower post about the huge facility in the ocean?

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

7mo ago

Anyone seen the newest 4chan whistleblower post about the huge facility in the ocean?

702 upvotes · 355 comments

4chan hacked. Hacker reopens /qa/ and leaks all admins emails

r/4chan icon

r/4chan

•

9mo ago
4chan hacked. Hacker reopens /qa/ and leaks all admins emails r/4chan - 4chan hacked. Hacker reopens /qa/ and leaks all admins emails
imgur
3.7K upvotes · 732 comments
EU disclosure 4chan leaker is still live and answering questions
r/ufo icon
r/ufo
•

7mo ago
EU disclosure 4chan leaker is still live and answering questions
r/ufo - EU disclosure 4chan leaker is still live and answering questions
3
183 upvotes · 132 comments
Investigation on the 4chan alien (continued)
r/aliens icon
r/aliens
•

4mo ago
Investigation on the 4chan alien (continued)
r/aliens - Investigation on the 4chan alien (continued)
4
15 comments
What's Going on with 4chan being hacked and going down?
r/OutOfTheLoop icon
r/OutOfTheLoop
•

9mo ago
What's Going on with 4chan being hacked and going down?
2.5K upvotes · 393 comments
I find this part of the 4chan whistleblower post interesting.
r/aliens icon
r/aliens
•

1y ago
I find this part of the 4chan whistleblower post interesting.
r/aliens - I find this part of the 4chan whistleblower post interesting.
844 upvotes · 172 comments
Deep Dive on Potential Recent Leak from 4chan.
r/UFOB icon
r/UFOB
•

8mo ago
Deep Dive on Potential Recent Leak from 4chan.
356 upvotes · 207 comments
4Chan UFO Thread
r/aliens icon
r/aliens
•

1y ago
4Chan UFO Thread
696 upvotes · 245 comments
4 Chan leak screen caps
r/aliens icon
r/aliens
•

1y ago
4 Chan leak screen caps
r/aliens - 4 Chan leak screen caps
9
2.7K upvotes · 431 comments
4chan Alien, more pictures found
r/aliens icon
r/aliens

•

4mo ago

4chan Alien, more pictures found

r/aliens - 4chan Alien, more pictures found

4

57 comments

View Post in

简体中文

Top Posts

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of October 23, 2024

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of October 2024

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of 2024

Reddit Rules

Privacy Policy

User Agreement

Your Privacy Choices

Accessibility

Reddit, Inc. © 2025. All rights reserved. Skip to main content

4chan whistleblowers all answers to this day : r/aliens

Open menu

r/aliens

Search in r/aliens

Log In

Expand user menu

r/aliens icon

Go to aliens

r/aliens

•

3y ago

ThatDudeFromFinland

4chan whistleblowers all answers to this day

Discussion

emoji:table:

r/aliens - 4chan whistleblowers all answers to this day

For whatever reason this was removed from r/UFOs, but here you can find all the answers from the alleged 4chan whistleblower.

Answers only: <https://imgur.com/a/NXjWQaN>

Full posts:

Part 1: <https://archive.4plebs.org/x/thread/34629564/>

Part 2: <https://boards.4channel.org/x/thread/34704869/>

Archived post. New comments cannot be posted and votes cannot be cast.

Upvote

4.7K

Downvote

1.8K

Go to comments

Share
Sort by:

Best

Search Comments
Expand comment search
Comments Section
Wit404

•

3y ago

Thank you. Was trying to read through this the other night and was having a hell of a time picking out his answers. I'm not /b/tarded enough for 4chan's lack of nested threads.

Upvote
258

Downvote

u/ThatDudeFromFinland avatar
ThatDudeFromFinland
OP

•

3y ago

Thank you, glad if this helps anyone. It was quite the interesting ordeal to browse through all the 4chan shit in between... Think I got dumber every minute.

Upvote
186

Downvote

22 more replies

8 more replies
raresaturn

•

3y ago

If true this is kind of terrifying. Aliens embedded on Earth doing exactly as they please, including taking people . If this became confirmed public knowledge, people would demand we remove them.. and that does not sound like a good idea according to this guy. I kind of hope it's all bullshit

Upvote
198

Downvote

[deleted]

•

3y ago

It certainly legitimises the need for secrecy.

Upvote
78

Downvote

[deleted]

•

3y ago

Ton86

•

3y ago

If true, the government will never disclose for this reason alone.

Upvote

55

Downvote

25 more replies

pluvulo17

•

3y ago

This story puts a lot of pieces together in a way that is believable. I read the entire thing.

Upvote

179

Downvote

u/ThatDudeFromFinland avatar

ThatDudeFromFinland

OP

•

3y ago

It's a really compelling and convincing story!

Upvote

66

Downvote

14 more replies

2 more replies

PositiveMacaroon5067

•

3y ago

My fucking hair is standing up on end. That was the coolest shit I've read all year. I'm all in.

Upvote

148

Downvote

3 more replies

wickedsunflowers

•

3y ago

Fact or Fiction; regardless... it's definitely entertaining 🏠

Upvote

1.2K

Downvote

[deleted]

•

3y ago

Sums up how I feel about UFOs and aliens in general.

Upvote

377

Downvote

u/The_Determinator avatar

The_Determinator

•

3y ago

I came for the facts but I'm staying for the fiction tbh. If I can't get real answers I might as well get entertainment.

Upvote

261

Downvote

11 more replies

5 more replies

jedi-son

•

3y ago

Someone tweet at Loue Elizondo

What comes to mind when you hear the phrase 'mobile construction facility'?

It's interesting because pilots described seeing something on the surface of the water that disappeared as the tic tacs were seen.

Upvote

235

Downvote

MoistySquancher

•

3y ago

Look up Raymon Fowler's interview with "In Times Past 1987" also look up the USS Trepang incident. Lends a lot of credence to what is being said here.

Upvote

102

Downvote

32 more replies

12 more replies

17 more replies

NottaGoon

•

3y ago

Read all of it twice.

Pros

His narrative fits with extreme compartmentalization that the gov has operated under since the atom bomb dev.

His answers overlap and reinforce gov footage over the Atlantic and Pilot testimony of seeing these things daily.

Aligns with video in Puerto Rico of UAP diving below water.

Never claims fantastic things that would exist outside of strict compartment structure of gov.

Makes me believe there are other construction craft off coast of Cali where Favours encountered the tic tac.

There have been a long history of Trans medium craft around SF CA.

Possibly gives context to a faction and that there are others.

This could be the most plausible and the one that shapes my worldview of motivations / context around a real unexplained phenomenon.

Negatives

I would reveal everything including my name and program on my deathbed. Maybe he plans to do this and this is the prelude to personal reveal.

Total trust me post with nothing to back up his story.

Nothing to try and verify.

My outtake is that this is plausible. An account I will consider and remember going forward. It could help us ask better questions.

Upvote

746

Downvote

LookAtMeImAName

•

3y ago

He does mention at one point that he has a black box that someone is supposedly supposed to unlock and post to the board when dies. Maybe that will contain his name and the program? Just thought I'd mention it. Super entertaining read regardless - I live for this shit!

Upvote
203

Downvote

u/Zorgas-Borgas avatar
Zorgas-Borgas

•
3y ago
Big reveal, he'll pass on July 18.

Upvote
92

Downvote

9 more replies
u/HasaDiga-Eebowai avatar
HasaDiga-Eebowai

•
3y ago
The fact that he mentions this box that is to be opened after his death is what got me questioning his motives for posting now.

Why go on 4chan and argue with people calling him out and insulting him because he can only give lame vague answers due to secrecy?

If this box was a massive move towards 'the truth' his name will go down in the history books and he will have gained respect and credibility albeit posthumously.

Now he is risking that in his last days to argue with annons?

Upvote
54

Downvote

18 more replies

3 more replies

134 more replies
u/Eastern_Witness7048 avatar
Eastern_Witness7048

•
3y ago
I like the idea that the Bermuda triangle is an alien ship defending itself.

Upvote
167

Downvote

13 more replies

u/ThatDudeFromFinland avatar

ThatDudeFromFinland

OP

•

3y ago

•

Edited 3y ago

Answers only: <https://imgur.com/a/NXjWQaN>

Full posts:

Part 1: <https://archive.4plebs.org/x/thread/34629564/>

Part 2: <https://archive.4plebs.org/x/thread/34704869/>

Edit: Updated Part 2 link

Edit edit:

Link to all answers in PDF format:

https://drive.google.com/file/d/10ya32kauND3CcKQ_llmiUI3xev-8ahN-/view?usp=drivesdk

Upvote

296

Downvote

u/ThatDudeFromFinland avatar

ThatDudeFromFinland

OP

•

3y ago

If you read all the answers, do any new questions come to mind that should be asked from him? Give suggestions below, and I'll ask them if he makes a comeback!

Upvote

74

Downvote

[deleted]

•

3y ago

Is the underwater "factory" -- which OP claims is in the Bermuda Triangle -- and its defenses the reason why so many disappearances occur in that geography?

Upvote

70

Downvote

33 more replies

136 more replies

30 more replies
u/SaturnPaul avatar
SaturnPaul

•

3y ago

If nothing else, this was an interesting read. The idea that these beings are hiding and keeping us from destroying the planet until they all arrive is interesting. And honestly, plausible since they don't appear to want to be seen. Especially in light of the recent testimony that nuclear weapons were shut off by unknown forces.

Upvote
212

Downvote

26 more replies
Onetruth69

•

3y ago

The ocean part is very interesting because where else would you store such huge ships and maybe water plays a role

Upvote
57

Downvote

6 more replies
Slipstick_hog

•

3y ago

Give me some idea of Cmd Fravors sighting. What was that big thing in the water the Tictac interacted with. And at least I have no reason to not trust Fravor.

Upvote
54

Downvote

1 more reply
More posts you may like
Revisiting the 4chan UFO "Whistleblower" Thread (Archived)
r.aliens icon
r.aliens

•

12d ago

Revisiting the 4chan UFO "Whistleblower" Thread (Archived)

215 upvotes · 44 comments

How does this community feel about the "4chan whistleblower" now that some time has passed.

r.aliens icon
r.aliens

•

1y ago

How does this community feel about the "4chan whistleblower" now that some time has passed.

r/aliens - How does this community feel about the "4chan whistleblower" now that some time has passed.

imgur

989 upvotes · 375 comments

Anyone seen the newest 4chan whistleblower post about the huge facility in the ocean?

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

7mo ago

Anyone seen the newest 4chan whistleblower post about the huge facility in the ocean?

702 upvotes · 355 comments

Between Grousch, the 4chan whistleblower, and the microbiologist from yesterday... we have been eating pretty good lately. Please see inside for all the links:

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

3y ago

Between Grousch, the 4chan whistleblower, and the microbiologist from yesterday... we have been eating pretty good lately. Please see inside for all the links:

1.1K upvotes · 264 comments

I find this part of the 4chan whistleblower post interesting.

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

1y ago

I find this part of the 4chan whistleblower post interesting.

r/aliens - I find this part of the 4chan whistleblower post interesting.

844 upvotes · 172 comments

I found It on 4chan, I hope this is fake because It would be the worst case scenario.

r/PokeLeaks icon

r/PokeLeaks

•

2y ago

I found It on 4chan, I hope this is fake because It would be the worst case scenario.

r/PokeLeaks - I found It on 4chan, I hope this is fake because It would be the worst case scenario.

999 upvotes · 336 comments

So it turns out that the 4chan leak was all fake

r/deadbydaylight icon

r/deadbydaylight

•

3y ago

So it turns out that the 4chan leak was all fake

r/deadbydaylight - So it turns out that the 4chan leak was all fake

35 upvotes · 9 comments

The 4chan whistleblower

r/ufo icon

r/ufo

•

2mo ago

The 4chan whistleblower

r/ufo - The 4chan whistleblower

youtu

4 upvotes · 6 comments

[serious]Any first hand witnesses to the original 4chan alien?

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

4mo ago

[serious]Any first hand witnesses to the original 4chan alien?

r/aliens - [serious]Any first hand witnesses to the original 4chan alien?

447 upvotes · 302 comments

Matthew Brown confirms a statement by the 4chan underwater base whistleblower

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

8mo ago

Matthew Brown confirms a statement by the 4chan underwater base whistleblower

966 upvotes · 174 comments

Investigation on the 4chan alien (continued)

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

4mo ago

Investigation on the 4chan alien (continued)

r/aliens - Investigation on the 4chan alien (continued)

4

15 comments

Google Search has removed my 4Chan Whistleblower (Alien Zoo) article

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

9mo ago

Google Search has removed my 4Chan Whistleblower (Alien Zoo) article

r/aliens - Google Search has removed my 4Chan Whistleblower (Alien Zoo) article

312 upvotes · 28 comments

Key Points from the Recent 4chan Whistleblower Thread

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

7mo ago

Key Points from the Recent 4chan Whistleblower Thread

1.1K upvotes · 607 comments

So the 4chan leak is real ?

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

1y ago

So the 4chan leak is real ?

1.5K upvotes · 576 comments

Yemen UAP Footage Shows "Hammer" Objects? Was The 4chan Whistleblower Right All Along?

r/HighStrangeness icon

r/HighStrangeness

•

4mo ago

Yemen UAP Footage Shows "Hammer" Objects? Was The 4chan Whistleblower Right All Along?

262 upvotes · 47 comments

4chan Whistleblower's Last Message

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

3y ago

4chan Whistleblower's Last Message

576 upvotes · 375 comments

Thoughts on Today's Congressional UFO/UAP "Whistleblower"?

r/skeptic icon

r/skeptic

•

2y ago

Thoughts on Today's Congressional UFO/UAP "Whistleblower"?

119 upvotes · 384 comments

Why I find the 4chan posts more interesting than official disclosure

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

7mo ago

Why I find the 4chan posts more interesting than official disclosure

579 upvotes · 189 comments

Revisiting the 4chan UFO "Whistleblower" Thread (Archived)

r/HighStrangeness icon

r/HighStrangeness

•

12d ago

Revisiting the 4chan UFO "Whistleblower" Thread (Archived)

156 upvotes · 41 comments

Sounds alot like what the 4chan leaker mentioned - see statement

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

1y ago

Sounds alot like what the 4chan leaker mentioned - see statement

r/UFOs - Sounds alot like what the 4chan leaker mentioned - see statement

1.4K upvotes · 373 comments

A couple of days ago there was a highly esoteric supposed leak on 4chan detailing human operations in space, as well as new information about NHI - it went completely unnoticed in this sub.

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

2y ago

A couple of days ago there was a highly esoteric supposed leak on 4chan detailing human operations in space, as well as new information about NHI - it went completely unnoticed in this sub.

229 upvotes · 182 comments

Final Post: Video Evidence and the 4Chan UFO Leak

r/ufo icon

r/ufo

•

1y ago

Final Post: Video Evidence and the 4Chan UFO Leak

1.8K upvotes · 533 comments

4Chan UFO Thread

r/aliens icon

r/aliens

•

1y ago

4Chan UFO Thread

696 upvotes · 245 comments

4chan UFO whistleblower Imgur link

r/HighStrangeness icon

r/HighStrangeness

•

3y ago

4chan UFO whistleblower Imgur link

766 upvotes · 332 comments

Why do all these "whistleblowers" lie about alien-government conspiracies?

r/skeptic icon

r/skeptic

•

3y ago

Why do all these "whistleblowers" lie about alien-government conspiracies?

109 upvotes · 136 comments

View Post in

Tiếng Việt

Русский
हिन्दी

简体中文

日本語

Français

Top Posts

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of May 13, 2023

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of May 2023

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of 2023

Reddit Rules

Privacy Policy

User Agreement

Your Privacy Choices

Accessibility

Reddit, Inc. © 2025. All rights reserved. Skip to main content

Open menu

r/UFOs

Search in r/UFOs

Log In

Expand user menu

r/UFOs icon

Go to UFOs

r/UFOs

•

3y ago

Skeptechology

Frequently Asked Questions: Debunker Edition

Compilation

If you don't believe in UFOs then why are you here? I don't go into [Insert subreddit] to argue with them.

First of all, UFO stand for unidentified flying object. I don't believe there is a single person who doesn't believe there are objects in the sky we have yet to identify. We skeptics are here to unbiasedly follow the evidence and identify UFOs regardless of if it leads to ordinary or extraordinary answers. We are a much needed force in a world full of mis/disinformation.

Fighter pilots and other trained observers see UFOs all the time, do you know more than they do?

Fighter Pilots and other so called trained observers are susceptible to tricks of perception just like anyone else.

But how about sightings involving multiple witnesses? Multiple witnesses can't be wrong.

Yes, they can. UFO related examples below.

<http://www.jamesoberg.com/ufo/fireball.pdf>

People are convicted based on witness testimony. Do you believe the courts are wrong?

Witness testimony is problematic even in the courtroom.

Do you believe all the people who claim to have witnessed UFOs are crazy or lying?

UFO sightings happen mostly due to ignorance and tricks of perception. I reckon very few UFO sightings are due to crazy people or liars.

If an advanced alien civilization millions of years more advanced than us wanted to remain hidden then why would you expect them to leave behind proof?

And why should I believe an advanced civilization is visiting us when there is no proof or evidence?

Why do you argue against the military and the US Government, do you think you know better than them?

Don't believers argue against the US government all the time when they accuse them of coverup and conspiracy?

To answer your question, no Government has proven extraordinary UFOs (EUFOS) exist. Period.

What in your opinion, qualifies as proof?

Something tangible and verifiable. Ya know... something more than just the same old tall tales we've been hearing for decades.

Who said anything about aliens?

This is a UFO subreddit dude, people here largely believe UFOs are alien visitors.

You're just scared of aliens, that's why you don't believe, isn't it?

Not scared at all, as a matter of fact I'm a big fan of sci-fi and LOVE the idea of alien visitation but sadly there is ZERO evidence and or proof of alien visitation. Let me know you find any.

How much are they paying you?

I wish someone paid me to debunk nonsense... but sadly debunking is largely a thankless job that is met with vitriol from fervent believers... nonetheless it must be done for the good of human knowledge.

Debunking is a biased word, don't you know?

Believers and skeptics both engage in debunking all the time, it's not exclusive to any system or set of beliefs. Nothing biased about it.

Debunking is simply exposing the falseness of an idea. That's it. Period.

Upvote

1

Downvote

73

Go to comments

Share

Share your thoughts

Sort by:

Best

Search Comments
Expand comment search
Comments Section
IndridColdwave

•

3y ago

Yes there is zero hard evidence of "alien visitation".

However, there exists ample hard evidence (such as radar data backed by visual confirmation) that objects are maneuvering in our airspace that outperform our best aircraft in many respects. There also exists ample hard evidence that the government has held a very serious interest in this subject while maintaining a public campaign of lies and ridicule for many decades.

I respect a "skeptic" who acknowledges what we know and what we don't know. However, in my experience very few actually do, they still treat this subject as though there's a genuine possibility that it may all be nothing but misidentifications and hoaxes, which is absurd. Though the idea of "visiting aliens" has absolutely NOT been proven, debunkers want to keep this subject in basic arithmetic when it has moved beyond. Some premises have been proven beyond a reasonable doubt, namely the two mentioned above.

u/Dave9170 avatar

Dave9170

•

3y ago

•

Edited 3y ago

I don't mind skeptics or debunkers. The UFO field is rife with misidentifications and hoaxes, and we need people with rational and critical thinking skills to wade through all that noise. So I applaud Mick West and Metabunk for getting a lot of things right like Starlink for "race track UFOs," the Aguadilla" balloon, all the crap put out by Skinwalker ranch, Corbell and Knapp, etc. But there's a small percentage of cases that aren't so readily debunked. Some may fit into the category of black military projects, others may not. But the skeptics also have a tendency to force-fit explanations for the more hard to dismiss cases like West and what four pilots observed during the Nimitz case. Oberg certainly has a tendency to force-fit his fireball explanation when I described to him a meteor followed by a reflective metallic vehicle gliding through the atmosphere, followed by lights. What a lot of skeptics see unfortunately, especially if you visit this sub daily, is a lot of the garbage, all the noise, and the moderators do very little to filter it out. People like Corbell have the biggest microphones, how does he get on all the TV networks, when he drops a shitty UFO video as bad as what gets posted here every day? The UFO field is rife with bad actors, if you conclude from all the garbage that pollutes this subject, it therefore must all be garbage, you've made an unfortunate error.

u/SiriusC avatar

SiriusC

•

3y ago

We skeptics are here to unbiasedly...

"Unbiasly"

1 more reply

u/Olympus___Mons avatar

Olympus___Mons

•

3y ago

We skeptics are here to unbiasedly follow the evidence and identify UFOs regardless of if it leads to ordinary or extraordinary answers.

<https://i.imgur.com/Lgbuykt.jpg> <<<how does a shape fly at mach 2 with no discernable means of propulsion?

Please give me the unbiased answer from a skeptic.

Banjoplaya420

•

3y ago

I do agree that this phenomena needs skeptics that look into and provide a link or some kind of proof. But I hate when everyone is really interested in a video or photo and someone seems to always say. " I think that's been debunked"? To start with you can't just think. Then it seems everyone just goes with that without any proof. I sometimes actually believe these are disinformation agents.

u/DragonfruitOdd1989 avatar

DragonfruitOdd1989

•

3y ago

More importantly since 1994 and that was because of the cutoff date for Dr. Kirkpatrick he's mandated to go to 1945.

GortKlaatu_

•

3y ago

We have lots of shapes of aircraft, missiles, rockets, etc that can go mach 2+

An out of focus IR image of a jet can appear spherical. Keep in mind where these are being captured near military training areas. Also keep in mind that these are the reported velocities and not, necessarily, actual velocities.

Also the slide mentions atypical orientation which can mean an aircraft at a weird angle such that the observer couldn't tell what it actually was.

The 2022 UAP report says that over half exhibited unremarkable characteristics and the largest category were balloon and balloon-like entities. This backs up what's listed in the slide.

Don't shoot the messenger, you asked and I've answered. Many people believe that slide indicates that spheres are going Mach 2, but that's not really what the slide is saying.

Now, if you're looking for a confirmed sphere that was actually going Mach 2 and maneuvering, I'd also love to see such evidence as well. That would be amazing!

u/Olympus___Mons avatar

Olympus___Mons

•

3y ago

We have lots of shapes of aircraft, missiles, rockets, etc that can go mach 2+

Yes those all have discernable means of propulsion.

keep in mind that these are the reported velocities and not, necessarily, actual velocities.

Where is your evidence for this claim? But sure speeds could be faster or slower. Either way how does a shape fly with no discernable means of propulsion?

Also the slide mentions atypical orientation which can mean an aircraft at a weird angle such that the observer couldn't tell what it actually was.

Correct UAPs can fly atypically.

The 2022 UAP report says that over half exhibited unremarkable characteristics and the largest category were balloon and balloon-like entities. This backs up what's listed in the slide.

Initial characterization does not mean positively resolved or unidentified. This initial characterization better enables AARO and ODNI to efficiently and effectively leverage resources against the remaining 171 uncharacterized and unattributed UAP reports. Some of these uncharacterized UAP appear to have demonstrated unusual flight characteristics or performance capabilities, and require further analysis. Such as flying at mach 2 with no discernable means of propulsion.

Many people believe that slide indicates that spheres are going Mach 2, but that's not really what the slide is saying.

That's correct there are other shapes to choose from, rectangle, square, oval, tic tac, disk, polygon, cylinder, vector... Tell me how any of these shapes can achieve Mach 2 with no discernable means of propulsion?

Now, if you're looking for a confirmed sphere that was actually going Mach 2 and maneuvering, I'd also love to see such evidence as well. That would be amazing!

Yeah it is amazing that's why I am asking how it is possible. You have yet to show any evidence of sensor malfunctions, which majority of these UAPs are observed with multiple sensors. It's already been stated that the sensors work properly and they are detecting physical objects of various shapes and some of these shapes have reached speeds of Mach 2.

So again, how does a shape achieve Mach 2 with no discernable means of propulsion?

Or even, how does a shape remain stationary at 30,000k feet, with no discernable means of propulsion?

40 more replies

Skeptechology

OP

•

3y ago

Nice Powerpoint slide.

Where is the proof for this claim?

4 more replies

DavidM47

•

3y ago

"If an advanced alien civilization millions of years more advanced than us wanted to remain hidden then why would you expect them to leave behind proof?

And why should I believe an advanced civilization is visiting us when there is no proof or evidence?"

This is the only one that matters—and not surprisingly—the only one you didn't answer.

1 more reply

u/DragonfruitOdd1989 avatar

DragonfruitOdd1989

•

3y ago

What are your thoughts on the following cases confirmed by the following countries or do you limit the topic to just the US?

1976 Tehran Iran

Colares, Brazil incident

La Joya Incident in Peru

Official UFO Night in Brazil

All of these cases have been confirmed by Governments.

<https://www.yahoo.com/news/operation-saucer-the-official-search-for-ufos-155317526.html>

<https://www.gov.br/en/government-of-brazil/latest-news/2022/official-ufo-night-in-brazil>

<https://www.news.com.au/finance/work/leaders/the-only-man-to-ever-shoot-at-a-ufo/news-story/8fdf6eddb5363fb5823f1625a7713f5>

https://www.nsa.gov/portals/75/documents/news-features/decclassified-documents/ufo/us_gov_iran_case.pdf

[deleted]

•

3y ago

u/Fit-Baker9029 avatar

Fit-Baker9029

•

3y ago

•

Edited 2y ago

Well, just for sport, let me throw down this gauntlet: Download this file: <https://history.nasa.gov/alsj/a17/AS17-147-22470HR.jpg> . (Confirm at <https://www.lpi.usra.edu/resources/apollo/frame/?AS17-147-22470>, but with poor resolution.) Note that both URLs are in secure https: protocol, the same as used by banks and mafias. Open the NASA photo in a video editor like Photoshop or GIMP. Raise the gamma to 2.8 or 3. Navigate to a point with coordinates $x = 92.98\%$ of picture width; $y = 73.72\%$ of picture height. Scale the image so as to zoom in. Vary the gamma to get a sense of the shape of the very dim background object, nearly hidden in the digitization noise. Read up on the camera and film used at <https://www.hasselblad.com/about/history/hasselblad-in-space/>, where you can also see what genuine lens flares look like. Here's what you should see in the enlarged and gamma-adjusted moon photo: https://drive.google.com/file/d/1nS2q-ea0DfLPH40_qlBL0mydE_kLjLB4/view . Note that JPEG compresses into squares, not triangles.

Naive esoterics will think that the three lights against the barely distinguishable triangular object behind them are one of the black triangle UFOs written about by nitwits like David Marler (An Estimate of the Situation). However, as sharp skeptics will be quick to note, it may well be that:

The command module (see it in space at <https://qph.cf2.quoracdn.net/main-qimg-4df645e70170b5a94ffadf72e4196ac4>) occasionally morphed into a triangle with searchlights, easily mistaken for a mythological "black triangle."

Three supernovas coincidentally appeared together (try looking for other stars).

The moon photo was faked by NASA and USRA as part of a nefarious, deep-state psy-op.

It's three geese carrying a parachute.

Shit happens.

This and the other moon photos have been removed from the NASA site. They're still available on the Wayback Machine, <https://web.archive.org/web/20220822005204/https://www.hq.nasa.gov/alsj/a17/AS17-147-22470HR.jpg>, et al.

u/Fit-Baker9029 avatar
Fit-Baker9029

•

3y ago

By the way, I have two recordings of similar objects passing under the ISS, streamed from the ISS HD Earth Viewing Experiment. You can see a similar recording at <https://drive.google.com/file/d/13gksbmF3-VyWHH7YKthA2WoycDBIYuNk/view?usp=sharing> . Those geese sure get around!

u/james-e-oberg avatar
james-e-oberg

•

3y ago

"What in your opinion, qualifies as proof?"
http://www.jamesoberg.com/1998quest_ufo.html

[deleted]

•

3y ago

Just be glad this isn't like conspiracy and the political whataboutism they deal with minute by minute

u/james-e-oberg avatar
james-e-oberg

•

3y ago

"Fighter pilots and other trained observers see UFOs all the time, do you know more than they do?"

I just think we need to keep in mind that fighter pilots are NOT 'trained observers', they are 'trained SURVIVORS'. They live to retire and get their pensions by interpreting all visual cues in the most hazardous possible form, as embryonic indications of somebody trying to kill you. They 'don't think twice' in such cases, they are better-safe-than-sorry in their immediate instinctive actions. If it turns out the visual cues were NOT dangerous, at worst there is some embarrassment and teasing, but it beats the alternative -- funerals. I've seen recent cases where they got into dogfight mode over visual stimuli hundreds of miles away -- AS THEY SHOULD, if in doubt at all.

Several years ago, I described the 'questionable foundation' of Leslie Kean's book as the naïve and unverified faith in pilot reports. She has insisted the UFOs show intelligent purpose based on their perception of the nature of their witnesses, since they behave differently when seen by military pilots than when seen by civilian pilots [when the more common-sense explanation is that different pilots report observations in terms of what they expect from their own different experience bases]. The data archives she touts as 'unexplainable' pilot sightings [such as the French 'Weinstein Report'] can easily be shown to contain numerous pilot misinterpretations of unrecognized space and missile activity around the world, so who knows how many other prosaic explanations were never found by the 'investigators'? See here:
<https://web.archive.org/web/20190101223008/http://www.nbcnews.com/id/38852385>

u/james-e-oberg avatar
james-e-oberg

•

3y ago

"People are convicted based on witness testimony."

As a rule, the evidence a crime was committed must be solid. THEN the question of exactly who did can use eyewitness testimony.

TinFoilHatDude

•

3y ago

I am going to be very honest here. I don't care if I get downvoted. This place is teeming with pseduo-skeptics operating with a very clear agenda. I'll explain exactly why -

I have written in detail about the general behaviour and modus operandi of these 'skeptics' before and I will share a link to the same here -

https://www.reddit.com/r/UFOs/comments/yrq8c8/skeptics_on_this_sub/

I stand by every word that I have written in the post above.

2) Contrary to the impression that I am probably giving out, I have a lot of appreciation for truly skeptical people. If we have a true skeptic in our midst who is familiar with the developments in this field over the past few years, there is one very specific thing that should be alarming them - Ex-military intelligence community members going on podcasts and dropping some really juicy stuff. We know the kind of stuff that Lue Elizondo, Chris Mellon, Jin Semivan etc have said over the past few years. It is quite staggering.

Now, a true skeptic would be very alarmed at the situation. What we have here is a large group of people online being lead astray by ex-military intelligence community members who are essentially preying upon gullible people who are interested in UFOs. Isn't this exactly what is happening? Zero real evidence has been provided. It is just hours and hours of people blabbering away on wee podcasts talking about time travel, hybridization, impending cataclysm etc. A true skeptic would be alarmed at what is happening.

The world has seen many a bullshit-artist. Especially online. It would be one thing if these people restricted themselves to niche UFO communities and peddled their bullshit to gullible UFO nutjobs. Now, not only are these people selling UFO idiots a bridge, they have also managed to make their way to Congress. Blimey! Isn't this a major issue? How have these people managed to reach Congress and gotten them to pass laws related to UFOs? A true skeptic would be losing sleep over this.

To give you an alternate example, I don't believe in Bigfoot. I don't think Bigfoot exists. All Bigfoot sightings are likely misidentifications. Needless to say, I haven't spent much time researching Bigfoot (at least not recently), but I absolutely respect the right of any individual who spends time on this topic. I will leave them alone. Now, lets's say that a Bigfoot equivalent of Lue E came along who claims that the government has bodies of Bigfoot, it has been studying Bigfoot in secret for a long time etc. I would be shocked. I would first fall prostrate at the feet of Bigfoot believers and beg for forgiveness. My next step would be to ask for evidence. I would ask Lue 'Yeti' Elizondo for evidence. If Yeti Lue went up to Congress and asked them to pass laws to help study Bigfoot in more detail, I'd be calling bullshit. I'd want to see the collected evidence first.

3) There is only one thing that will put this issue to bed - Evidence. Proof. Data. You can call it anything you want. We know the US government has it. They have openly admitted it. Somehow, only us UFO nutjobs want to see the real evidence. We want to see pictures. We want to see videos. We want to see a flying saucer in all its glory. We are getting zilch. Somehow, it doesn't impact the skeptics. Not one bit. What should have happened is that the UFO believers should have been marching to Congress hand-in-hand with the skeptics. The conversation should have been something like this -

UFO believers: See, we told ya! UFOs are real and the government knows all about it. Let's pass laws to get them to reveal the data that they have collected over the decades. Skeptics: We are not convinced that the photos and videos that are publicly available show anything special, but let's get the government to reveal some of the data it has collected over the years so that we can put this issue to bed. After all, a lot of government officials seem to think that some of it could be aliens or other non-human intelligence. It is highly unlikely that this is the case, but we want to see the data too.

This should have been the approach a few years ago. Data. Evidence. Proof. Release it. Only us UFO nutjobs want to see it. We expected it in the two UAP reports. We expected the donkey Kirkpatrick to release something major in the recent hearing. Did we get anything significant? Nada. We got angry and sniped at each other to release the pent up frustration. Did it bother the skeptics that no hard data was released? Ha!

4) Most of you 'skeptics' who infest this space have only one agenda - to disrupt proceedings and to prevent any half-genuine publicly posted video or photo from getting traction. I have seen you berate ordinary people for daring to post a video/photo asking for opinions on whether they have captured a genuine UFO. Many a poster has been bullied out of this sub. These are ordinary people who have never posted here before and don't even believe in UFOs. If you were genuine skeptics, you would be teaming up with UFO believers and trying to get to the bottom of this mystery. What did the Nimitz crew see? Can we see the entire sequence? Can we see some of the older data? Why are some of your ex-intelligence community members talking about hybridization, time travel, impending cataclysm etc? We would be marching hand-in-hand trying to get the answer to these questions.

Since very few of you are even arsed about these important things, one thing is eminently clear - most of you lot are not 'skeptics', you are fucking wankers! Agents of provocation and disruption. You don't want the truth. You are not here for the truth. There! I said it. Go on then. Downvote me!

618smartguy

•

3y ago

You must be a fan of mick west then right? He was my first external exposure to the idea that we should be seriously questioning the motivations of govt for making claims without releasing sufficient or accurate evidence.

TinFoilHatDude

•

3y ago

No. The guy blindly agreed to the suggestion that we cannot get the US government to release classified data. This was on Curt's podcast with Eric Weinstein. I lost a fair bit of respect for him that day.

More posts you may like

Any truth to this?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

6mo ago

Any truth to this?

r/UFOs - Any truth to this?

2.4K upvotes · 770 comments

The 'Research Drones' Explanation Falls Apart Under Scrutiny

r/UFOs icon
r/UFOs

•

1y ago

The 'Research Drones' Explanation Falls Apart Under Scrutiny

855 upvotes · 192 comments

DoE is rumored to have a lot of UFO documents and info. Anyone with an outstanding FOIA request should probably know this.

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

5mo ago

DoE is rumored to have a lot of UFO documents and info. Anyone with an outstanding FOIA request should probably know this.

230 upvotes · 24 comments

Barriers to Disclosure: A summary of military insiders' claims about NHIs

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

12d ago

Barriers to Disclosure: A summary of military insiders' claims about NHIs

156 upvotes · 100 comments

This story is starting to sound true.

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

7mo ago

This story is starting to sound true.

r/UFOs - This story is starting to sound true.

youtu

277 upvotes · 176 comments

Reality Check from last night....

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

3mo ago

Reality Check from last night....

204 upvotes · 137 comments

If every major agency says these objects aren't ours... who exactly are they saying they belong to?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

18d ago

If every major agency says these objects aren't ours... who exactly are they saying they belong to?

87 upvotes · 70 comments

Can we talk about the ethics of having government programs developing tech that is so secretive it can't even be discussed openly in concept?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

4mo ago

Can we talk about the ethics of having government programs developing tech that is so secretive it can't even be discussed openly in concept?

146 upvotes · 88 comments

For Skeptics: You Don't Have to Believe in UFOs to Prepare for Ontological Disruption

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

7d ago

For Skeptics: You Don't Have to Believe in UFOs to Prepare for Ontological Disruption

r/UFOs - For Skeptics: You Don't Have to Believe in UFOs to Prepare for Ontological Disruption
substack

172 upvotes · 87 comments

What is this?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

6d ago

What is this?

r/UFOs - What is this?

2

80 upvotes · 67 comments

Anyone heard of this?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

18d ago

Anyone heard of this?

r/UFOs - Anyone heard of this?

16 upvotes · 40 comments

What is this?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

16d ago

What is this?

r/UFOs - What is this?

117 upvotes · 84 comments

"Whistleblowers Don't Get Permission to Talk": The Truth About DOPSR

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

4mo ago

"Whistleblowers Don't Get Permission to Talk": The Truth About DOPSR

r/UFOs - "Whistleblowers Don't Get Permission to Talk": The Truth About DOPSR

7

173 upvotes · 48 comments

Be generous with new members of this community (post-Age of Disclosure)

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

1mo ago

Be generous with new members of this community (post-Age of Disclosure)

398 upvotes · 54 comments

What is this?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

8d ago

What is this?

r/UFOs - What is this?

74 upvotes · 56 comments

An Exploration into Deep Underground Military Bases and UFO Legacy Programs

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

10mo ago

An Exploration into Deep Underground Military Bases and UFO Legacy Programs

r/UFOs - An Exploration into Deep Underground Military Bases and UFO Legacy Programs

youtu

357 upvotes · 38 comments

What do you think is the most consequential thought provoking aspect about UAP that prevents disclosure?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

21d ago

What do you think is the most consequential thought provoking aspect about UAP that prevents disclosure?

30 upvotes · 127 comments

I Saw Something That Made Me A Believer

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

4mo ago

I Saw Something That Made Me A Believer

231 upvotes · 73 comments

Deep Underground Military Bunkers and 2027

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

3mo ago

Deep Underground Military Bunkers and 2027

67 upvotes · 62 comments

Why and how are unelected Congressional staffers blocking disclosure?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

4mo ago

Why and how are unelected Congressional staffers blocking disclosure?

208 upvotes · 24 comments

What narratives are being pushed?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

21d ago

What narratives are being pushed?

27 comments

Different Groups of Gatekeepers Want Disclosure and Other Groups Don't

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

7mo ago

Different Groups of Gatekeepers Want Disclosure and Other Groups Don't

91 upvotes · 38 comments

Cant figure out what is it?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

23d ago

Cant figure out what is it?

r/UFOs - Cant figure out what is it?

2

145 upvotes · 31 comments

Whistleblowers

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

10d ago

Whistleblowers

35 upvotes · 21 comments

Reasons for Non-Disclosure

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

5mo ago

Reasons for Non-Disclosure

36 upvotes · 106 comments

Top Posts

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of May 26, 2023

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of May 2023

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of 2023

Reddit Rules

Privacy Policy

User Agreement

Your Privacy Choices

Accessibility

Reddit, Inc. © 2025. All rights reserved. Skip to main content

Open menu

r/UFOs

Search in r/UFOs

Log In

Expand user menu

r/UFOs icon

Go to UFOs

r/UFOs

•

3y ago

Skeptechology

Frequently Asked Questions: Debunker Edition

Compilation

If you don't believe in UFOs then why are you here? I don't go into [Insert subreddit] to argue with them.

First of all, UFO stand for unidentified flying object. I don't believe there is a single person who doesn't believe there are objects in the sky we have yet to identify. We skeptics are here to unbiasedly follow the evidence and identify UFOs regardless of if it leads to ordinary or extraordinary answers. We are a much needed force in a world full of mis/disinformation.

Fighter pilots and other trained observers see UFOs all the time, do you know more than they do?

Fighter Pilots and other so called trained observers are susceptible to tricks of perception just like anyone else.

But how about sightings involving multiple witnesses? Multiple witnesses can't be wrong.

Yes, they can. UFO related examples below.

<http://www.jamesoberg.com/ufo/fireball.pdf>

People are convicted based on witness testimony. Do you believe the courts are wrong?

Witness testimony is problematic even in the courtroom.

Do you believe all the people who claim to have witnessed UFOs are crazy or lying?

UFO sightings happen mostly due to ignorance and tricks of perception. I reckon very few UFO sightings are due to crazy people or liars.

If an advanced alien civilization millions of years more advanced than us wanted to remain hidden then why would you expect them to leave behind proof?

And why should I believe an advanced civilization is visiting us when there is no proof or evidence?

Why do you argue against the military and the US Government, do you think you know better than them?

Don't believers argue against the US government all the time when they accuse them of coverup and conspiracy?

To answer your question, no Government has proven extraordinary UFOs (EUFOS) exist. Period.

What in your opinion, qualifies as proof?

Something tangible and verifiable. Ya know... something more than just the same old tall tales we've been hearing for decades.

Who said anything about aliens?

This is a UFO subreddit dude, people here largely believe UFOs are alien visitors.

You're just scared of aliens, that's why you don't believe, isn't it?

Not scared at all, as a matter of fact I'm a big fan of sci-fi and LOVE the idea of alien visitation but sadly there is ZERO evidence and or proof of alien visitation. Let me know you find any.

How much are they paying you?

I wish someone paid me to debunk nonsense... but sadly debunking is largely a thankless job that is met with vitriol from fervent believers... nonetheless it must be done for the good of human knowledge.

Debunking is a biased word, don't you know?

Believers and skeptics both engage in debunking all the time, it's not exclusive to any system or set of beliefs. Nothing biased about it.

Debunking is simply exposing the falseness of an idea. That's it. Period.

Upvote

1

Downvote

73

Go to comments

Share

Share your thoughts

Sort by:

Best

Search Comments

Expand comment search

Comments Section

IndridColdwave

•

3y ago

Yes there is zero hard evidence of "alien visitation".

However, there exists ample hard evidence (such as radar data backed by visual confirmation) that objects are maneuvering in our airspace that outperform our best aircraft in many respects. There also exists ample hard evidence that the government has held a very serious interest in this subject while maintaining a public campaign of lies and ridicule for many decades.

I respect a "skeptic" who acknowledges what we know and what we don't know. However, in my experience very few actually do, they still treat this subject as though there's a genuine possibility that it may all be nothing but misidentifications and hoaxes, which is absurd. Though the idea of "visiting aliens" has absolutely NOT been proven, debunkers want to keep this subject in basic arithmetic when it has moved beyond. Some premises have been proven beyond a reasonable doubt, namely the two mentioned above.

u/Dave9170 avatar

Dave9170

•

3y ago

•

Edited 3y ago

I don't mind skeptics or debunkers. The UFO field is rife with misidentifications and hoaxes, and we need people with rational and critical thinking skills to wade through all that noise. So I applaud Mick West and Metabunk for getting a lot of things right like Starlink for "race track UFOs," the Aguadilla balloon, all the crap put out by Skinwalker ranch, Corbell and Knapp, etc. But there's a small percentage of cases that aren't so readily debunked. Some may fit into the category of black military projects, others may not. But the skeptics also have a tendency to force-fit explanations for the more hard to dismiss cases like West and what four pilots observed during the Nimitz case. Oberg certainly has a tendency to force-fit his fireball explanation when I described to him a meteor followed by a reflective metallic vehicle gliding through the atmosphere, followed by lights. What a lot of skeptics see unfortunately, especially if you visit this sub daily, is a lot of the garbage, all the noise, and the moderators do very little to filter it out. People like Corbell have the biggest microphones, how does he get on all the TV networks, when he drops a shitty UFO video as bad as what gets posted here every day? The UFO field is rife with bad actors, if you conclude from all the garbage that pollutes this subject, it therefore must all be garbage, you've made an unfortunate error.

u/SiriusC avatar

SiriusC

•

3y ago

We skeptics are here to unbiasedly...

"Unbiasly"

1 more reply

u/Olympus___Mons avatar

Olympus___Mons

•

3y ago

We skeptics are here to unbiasedly follow the evidence and identify UFOs regardless of if it leads to ordinary or extraordinary answers.

<https://i.imgur.com/Lgbuykt.jpg> <<<how does a shape fly at mach 2 with no discernable means of propulsion?

Please give me the unbiased answer from a skeptic.

Banjoplaya420

•

3y ago

I do agree that this phenomena needs skeptics that look into and provide a link or some kind of proof. But I hate when everyone is really interested in a video or photo and someone seems to always say. " I think that's been debunked"? To start with you can't just think. Then it seems everyone just goes with that without any proof. I sometimes actually believe these are disinformation agents.

u/DragonfruitOdd1989 avatar

DragonfruitOdd1989

•

3y ago

More importantly since 1994 and that was because of the cutoff date for Dr. Kirkpatrick he's mandated to go to 1945.

GortKlaatu_

•

3y ago

We have lots of shapes of aircraft, missiles, rockets, etc that can go mach 2+

An out of focus IR image of a jet can appear spherical. Keep in mind where these are being captured near military training areas. Also keep in mind that these are the reported velocities and not, necessarily, actual velocities.

Also the slide mentions atypical orientation which can mean an aircraft at a weird angle such that the observer couldn't tell what it actually was.

The 2022 UAP report says that over half exhibited unremarkable characteristics and the largest category were balloon and balloon-like entities. This backs up what's listed in the slide.

Don't shoot the messenger, you asked and I've answered. Many people believe that slide indicates that spheres are going Mach 2, but that's not really what the slide is saying.

Now, if you're looking for a confirmed sphere that was actually going Mach 2 and maneuvering, I'd also love to see such evidence as well. That would be amazing!

u/Olympus___Mons avatar

Olympus___Mons

•

3y ago

We have lots of shapes of aircraft, missiles, rockets, etc that can go mach 2+

Yes those all have discernable means of propulsion.

keep in mind that these are the reported velocities and not, necessarily, actual velocities.

Where is your evidence for this claim? But sure speeds could be faster or slower. Either way how does a shape fly with no discernable means of propulsion?

Also the slide mentions atypical orientation which can mean an aircraft at a weird angle such that the observer couldn't tell what it actually was.

Correct UAPs can fly atypically.

The 2022 UAP report says that over half exhibited unremarkable characteristics and the largest category were balloon and balloon-like entities. This backs up what's listed in the slide.

Initial characterization does not mean positively resolved or unidentified. This initial characterization better enables AARO and ODNI to efficiently and effectively leverage resources against the remaining 171 uncharacterized and unattributed UAP reports. Some of these uncharacterized UAP appear to have demonstrated unusual flight characteristics or performance capabilities, and require further analysis. Such as flying at mach 2 with no discernable means of propulsion.

Many people believe that slide indicates that spheres are going Mach 2, but that's not really what the slide is saying.

That's correct there are other shapes to choose from, rectangle, square, oval, tic tac, disk, polygon, cylinder, vector... Tell me how any of these shapes can achieve Mach 2 with no discernable means of propulsion?

Now, if you're looking for a confirmed sphere that was actually going Mach 2 and maneuvering, I'd also love to see such evidence as well. That would be amazing!

Yeah it is amazing that's why I am asking how it is possible. You have yet to show any evidence of sensor malfunctions, which majority of these UAPs are observed with multiple sensors. It's already been stated that the sensors work properly and they are detecting physical objects of various shapes and some of these shapes have reached speeds of Mach 2.

So again, how does a shape achieve Mach 2 with no discernable means of propulsion?

Or even, how does a shape remain stationary at 30,000k feet, with no discernable means of propulsion?

40 more replies

Skeptechology

OP

•

3y ago

Nice Powerpoint slide.

Where is the proof for this claim?

4 more replies

DavidM47

•

3y ago

"If an advanced alien civilization millions of years more advanced than us wanted to remain hidden then why would you expect them to leave behind proof?

And why should I believe an advanced civilization is visiting us when there is no proof or evidence?"

This is the only one that matters—and not surprisingly—the only one you didn't answer.

1 more reply

u/DragonfruitOdd1989 avatar

DragonfruitOdd1989

•

3y ago

What are your thoughts on the following cases confirmed by the following countries or do you limit the topic to just the US?

1976 Tehran Iran

Colares, Brazil incident

La Joya Incident in Peru

Official UFO Night in Brazil

All of these cases have been confirmed by Governments.

<https://www.yahoo.com/news/operation-saucer-the-official-search-for-ufos-155317526.html>

<https://www.gov.br/en/government-of-brazil/latest-news/2022/official-ufo-night-in-brazil>

<https://www.news.com.au/finance/work/leaders/the-only-man-to-ever-shoot-at-a-ufo/news-story/8fdf6eddb5363fb5823f1625a7713f5>

https://www.nsa.gov/portals/75/documents/news-features/declassified-documents/ufo/us_gov_iran_case.pdf

[deleted]

•

3y ago

u/Fit-Baker9029 avatar

Fit-Baker9029

•

3y ago

•

Edited 2y ago

Well, just for sport, let me throw down this gauntlet: Download this file: <https://history.nasa.gov/alsj/a17/AS17-147-22470HR.jpg> . (Confirm at <https://www.lpi.usra.edu/resources/apollo/frame/?AS17-147-22470>, but with poor resolution.) Note that both URLs are in secure https: protocol, the same as used by banks and mafias. Open the NASA photo in a video editor like Photoshop or GIMP. Raise the gamma to 2.8 or 3. Navigate to a point with coordinates $x = 92.98\%$ of picture width; $y = 73.72\%$ of picture height. Scale the image so as to zoom in. Vary the gamma to get a sense of the shape of the very dim background object, nearly hidden in the digitization noise. Read up on the camera and film used at <https://www.hasselblad.com/about/history/hasselblad-in-space/>, where you can also see what genuine lens flares look like. Here's what you should see in the enlarged and gamma-adjusted moon photo: https://drive.google.com/file/d/1nS2q-ea0DflPH40_qlBL0mydE_kLjLB4/view . Note that JPEG compresses into squares, not triangles.

Naive esoterics will think that the three lights against the barely distinguishable triangular object behind them are one of the black triangle UFOs written about by nitwits like David Marler (An Estimate of the Situation). However, as sharp skeptics will be quick to note, it may well be that:

The command module (see it in space at <https://qph.cf2.quoracdn.net/main-qimg-4df645e70170b5a94ffadf72e4196ac4>) occasionally morphed into a triangle with searchlights, easily mistaken for a mythological "black triangle."

Three supernovas coincidentally appeared together (try looking for other stars).

The moon photo was faked by NASA and USRA as part of a nefarious, deep-state psy-op.

It's three geese carrying a parachute.

Shit happens.

This and the other moon photos have been removed from the NASA site. They're still available on the Wayback Machine, <https://web.archive.org/web/20220822005204/https://www.hq.nasa.gov/alsj/a17/AS17-147-22470HR.jpg>, et al.

u/Fit-Baker9029 avatar
Fit-Baker9029

•

3y ago

By the way, I have two recordings of similar objects passing under the ISS, streamed from the ISS HD Earth Viewing Experiment. You can see a similar recording at <https://drive.google.com/file/d/13gksbmF3-VyWHH7YKthA2WoycDBIYuNk/view?usp=sharing> . Those geese sure get around!

u/james-e-oberg avatar
james-e-oberg

•

3y ago

"What in your opinion, qualifies as proof?"
http://www.jamesoberg.com/1998quest_ufo.html

[deleted]

•

3y ago

Just be glad this isn't like conspiracy and the political whataboutism they deal with minute by minute

u/james-e-oberg avatar
james-e-oberg

•

3y ago

"Fighter pilots and other trained observers see UFOs all the time, do you know more than they do?"

I just think we need to keep in mind that fighter pilots are NOT 'trained observers', they are 'trained SURVIVORS'. They live to retire and get their pensions by interpreting all visual cues in the most hazardous possible form, as embryonic indications of somebody trying to kill you. They 'don't think twice' in such cases, they are better-safe-than-sorry in their immediate instinctive actions. If it turns out the visual cues were NOT dangerous, at worst there is some embarrassment and teasing, but it beats the alternative -- funerals. I've seen recent cases where they got into dogfight mode over visual stimuli hundreds of miles away -- AS THEY SHOULD, if in doubt at all.

Several years ago, I described the 'questionable foundation' of Leslie Kean's book as the naïve and unverified faith in pilot reports. She has insisted the UFOs show intelligent purpose based on their perception of the nature of their witnesses, since they behave differently when seen by military pilots than when seen by civilian pilots [when the more common-sense explanation is that different pilots report observations in terms of what they expect from their own different experience bases]. The data archives she touts as 'unexplainable' pilot sightings [such as the French 'Weinstein Report'] can easily be shown to contain numerous pilot misinterpretations of unrecognized space and missile activity around the world, so who knows how many other prosaic explanations were never found by the 'investigators'? See here:
<https://web.archive.org/web/20190101223008/http://www.nbcnews.com/id/38852385>

u/james-e-oberg avatar
james-e-oberg

•

3y ago

"People are convicted based on witness testimony."

As a rule, the evidence a crime was committed must be solid. THEN the question of exactly who did can use eyewitness testimony.

TinFoilHatDude

•

3y ago

I am going to be very honest here. I don't care if I get downvoted. This place is teeming with pseduo-skeptics operating with a very clear agenda. I'll explain exactly why -

I have written in detail about the general behaviour and modus operandi of these 'skeptics' before and I will share a link to the same here -

https://www.reddit.com/r/UFOs/comments/yrq8c8/skeptics_on_this_sub/

I stand by every word that I have written in the post above.

2) Contrary to the impression that I am probably giving out, I have a lot of appreciation for truly skeptical people. If we have a true skeptic in our midst who is familiar with the developments in this field over the past few years, there is one very specific thing that should be alarming them - Ex-military intelligence community members going on podcasts and dropping some really juicy stuff. We know the kind of stuff that Lue Elizondo, Chris Mellon, Jin Semivan etc have said over the past few years. It is quite staggering.

Now, a true skeptic would be very alarmed at the situation. What we have here is a large group of people online being lead astray by ex-military intelligence community members who are essentially preying upon gullible people who are interested in UFOs. Isn't this exactly what is happening? Zero real evidence has been provided. It is just hours and hours of people blabbering away on wee podcasts talking about time travel, hybridization, impending cataclysm etc. A true skeptic would be alarmed at what is happening.

The world has seen many a bullshit-artist. Especially online. It would be one thing if these people restricted themselves to niche UFO communities and peddled their bullshit to gullible UFO nutjobs. Now, not only are these people selling UFO idiots a bridge, they have also managed to make their way to Congress. Blimey! Isn't this a major issue? How have these people managed to reach Congress and gotten them to pass laws related to UFOs? A true skeptic would be losing sleep over this.

To give you an alternate example, I don't believe in Bigfoot. I don't think Bigfoot exists. All Bigfoot sightings are likely misidentifications. Needless to say, I haven't spent much time researching Bigfoot (at least not recently), but I absolutely respect the right of any individual who spends time on this topic. I will leave them alone. Now, lets's say that a Bigfoot equivalent of Lue E came along who claims that the government has bodies of Bigfoot, it has been studying Bigfoot in secret for a long time etc. I would be shocked. I would first fall prostrate at the feet of Bigfoot believers and beg for forgiveness. My next step would be to ask for evidence. I would ask Lue 'Yeti' Elizondo for evidence. If Yeti Lue went up to Congress and asked them to pass laws to help study Bigfoot in more detail, I'd be calling bullshit. I'd want to see the collected evidence first.

3) There is only one thing that will put this issue to bed - Evidence. Proof. Data. You can call it anything you want. We know the US government has it. They have openly admitted it. Somehow, only us UFO nutjobs want to see the real evidence. We want to see pictures. We want to see videos. We want to see a flying saucer in all its glory. We are getting zilch. Somehow, it doesn't impact the skeptics. Not one bit. What should have happened is that the UFO believers should have been marching to Congress hand-in-hand with the skeptics. The conversation should have been something like this -

UFO believers: See, we told ya! UFOs are real and the government knows all about it. Let's pass laws to get them to reveal the data that they have collected over the decades. Skeptics: We are not convinced that the photos and videos that are publicly available show anything special, but let's get the government to reveal some of the data it has collected over the years so that we can put this issue to bed. After all, a lot of government officials seem to think that some of it could be aliens or other non-human intelligence. It is highly unlikely that this is the case, but we want to see the data too.

This should have been the approach a few years ago. Data. Evidence. Proof. Release it. Only us UFO nutjobs want to see it. We expected it in the two UAP reports. We expected the donkey Kirkpatrick to release something major in the recent hearing. Did we get anything significant? Nada. We got angry and sniped at each other to release the pent up frustration. Did it bother the skeptics that no hard data was released? Ha!

4) Most of you 'skeptics' who infest this space have only one agenda - to disrupt proceedings and to prevent any half-genuine publicly posted video or photo from getting traction. I have seen you berate ordinary people for daring to post a video/photo asking for opinions on whether they have captured a genuine UFO. Many a poster has been bullied out of this sub. These are ordinary people who have never posted here before and don't even believe in UFOs. If you were genuine skeptics, you would be teaming up with UFO believers and trying to get to the bottom of this mystery. What did the Nimitz crew see? Can we see the entire sequence? Can we see some of the older data? Why are some of your ex-intelligence community members talking about hybridization, time travel, impending cataclysm etc? We would be marching hand-in-hand trying to get the answer to these questions.

Since very few of you are even arsed about these important things, one thing is eminently clear - most of you lot are not 'skeptics', you are fucking wankers! Agents of provocation and disruption. You don't want the truth. You are not here for the truth. There! I said it. Go on then. Downvote me!

618smartguy

•

3y ago

You must be a fan of mick west then right? He was my first external exposure to the idea that we should be seriously questioning the motivations of govt for making claims without releasing sufficient or accurate evidence.

TinFoilHatDude

•

3y ago

No. The guy blindly agreed to the suggestion that we cannot get the US government to release classified data. This was on Curt's podcast with Eric Weinstein. I lost a fair bit of respect for him that day.

More posts you may like

Any truth to this?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

6mo ago

Any truth to this?

r/UFOs - Any truth to this?

2.4K upvotes · 770 comments

The 'Research Drones' Explanation Falls Apart Under Scrutiny

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

1y ago

The 'Research Drones' Explanation Falls Apart Under Scrutiny

855 upvotes · 192 comments

DoE is rumored to have a lot of UFO documents and info. Anyone with an outstanding FOIA request should probably know this.

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

5mo ago

DoE is rumored to have a lot of UFO documents and info. Anyone with an outstanding FOIA request should probably know this.

230 upvotes · 24 comments

Barriers to Disclosure: A summary of military insiders' claims about NHIs

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

12d ago

Barriers to Disclosure: A summary of military insiders' claims about NHIs

156 upvotes · 100 comments

This story is starting to sound true.

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

7mo ago

This story is starting to sound true.

r/UFOs - This story is starting to sound true.

youtu

277 upvotes · 176 comments

Reality Check from last night....

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

3mo ago

Reality Check from last night....

204 upvotes · 137 comments

If every major agency says these objects aren't ours... who exactly are they saying they belong to?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

18d ago

If every major agency says these objects aren't ours... who exactly are they saying they belong to?

87 upvotes · 70 comments

Can we talk about the ethics of having government programs developing tech that is so secretive it can't even be discussed openly in concept?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

4mo ago

Can we talk about the ethics of having government programs developing tech that is so secretive it can't even be discussed openly in concept?

146 upvotes · 88 comments

For Skeptics: You Don't Have to Believe in UFOs to Prepare for Ontological Disruption

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

7d ago

For Skeptics: You Don't Have to Believe in UFOs to Prepare for Ontological Disruption

r/UFOs - For Skeptics: You Don't Have to Believe in UFOs to Prepare for Ontological Disruption

substack

172 upvotes · 87 comments

What is this?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

6d ago

What is this?

r/UFOs - What is this?

2

80 upvotes · 67 comments

Anyone heard of this?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

18d ago

Anyone heard of this?

r/UFOs - Anyone heard of this?

16 upvotes · 40 comments

What is this?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

16d ago

What is this?

r/UFOs - What is this?

117 upvotes · 84 comments

"Whistleblowers Don't Get Permission to Talk": The Truth About DOPSR

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

4mo ago

"Whistleblowers Don't Get Permission to Talk": The Truth About DOPSR

r/UFOs - "Whistleblowers Don't Get Permission to Talk": The Truth About DOPSR

7

173 upvotes · 48 comments

Be generous with new members of this community (post-Age of Disclosure)

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

1mo ago

Be generous with new members of this community (post-Age of Disclosure)

398 upvotes · 54 comments

What is this?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

8d ago

What is this?

r/UFOs - What is this?

74 upvotes · 56 comments

An Exploration into Deep Underground Military Bases and UFO Legacy Programs

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

10mo ago

An Exploration into Deep Underground Military Bases and UFO Legacy Programs

r/UFOs - An Exploration into Deep Underground Military Bases and UFO Legacy Programs

youtu

357 upvotes · 38 comments

What do you think is the most consequential thought provoking aspect about UAP that prevents disclosure?

r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

21d ago

What do you think is the most consequential thought provoking aspect about UAP that prevents disclosure?

30 upvotes · 127 comments

I Saw Something That Made Me A Believer

 r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

4mo ago

I Saw Something That Made Me A Believer

231 upvotes · 73 comments

Deep Underground Military Bunkers and 2027

 r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

3mo ago

Deep Underground Military Bunkers and 2027

67 upvotes · 62 comments

Why and how are unelected Congressional staffers blocking disclosure?

 r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

4mo ago

Why and how are unelected Congressional staffers blocking disclosure?

208 upvotes · 24 comments

What narratives are being pushed?

 r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

21d ago

What narratives are being pushed?

27 comments

Different Groups of Gatekeepers Want Disclosure and Other Groups Don't

 r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

7mo ago

Different Groups of Gatekeepers Want Disclosure and Other Groups Don't

91 upvotes · 38 comments

Cant figure out what is it?

 r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

23d ago

Cant figure out what is it?

 r/UFOs - Cant figure out what is it?

2

145 upvotes · 31 comments

Whistleblowers

 r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

10d ago

Whistleblowers

35 upvotes · 21 comments

Reasons for Non-Disclosure

 r/UFOs icon

r/UFOs

•

5mo ago

Reasons for Non-Disclosure

36 upvotes · 106 comments

Top Posts

Reddit
reReddit: Top posts of May 26, 2023
Reddit
reReddit: Top posts of May 2023
Reddit
reReddit: Top posts of 2023
Reddit Rules
Privacy Policy
User Agreement
Your Privacy Choices
Accessibility
Reddit, Inc. © 2025. All rights reserved.Skip to Content Politics
U.S. News
World
Local Sports
Health
Business
Shopping
Tipline
Culture
Science
Watch
Subscribe

UFO book based on questionable foundation

Share & Save —

Search NBC News

Sections
U.S. News
Politics
World
Business
Sports
Investigations
Culture & Trends
Health
Science
Tech
Weather
Photos
NBC Select NBC Asian America
NBC BLK
NBC Latino
NBC OUT Local
New York
Los Angeles
Chicago
Dallas-Fort Worth
Philadelphia
Washington, D.C.
Boston
Bay Area
South Florida
San Diego
Connecticut

tv
Today
Nightly News
Meet the Press
Dateline
Featured
NBC News Now
Nightly Films
Stay Tuned
Special Features
Newsletters
Podcasts
Listen Now
More From NBC
NBC.COM
NBCU Academy
Peacock
NEXT STEPS FOR VETS
NBC News Site Map
Help
Follow NBC News
news Alerts

There are no new alerts at this time

Blue Sky
Whatsapp
Print
Reddit
Flipboard
Pinterest
Linkedin
Space

UFO book based on questionable foundation

A new book is causing a fresh buzz over a long list of sightings of unidentified flying objects, but the book's claims are based on a questionable assumption: that airline pilots make the best witnesses of unidentified flying objects. Commentary by NBC News' James Oberg.

Savewith a NBCUniversal Profile

Add NBC News to Google

Aug. 26, 2010, 7:52 PM CDT

By James Oberg

If we trust pilots to carry us through the air safely, and to guard our nation's skies, then why can't we trust what they tell us about their encounters with unidentified flying objects?

That's the question posed by investigative journalist Leslie Kean in her new book, "UFOs: Generals, Pilots and Government Officials Go on the Record." It's a compelling question – but is it a good argument for the existence of something truly unexplainable?

The book's main themes are the extraordinary stories of strange aerial encounters in Europe, South America and even the United States. In these stories, investigators have failed to pinpoint phenomena to explain the sightings. And because the primary witnesses are pilots, the accounts are considered more credible than run-of-the-mill UFO reports. But are they really?

Kean asserts that pilots are the best describers of aerial phenomena. "They represent the world's best-trained observers of everything that flies," she writes. "What better source for data on UFOs is there?... [They] are among the least likely of any group of witnesses to fabricate or exaggerate reports of strange sightings."

This may sound like a plausible assumption, but others who have studied the raw evidence disagree. Experienced UFO investigators realize that pilots, who instinctively and quite properly interpret visual phenomena in the most hazardous terms, are not dispassionate observers. For pilots, a split-second diagnosis can be a matter of life or death – and so they're inclined to overestimate the potential threats posed by what they see.

One of the world's first genuine UFO investigators, Allen Hynek of Northwestern University, came to believe that some encounters really could have otherworldly causes. But he was much more skeptical about the reliability of pilot testimony. "Surprisingly, commercial and military pilots appear to make relatively poor witnesses," he wrote in "The Hynek UFO Report."

Hynek found that the best class of witnesses had a 50 percent misperception rate, but that pilots had a much higher rate: 88 percent for military pilots, 89 percent for commercial pilots, the worst of all categories listed. Pilots could be counted on for an accurate identification of familiar objects – such as aircraft and ground structures – but Hynek said "it should come as no surprise that the majority of pilot misidentifications were of astronomical objects."

The authors of a Russian UFO study came to the same conclusion. Yuli Platov of the Soviet Academy of Science and Col. Boris Sokolov of the Ministry of Defense looked into a series of sightings in 1982 that caused air defense units to scramble jet fighters to intercept the UFOs. Platov and Sokolov said the sightings were sparked by military balloons that rose to higher-than-expected altitudes.

"The described episodes show that even experienced pilots are not immune against errors in the evaluation of the size of observed objects, the distances to them, and their identification with particular phenomena," Platov wrote.

Susceptible to overinterpretation

Ronald Fisher of the International Forensic Research Institute at Florida International University in Miami is a lecturer who teaches staff members at the National Transportation Safety Board how to interview eyewitnesses at "critical events" such as airplane crashes. He stresses the importance of eliciting raw sensory impressions first, before asking for the witness's interpretation of what they think they saw.

"Once they start focusing on their interpretation, that will color the memory of their perceptions," he told msnbc.com.

"Pilots are susceptible to overinterpretation, especially of vague, rapid and unclear experiences," he continued. "The less clear the situation, the more your general knowledge and your expectations [contribute]." Passage of time is an enemy of accuracy, because it gives witnesses the opportunity "to use their general knowledge to construct the memory of what they experienced."

As witnesses of things seen while flying, pilots were a special case. "The cost of a false negative is greater than the cost of a false positive," he explained. "It's probably a safety mechanism."

The body of UFO reports is replete with cases of spectacular misinterpretations, and pilots are frequently involved. So it's prudent to use caution when evaluating the testimony of pilots.

Intelligent UFOs ... or sensible pilots?

UFOs are often reported as maneuvering intelligently, and Kean argues that a particularity of the different types of maneuvers reported by pilots serves as proof that UFOs are real and are acting with intelligence. But that logic actually ends up supporting the idea that a pilot's circumstances affect what he or she reports seeing.

Recommended

Space

2026 will be the year NASA astronauts fly around the moon again – if all goes to plan

health

'My jaw was completely locked shut': Doctors worry about rising tetanus cases as vaccine rates drop

Kean refers to the "Weinstein List," a compendium of 1,300 UFO reports from pilots, assembled by French investigator Dominique Weinstein in 2001. It is described as containing only those "cases for which adequate data is available to categorize the [cause] as unknowns."

"One crucial point I have noted, which is shown in Weinstein's study, is that a UFO's behavior tends to depend on whether the encounter involves a military aircraft or a civilian passenger plane," Kean writes.

"Neutrality usually seems the general rule with commercial airlines or private planes, whereas an active interaction often occurs between UFOs and military aircraft. Military pilots usually described the movements of UFOs as they would air maneuvers of conventional aircraft, using terms such as follows, flees, acute turns, in formation, close collision, and aerial combat," she says.

For Kean, this constitutes evidence that the UFOs are guided by intelligent pilots. "These incidents clearly demonstrate that in no way are these examples of natural events, but rather that UFOs are phenomena with a deliberate behavior. The physical nature of UFOs has been proved," she says.

But a much simpler explanation makes more sense: The difference is due to "observer bias." People see what they expect to see, and combat pilots expect to encounter combative bogies. Civilian pilots mostly fear accidental collisions.

The different behavior that is perceived by the two categories of pilots doesn't necessarily mean the unidentified flying objects themselves behave differently. It's more likely that different kinds of pilots draw upon differently developed instincts as they react to perceived threats – and thus they bring different interpretations to stimuli that are actually similar.

What all this means ... and doesn't mean

There's no reason to argue that all the pilot reports are caused by exactly the same stimuli. UFO reports that are linked to rocket launches or booster re-entries are relatively easy to explain, because the location and timing of the events can be correlated with the accounts from startled and mistaken witnesses.

For other stimuli, such as fireball meteors, secret (or illegal) aircraft operations or natural atmospheric displays, documentation of their transitory existence usually doesn't exist. The main value of the solved UFO cases is to allow a definitive calibration of pilot testimony in general.

Thus, I am not dismayed by the fact that I can't explain every case Kean mentions in her book, because experience has shown that finding the real explanation – even if it turns out to be prosaic – is often a massive effort involving as much luck as sweat. If investigators are unable to find the explanation for a particular UFO case, that doesn't constitute proof that the case is unexplainable.

This is just a fact of life, for UFO sleuths as well as other breeds of investigators. The same is true for murders, kidnappings, accidents, illnesses – for all the catastrophes that befall humanity. We don't need to conjure up alien murderers or kidnappers to account for unsolved crimes. Not finding Jimmy Hoffa isn't proof he must be on Mars.

So the "not proven" assessment makes it even more important to keep our eyes and minds open – to vigorously observe, accurately perceive, and precisely relate unusual aerial perceptions. Something really new could still be discovered. Or something critically important could be masquerading, by accident or design, in a manner that leads too many people to pay too little attention.

Accepting every UFO claim uncritically or rejecting every claim automatically would be equally unjustified. And quite possibly, equally harmful.

NBC News space analyst James Oberg is a 22-year veteran of NASA Mission Control in Houston, and the author of numerous books on space policy and exploration.

James Oberg
About
Contact
Help
Careers
Ad Choices
New Privacy Policy
Your Privacy Choices
CA Notice
Terms of Service
NBC News Subscription Terms of Service
NBC News Sitemap
Closed Captioning
Advertise
NBC Select
© 2025 NBCUniversal Media, LLC

28 ads blocked
36% space saved!Skip to main content
Scientific American
Special Offer: $1 for 90 days

January 1, 2010

4 min read

Google Logo
Add Us On Google
Why Science Tells Us Not to Rely on Eyewitness Accounts

Eyewitness testimony is fickle and, all too often, shockingly inaccurate

By Hal Arkowitz & Scott O. Lilienfeld

January 2010 Issue
Mind & Brain

IN 1984 KIRK BLOODSWORTH was convicted of the rape and murder of a nine-year-old girl and sentenced to the gas chamber—an outcome that rested largely on the testimony of five eyewitnesses. After Bloodsworth served nine years in prison, DNA testing proved him to be innocent. Such devastating mistakes by eyewitnesses are not rare, according to a report by the Innocence Project, an organization affiliated with the Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law at Yeshiva University that uses DNA testing to exonerate those wrongfully convicted of crimes. Since the 1990s, when DNA testing was first introduced, Innocence Project researchers have reported that 73 percent of the 239 convictions overturned through DNA testing were based on eyewitness testimony. One third of these overturned cases rested on the testimony of two or more mistaken eyewitnesses. How could so many eyewitnesses be wrong?

Eyewitness identification typically involves selecting the alleged perpetrator from a police lineup, but it can also be based on police sketches and other methods. Soon after selecting a suspect, eyewitnesses are asked to make a formal statement confirming the ID and to try to recall any other details about events surrounding the crime. At the trial, which may be years later, eyewitnesses usually testify in court. Because individuals with certain psychological disorders, such as antisocial personality disorder and substance dependence, are at high risk for criminal involvement, they are also at heightened risk for false identifications by eyewitnesses.

Surveys show that most jurors place heavy weight on eyewitness testimony when deciding whether a suspect is guilty. But although eyewitness reports are sometimes accurate, jurors should not accept them uncritically because of the many factors that can bias such reports. For example, jurors tend to give more weight to the testimony of eyewitnesses who report that they are very sure about their identifications even though most studies indicate that highly confident eyewitnesses are generally only slightly more accurate—and sometimes no more so—than those who are less confident. In addition to educating jurors about the uncertainties surrounding eyewitness testimony, adhering to specific rules for the process of identifying suspects can make that testimony more accurate.

Reconstructing Memories

The uncritical acceptance of eyewitness accounts may stem from a popular misconception of how memory works. Many people believe that human memory works like a video recorder: the mind records events and then, on cue, plays back an exact replica of them. On the contrary, psychologists have found that memories are reconstructed rather than played back each time we recall them. The act of remembering, says eminent memory researcher and psychologist Elizabeth F. Loftus of the University of California, Irvine, is “more akin to putting puzzle pieces together than retrieving a video recording.” Even questioning by a lawyer can alter the witness’s testimony because fragments of the memory may unknowingly be combined with information provided by the questioner, leading to inaccurate recall.

Many researchers have created false memories in normal individuals; what is more, many of these subjects are certain that the memories are real. In one well-known study, Loftus and her colleague Jacqueline Pickrell gave subjects written accounts of four events, three of which they had actually experienced. The fourth story was fiction; it centered on the subject being lost in a mall or another public place when he or she was between four and six years old. A relative provided realistic details for the false story, such as a description of the mall at which the subject’s parents shopped. After reading each story, subjects were asked to write down what else they remembered about the incident or to indicate that they did not remember it at all. Remarkably about one third of the subjects reported partially or fully remembering the false event. In two follow-up interviews, 25 percent still claimed that they remembered the untrue story, a figure consistent with the findings of similar studies.

More From This Report

Ask the Experts: Does Bin Laden's Death Add Fuel to Conspiracy Theorists?
Larry Greenemeier

How Biometrics Helped to Identify the Master Terrorist Christine Gorman

Appointment in Abbottabad
Bin Laden's Death Might Not Pose a New Threat
Fred Guterl

View the Report

Given the dangers of mistaken convictions based on faulty eyewitness testimony, how can we minimize such errors? The Innocence Project has proposed legislation to improve the accuracy of eyewitness IDs. These proposals include videotaping the identification procedure so that juries can determine if it was conducted properly, putting individuals in the lineup who resemble the witness’s description of the perpetrator, informing the viewer of the lineup that the perpetrator may or may not be in it, and ensuring that the person administering the lineup or other identification procedure does not know who the suspect is.

Although only a few cities and states have adopted laws to improve the accuracy of eyewitness identifications, there seems to be a growing interest in doing so.

Expert Testimony

In addition, allowing experts on eyewitness identification to testify in court could educate juries and perhaps lead to more measured evaluation of the testimony. Most U.S. jurisdictions disallow such experts in courtrooms on the grounds that laboratory-based eyewitness research does not apply to the courtroom and that, in any case, its conclusions are mostly common sense and therefore not very enlightening. Yet psychologist Gary Wells of Iowa State University and his colleague Lisa Hasel have amassed considerable evidence showing that the experimental findings do apply to courtroom testimony and that they are often counterintuitive.

Science can and should inform judicial processes to improve the accuracy and assessment of eyewitness accounts. We are seeing some small steps in this direction, but our courts still have a long way to go to better ensure that innocent people are not punished because of flaws in this very influential type of evidence.

Error-Prone IDs

A number of factors can reduce the accuracy of eyewitness identifications. Here are some of them:

Extreme witness stress at the crime scene or during the identification process.

Presence of weapons at the crime (because they can intensify stress and distract witnesses).

Use of a disguise by the perpetrator such as a mask or wig.

A racial disparity between the witness and the suspect.

Brief viewing times at the lineup or during other identification procedures.

A lack of distinctive characteristics of the suspect such as tattoos or extreme height.

Note: This story was originally printed with the title "Do the "Eyes" Have It?"

Rights & Permissions (Further Reading)

Eyewitness Identification: Issues in Common Knowledge and Generalization. Gary L. Wells and Lisa E. Hasel in Beyond Common Sense: Psychological Science in the Courtroom. Edited by E. Borgida and S. T. Fiske. Wiley-Blackwell, 2007.

Eyewitness Testimony: Civil and Criminal. Fourth edition. Elizabeth F. Loftus. LexisNexis, 2007.

Psychological Science in the Courtroom: Consensus and Controversy. Edited by Jennifer L. Skeem, Kevin S. Douglas and Scott O. Lilienfeld. Guilford Press, 2009.

Hal Arkowitz is a psychology professor at the University of Arizona. The authors thank Lori Marino for her generous help with this article.

More by Hal Arkowitz

Scott O. Lilienfeld is a psychology professor at Emory University.

More by Scott O. Lilienfeld

SA Mind Vol 20 Issue 7

This article was published with the title "Do the "Eyes" Have It?" in SA Mind Vol. 20 No. 7 (January 2010), p. 68 doi:10.1038/scientificamericanmind0110-68

View This Issue

It's Time to Stand Up for Science

If you enjoyed this article, I'd like to ask for your support. Scientific American has served as an advocate for science and industry for 180 years, and right now may be the most critical moment in that two-century history.

I've been a Scientific American subscriber since I was 12 years old, and it helped shape the way I look at the world. SciAm always educates and delights me, and inspires a sense of awe for our vast, beautiful universe. I hope it does that for you, too.

If you subscribe to Scientific American, you help ensure that our coverage is centered on meaningful research and discovery; that we have the resources to report on the decisions that threaten labs across the U.S.; and that we support both budding and working scientists at a time when the value of science itself too often goes unrecognized.

In return, you get essential news, captivating podcasts, brilliant infographics, can't-miss newsletters, must-watch videos, challenging games, and the science world's best writing and reporting. You can even gift someone a subscription.

There has never been a more important time for us to stand up and show why science matters. I hope you'll support us in that mission.

Thank you,

David M. Ewalt, Editor in Chief, Scientific American

Subscribe

Popular Stories

Frozen brain on a dark background.

Consciousness

April 30, 2025

Where Does Consciousness Come From? Two Neuroscience Theories Go Head-to-Head

Two leading theories of consciousness went head-to-head—and the results may change how neuroscientists study one of the oldest questions about existence

Allison Parshall

Cold and flu medications displayed at Walgreens

Public Health

December 16, 2025

Harsh Flu Season May Be Driven by New Variant K

A novel influenza variant called subclade K appears to be driving an uptick in cases and hospitalizations throughout the U.S. and other countries

Tanya Lewis

ROV image of a partially collapsed gas hydrate mound in the Molloy Deep \(Freya mounds\)

The Environment

December 25, 2025

Bizarre Ecosystem Discovered More Than Two Miles beneath Arctic Ocean

Dynamic mounds made of methane at a depth of some 3,640 meters act like “frozen reefs” for a bizarre array of deep-sea creatures, new observations reveal

Claire Cameron

A pharmacist holds a box of Novo Nordisk Wegovy brand semaglutide medication

arranged at a pharmacy

Pharmaceuticals

December 23, 2025

U.S. Approves Wegovy Weight-Loss Pill, a Move That Could Transform Health Care

A pill version of the popular GLP-1 weight-loss drug Wegovy has been green-lit for use in the U.S. Here's what that means for health care

Lauren J. Young

Illustration of two human profiles in mirrored view. One is in tune with body's signals. No external noise. Brain is healthy and figure feels in balance. In the other, eternal noise prevails. Figure feels on edge.

Psychology

December 16, 2025

A Distorted Mind-Body Connection May Explain Common Mental Illnesses

Disruptions in interoception may underlie anxiety, eating disorders, and other mental health ailments

Diana Kwon

Blacktip Shark (Carcharhinus limbatus) - stock photo

Animals

December 29, 2025

15 Million Years before the Megalodon, This Giant Ancient Shark Prowled the Oceans

A humungous shark that lived 115 million years ago surpassed the size of modern-day great whites, paleontologists discovered

Claire Cameron

Subscribe to Scientific American to learn and share the most exciting discoveries, innovations and ideas shaping our world today.

Subscription Plans

Give a Gift Subscription

Explore SciAm

Latest Issue

News

Opinion

Newsletters

Podcasts

Games

Travel

Company

About

Press Room

FAQs

Contact Us

Standards & Ethics

International Editions

Advertise

More

Accessibility

Terms of Use

Privacy Policy

US State Privacy Rights

Use of cookies/Do not sell my data

Return & Refund Policy

Scientific American is part of Springer Nature, which owns or has commercial relations with thousands of scientific publications (many of them can be found at www.springernature.com/us). Scientific American maintains a strict policy of editorial independence in reporting developments in science to our readers.

© 2025 SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, A DIVISION OF SPRINGER NATURE AMERICA, INC.
ALL RIGHTS RESERVED. Search query
Search the web

Skip to main

News

Finance

Sports

More

Mail

Sign in

Return to Homepage

Top Stories:

Trump warns Iran and Hamas

'Bomb cyclone'

Gen Z sobriety

Trump, Zelensky optimistic

Missing teen in Texas

Jan. 6 pipe bomb suspect

2025's space discoveries

2026 Senate races

GOP behind Vance?

Rising electricity prices

Andy Wells

Operation Saucer: The Official Search For UFOs That Attacked Brazilians With 'Light Beams' In 1977

Andy Wells

Tue, March 8, 2016 at 9:53 AM CST

Add Yahoo on Google

While alien hunters concentrate their energies on pictures from Mars or the top secret Area 51 base in Nevada, an island in central America was the location of a spate of UFO sightings that was officially investigated by Brazilian officials.

'Operation Saucer' was an investigation into a terrifying series of reported incidents in 1977 where residents in the Brazilian city of Colares claimed that they not only witnessed flying saucers - but they were also being attacked by them.

Bright objects of differing shapes, sizes and colours were said to have been flying at low altitudes - just a few metres above the tops of trees - and firing light beams at people on the ground below.

Advertisement

Several witnesses claimed to have seen beings piloting the crafts, describing them as no more than three to four feet tall.

What separates these sightings from the usual glimpses of UFOs in the skies are the numerous and recurring injuries that people suffered.

Sightings: Photographs were taken by officials of bright lights in the sky (Operation Saucer)

The beams gave off intense beams of radiation that caused puncture marks and lesions, with some reporting to local media at the time that it felt like a "heavy weight pushed against their chest".

A report into the claims made by the victims stated: "The beam was about seven or eight centimetres in diameter and white in colour."

Advertisement

"It never hunted for them but hit them suddenly. When they tried to scream no sound would come out, but their eyes remained open.

"The beam felt hot, almost as hot as a cigarette burn."

Describing the injuries, Doctor Wellaide Cecim Carvalho - who worked in a health care unit in the area during the 1970s - wrote: "All of them had suffered lesions to the face or the thoracic area.

Incidents: Numerous residents in Colares said they were attacked by flying saucers (Google)

"The lesions, looking like radiation injuries, began with intense reddening of the skin in the affected area.

"Later the hair would fall out and the skin would turn black. There was no pain, only a slight warmth.

Advertisement

"One also noticed small puncture marks in the skin. The victims were men and women of varying ages, without any pattern."

The saucers were quickly dubbed 'chupa-chupa' - meaning 'sucker-sucker' - and with reports of more sightings and more incidents of people being injured or losing blood, panic soon started to set in and women and children left the area while local men stayed to look after their homes or possessions.

Spacecraft: Military personnel drew pictures of what they saw (Operation Saucer)

Base: Some officers reported of UFOs flying into the coastal waters nearby (Operation Saucer)

With no reasonable explanation offered as to what exactly was behind the so-called attacks from UFOs, the Brazilian Air Force (FAB) was tasked with finding out what was going on on the island, with the investigation officially named Operation Saucer.

Advertisement

A 2,000-page military report was soon compiled, featuring 500 photographs and 16 hours of film that the FAB reportedly witnessed with their own eyes.

Ufologist Daniel Rebisso Giese claimed in his book Vampiros Extraterrestres Na Amazonia (Extraterrestrial Vampires of the Amazon) that several military personnel suffered nervous breakdowns, while others went completely insane during the course of the investigation.

The documents were kept classified until several pages were released in 2004, showing drawings and photographs of what the military saw.

Aliens: The head of the investigation later drew what he saw piloting the crafts (YouTube)

Advertisement

Bright, cylindrical lights feature in the photographs, while several drawings show similarly-shaped objects witnessed by people on the island at the time.

Despite this, the operation never explicitly stated that UFOs or aliens were the official cause of the sightings and injuries.

However, high-ranking officials from FAB reportedly told a group of ufologists in 2004 that they had discreetly been studying the existence of UFOs since the mid 1950s.

But what could the explanation be if the aliens theory is dismissed?

Some think the area was simply being used as a test site for top secret military craft - something people have also used to explain away the secrecy behind Area 51.

Advertisement

However, there are yet more strange occurrences aside from the sightings that make this case an ongoing mystery - and catnip for conspiracy theorists.

Dr Carvalho, who treated islanders for their injuries after the 'attacks', later said she was "compelled" to lie to them about their injuries - and to tell them they were simply hallucinations.

Headline news: Local media reported on the sightings in 1977 (Grab)

She said: "This is what the Air Force always asked me to say.

It did not happen any kind of mass hysteria or visual hallucinations.

"The psychiatry proves it didn't happen. It may happen mystic collective problems when people commit mass suicide.

Advertisement

"But nobody can have the same delirium, the same visual, sonic and synthetic hallucination at the same time and in different places."

She also claims to have seen a UFO herself, adding: "I could see the UFOs bright metal and it wasn't a dish-like object, but much more like a cone or a cylinder."

Further to this, Captain Uyrangê Bolivar Soares Nogueira de Hollanda Lima - the commander of the operation - gave an interview in 1997 to UFO Magazine, where he recounted how terrified his men were during their investigations.

Injuries: Victims had puncture marks on their skin from what they said were light beam attacks (Grab)

Advertisement

He went on to reveal eyewitness statements which described residents waking up to beings wearing protective clothing shooting coloured beams at their heads, as well as several officers reporting seeing strange lights emerging from and diving back into coastal waters around the area - leading some to assume this was the location of a UFO base.

Three months after giving the interview, Captain Hollanda was found dead in his home after he seemingly hung himself using the belt of his bathrobe.

It's fair to say there is a lot to be suspicious about in this particular UFO case and it remains one of the most baffling and mystifying incidents in the history of unexplained phenomena.

Top pic: Operation Saucer

View comments

Terms and Privacy Policy

Privacy Dashboard

About Our Ads

Recommended articles

Yahoo news home

Yahoo!

US

Politics

2024 Election
World
Health
Science
The 360
Contact Us
Originals
Terms
and
Privacy Policy
Privacy Dashboard
Help
Share Your Feedback
About Us
About Our Ads
Site Map
Follow us on Download our app
Download app from App Store
Download app from Google Play
© 2025 Yahoo. All rights reserved.

WikipediaThe Free Encyclopedia

Donate
Create account
Log in

Operação Prato

Article
Talk
Read
Edit
View history

Tools
From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia
Operation Saucer
Location Colares, Pará, Brazil
0°56'13"S 48°16'55"W
Commanded by
Brig. Protásio Lopes de Oliveira (Strategical chief)
Col. Camillo Ferraz (Tactical chief)
Cpt. Uyrangê Hollanda (Operational chief)
Sgt. João Flávio de Freitas Costa (rapporteur)
Objective Investigation of UFOs sightings in some municipalities of Pará
Date First phase:
20 October – 11 November 1977
Second phase:
25 November – 5 December 1977
Executed by Brazilian Air Force
National Information Service
Outcome Operation found no unusual phenomena
Operation Saucer (Portuguese: Operação Prato; literally, Operation Saucer) was an investigation carried out between 1977 and 1978 by the Brazilian Air Force following alleged UFO sightings on the island Colares. The investigation was closed after finding no unusual phenomena.[1][2][3][4][5][6]

History
Precedent events
In 1977, numerous UFOs were reported on the Brazilian island Colares, Pará.

Local residents claimed that scars on their bodies were caused by the lights in the sky, and named the lights "Chupa Chupa"[3] (literally Sucker-Sucker, local name for a "Lollipop").[7] Believing it would keep the lights away, residents of Colares organized night vigils,[2] lit fires, and ignited fireworks.[4] Mayor José Ildone Favacho Soeiro requested help from the Air Force.[8]

The Operation

The operation was commanded by Captain Uyrangê Bolívar Soares Nogueira de Hollanda Lima.[3] During late 1977, several pictures of lights were recorded but the military remained skeptical.[2][3] After approximately four months, the operation was closed after finding no unusual phenomena.[1] The official documents can be obtained from the Brazilian National Archives (Arquivo Nacional).[9]

Conspiracy theories

In 1997, two decades after the operation, Captain Uyrangê gave an interview to ufologists Ademar José Gevaerd and Marco Antônio Petit where he recounted his experiences living alongside his men. Three months after the interview, he was found dead in his home "after he seemingly hung himself using the belt of his bathrobe", attracting the interest of conspiracy theorists.[10][11]

UFologists

According to ufologist Jacques Vallée, a number of individuals were reportedly killed as a result of the "lights" fired upon them by the UFOs, and injuries were consistent with radiation effects from microwaves.[12] Other ufologists claimed that the lights from UFOs sucked blood from 400 people.[3][4][6][11]

Many restaurants on Colares show images that refer to the UFO flap

See also

Chupacabra

UFO sightings in Brazil

Varginha UFO incident

References

EFE (10 August 2010). "FAB cria normas para pilotos em caso de contato com ovnis". Terra (in Portuguese). Telefônica. Retrieved 13 December 2013. English translation

Rodrigues, Fernando (11 January 2009). "SNI investigou óvnis durante a ditadura" [SNI investigated UFOs during the dictatorship]. Folha de S. Paulo (in Portuguese). 29138. Brasília: Grupo Folha: A10 – A11. Retrieved 13 December 2013. English translation

Cardoso, Rodrigo (22 July 2013). "A história oficial dos ÓVNIS no Brasil". ISTOÉ (in Portuguese). Editora Três. Archived from the original on 8 March 2016. Retrieved 17 December 2013. English translation

Abbud, Bruno (24 January 2011). "Objetos voadores quase identificados". Veja.com (in Portuguese). Grupo Abril. Retrieved 17 December 2013. English translation

Charleaux, João Paulo (17 December 2013). "No princípio era um chuchu". piauí (in Portuguese). São Paulo: Editora Alvinegra. Archived from the original on 17 December 2013. Retrieved 17 December 2013.

Dantas, Pedro (14 August 2010). "Aeronáutica libera documentos sobre aparição de óvnis". O Estado de S. Paulo (in Portuguese). Rio de Janeiro: Grupo Estado. Retrieved 17 December 2013.

"Operação Prato". Linha Direta (in Portuguese). Rede Globo. 25 August 2005. Retrieved 13 December 2013.

"José Ildone Favacho Soeiro". Linha Direta (in Portuguese). Rede Globo. 25 August 2005. Retrieved 13 December 2013.

"Information System of the National Archive". National Archives - Brasil. Ministry of Justice and Citizenship. Retrieved 1 May 2017.

"Uyrangê Bolívar Soares de Hollanda Lima". Linha Direta (in Portuguese). Rede Globo. 25 August 2005. Retrieved 13 December 2013.

Wells, Andy. "Operation Saucer: The Official Search For UFOs That Attacked Brazilians With 'Light Beams' In 1977". Yahoo News. Yahoo. Retrieved 1 May 2017. Three months after giving the interview, Captain Hollanda was found dead in his home after he seemingly hung himself using the belt of his bathrobe.

Confrontations – A Scientist's Search for Alien Contact (hardcover ed.), Jacques Vallée. Ballantine Books. March 1990. P. 134. ISBN 0-345-36453-8
vte

UFOs

Categories: 1977 in Brazil1978 in BrazilBrazilian Air ForceCollective UFO sightingsConspiracy theories in BrazilGovernment responses to UFOsMilitary history of BrazilAviation incidents involving UFOs and military aircraftMilitary UFO conspiracy theoriesUFO sightings in Brazil

This page was last edited on 8 December 2025, at 08:39 (UTC).

Text is available under the Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0 License; additional terms may apply. By using this site, you agree to the Terms of Use and Privacy Policy. Wikipedia® is a registered trademark of the Wikimedia Foundation, Inc., a non-profit organization.

Privacy policyAbout WikipediaDisclaimersContact WikipediaLegal & safety contactsCode of ConductDevelopersStatisticsCookie statementMobile view

Wikimedia Foundation

Powered by MediaWiki

Go toContent 1

Go toHome 2

Go toNavigation 3

Go toSearch 4

Go toSitemap 5

Logomarca GovBR

Government Agencies

Access to Information

Legislation

Accessibility

Idioma atual:EN

Abrir menu principal de navegação
Serviços e Informações do Brasil

What are you looking for?

Você está aqui: Home Government of Brazil Latest News 2022 Official UFO Night in Brazil

Official UFO Night in Brazil

Share: Share by Facebook Share by Twitter Share by LinkedIn Share by

WhatsApLink to Copy to Clipboard

Published in May 20, 2022 11:25 AM Updated in May 20, 2022 01:49 PM

FTKL7GJX0AYU8dT.jpg

The US Congress is holding a hearing on unidentified flying objects (UFOs) and its impacts on national security. Here, the hearing had a wide repercussion as it coincided with the anniversary of the so-called "Night of the UFOs in Brazil".

For some time, the UFOs collection is the most visited in the National Archive of Brazil and UFOs were also the most frequent subject on information requests made to the Brazilian Government after Law 12,527, Brazil's Freedom of Information Act (LAI), was enacted in May of 2012.

Immediately after the law went into effect, the public authorities faced a rush for information about UFOs, with 37 requests for access to information about the matter, leading the Brazilian Air Force to transfer most of its documents on UFOs to the National Archive.

The first request for access to information about UFOs was made the day after LAI came into effect, on 17/05/2012, ten years ago. It was a request asking for access to all documents on UFOs. The answer was that the documents were already being transferred to the National Archive.

Imagem

The Unidentified Flying Objects (UFOs) collection remains the most visited in the National Archive of Brazil to this day. The collection present photos, videos, audios and documents ranging from reports of people who have allegedly sighted UFOs to reports of trips in spaceships.

With the transference of the documents to the National Archive, became known that Brazil had an Unidentified Aerial Object Investigation System - SIOANI, created in 1969 to scientifically investigate apparently supernatural UFO phenomena.

Imagem

To celebrate the anniversaries of Brazil's Freedom of Information Act and the Night of the UFOs, which gave more transparency to our institutions, we will recover some of these unusual stories and tell you about Varginha's UFOs, the alleged abduction of an aircraft carrier and other curious findings you may encounter on the National Archive.

On May 19, 1986, 21 unidentified flying objects, some of them up to 100 meters in diameter, were sighted by multiple witnesses, both civilian and military, in four states: São Paulo, Rio de Janeiro, Minas Gerais and Goiás.

Imagem

The UFOs were also detected by radars from the Brazilian Air Force's Integrated Center for Air Defense and Air Traffic Control. Five Brazilian Air Force fighter jets were activated by the Air Defense Operations Center to intercept the alleged invaders.

"Sometimes, the pilots had visual contact with the targets, but the radars did not register anything. Other times, the radars even picked up the presence of objects, but the pilots could not see them. The Air Force considered only the sightings that had simultaneous confirmation", said Sérgio Mota, flight controller.

On May 23, 1986, at 4:30 pm, the then Minister of Aeronautics, Brigadier Octávio Júlio Moreira Lima, called a press conference to inform the press that five FAB fighter jets chased 21 UFOs.

Imagem

"It's not about whether or not you believe [in extraterrestrial beings or flying saucers]. We can only give technical information. There are several assumptions. Technically, I would tell you that we have no explanation," he declared at the time.

At the end of the press conference, which was attended by the five FAB pilots and the flight controllers who were on duty that night, the Minister of Aeronautics declared that the episode would be investigated and that, within 30 days, he would publish a complete dossier.

Only 23 years later, on September 25, 2009, a report on the case, signed by the interim Air Force Command (COMDA) José Pessoa Cavalcanti de Albuquerque and dated June 2, 1986, was released.

"This Command is of the opinion that the phenomena are solid and reflect, in a certain way, intelligence, due to the ability to follow and maintain a distance from observers, as well as to fly in formation, not necessarily manned", said the dossier.

Category

Armed Forces and Civil Defense

Tags: 2022

Share: Share by Facebook Share by Twitter Share by LinkedIn Share by WhatsApp Link to Copy to Clipboard

Services

Search services by Services by target audience

Application Gallery

Navigation

Acessibility

Sitemap

Government of Brazil

Latest News

Reset Cookies

Social Networks

Instagram Facebook YouTube Linkedin WhatsApp canal TikTok Kwai

Acesso à Informação

All content on this site is published under license Creative Commons

Attribution-NoDerivs 3.0 Unported.

Voltar ao topo da página

Conteúdo acessível em Libras usando o VLibras Widget com opções dos Avatares Ícaro, Hosana ou Guga. Conteúdo acessível em Libras usando o VLibras Widget com opções dos Avatares Ícaro, Hosana ou Guga.

Deals of the Week

12:47AM Tuesday, December 30th, 2025

Tubi: watch for free

Sydney

Today

15 °/ 25 °

Sign UpLog In

news.com.au – Australia's leading news site for latest headlines

National

World

Lifestyle

Travel

Entertainment

Technology

Finance

Sport

Shopping

Finance

Work

Leaders

The only man to ever shoot at a UFO

THIS fighter pilot had a real-life Independence Day moment when he emptied enough 30mm shells into a UFO to "obliterate" it.

Frank Chung

Frank Chung

@franks_chung

4 min read

December 30, 2015 - 11:21AM

Did NASA cameras pick up UFO's flying around Earth?

Mysterious objects have been spotted flying around the Earth's atmosphere on a NASA...

more

AS WILL Smith would say: "Welcome to Erf."

Thirty-five years ago, fighter pilot Oscar Santa Maria Huerta had a real-life

Independence Day moment when he attempted to shoot down a mysterious light-bulb shaped craft, in what to this day remains the only documented case of a military aircraft firing on a UFO.

It was early on the morning of April 11, 1980, and the 23-year-old Peruvian air force lieutenant was preparing for daily exercises along with around 1800 military personnel and civilians at the La Joya Air Force Base, 1000km south of the Peruvian capital.

Lt Huerta, a pilot with eight years' experience who had been flying combat missions since 19, was ordered to take off in his Russian-made Sukhoi-22 fighter to intercept the strange silvery object that had been spotted floating near the end of the runway.

The object was five kilometres away, hanging in the air about 600 metres off the ground, and was not replying to any communications.

"This 'balloon' was in restricted air space without authorisation, representing a grave challenge to national sovereignty," the now-retired Colonel writes in UFOs: Generals, Pilots, and Government Officials Go on the Record.

At 23, then-Lt. Huerta managed to fire on – and hit – a UFO.

At 23, then-Lt. Huerta managed to fire on – and hit – a UFO.

Colonel Huerta was one of many researchers, former military officers and others who gave evidence at a major press event at the National Press Club in Washington in 2013, aimed at pressuring the US government to open its files on UFO encounters.

"It had to come down. La Joya was one of the few bases in South America that possessed Soviet-made warfare equipment, and we were concerned about espionage," he wrote.

After takeoff, Colonel Huerta flew to 2,500 metres and came in for an attack run. "I reached the necessary distance and shot a burst of sixty-four 30mm shells, which created a cone-shaped 'wall of fire' that would normally obliterate anything in its path," he writes.

Just one of those shells would wipe out a car, but they had no effect on the object. "I thought that the balloon would then be torn open and gases would start pouring out of it. But nothing happened. It seemed as if the huge bullets were absorbed by the balloon, and it wasn't damaged at all."

A diagram showing the encounter with the object.

A diagram showing the encounter with the object.

The object then shot rapidly skywards away from the base, prompting Colonel Huerta to activate the plane's afterburner to give chase 500m behind. As they reached the city of Camana, 84km from the base, the object came to a sudden stop, forcing him to veer to the side.

Turning up and to the right, Colonel Huerta attempted to position himself for another shot.

"I began closing in on it until I had it in perfect sight," he writes. "I locked on the target and was ready to shoot. But just at that moment, the object made another fast climb, evading the attack. I was left underneath it; it 'broke the attack'."

He attempted the same manoeuvre two more times, and each time the object escaped by shooting upwards seconds before he could fire.

By this time the object was 14,000 metres above ground. Colonel Huerta decided to attempt an attack from above, so it could not leave his target range, but the object shadowed him all the way up to 19,200 metres – well above his aircraft's specifications.

Running low on fuel, he realised he couldn't continue the attack, so decided to fly close to the object to get a better look. It wasn't until he was 100m away that he realised what it was.

A rough diagram of the object.

A rough diagram of the object.

"I was startled to see that the 'balloon' was not a balloon at all. It was an object that measured about 10 metres in diameter with a shiny dome on top that was cream-coloured, similar to a light bulb cut in half," he writes.

"The bottom was a wider circular base, a silver colour, and looked like some kind of metal. It lacked all the typical components of aircraft. It had no wings, propulsion jets, exhausts, windows, antennae, and so forth. It had no visible propulsion system.

"At that moment, I realised this was not a spying device but a UFO, something totally unknown. I was almost out of fuel, so I couldn't attack or manoeuvre my plane, or make a high-speed escape. Suddenly, I was afraid. I thought I might be finished."

Colonel Huerta made his return, gliding part way due to lack of fuel and "zigzagging to make my plane harder to hit, always with my eyes on the rearview mirrors, hoping it wouldn't chase me".

"It had no visible propulsion system."

"It had no visible propulsion system."

After he landed, the object remained in the place he left it for another two hours, "visible to everyone on the base while it reflected in the sun".

Colonel Huerta says the craft was witnessed by everyone on the base, many of whom were required to give reports. A June, 1980 document from the US Department of Defence titled 'UFO Sighted in Peru', describes the incident, stating only that the object remains of unknown origin.

A similar incident occurred in 1976, when Iranian air force General Parviz Jafari attempted to fire on a UFO but found his equipment malfunctioning. "My equipment was mechanical, and perhaps that's the reason it could not be shut down, so instead, the object had to jump away at the last minute," Colonel Huerta writes.

"I find myself in the unique position, at least for the moment, and as far as I know, of being the only military pilot in the world who has actually fired a weapon and struck a UFO. It still gives me chills to think about it."

00:54

Did NASA cameras pick up UFO's flying around Earth?

Mysterious objects have been spotted flying around the Earth's...

more

news

Sign Up

Log In

Sign Up

Registration

Connect

In The Know Quiz

Newsletters

Competitions

About us

Welcome to news.com.au

The Team

Our Values

Code of Conduct

Shopping

Help and Support
Contact us
FAQ
General Feedback
Advertise with us
Standards of Practice
Site Map
Licensing & Reprints
Our News Network
Kids News
The Daily Telegraph
Herald Sun
The Courier Mail
Our Partners
Tubi Kidspot
Body+Soul
realestate.com.au
FoxSports
CODE Sports
Our Apps

A NOTE ABOUT RELEVANT ADVERTISING: We collect information about the content (including ads) you use across this site and use it to make both advertising and content more relevant to you on our network and other sites. Find out more about our policy and your choices, including how to opt-out. Sometimes our articles will try to help you find the right product at the right price. We may receive payment from third parties for publishing this content or when you make a purchase through the links on our sites.

Privacy policy
Relevant ads opt-out
Cookie policy
Terms of use

Nationwide News Pty Ltd © 2025. All times AEDT (GMT +11). Powered by WordPress.com VIP

23 ads blocked
34% space saved!
X System
V System
Phocus Support
Where to Buy
My Hasselblad
Store
Hasselblad History
Hasselblad in space

View from Apollo 11 spacecraft
Earth rising above moon's horizon
© NASA

HASSELBLAD'S FIRST MISSION IN 1962

Hasselblad and NASA's journey together began in 1962 during the Mercury program. Prospective NASA astronaut and photography enthusiast Walter Schirra had his own Hasselblad 500C with a Planar f/2.8, 80mm lens. Knowing the high quality of the Hasselblad camera, Schirra suggested to NASA that they use a Hasselblad to document space since the previous camera model utilised delivered disappointing results. After buying a few 500Cs, a weight-loss program followed including removal of its leather covering, auxiliary shutter, reflex mirror, and viewfinder. A new film magazine was constructed in order to allow for 70 exposures instead of the usual 12. Finally, a matte black outer paint job minimized reflections in the window of the orbiter. The streamlined Hasselblad would find itself in the payload for Mercury 8 (MA-8) in October 1962. The successful, high quality images that Schirra captured across his six orbits of the Earth would spark a new chapter in the history of Hasselblad and a long, close and mutually beneficial cooperation between the American space agency and the Swedish camera manufacturer.

Walter Schirra and the Hasselblad 500C

CAMERAS MADE FOR SPACE

As NASA's photo department grew rapidly, contact with the Swedish camera manufacturer broadened. In turn, Hasselblad modified and refined its cameras to make them even more suitable for space use, experimenting with different constructions and lenses. For many years, NASA was determined to cut every superfluous gram from the payload, meaning that the Hasselblads onboard were forced to be as lightweight and lean as absolutely possible and still maintain the famous Hasselblad quality. And this they did.

The Hasselblad 500C stripped of all leather covers

CAPTURING HISTORY IN SPACE

The images that the astronauts took with the boxy, black Hasselblads have become true classics. And the moments they captured were not just inspiring – they were historic. During the Gemini IV mission in 1965, for example, the first spacewalk was made. And with Hasselblad in hand, James A. McDivitt took a series of pictures of his space-walking colleague, Edward H. White. These pictures were quickly published in leading magazines around the world.

Astronaut Edward H. White floating in zero gravity with Earth behind him, June 1965

© NASA

Gemini-11 Spacecraft orbiting earth, 26th revolution

India and Ceylon in view, 1966

© NASA

LACK OF GRAVITY AND EXTREME TEMPERATURES

People were surprised over the amazing sharpness of the photos produced by the Hasselblads. Most people probably didn't give too much thought to the demands that space travel made upon the cameras and their reliability. The cameras had to work perfectly under the most trying conditions, over 120° C in the sun, and minus 65° C in the shade. Not to mention the lack of gravity and a myriad of unknown hazards. And the cameras had to work with absolute consistency. Each and every shot was a historic treasure, a once in a lifetime opportunity that would never be able to be captured again. And time and time again, Hasselblad met the challenge.

Hasselblad Data Camera used on Apollo 8, 9, 10, 11 flights

Hasselblad 203FE used in space

HASSELBLAD ON THE MOON

What could be deemed as one of the most iconic moments of Hasselblad in space was when the Apollo 11 mission successfully landed the Eagle on the Moon on 20 July 1969, signifying humanity's first steps off our own planet. A silver Hasselblad Data Camera (HDC) with Réseau plate, fitted with a Zeiss Biogon 60mm f/5.6 lens, was chosen to document the lunar surface and attached to astronaut Armstrong's chest. A second black Hasselblad Electric Camera (HEC) with a Zeiss Planar 80mm f/2,8 lens was used to shoot from inside the Eagle lunar module. The HDC had never been tested in space before, adding to the pressure of this once in a lifetime moment. Would the one Hasselblad camera used to shoot on the lunar surface capture the results everyone was hoping for? Working perfectly under the extreme conditions of the lunar surface, the HDC produced some of history's most iconic photographs. After the successful shooting on 21 July 1969, the Hasselblad was hoisted up to the lunar lander with a line. Securely removing the film magazines, both cameras with lenses were left behind on the Moon in order to meet narrow weight margins for successful return. The journeys home from the Moon made very special demands on what could return regarding weight; from Apollo 11 to the final Apollo 17 mission, a total of twelve camera bodies were left behind on the lunar surface. Only the film magazines containing the momentous images were brought back. The resulting photographs captured the history of humanity in the making.

Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin on the moon's surface
Apollo 11 mission © NASA

Astronaut's footprint in the lunar soil
Apollo 11 mission © NASA

Astronaut Buzz Aldrin
Apollo 11 mission © NASA

Original 1969 Moon Landing Press Release

NASA Astronaut's Photography Manual
THE FIRST CONSUMER CAMERA
As a passionate bird photographer, Victor Hasselblad wanted to create a camera that could capture the beauty of nature and easily fit in his hand.

Read more

Hasselblad Newsletter
Sign up for the Hasselblad newsletter to receive the latest product news and inspirational stories from the world's top photographers.

By signing up for our newsletter, you agree to our Terms & Conditions and Privacy Policy

E-mail address
E-mail address
E-mail address must be valid
Country/Region

United States
Subscribe
Facebook
Instagram
Twitter
LinkedIn
Youtube
Weibo Products
X System
V System
H System
Compare
PHOCUS FOR MAC/PC
PHOCUS MOBILE 2
Collaborations Inspiration Stories
Events
Hasselblad Ambassadors
Hasselblad Masters
Hasselblad's Home
Hasselblad Heroines
Hasselblad Moments
Hasselblad X You
Support
Availability of Repair Services

X2D II 100C Exclusive Registration Benefits
Warranty Statement
My Hasselblad
Downloads
Get a Hasselblad
Online Store
Brand Stores
Find a Dealer
Learn
Sample Image Gallery
Medium Format Advantage
About Hasselblad
Hasselblad History
Hasselblad Family
Contact Us
Careers
Press Releases

English

Terms of UsePrivacy policyCookie PolicyCookie PreferencesDo Not Sell Or Share My Personal InformationEU Declaration of Conformity

© Hasselblad 2025

We use cookies to personalize and enhance your browsing experience on our websites. You can manage your settings at any time through Cookie Preferences or read our Privacy Policy to learn more.

<http://www.nbcnews.com/id/38852385>

2 captures

8 Jun 2016 - 1 Jan 2019

Jun Jan Feb

01

2016 2019 2020

About this capture

MSNOutlookMoreBingNBCNews.comTODAYNightly NewsMeet the PressDatelineMorning

JoeHardballEdMaddowThe Last Wordmsnbc

HomeUSWorldPoliticsBusinessSportsEntertainmentHealthTechScienceTravelLocalWeathe
r

Space on

Search NBCNews.com

UFO book based on questionable foundation

Eyewitness accounts require hard look, even if witness is a pilot

Open in new window

By James Oberg

NBC News space analyst

Special to MSNBC updated

PrintFont:

Commentary

HOUSTON — If we trust pilots to carry us through the air safely, and to guard our nation's skies, then why can't we trust what they tell us about their encounters with unidentified flying objects?

That's the question posed by investigative journalist Leslie Kean in her new book, "UFOs: Generals, Pilots and Government Officials Go on the Record." It's a compelling question — but is it a good argument for the existence of something truly unexplainable?

The book's main themes are the extraordinary stories of strange aerial encounters in Europe, South America and even the United States. In these stories, investigators have failed to pinpoint phenomena to explain the sightings. And because the primary witnesses are pilots, the accounts are considered more credible than run-of-the-mill UFO reports. But are they really?

Kean asserts that pilots are the best describers of aerial phenomena. "They represent the world's best-trained observers of everything that flies," she writes. "What better source for data on UFOs is there?... [They] are among the least likely of any group of witnesses to fabricate or exaggerate reports of strange sightings."

This may sound like a plausible assumption, but others who have studied the raw evidence disagree. Experienced UFO investigators realize that pilots, who instinctively and quite properly interpret visual phenomena in the most hazardous terms, are not dispassionate observers. For pilots, a split-second diagnosis can be a matter of life or death – and so they're inclined to overestimate the potential threats posed by what they see.

Story: Skeptic misses point behind UFO book

One of the world's first genuine UFO investigators, Allen Hynek of Northwestern University, came to believe that some encounters really could have otherworldly causes. But he was much more skeptical about the reliability of pilot testimony. "Surprisingly, commercial and military pilots appear to make relatively poor witnesses," he wrote in "The Hynek UFO Report."

Hynek found that the best class of witnesses had a 50 percent misperception rate, but that pilots had a much higher rate: 88 percent for military pilots, 89 percent for commercial pilots, the worst of all categories listed. Pilots could be counted on for an accurate identification of familiar objects – such as aircraft and ground structures – but Hynek said "it should come as no surprise that the majority of pilot misidentifications were of astronomical objects."

The authors of a Russian UFO study came to the same conclusion. Yuli Platov of the Soviet Academy of Science and Col. Boris Sokolov of the Ministry of Defense looked into a series of sightings in 1982 that caused air defense units to scramble jet fighters to intercept the UFOs. Platov and Sokolov said the sightings were sparked by military balloons that rose to higher-than-expected altitudes.

"The described episodes show that even experienced pilots are not immune against errors in the evaluation of the size of observed objects, the distances to them, and their identification with particular phenomena," Platov wrote.

Susceptible to overinterpretation

Ronald Fisher of the International Forensic Research Institute at Florida International University in Miami is a lecturer who teaches staff members at the National Transportation Safety Board how to interview eyewitnesses at "critical events" such as airplane crashes. He stresses the importance of eliciting raw sensory impressions first, before asking for the witness's interpretation of what they think they saw.

More about UFOs

NBC News

Share your stories about UFOs

Cosmic Log: The UFO debate usually focuses on reports that are many years old – but strange things are still being seen in the sky, by folks just like you.

The case against UFOs: Are sightings reliable?

The case for UFOs: More investigation needed

British UFO files trace sightings (and hoaxes)

WWII secret study cited in UFO files

What to do if you see a UFO

"Once they start focusing on their interpretation, that will color the memory of their perceptions," he told msnbc.com.

"Pilots are susceptible to overinterpretation, especially of vague, rapid and unclear experiences," he continued. "The less clear the situation, the more your general knowledge and your expectations [contribute]." Passage of time is an enemy of accuracy, because it gives witnesses the opportunity "to use their general knowledge to construct the memory of what they experienced."

As witnesses of things seen while flying, pilots were a special case. "The cost of a false negative is greater than the cost of a false positive," he explained. "It's probably a safety mechanism."

The body of UFO reports is replete with cases of spectacular misinterpretations, and pilots are frequently involved. So it's prudent to use caution when evaluating the testimony of pilots.

Intelligent UFOs ... or sensible pilots?

UFOs are often reported as maneuvering intelligently, and Kean argues that a particularity of the different types of maneuvers reported by pilots serves as proof that UFOs are real and are acting with intelligence. But that logic actually ends up supporting the idea that a pilot's circumstances affect what he or she reports seeing.

Kean refers to the "Weinstein List," a compendium of 1,300 UFO reports from pilots, assembled by French investigator Dominique Weinstein in 2001. It is described as containing only those "cases for which adequate data is available to categorize the [cause] as unknowns."

"One crucial point I have noted, which is shown in Weinstein's study, is that a UFO's behavior tends to depend on whether the encounter involves a military aircraft or a civilian passenger plane," Kean writes.

"Neutrality usually seems the general rule with commercial airlines or private planes, whereas an active interaction often occurs between UFOs and military aircraft. Military pilots usually described the movements of UFOs as they would air maneuvers of conventional aircraft, using terms such as follows, flees, acute turns, in formation, close collision, and aerial combat," she says.

For Kean, this constitutes evidence that the UFOs are guided by intelligent pilots. "These incidents clearly demonstrate that in no way are these examples of natural events, but rather that UFOs are phenomena with a deliberate behavior. The physical nature of UFOs has been proved," she says.

But a much simpler explanation makes more sense: The difference is due to "observer bias." People see what they expect to see, and combat pilots expect to encounter combative bogies. Civilian pilots mostly fear accidental collisions.

The different behavior that is perceived by the two categories of pilots doesn't necessarily mean the unidentified flying objects themselves behave differently. It's more likely that different kinds of pilots draw upon differently developed instincts as they react to perceived threats – and thus they bring different interpretations to stimuli that are actually similar.

10 solved UFO cases from the Weinstein List

What all this means ... and doesn't mean

There's no reason to argue that all the pilot reports are caused by exactly the same stimuli. UFO reports that are linked to rocket launches or booster re-entries are relatively easy to explain, because the location and timing of the events can be correlated with the accounts from startled and mistaken witnesses.

For other stimuli, such as fireball meteors, secret (or illegal) aircraft operations or natural atmospheric displays, documentation of their transitory existence usually doesn't exist. The main value of the solved UFO cases is to allow a definitive calibration of pilot testimony in general.

Thus, I am not dismayed by the fact that I can't explain every case Kean mentions in her book, because experience has shown that finding the real explanation – even if it turns out to be prosaic – is often a massive effort involving as much luck as sweat. If investigators are unable to find the explanation for a particular UFO case, that doesn't constitute proof that the case is unexplainable.

This is just a fact of life, for UFO sleuths as well as other breeds of investigators. The same is true for murders, kidnappings, accidents, illnesses – for all the catastrophes that befall humanity. We don't need to conjure up alien murderers or kidnappers to account for unsolved crimes. Not finding Jimmy Hoffa isn't proof he must be on Mars.

So the “not proven” assessment makes it even more important to keep our eyes and minds open – to vigorously observe, accurately perceive, and precisely relate unusual aerial perceptions. Something really new could still be discovered. Or something critically important could be masquerading, by accident or design, in a manner that leads too many people to pay too little attention.

Accepting every UFO claim uncritically or rejecting every claim automatically would be equally unjustified. And quite possibly, equally harmful.

NBC News space analyst James Oberg is a 22-year veteran of NASA Mission Control in Houston, and the author of numerous books on space policy and exploration.

© 2013 MSNBC Interactive. Reprints

Explainer: The Weinstein List: 10 UFO cases closed previous next Expand

"Science in the USSR" via James Oberg

These 14 sketches are based on drawings made by an airline pilot during the Minsk UFO sighting in 1984, and published in the journal Science in the USSR in 1991. The sketches show the sequence of bright lights witnessed by the pilot – and provide evidence that could help crack the case.

The "Weinstein List" is a compilation of 1,300 UFO reports drawn up by French investigator Dominique Weinstein and cited by Leslie Kean's book "UFOs." The list is supposed to describe cases of "verified unknowns," where thorough investigation has eliminated any possible prosaic explanation for the sightings. But that's not true.

Just relying on my own familiarity with one class of pseudo-UFO stimuli – namely, missile and space activity – I found many cases listed whose prosaic explanations had already been published in the UFO literature. Nevertheless, they were presented on Weinstein's list as provably anomalous, and faithfully vouched for by Kean.

Click the "Next" label to page through 10 of the solved UFO cases on the Weinstein List.

– James Oberg, NBC News space analyst

1967, Russia

Airline pilot reports UFO flying above his plane. Engines stop, and start again only when UFO disappears. Explanation: Secret Soviet nuclear warhead test was fireballing 50 miles overhead. Any effect on engine was pilot-induced.

1977, Russia

Pilot reports a pulsating light flying "alongside" his aircraft. The light was the far-distant launch rocket for the Kosmos-958 satellite.

1980, Russia

Military pilot reports that a round object more than 300 meters in diameter "played" with his plane and then disappeared. The object was the Kosmos-1188 booster, at a distance much farther than the pilot thought.

1984, Belarus

Image: Soviet map

Courtesy of James Oberg

Flight crew reports a glowing yellow object that changed shape in the sky. It was actually a sub-launched Soviet missile.

Get the full story behind the Minsk mystery.

1985, South America

Pilots report two objects, one of them "banana-shaped." This was an accurate description of a distant sunlit cloud of rocket fuel, spewing out from an expended rocket after the launch of Japan's Planet-A probe toward Halley's Comet.

1990, Germany

RAF fighter pilots see a formation of UFOs over the North Sea, while a British airliner crew reports two mysterious lights nearby. This was caused by the fireball disintegration of a falling rocket stage.

1994, Kazakhstan

A cargo 747 crew reports seeing a brilliantly luminous object with a contrail corkscrewing above them. The crew is convinced it was from outer space. It was actually a Russian supply ship headed for outer space, launched several hundred miles in front of them.

Discuss:

Discussion comments

View all comments

Leave your comment

Add your profile on Newsvine

You

Related: Space

Headlines

What's up in space from NBC News Digital

We've moved our coverage of space science and exploration to a new home page on the Web. Explore the universe at <http://science.nbcnews.com/space>

Slideshow: See our top space shots

Multimedia

Video

Well-preserved mammoth could be used for cloning

Video

Money-saving tech gadgets for the home

Video

Pee-pumping heart turns waste into electricity

Video

Aereo presents challenge to broadcasters

NBCNews.com sites & shows: TODAY Nightly News Meet the Press Dateline Morning

Joe Hardball Ed Maddow The Last Word MSNBC

© 2019 NBCNews.com About us Help Careers Contact Alerts Feeds Podcasts Apps Widgets Stock data Privacy policy Terms & conditions About our ads

AdChoices
Site mapSkip to main content
Skeptics on this sub : r/UFOs

Open menu

r/UFOs
Search in r/UFOs
Log In

Expand user menu
r/UFOs icon
Go to UFOs
r/UFOs

•

3y ago
TinFoilHatDude

Skeptics on this sub

At the outset, let me preface my post by saying that there is a lot of misinformation and disinformation in general when it comes to the topic of UFOs and it behooves us to be skeptical of any information that is presented to us. This is not a direct criticism of skeptics at all as I myself am skeptical of most claims that are prevalent in this community. I have been a member of this community for a decade now and while it is not perfect (there are certainly avenues for improvement), it is a perfectly adequate forum for discussion of UAPs and other related topics.

Having said that, I have been following a few of the profiles that present themselves as skeptics for a few weeks now as I noticed something very odd about a few of them. About a month ago, there was a video posted by a user of a blurry dot in the sky (surprise, surprise!). This was a new poster with no previous history of posting in this community. Much like other people who have posted in the past, this person probably witnessed a regular, terrestrial object and confused it with a UFO. After all, the video did not show any of the 'five observables' that we discuss in these parts and there was no indication based on the video that this was anything but a regular object in the sky. What surprised me was the comment section. There were a few hundred comments and there was a lot of rancor and excoriation of the members of this sub. A few of skeptics (who I have since started following around) turned up and immediately started haranguing the members of the sub for paying attention to blurry dots in the sky, for 'believing anything and everything that is posted on this sub', lacking critical thinking, lacking a scientific approach etc. I have seen that this sub can be a bit confrontational at times, but I was taken aback by the general tone and vitriol in that comment section. I saw a few regulars fighting with these skeptics, but the discussions did not lead anywhere useful. It did not seem natural to me. After that incident, I started following some of these skeptics around and paying close attention to their comments and arguments. I am not going to name these people as it will invariably result in a witch-hunt, but I think some of the regulars would spot the profiles that indulge in such behaviour. I am going to present my observations below.

Observations

They seem to relish in openly insulting the members of this sub. You won't see direct insults or abuse hurled at members (as this would result in eventual bans after a few warnings), but it would be something more indirect, but incisive. I have seen many arguments that sound something like this - You guys will believe anything you read, this sub is only blurry dots in the sky, you guys are the reason no one takes this topic seriously, I was a UFO believer until I joined this sub and I am now a skeptic (my personal favourite!). It is as if we must feel ashamed for simply looking at a video of an object in the sky, analyzing it and considering the very remote possibility that it could potentially be one of the UFOs that people keep talking about.

They seem to crop up with great regularity in user-posted videos. Truth be told, most of the videos are junk as they represent terrestrial objects that a unfamiliar witness has confused for a UFO. However, discussion and analysis of user-captured videos is one of the cornerstones of this sub (whether people like it or not). We have tens of videos posted every day and most disappear within no time (due to lack of engagement) because none of the 'five observables' are seen in the object being captured on camera. Every few days, we do get a video or two that shows something interesting. Either the video itself is interesting or the person who captured it writes a long, detailed post where they provide a lot of important details regarding the sighting. Even on posts like these, you will find the skeptics posting garbage thoughts on how it doesn't show any details, how anecdotal evidence from a stranger on the internet doesn't count for anything etc. It is as if we must be ashamed for merely entertaining the thought that this could be a UFO. On a UFO sub no less.

They also like to derail interesting conversations. Sometimes, people post interesting theories or thoughts about the phenomenon. The moment it gains a little bit of traction, you will see one of these skeptics write an inane comment that is unrelated to the discussion, but it immediately derails the conversation as one of the regulars invariably falls for the bait and it leads to a 30-comment thread that kills the essence of the topic being discussed.

I have seen that nothing seems to dissuade these skeptics. They are undeterred by downvotes or even good arguments presented by the person who is engaging in a conversation with them. I have seen garbage posts from them buried in downvotes. Yet, the skeptic will keep indulging in bad-faith arguments in 30+ comment-long chains which seems to divert all the attention away from the topic being discussed. Unfortunately, a lot of regulars seem to keep falling for it hook, line and sinker.

I was once engaging with one of these skeptics. I pointed out that we must press Congress and the Pentagon to release more data as it is the only way out. The skeptic immediately parroted the 'national security' excuse and that we cannot expect them to release anything. Even from the 1960s and earlier. It is as if the status quo must continue so that the UFO community can be bullied further for being unscientific and naive.

Analysis

None of this seems like 'normal' behaviour to me. After all, we are no longer in the pre-2017 era where this sub was about 100 active members essentially masturbating to classic cases like Rendlesham Forest, Roswell, JAL incident, Phoenix Lights incident etc. and hoping that we eventually get a break somewhere (while perfectly resigned to the fact that it was probably not going to happen). At this time, if someone made an argument then that 'you guys will believe anything' or 'there are no such things as UFOs, there are only unreliable witnesses', I'd say that you had a reasonable point as it was the prevalent attitude in that era. However, a LOT has changed since then. Not only has the US government acknowledged that these things are real, Congress is now passing laws on UAPs and even NASA is now interested. We are no longer in the pre-2017 era now.

Yet, this is seemingly not enough for these skeptics. It is as if they operate in a vacuum where none of this has happened and we still live in a pre-2017 world when it comes to UFOs. Also, I can understand being a skeptic about most things when it comes to UFOs. For instance, I don't care for the consciousness aspect of it (apologies to those who do). I most certainly do not care about Skinwalker Ranch and the other 'woo' aspects of this. I consider all this to be UFO 2.0 where I will start looking into these things once I get confirmation that these things are indeed real. However, surely there must be a couple of things that would have intrigued the skeptic when they first came across the topic. Maybe it was the Nimitz incident. Maybe they liked the FOIA approach. Something. Anything. Ask them what they find interesting about this topic. You won't get an answer. Never. Instead, they will blame the UFO community for blocking progress on this topic.

Also, if there is nothing of substance to the UAP issue and it is all hogwash, why do they spend so much time engaging with users on this sub? Why does it even matter? After all, UFOs are considered a mostly 'benign' conspiracy theory. There is very little malice in it other than a bunch of people believing that the government is actively covering up the evidence. It is not like other conspiracies that are blatantly anti-Semitic or targeted against specific communities, political groups or minorities. For example, I don't believe Bigfoot exists as I have never seen any scientific evidence for it. At least, not enough for me to actively probe the topic. As a result, I don't go to the Bigfoot sub and engage with those who do believe. I think they are perfectly entitled to discuss Bigfoot sightings in their corner of the internet. So, if you are skeptic who thinks that UFOs don't exist, why on earth are you spending so much time engaging with people who do? It is not as if minds are going to be changed. They rarely are. Those of us who believe that UFOs exist have formed this sub for the sole purpose of discussing this very topic. We cannot be harassed and harangued for discussing it. Any aspect of it. Why does it bother you so much?

Another option is for people who are disgruntled with this community to form their own UFO sub dedicated to studying a specific aspect of it. The aspect that interests them the most. This has happened many times in the past. A lot of people got tired of the moderation in this sub and formed r/ufo a few years ago. Some people wanted to discuss the pure scientific aspects of this phenomenon and formed r/ufo-science. To their credit, the mods have never stopped people from sharing links to other UFO communities (to my recollection). So, if a skeptic thinks that a certain aspect is more interesting and deserves attention above others, the easiest thing to do would be to form a new sub and send the link. A lot of people here post in different UFO subs after all. Ask these skeptics to do that. Ask them what specific thing intrigues them. You won't get an answer. Never.

Exceptions

While, I write all this, I will also pay respect to a lot of proper skeptics on this sub who look at the data and provide their analysis and little else. I include people like Mick West in this. While he gets a lot of flak and I find myself not agreeing with a lot of his conclusions, he has taken a very data-driven approach and rarely engages in the behaviour described in the section above. There are many other such fine posters on this sub who look at videos and photos and provide their inputs on why the object is likely a terrestrial one. I think they are a real asset to the community. I see that they often get criticized unfairly, but I think they add a lot of value to proceedings. This post is NOT targeted at such people.

Conclusion

My conclusion is that a lot of these skeptics are engaging in bad-faith arguments and trying to disrupt the normal proceedings in the sub. I don't think it qualifies as 'trolling' as trolls would normally find a target, hit it and move on. Instead, what we find is a continuous bollocking of people who post in this sub and posting mostly nonsensical arguments that seem to derail good threads and creating a general sense of tension and rancor. Many people have complained in the past that people always seem a bit confrontational in these parts. I have noticed that some of these skeptics perfectly stoke these feelings through their posts which are mainly aimed at inciting people. It is as if we are being shepherded in a certain direction. Away from certain topics. As if merely asking the question of whether an object in the sky is a UFO is a big crime. It seems very unnatural to me.

I generally like the moderation on this sub. I feel that the moderators should pay close attention to this and identify people who are indulging in this behaviour. I think miscreants who always indulge in bad-faith arguments should be banned. After all, you won't go to the Dallas Cowboys sub and call them idiots for thinking that their good start means that they are potentially heading to the Super Bowl. Yet, it seems to be happening quite regularly on this sub. This sub has a huge member count now and it is the largest forum for discussing UFOs on reddit. While it may sound conspiratorial, it is not inconceivable that certain influential groups are paying close attention to forums like this one and trying to manipulate us in some way.

Addendum

It would be remiss of me to discuss the skeptics and not talk about my personal favourite - the NASA guy aka I'm 100% sure the astronauts have NEVER seen an UFO in space. I am not going to name this person, but I'm sure regulars would know exactly who I'm talking about. This person always pops up whenever there are any threads on NASA's knowledge on UFOs and astronauts talking about how they have seen UFOs in space. This person has done a lot of research and I agree with most of it. However, why does this person spend so much time engaging with strangers on the internet? Why does it matter if someone believes that NASA is likely covering up their knowledge of UFOs? According to this person, ALL mysterious incidents in space have been completely and satisfactorily explained and NONE of it involves a UFO sighting. It is all misidentified rocket launches, modules detaching from the space shuttle, broken hatches, space debris, ice crystals etc. This person also thinks that the Phoenix Lights incident is likely planes flying in formation at a high altitude at night that was misidentified by thousands of people (all of them for that matter). This person think that reports of a mothership over Zimbabwe the previous day probably fooled a bunch of school-kids in Ariel school into believing that they saw a flying saucer (and aliens).

Just like the other skeptics, they think that there is a lot of bullshit when it comes to the topic of UFOs. So much bullshit that it stymies all progress. This person claims that they are trying to contribute towards removing this bullshit. Ask this person what they find most intriguing about this topic. Ask them to name one case that is their favourite. Ask them about the Nimitz incident. Ask them what qualifies as 'not bullshit and worthy of serious investigation'. You will NEVER get an answer. I have tried. I have seen others try. Never get an answer.

Also, I have been surprised at the abject lack of self-introspection. It is understandable that people completely scoffed at the idea of UFOs prior to Dec 2017. However, now that even NASA (your prior employers) has come out and said that they will start investigating the topic, how is it that you have never taken a step back? Wouldn't it be logical to ring up your buddies at NASA and ask 'UFOs? Really? What gives?'. Wouldn't a true skeptic trying to find out what the fuck an esteemed organization like NASA is doing investigating UFOs (which you claim simply don't exist)? Is it just possible that maybe (just maybe) one of your astronaut buddies did indeed catch a glimpse of one of these things in space? Is there a 0.001% chance that maybe all those people in Phoenix did indeed see a boomerang-shaped UFO in 1997? Your turn, Mr. Peter B Zoidberg!

244

.

280

Comments Section

u/EggMcFlurry avatar

EggMcFlurry

•

3y ago

I believe in the phenomenon, but see no value in blurry dot videos. I try not to even comment anymore because what is there to talk about, and what are we supposed to do with the videos? The fact these types of videos get posted so frequently means when I view this sub, I just ignore about 80% of the posts and look for any news. That's my take.

34

u/JD_the_Aqua_Doggo avatar

JD_the_Aqua_Doggo

•

3y ago

You are not the people OP is talking about.

19

Loquebantur

•

3y ago

You forgot about the frequent posts disparaging this sub.

Either those people just don't know what they do or their intent is exactly the logical effect of their actions: to discourage newcomers away from this sub and minimize engagement.

Harmless "dots in the sky" videos aren't the best example either. From time to time, people with actually interesting footage turn up. They are invariably harassed until they delete their post.

Usually those witnesses have never been here and expect what normal people would expect: help and understanding. No wonder the "shock and awe"-tactic works on them.

The frequent claims, this sub was "too unimportant to be targeted" are plainly ridiculous. It is a rallying point for those interested, keeping it down is part and parcel if you want to control public perception.

17

1 more reply

wspOnca

•

3y ago

Disclosure will never happen and we are just auto larping. I miss throwawayalien, that was fun.

33 eStuffeBay

•

3y ago

Honestly. The amount of people getting dragged by their chains and constantly saying "Disclosure is THIS close!!" are disheartening. We've all seen what the teasers have led to. "Sit back and enjoy the show"? What show? Nothing happened. Two steps forward, five steps back.

If anything, TRUE disclosure will be FORCED. Likely through leaked videos or something. The gov will never voluntarily give us the kind of disclosure we actually want.

21

4 more replies

2 more replies

SLCW718

•

3y ago

You're not talking about skeptics, you're talking about debunkers. We should all aspire to skepticism, and applying reason to the evaluation of truth claims.

34

32 more replies

bigscottius

•

3y ago

The other side is that it is very limiting to expansion of this topic. What if someone doesn't know what it is and is just asking? Don't be a dick. Just explain what it is, they might be appreciative hearing the explanation from someone used to seeing these misidentification.

I'm not saying don't be a skeptic. I'm very skeptical. Believers have their own problems, too. But my point is that this bickering and stupidity hurts the topic in general, no matter your position, and prevents it from growing bigger and bringing wider attention to it.

4

[deleted]

•

3y ago

The worst part about this sub is that 50% of the posts are complaints about the sub.

4 u/danse-macabre-haunt avatar

danse-macabre-haunt

•

3y ago

Disclaimer: If anyone else has been threatened or bullied by the small sect of uncivil believers here (majority are good people) and feel unsafe or unwelcome, feel free to reach out to me and I'll see if we can talk on discord.

Thanks for sharing. This is a very well made post. I agree that users should be nicer to new posters about their sightings. Most of the time it's the skeptics who work hard to help new posters identify their sightings. I've previously experienced a UAP and I practice skeptical thinking (in binary terms I'm a skeptic).

I want to add to your post. Since your post was mainly about how some skeptics are mean to believers, I'll make my comment about how some believers are mean to skeptics to provide a full picture And I'll even provide evidence (the skeptic in me likes to collect evidence). I've collected this from various users over the past months who were harassed by believers:

Feel free to copy and paste ANY those comments into google to see the full context. Thankfully, the mods have removed, warned or banned many users for the behavior below.

Believer telling a user "your days are numbered. you know who you are-"

Believer telling me to "choke on a dick and die."

Believer discussing how much they want to "throat punch" skeptics, another believer calls him a "good guy" and "trailblazer."

Believer calling users "cowards and shills" and "sick, mentally ill cowards."

A user asking for a clearer video before he can make an assessment, a believer responds with "you're a pretty ignorant person with a narrow mind and a shitty view on things."

Believer telling a user "you are a complete fuckin retard"

Believer telling a user "you're trash."

A user identifies an object as a weather balloon using a telescope and radar data. A believer screams that the user has "rotten logic."

Believer pretending to be a government officer, "reported for false information and disinformation act... I will be categorizing civilian disinformation posts as military disinformation posts." <https://i.imgur.com/BydXexM.png>

Believer telling me "Fuck off shill. Go back to whatever commune the goons pulled you out of. You will never stop the spread of information and free speech. You are wasting your life if you're even real."

Believer telling a user "hahahaha I KNEW YOU WERE A SHILL what a bitch! Come find me BITCH"

A user shares a news article about a sighting. An believer politely responds with, "Don't post shitty BS articles... you have an agenda.... okay shill. Go ahead and post your dumb fk shit... lying fuck up."

A believer telling a user "nice combo of terrible attitude and cognitive dissonance... I hope you are disinfo and not genuinely of such a low quality mind."

A believer telling a user "ok snowflake... send your disability check to trump."

A user asks a believer if they could directly share an image instead of using their phone to take a picture of the computer, the believer responds with "i don't have a computer to export dumb bitch"

A believer calls a user "a menace to society" and asks "are you getting paid to be here?"

Believer calling all skeptics in a thread "paid trolls."

Believer calls me a "cunt" and for some reason regresses to baby talk after I helped them identify a sighting.

A believer spams the mental health alert/suicide hotline on all skeptics in a thread and blatantly admits to it.

Even in this very thread about toxicity, some believers are still claiming that most skeptics are misinformation agents, which is also against rule 1.

TLDR: A minority of skeptics and Believers are highly toxic. Believers generate far more toxicity likely because there are far more believers on this community than skeptics. Believers' go-to most frequent insult is calling other users bots/shills/government agents, or vaguely waving their hands and saying skeptics are disinformation agents or if they choose extra weaselly words they'll say an account is "sus" or "organized effort to suppress free speech."

Edit - Thanks for the award! I'm always hesitant to click on my notifications because you never know if it's a kind message, or a violent, hostile one from a believer. It's always a gamble. I would also like to point out how when believers talk about skeptics being toxic, they provide no evidence or links, when it's vice versa, skeptics bring the receipts. It's a reflection of what both those mindsets practice.

163

craigspade

•

3y ago

https://www.reddit.com/r/HighStrangeness/comments/yr5jjb/alien_visitation_caught_on_my_security_camera_the/ivv40u7?utm_medium=android_app&utm_source=share&context=3

"Literally nothing about this implies aliens visited you.

Seek professional help, you're not well."

Ok so telling me to get professional help is or isn't breaking the rules?

8

u/danse-macabre-haunt avatar

danse-macabre-haunt

•

3y ago

Is telling people to choke on a dick and die breaking the rules? Yes or no?

3

12 more replies

u/JD_the_Aqua_Doggo avatar

JD_the_Aqua_Doggo

•

3y ago

I think it's really important and good that you've pointed out that people can be assholes regardless of their perspective. Really. It's easy to let our attitudes and perspectives shift into right vs. wrong false morality dilemmas.

But I think it's important to also keep in mind that the OP wasn't referring to just skeptics being mean to believers – the OP is referring to a very specific type of skeptical user who seems to have a sole purpose in suppressing discussion to the point where we can't even engage with them in a conversation as to why they are even here on this subreddit.

Overall though, you bring up a good point. Something I should keep in mind for myself as I engage with skeptics. I am capable of being an asshole.

EDIT: Also...some of these comments you collected look like they're responses. It would be better to have the comments they're replying to so we can see who the aggressor was.

51

LosRoboris

•

3y ago

Well said. It is about coordinated attempts to sway the narrative / public discourse.

16

10 more replies

ExoticCard

•

3y ago

Who is this guy? He is adding positively to the discussion! Ban him pls

/s